

U.S. ELECTION ASSISTANCE COMMISSION

2010 Election Administration & Voting Survey

Ohio

Statutory Overview

In order to better understand state laws governing federal elections, the U.S. Election Assistance Commission, as part of its biennial Election Administration and Voting Survey, is collecting information on state election laws and procedures. These answers will help EAC to better understand the quantitative data relating to the 2010 general election that we are collecting from all U.S. states and territories.

EAC understands that responding to this Statutory Overview may require significant staff time on the part of your office. Please be assured that we have attempted to minimize the burden, and we appreciate your cooperation in this very important project.

Please answer each question to the best of your ability. If terms are ambiguous or not relevant, please explain why. If a question is not applicable to your state, please explain why. If a definition or term lacks statutory reference but is widely understood in practice, please explain. If election procedures vary at the local level within your state, please explain to the best of your ability.

If state laws are currently enjoined or otherwise blocked from enforcement by a state or federal court, or executive decision, please specify.

Please keep your responses between the red, bracketed text lines. This will help us extract your answers into our central database.

SECTION A: GENERAL

A1. How does your state define the following terms related to votes and ballots? Please provide your state's legal citation defining these terms, where applicable.

a. Over-vote

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (a) below this line.]

There is no statutory definition of "over-vote" in Ohio law. Ohio law addresses over-votes in R.C. 3506.10(C), which prohibits certification of any voting machine that does not preclude an elector from voting for more persons for any office than the elector is entitled to vote for and from voting for any candidates for the same office or upon any question more than once; and R.C. 3506.21(B)(3), which provides that if an elector over-votes for one race, the ballot shall not be invalidated for other races in which he or she did not over-vote. See also OAC 111:3-3-01(C)(3).

[End definition (a) above this line.]

b. Under-vote

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (b) below this line.]

There is no statutory definition of "under-vote" in Ohio law

[End definition (b) above this line.]

c. Blank ballot

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (c) below this line.]

There is no statutory definition of "blank ballot" in Ohio law. In general, Ohio election administrators and election officials refer to a "blank ballot" as a ballot that was not marked by a voter.

[End definition (c) above this line.]

d. Void/Spoiled ballot

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (d) below this line.]

There is no statutory definition of a “void” or “spoiled” ballot in Ohio law. Ohio law addresses spoiled ballots in R.C. 3505.12, which provides that ballot instructions shall inform voters how to obtain a new ballot in case of accidentally spoiling one; and Secretary of State Directive 2008-865 provides reconciliation procedures by poll workers for spoiled ballots after the polls close on Election Day.

[End definition (d) above this line.]

e. Provisional/Challenged ballot

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Provisional ballots are explained in Ohio Revised Code sections 3505.181, .182, and .183.

f. Absentee

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (f) below this line.]

Absentee ballots are explained in Chapters 3509 and 3511 of the Ohio Revised Code. Absentee ballot procedures are also addressed in multiple Secretary of State Directives and advisories.

g. Early voting

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (g) below this line.]

The term “early voting” is not used in the Ohio Revised Code. However, “early voting” has often been referred to as in person absentee voting at a board of elections office, or an alternative site designated by the board of elections for absentee voting, during the absentee voting period, which is 45 days before the day of the election for overseas voters and uniformed services voters eligible to vote under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act; and 35 days before a general the day of the election for all other voters who are applying to vote absent voter’s ballot, and 28 days before the election for voters who may need to vote via provisional ballot as a result of a change in address or name.

[End definition (g) above this line.]

h. Active Voter

No Change Since 2008     Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

[Begin definition (h) below this line.]

“Active voter” is not statutorily defined in Ohio law.

[End definition (h) above this line.]

i. Inactive Voter

A2. Please provide the legal citation for any significant changes to election laws or procedures that have been enacted or adopted since the previous Federal election. “Significant” does not include routine or technical changes (such as changes to election district boundaries or polling place changes). However, EAC would like to learn about any new identification requirements for voters or registrants; changes in eligibility for voting or registering; adoption of alternative voting methods; and other changes that you believe represent a significant change in the way your state runs its elections.

