|              |       |          |      |       | by considering them to be within the United States. The court concluded that UOCAVA was constitutional under the rational basis test, and violation of the treaty did not give rise to privately enforceable rights. Nevertheless, the Constitution provided U.S. citizens residing in Puerto Rico the right to participate in Presidential elections. No constitutional amendment was needed. The |                              |             |                                       |

010755

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | present political status of Puerto Rico was abhorrent to the Bill of Rights. The court denied defendant United States' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' action seeking a declaratory judgment allowing them to vote in Presidential elections as citizens of the United States and of Puerto Rico. The court held that the United States Constitution itself provided plaintiffs with the right to participate in |                              |             |                                       |

010756

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

---

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding                 | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|-------------------------|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Presidential elections. |                              |             |                                       |

010757

Rough Summary of Department of Justice, Public Integrity Section Activities, October 2002-January 2006***

Prosecutions and Convictions-- Individuals

Noncitizen voting: 20
Vote buying: 49
Double voting: 12
Registration fraud: 13
Civil Rights: 4
Voter Intimidation: 2
Unclear: 1

Open Investigations (note: a few cases overlap with prosecutions and convictions)

Noncitizen voting: 3
Vote buying: 25
Double voting: 15
Registration fraud: 29
Absentee ballot fraud: 9
Official: 8
Ineligibles: 4
Deceptive Practices: 1
Civil Rights: 14
Intimidation: 6
Other: 2

Cases and Investigations Closed for Lack of Evidence

Civil Rights: 8
Official: 12
Registration Fraud: 12
Absentee Ballot Fraud: 14
Ineligible Voting: 3
Intimidation: 8
Double Voting: 5
Ballot Box Stuffing: 1
Vote Buying: 14
Ballot/machine tampering: 2
Other: 8
Unclear: 3

*Based upon information available as of January 2006

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case      | Court                           | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---------------------------------|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| James v. Bartlett | Supreme Court of North Carolina | 359 N.C. 260; 607 S.E.2d 638; 2005 N.C. LEXIS 146 | February 4, 2005 | Appellant candidates challenged elections in the superior court through appeals of election protests before the North Carolina State Board of Elections and a declaratory judgment action in the superior court. The court entered an order granting summary judgment in favor of appellees, the Board, the Board's executive director, the Board's members, and the North Carolina Attorney General. The candidates appealed. | The case involved three separate election challenges. The central issue was whether a provisional ballot cast on election day at a precinct other than the voter's correct precinct of residence could be lawfully counted in final election tallies. The superior court held that it could be counted. On appeal, the supreme court determined that state law did not permit out--of--precinct provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010759

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | ballots to be counted in state and local elections. The candidates failure to challenge the counting of out-of-precinct provisional ballots before the election did not render their action untimely. Reversed and remanded. |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 387 F.3d 565; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 22320 | October 26, 2004 | Defendant state appealed from an order of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio which held that the Help America Vote Act required that voters be permitted to cast | The district court found that HAVA created an individual right to cast a provisional ballot, that this right is individually enforceable under 42  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010760

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | provisional ballots upon affirming their registration to vote in the county in which they desire to vote and that provisional ballots must be counted as valid ballots when cast in the correct county. | U.S.C.S. § 1983, and that plaintiffs unions and political parties had standing to bring a § 1983 action on behalf of Ohio voters. The court of appeals agreed that the political parties and unions had associational standing to challenge the state's provisional voting directive. Further, the court determined that HAVA was quintessentially about being able to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

010761

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballot but that the voter casts a provisional ballot at the peril of not being eligible to vote under state law; if the voter is not eligible, the vote will then not be counted. Accordingly, the court of appeals reversed the district court and held that "provisional" ballots cast in a precinct where a voter does not reside and which would be invalid under state law, are not required by the HAVA to be considered |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                      | Court                 | Citation  | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|---|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                   |                       |   |                    |  | legal votes. Affirmed in part and reversed in part.  |                              |             |                                       |
| State ex rel. Mackey v. Blackwell | Supreme Court of Ohio | 106 Ohio St. 3d 261; 2005 Ohio 4789; 834 N.E.2d 346; 2005 Ohio LEXIS 2074 | September 28, 2005 | Appellants, a political group and county electors who voted by provisional ballot, sought review of a judgment from the court of appeals which dismissed appellants' complaint, seeking a writ of mandamus to prevent appellees, the Ohio Secretary of State, a county board of elections, and the board's director, from disenfranchisement of provisional ballot voters. | The Secretary of State issued a directive to all Ohio county boards of elections, which specified that a signed affirmation statement was necessary for the counting of a provisional ballot in a presidential election. During the election, over 24,400 provisional ballots were cast in one county. The electors' provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010763

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballots were not counted. They, together with a political activist group, brought the mandamus action to compel appellants to prohibit the invalidation of provisional ballots and to notify voters of reasons for ballot rejections. Assorted constitutional and statutory law was relied on in support of the complaint. The trial court dismissed the complaint, finding that no clear legal right was established |                              |             |                                       |

010764

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                  | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|---|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |   |   |                  |  | under § 1983 to raise the federal-law claims. Affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Fla. Democratic Party v. Hood | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1073; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21720 | October 21, 2004 | Plaintiff political party sought injunctive relief under the Help America Vote Act, claiming that the election system put in place by defendant election officials violated HAVA because it did not allow provisional voting other than in the voter's assigned precinct. The officials moved for judgment on the pleadings. | The political party asserted that a prospective voter in a federal election had the right to cast a provisional ballot at a given polling place, even if the local officials asserted that the voter was at the wrong polling place; second, that voter had the right to have that vote counted in the election, if the voter otherwise | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010765

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | under Ohio law and the federal claims could be adequately raised in an action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. On appeal, the Ohio Supreme Court held that dismissal was proper, as the complaint actually sought declaratory and injunctive relief, rather than mandamus relief. Further, election--contest actions were the exclusive remedy to challenge election results. An adequate remedy existed |                              |             |                                       |

010766

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | met all requirements of state law. The court noted that the right to vote was clearly protectable as a civil right, and a primary purpose of the HAVA was to preserve the votes of persons who had incorrectly been removed from the voting rolls, and thus would not be listed as voters at what would otherwise have been the correct polling place. The irreparable injury to a voter was easily sufficient to |                              |             |                                       |

010767

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | outweigh any harm to the officials. Therefore, the court granted relief as to the first claim, allowing the unlisted voter to cast a provisional ballot, but denied relief as to the second claim, that the ballot at the wrong place must be counted if it was cast at the wrong place, because that result contradicted State law. The provisional ballot could only be counted if it |                              |             |                                       |

010768

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |  |  |                  |  | was cast in the proper precinct under State law.  |                              |             |                                       |
| League of Women Voters v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 340 F. Supp. 2d 823; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20926 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations filed suit against defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, claiming that a directive issued by the Secretary contravened the provisions of the Help America Vote Act. The Secretary filed a motion to dismiss. | The directive in question instructed election officials to issue provisional ballots to first-time voters who registered by mail but did not provide documentary identification at the polling place on election day. When submitting a provisional ballot, a first-time voter could identify himself by providing his driver's license number or the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | last four digits of his social security number. If he did not know either number, he could provide it before the polls closed. If he did not do so, his provisional ballot would not be counted. The court held that the directive did not contravene the HAVA and otherwise established reasonable requirements for confirming the identity of first-time voters who registered to vote by mail because: (1) the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | identification procedures were an important bulwark against voter misconduct and fraud; (2) the burden imposed on first-time voters to confirm their identity, and thus show that they were voting legitimately, was slight; and (3) the number of voters unable to meet the burden of proving their identity was likely to be very small. Thus, the balance of interests favored the directive, |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | even if the cost, in terms of uncounted ballots, was regrettable.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 386 F.3d 815; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 28765 | October 23, 2004 | Defendant Ohio Secretary of State challenged an order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, which held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive 2004--33 violated the federal Help America Vote Act. In its order, the district court directed the Secretary to issue a revised directive that conformed to HAVA's requirements. | On appeal, the court held that the district court correctly ruled that the right to cast a provisional ballot in federal elections was enforceable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 and that at least one plaintiff had standing to enforce that right in the district court. The court also held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010772