2008 Response:

Significant election law procedures or changes since the 2006 federal general election:

- Ohio law was amended to prohibit a board of elections from adopting a central count optical scan system as its primary voting system on Election Day. R.C. 3506.21(D) requires that any board of elections using optical scan ballots and automatic tabulating equipment as its primary voting system shall not tabulate the unofficial results of ballots voted on Election Day at a central location.
- Ohio law was amended to alter the membership and appointment process of the Ohio Board of Voting Machine Examiners to four members. Two members are appointed by the Secretary of State, and the other two members are appointed by the General Assembly leaders of the opposite political party of the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State has the authority to cast a tie-breaking vote. The board of voting machines examiners approves and tests voting equipment for use in Ohio elections. See R.C. 3506.05.
- Ohio law was amended to require that all voting equipment acquired after December 1, 2008, must have a federal certification number issued by the Elections Assistance Commission, and all voting equipment used in Ohio must meet, as a condition of continued certification, the 2002 voting system standards adopted by the federal elections commission. See R.C. 3506.05.
- Ohio law was amended so that beginning with the November 2008 general election, absentee ballots postmarked before Election Day and received after the close of polls on Election Day but before the eleventh day after the election shall be included in the official canvass if the ballots meet all other requirements of law. R.C. 3509.05.
- Three counties changed voting systems from a DRE system to a precinct-based optical scan system.

- The Secretary of State created a statewide Poll Worker Training Manual to ensure uniformity among the poll workers.
- | ○ The Secretary of State required that all county boards of elections using DREs as the primary voting system must make optical scan ballots available for voters at the polling places on Election Day. Secretary of State Directive ~~2008~~2010-6159.
- Ohio law was amended to comply with the requirements of the federal MOVE Act. This involved amendments to many sections of Ohio law, including Revised Code Chapter 3509 and Chapter 3511. These changes are described more fully in subsequent responses.

SECTION B: VOTER REGISTRATION

B1. Is your state's voter registration database system best described as a bottom-up, a top-down, or a hybrid? (Note: A bottom-up system generally uploads information retained at the local level and compiled at regular intervals to form the statewide voter registration list. A top-down system is hosted on a single, central platform/mainframe and is generally maintained by the state with information supplied by local jurisdictions. A hybrid is some combination of both systems described above.)

B4. Can your state's voter registration database (or equivalent) share information electronically with your state's drivers license agency (for example, to match records or trace changes in address)? Can your voter registration database be similarly linked with databases in any other state or federal agencies? Please describe these links, including any use of database matching to verify voter registration applications.

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Yes, the Ohio voter registration system connects to the BMV to verify name, address, driver's license number, or last four digits of SSN. BMV is the single state agency interface and is connected to the Social Security Administration.

2008 Response:

SOS IT: The entirety of the Ohio voter registration database is submitted to an USPS approved vendor to undertake address correction and verification of registered voters with NCOA every two years. Results for each county are then forwarded to their respective Boards of Elections for follow-up processing per Ohio Secretary of State Directive 2009-05+1: <http://www.sos.state.oh.us/SOS/Upload/elections/directives/2009/Dir2009-05.pdf><http://www.sos.state.oh.us/SOS/Upload/elections/directives/2007/Dir2007-11.pdf>

B6. Please describe your state's voting eligibility requirements as they relate to individuals with a felony conviction. (For example, are convicted felons allowed to vote while in prison or while on parole or probation? Are voting rights automatically restored or does the individual have to apply for a pardon, certificate of eligibility or other similar certificate? Does an individual whose voting rights have been restored have to produce documentation of his/her status when registering to vote?)

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Under sections 2961.01 and 3503.21 of the Ohio Revised Code, any person convicted of a felony is incompetent to be an Ohio elector while the person is incarcerated for the felony conviction. For the purposes of voter registration and voting, an otherwise competent elector will lose the right to register and to vote only as long as he or she is actually incarcerated under a felony sentence.