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 2004--33 violated HAVA to the extent that it failed to ensure that any individual affirming that he or she was a registered voter in the jurisdiction in which he or she desired to vote and eligible to vote in a federal election was permitted to cast a provisional ballot. However, the district court erred in holding that HAVA required that a voter's provisional ballot be counted as a |                              |             |                                       |

010773

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case     | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |   |                             |                  |   | valid ballot if it was cast anywhere in the county in which the voter resided, even if it was cast outside the precinct in which the voter resided.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Hawkins v. Blunt | United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21512 | October 12, 2004 | In an action filed by plaintiffs, voters and a state political party, contending that the provisional voting requirements of Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430 conflicted with and was preempted by the Help America Vote Act, plaintiffs and defendants, the secretary of state and others, moved | The court held that the text of the HAVA, as well as its legislative history, proved that it could be read to include reasonable accommodations of state precinct voting practices in implementing provisional voting requirements. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010774

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                 | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-----------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | for summary judgment. | The court further held that Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430.2 was reasonable; to effectuate the HAVA's intent and to protect that interest, it could not be unreasonable to direct a voter to his correct voting place where a full ballot was likely to be cast. The court also held that plaintiffs' equal protection rights were not violated by the requirement that before a voter would be allowed to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |  | ballot, the voter would first be directed to his proper polling place.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 340 F. Supp. 2d 802; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20551 | October 13, 2004 | Plaintiffs, state and county Democratic parties, filed an action against defendant, Michigan secretary of state and the Michigan director of elections, alleging that the state's intended procedure for casting and counting provisional ballots at the upcoming general election would violate the Help America Vote Act and state laws implementing the federal | The parties claimed that if the secretary's proposed procedure was allowed to occur, several voters who were members of the parties' respective organizations were likely to be disenfranchised. Defendants moved to transfer venue of the action to the Western District of Michigan claiming that the only proper | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010776

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | legislation. Defendants filed a motion to transfer venue. | venue for an action against a state official is the district that encompasses the state's seat of government. Alternatively, defendants sought transfer for the convenience of the parties and witnesses. The court found that defendants' arguments were not supported by the plain language of the current venue statutes. Federal actions against the Michigan secretary of state over rules and practices |                              |             |                                       |

010777

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | governing federal elections traditionally were brought in both the Eastern and Western Districts of Michigan. There was no rule that required such actions to be brought only in the district in which the state's seat of government was located, and no inconvenience resulting from litigating in the state's more populous district reasonably could be claimed by a state official who had a |                              |             |                                       |

010778

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |   | mandate to administer elections throughout the state and operated an office in each of its counties. Motion denied.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 347 F. Supp. 2d 404; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20872 | October 19, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voter organizations and political parties, filed actions against defendants, the Michigan Secretary of State and her director of elections, challenging directives issued to local election officials concerning the casting and tabulation of provisional ballots. Plaintiffs sought a | The court concluded that (1) plaintiffs had standing to assert their claims; (2) HAVA created individual rights enforceable through 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; (3) Congress had provided a scheme under HAVA in which a voter's right to have a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | preliminary injunction and contended that the directives violated their rights under the Help America Vote Act. | provisional ballot for federal offices tabulated was determined by state law governing eligibility, and defendants' directives for determining eligibility on the basis of precinct--based residency were inconsistent with state and federal election law; (4) Michigan election law defined voter qualifications in terms of the voter's home jurisdiction, and a person who cast a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | provisional ballot within his or her jurisdiction was entitled under federal law to have his or her votes for federal offices counted if eligibility to vote in that election could be verified; and (5) defendants' directives concerning proof of identity of first-time voters who registered by mail were consistent with federal and state law. |                              |             |                                       |

Word Search Terms

When performing a case law word search please use this word list and search both federal and state cases. The & (and) is included as the word search connector. You may have to substitute w/5 (within five words) for example instead of &. I want cases after 2000.

Election & fraud
Voter & fraud
Vote & fraud
Voter & challenge
Vote & challenge
Election & challenge
Election & irregularity
Election & irregularities
Election & violation
Election & statutory & violation
Election & statute & violation
Election & administration
Stealing & election
Election & stealing
At & the & time & of & the & election
After & the & election
Before & the & election
Election & commissioners
Election & mandamus
Election & mandamus & declaratory & judgment
Election & declaratory & judgment
Election & theft
Ballot & box
Ballot & box & tampering
Ballot & box & theft
Ballot & box & stealing
Paper & ballot
Paper & ballot & tampering
Election & officers
Election & Sheriff
Over & vote
Over & votes
Under & vote
Under & votes
Vote & counting
Vote & count
Election & counting
Election & count
Miscount & votes
Vote & optical & scan

Election & optical & scan
Election & crime
Election & criminal
Vote & crime
Vote & criminal
Double & voting
Multiple & voting
Dead & voting
Election & counting & violation
Election & counting & error
Vote & counting & violation
Vote & counting & error
Voter & intimidation
Vote & intimidation
Voter & intimidating
Voter & registration
Voter & registration & fictitious & name
Voter & registration & destruction
Vote & registration
Denial & voter & registration
Voter & card
Vote & card
Voter & refuse & vote
Voter & refuse
Vote & refuse
Voter & rolls
Vote & rolls
Voter & identification
Vote & identification
Voter & racial & profiling
Vote & racial & profiling
Voter & racial
Voter & reject
Vote & racial
Vote & reject
Voter & racial & challenge
Vote & racial & challenge
Voter & deny & racial
Vote & deny & racial
Voter & deny & challenge
Voter & deny & reject
Vote & deny & challenge
Vote & deny & reject
Voter & deny & black
Vote & deny & black
Voter & black & challenge

Voter & black & reject
Vote & black & challenge
Vote & black & reject
Voter & black
Vote & black
Voter & deny & African & American
Vote & deny & African & American
Vote & African & American & reject
Voter & African & American & challenge
Voter & African & American & reject
Vote & African & American & challenge
Voter & African & American
Vote & African & American
Election & deny & black
Election & black & challenge
Election & black & reject
Election & black
Election & deny & African & American
Election & African & American
Election & African & American & challenge
Election & African & American & reject
Voter & deny & Hispanic
Vote & deny & Hispanic
Voter & Hispanic & challenge
Voter & Hispanic & reject
Vote & Hispanic & challenge
Vote & Hispanic & reject
Voter & Hispanic
Vote & Hispanic
Election & deny & Hispanic
Election & Hispanic & challenge
Election & Hispanic & reject
Election & Hispanic
Voter & deny & Latino
Vote & deny & Latino
Voter & Latino & challenge
Voter & Latino & reject
Vote & Latino & challenge
Vote & Latino & reject
Voter & Latino
Vote & Latino
Election & deny & Latino
Election & Latino & challenge
Election & Latino & reject
Election & Latino
Voter & deny & Native & American