An otherwise competent elector convicted and incarcerated for a felony is allowed to register to vote and to vote once one of the following takes place: parole, post-release control, judicial release or conditional pardon is granted; upon the final discharge of the imposed incarceration; or if the felony conviction is reversed or set aside. Ohio law does not require a released felon to produce documentation of release when registering to vote. Ohio law places no affirmative duty on the Secretary of State or boards of elections to notify an individual of his or her renewed competency to be an elector.

B7. Does your state currently use the Internet in any way to facilitate voter registration? If yes, please describe how your state allows voters to use the Internet in the registration process (e.g., entire registration completed online; completed online but then must be printed, signed, and mailed by voter, etc.).

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Ohio provides numerous opportunities for voters to access and complete voter registration materials on the Internet, including a link prominently displayed on the Secretary of State's website. However, section 3503.14 of the Ohio Revised Code requires voter registration forms to be signed by the voter. Accordingly, although voters may largely complete the form online, they must thereafter print the forms, sign them, and then return them in order for the registration to be valid. The procedures ~~may are be~~ different for overseas citizens or ~~armed uniformed services m~~ services members.

SECTION C: ELECTION ADMINISTRATION

C1. Please describe how all votes cast at a place other than the voter's precinct of registration are tabulated (for example, please include descriptions of such votes as absentee ballots, mail-in ballots, votes cast at vote centers, provisional ballots, early voting locations, etc.).

a. Are the votes counted centrally or at the precincts?

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Absentee Ballots

Electors may vote absentee on a paper optical scan ballot that is mailed to the elector by the board of elections; in the alternative, an elector may vote an absentee ballot at the board of elections office – or an alternative location designated by the board of elections for absentee voting– by paper optical scan ballot or a DRE voting machine (in DRE counties only). Boards of Elections are required to begin absentee voting 45 days before the day of the election for overseas voters and uniformed services voters, 35 days before a federal general election for all other voters, and twenty-five days before a presidential primary election.

Boards may begin tabulating absentee ballots after the polls close on Election Day. Secretary of State Directive 2008-67 allows boards of elections to begin processing absentee ballots prior to Election Day but tabulation may not occur before the close of the polls on Election Day.

See chapters 3509 and 3511 of the Ohio Revised Code and Secretary of State Directive 2008-82, "Guidelines for Absentee Voting," for additional information on absentee voting.

Provisional Ballots

Some provisional ballots are cast at the board of elections rather than at a precinct. For any election other than a presidential primary election, provisional voting begins twenty-eight days before an election. R.C. 3503.16 (B) & (C). For presidential primary elections, provisional voting begins twenty-five (25) days before an election. Certain voters may vote a provisional ballot at the board of elections prior to Election Day. See R.C. 3503.16 (B) & (C). Similarly, the following electors may cast a provisional ballot at the board of elections office on Election Day: electors who move from one precinct to another within a county; electors who move from one precinct to another within a county and change their name; and electors who move from one county to another county within Ohio.

All provisional ballots must be cast on a paper optical scan ballot. Secretary of State Directive 2008-81 requires that no person, other than a person eligible to vote on a DRE because of a disability, may vote a provisional ballot on a DRE machine.

Provisional ballots are not counted on election night in the unofficial canvass. All valid provisional ballots are counted in the official canvass, which begins no earlier than the 11th day and no later than the 15th day after Election Day (except a presidential primary). All provisional ballots are centrally counted at the board office.

See sections 3503.16 and R.C. 3505.181, .182, and .183 of the Ohio Revised Code and Secretary of State Directive 2008-81, entitled "Guidelines for Provisional Voting" for more information on provisional voting.

b. If centrally tabulated, are the votes redirected to the appropriate precinct for reporting in the canvass?

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

State law (R.C. 3509.06) allows boards of elections to determine whether absentee ballots shall be counted in each precinct, the board office, or at some other location designated by the board. Boards typically choose to tabulate absentee ballots at the board office and follow the procedures in R.C. 3509.06(C) and (D).

c. Are the absentee, mail, etc., votes reported separately for each precinct, or are they added to the in-precinct results and reported as just a single number?

No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Boards have the option of reporting all absentee ballots as separate precincts or adding the absentee ballots to the in-precinct results for the unofficial canvass on election night. However, for the official canvass and reporting of results, all absentee ballots are included in the in-precinct results.