Vote & deny & Native & American
Voter & Native & American & challenge
Voter & Native & American & reject
Vote & Native & American & challenge
Vote & Native & American & reject
Voter & Native & American
Vote & Native & American
Election & deny & Native & American
Election & Native & American & challenge
Election & Native & American & reject
Election & Native & American
Ballot security & Native & American
Native & American & & vote & suppression
Native & American & vote & suppress Native & American & disenfranchisement
Voter & deny & Asian Vote & deny & Asian Voter & Asian & challenge
Voter & Asian & reject
Vote & Asian & challenge
Vote & Asian & reject
Voter & Asian
Vote & Asian
Election & deny & Asian Election & Asian & challenge
Election & Asian & reject
Election & Asian Ballot & security & Asian
Asian & & vote & suppression
Asian & vote & suppress
Asian & disenfranchisement
Voter & deny & Indian
Vote & deny & Indian
Voter & Indian & challenge
Voter & Indian & reject
Vote & Indian & challenge
Vote & Indian & reject
Voter & Indian
Vote & Indian Election & deny & Indian Election & Indian & challenge
Election & Indian & reject
Election & Indian
Ballot & security & Indian
Indian & & vote & suppression
Indian & vote & suppress

Indian & disenfranchisement
Poll & tax
Voting & test
Absentee & ballot
Absentee & ballots
Absentee & ballot & deny
Absentee & ballots & deny
Absentee & ballot & reject
Absentee & ballots & reject
Absentee & ballot & count
Absentee & ballots & count
Absentee & ballot & challenge
Absentee & ballots & challenge
Touch & screen & vote
Touch & screen & voting
Motor & Voter & Act
Overseas & ballots
Overseas & ballots & count
Overseas & ballots & deny
Overseas & ballots & reject
Overseas & ballot
Overseas & ballot & count
Overseas & ballot & deny
Overseas & ballot & reject
Military & ballots
Military & ballots & count
Military & ballots & deny
Military & ballots & reject
Military & ballot
Military & ballot & count
Military & ballot & deny
Military & ballot & reject
Electioneering & polls
Electioneering & within & polls
Unregistered & voter
Unregistered & vote
Unregistered & votes
Prevent & vote
Prevent & voter
Prevent & election
Stop & election
Stop & vote
Stop & voter
Delay & election
Delay & vote
Delay & voter

Close & polls
Close & poll
Open & poll
Open & polls
Prevent & close & polls
Prevent & close & poll
Prevent & open & polls
Prevent & open & poll
Vote & legal & challenge
Voter & legal & challenge
Election & legal & challenge
Election & void
Election & reverse
Vote & void
Vote & police
Voter & police
Poll & police
Vote & law & enforcement
Voter & law & enforcement
Poll & law & enforcement
Vote & deceptive & practices
Voter & deceptive & practices
Election & deceptive & practices
Voter & deceive
Voter & false & information
Voter & eligibility
Vote & felon
Vote & ex & felon
Vote & exfelon
Disenfranchisement
Disenfranchise
Law & election & manipulation
Vote & purging
Vote & purge
Registration & removal
Registration & purging
Registration & purge
Vote & buying
Vote & non & citizen
Vote & noncitizen
Voter & non & citizen
Voter & noncitizen
Vote & alien
Voter & alien
Vote & selective enforcement
Identification & selective

Election & accessible
Election & inaccessible
Election & misinformation
Registration & restrictions
Election & administrator & fraud
Election & official & fraud
Provisional & ballot & deny
Provisional & ballot & denial
Affidavit & ballot & deny
Affidavit & ballot & denial
Absentee & ballot & coerce
Absentee & ballot & coercion
Registration & destruction
Poll & worker & intimidation
Poll & worker & intimidating
Poll & worker & threatening
Poll & worker & abusive
Poll & inspector & intimidation
Poll & inspector & intimidating
Poll & inspector & threatening
Poll & inspector & abusive
Election & official & intimidation
Election & official & intimidating
Election & official & threatening
Election & official & abusive
Poll & judge & intimidation
Poll & judge & intimidating
Poll & judge & threatening
Poll & judge & abusive
Election & judge & intimidation
Election & judge & intimidating
Election & judge & threatening
Election & judge & abusive
Poll & monitor & intimidation
Poll & monitor & intimidating
Poll & monitor & threatening
Poll & monitor & abusive
Election & monitor & intimidation
Election & monitor & intimidating
Election & monitor & threatening
Election & monitor & abusive
Poll & observer & intimidation
Poll & observer & intimidating
Poll & observer & threatening
Poll & observer & abusive
Election & observer & intimidation

Election & observer & intimidating
Election & observer & threatening
Election & observer & abusive
Voter & deter
Vote & deterrence
Voter & deterrence
Ballot & integrity
Ballot & security
Ballot & security & minority
Ballot & security & black
Ballot & security & African & American
Ballot & security & Latino
Ballot & security & Hispanic
Vote & suppression
Minority & vote & suppression
Black & & vote & suppression
African & American & vote & suppression
Latino & vote & suppression
Hispanic & vote & suppression
Vote & suppress
Minority & vote & suppress
African American & vote & suppress
Latino & vote & suppress
Black & vote & suppress
Minority & disenfranchisement
African & American & disenfranchisement
Black & disenfranchisement
Latino & disenfranchisement
Hispanic & disenfranchisement
Vote & disenfranchisement
Voter & disenfranchisement
Vote & discourage
Voter & discourage
Vote & depress
Poll & watchers & challenge
Poll & watchers & intimidate
Poll & watcher & intimidating
Poll & watchers & intimidation
Poll & watcher & abusive
Poll & watcher & threatening
Jim & Crow
Literacy & test
Voter & harass
Voter & harassment
Vote & mail & fraud
Poll & guards

Election & consent & decree

Vote & barrier

Voting & barrier

Voter & barrier

Word Search Terms

When performing a case law word search please use this word list and search both federal and state cases. The & (and) is included as the word search connector. You may have to substitute w/5 (within five words) for example instead of &. I want cases after 2000.

Election & fraud
Voter & fraud
Vote & fraud
Voter & challenge
Vote & challenge
Election & challenge
Election & irregularity
Election & irregularities
Election & violation
Election & statutory & violation
Election & statute & violation
Election & administration
Stealing & election
Election & stealing
At & the & time & of & the & election
After & the & election
Before & the & election
Election & commissioners
Election & mandamus
Election & mandamus & declaratory & judgment
Election & declaratory & judgment
Election & theft
Ballot & box
Ballot & box & tampering
Ballot & box & theft
Ballot & box & stealing
Paper & ballot
Paper & ballot & tampering
Election & officers
Election & Sheriff
Over & vote
Over & votes
Under & vote
Under & votes
Vote & counting
Vote & count
Election & counting
Election & count
Miscount & votes
Vote & optical & scan

Election & optical & scan
Election & crime
Election & criminal
Vote & crime
Vote & criminal
Double & voting
Multiple & voting
Dead & voting
Election & counting & violation
Election & counting & error
Vote & counting & violation
Vote & counting & error
Voter & intimidation
Voter & intimidating
Vote & intimidation
Voter & registration
Vote & registration
Denial & voter & registration
Voter & card
Vote & card
Voter & refuse & vote
Voter & refuse
Vote & refuse
Voter & rolls
Vote & rolls
Voter & identification
Vote & identification
Voter & racial & profiling
Vote & racial & profiling
Voter & racial
Voter & reject
Vote & racial
Vote & reject
Voter & racial & challenge
Vote & racial & challenge
Voter & deny & racial
Vote & deny & racial
Voter & deny & challenge
Voter & deny & reject
Vote & deny & challenge
Vote & deny & reject
Voter & deny & black
Vote & deny & black
Voter & black & challenge
Voter & black & reject
Vote & black & challenge

Vote & black & reject
Voter & black
Vote & black
Voter & deny & African & American
Vote & deny & African & American
Vote & African & American & reject
Voter & African & American & challenge
Voter & African & American & reject
Vote & African & American & challenge
Voter & African & American
Vote & African & American
Election & deny & black
Election & black & challenge
Election & black & reject
Election & black
Election & deny & African & American
Election & African & American
Election & African & American & challenge
Election & African & American & reject
Voter & deny & Hispanic
Voter & deny & Latino
Vote & deny & Hispanic
Vote & deny & Latino
Voter & Hispanic & challenge
Voter & Latino & challenge
Voter & Hispanic & reject
Voter & Latino & reject
Vote & Hispanic & challenge
Vote & Latino & challenge
Vote & Hispanic & reject
Vote & Latino & reject
Voter & Hispanic
Voter & Latino
Vote & Hispanic
Vote & Latino
Election & deny & Hispanic
Election & deny & Latino
Election & Hispanic & challenge
Election & Latino & challenge
Election & Hispanic & reject
Election & Latino & reject
Election & Hispanic
Election & Latino
Poll & tax
Voting & test
Absentee & ballot