2008 Response:

Under R.C. 3509.02(A), any elector may vote by absent voter's ballot at an election. Ohio allows no-excuse absentee voting.

C3. Does your state provide for in-person early voting? If so, how is early voting defined? When early voting is used, are the ballots counted at the precinct or at a central location? How are these votes reported?

|  No Change Since 2008       Changed Since 2008

2008 Response:

Ohio electors may vote absentee at their board of elections office beginning 35 days before a ~~general the day of the election~~ (25 days before a presidential primary election) or 45 days before the day of the election for overseas voters and uniformed services voters. (25 days before a presidential primary). While this may be referred to as "early voting," the electors are simply voting absentee ballots that are tabulated in the same manner as any other absentee ballot on election night.

2008 Response:

No jurisdictions in this state have replaced a precinct voting system with a vote-by-mail system.

Provisional voting rules are explained in sections 3503.16, 3503.19(C), 3505.181 - .183, and 3509.09, of the Ohio Revised Code and Secretary of State Directive 2008-81, entitled "Guidelines for Provisional Voting." The situations that require a provisional ballot include:

- Registered electors who move from one precinct to another within a county and who, on or before the day of the election, have not filed a notice of change of residence with the board of elections at least 30 days before the election.
- Registered electors who move from one precinct to another within a county and who change their name but have not filed a change of residence or change of name with the board of elections at least 30 days before the election.
- Registered electors who move from one county to another county within the state and have not registered to vote in the new county at least 30 days before the election.
- Registered electors who have changed their name and who have not filed a notice of a change of name with the board of elections at least 30 days before the election.
- Voters whose name does not appear in the poll list or signature poll book on Election Day.
- Voters who present themselves to vote on Election Day but do not possess one of the acceptable forms of identification.
- If a voter registration confirmation notice is returned to the board of elections as undeliverable, then at the first election thereafter at which the voter named in the confirmation notice seeks to vote, that voter must vote a provisional ballot. See R.C. 3503.19(C).
- If a voter requested an absent voter's ballot and the board of elections has not received a sealed identification envelope purporting to contain that elector's voted absent voter's ballot, the voter shall be required to vote a provisional ballot if the elector appears to vote on Election Day.
- On Election Day, if election officials cannot determine a voter's eligibility to vote, or if a voter does not appear to be eligible to vote and that voter insists on voting, the voter must cast a provisional ballot.
- If a challenge to that voter's right to vote is filed with the board of elections after the 30th day before the day of the election and the board has postponed the hearing on the challenge, the elector is required to vote a provisional ballot.
- If the election officials determine that the signature of an individual who appears and attempts to vote does not match the signature on file for that voter, that voter must cast a provisional ballot.

~~Ohio law does not~~There are no provisions in the Ohio Revised Code that require post-election audits. The Ohio Secretary of State requested that a sample of counties conduct a post-election audit for the 2008 presidential primary. The Ohio Secretary of State then ordered all counties to conduct a post-election audit following the November 2008 general election. HoweverFurther, as a result of a settlement in the case of League of Women Voters, et al. v. Brunner [formerly Blackwell], Case No. 3:05-CV-7309, United States District Court, Northern District of Ohio, post election audits are will be required in statewide general elections during even-numbered years and the presidential primary election of March 2012. The settlement requires that the Secretary of State (1) issue directives to the six larger counties to report precinct-level data in the same categories that were reported in connection with the EAC November 2008 Election Data Collection Grant Program, (2) issue directives instructing all county boards of election to monitor and assess pollworker performance, and (3) issue directives instructing all county boards of elections to provide post-election data regarding voter registration, ballots cast, ballots counted, provisional ballots, absentee ballots, and military and overseas ballots.

In each program, the boards shall use training materials prepared by the Secretary of State and may use additional materials prepared by the board of elections. The Ohio Secretary of State ~~recently~~ issued Directive 2008-77, which requires each county board of elections to make a part of its poll worker training curriculum, the materials produced by the Secretary of State, including a Poll Worker Quick Manual of Instructions, Poll Worker Reminder Sheet, and the Poll Worker Quick Reference Guide.