Absentee & ballots
Absentee & ballot & deny
Absentee & ballots & deny
Absentee & ballot & reject
Absentee & ballots & reject
Absentee & ballot & count
Absentee & ballots & count
Absentee & ballot & challenge
Absentee & ballots & challenge
Touch & screen & vote
Touch & screen & voting
Motor & Voter & Act
Overseas & ballots
Overseas & ballots & count
Overseas & ballots & deny
Overseas & ballots & reject
Overseas & ballot
Overseas & ballot & count
Overseas & ballot & deny
Overseas & ballot & reject
Military & ballots
Military & ballots & count
Military & ballots & deny
Military & ballots & reject
Military & ballot
Military & ballot & count
Military & ballot & deny
Military & ballot & reject
Electioneering & polls
Electioneering & within & polls
Unregistered & voter
Unregistered & vote
Unregistered & votes
Prevent & vote
Prevent & voter
Prevent & election
Stop & election
Stop & vote
Stop & voter
Delay & election
Delay & vote
Delay & voter
Close & poll
Open & poll
Open & polls
Close & polls

Prevent & close & polls
Prevent & close & poll
Prevent & open & polls
Prevent & open & poll
Vote & legal & challenge
Voter & legal & challenge
Election & legal & challenge
Election & void
Election & reverse
Vote & void
Vote & police
Voter & police
Poll & police
Vote & law & enforcement
Voter & law & enforcement
Poll & law & enforcement
Vote & deceptive & practices
Voter & deceptive & practices
Election & deceptive & practices
Voter & deceive
Voter & false & information
Voter & eligibility
Vote & felon
Vote & exfelon
Vote & ex & felon
Disenfranchisement
Disenfranchise
Law & election & manipulation
Vote & purging
Vote & purge
Registration & removal
Registration & purging
Registration & purge
Vote & buying
Vote & noncitizen
Vote & non & citizen
Voter & noncitizen
Voter & non & citizen
Vote & selective & enforcement
Identification & selective
Election & accessible
Election & inaccessible
Election & misinformation
Registration & restrictions
Election & administrator & fraud
Election & official & fraud

Provisional & ballot & deny
Provisional & ballot & denial
Affidavit & ballot & deny
Affidavit & ballot & denial
Absentee & ballot & coerce
Absentee & ballot & coercion
Registration & destruction
Poll & worker & intimidation
Poll & worker & intimidating
Poll & worker & threatening
Poll & worker & abusive
Poll & inspector & intimidation
Poll & inspector & intimidating
Poll & inspector & threatening
Poll & inspector & abusive
Election & official & intimidation
Election & official & intimidating
Election & official & threatening
Election & official & abusive
Voter & deter
Vote & deterrence
Voter & deterrence
Ballot & integrity
Ballot & security
Ballot & security & minority
Ballot & security & black
Ballot & security & African & American
Ballot & security & Latino
Ballot & security & Hispanic
Vote & suppression
Minority & vote & suppression
Black & vote & suppression
African & American & vote & suppression
Latino & vote & suppression
Hispanic & vote & suppression
Vote & suppress
Minority & vote & suppress
African & American & vote & suppress
Latino & vote & suppress
Minority & disenfranchisement
African & American & disenfranchisement
Black & disenfranchisement
Latino & disenfranchisement
Hispanic & disenfranchisement
Vote & disenfranchisement
Voter & disenfranchisement

Vote & discourage
Voter & discourage
Vote & depress
Poll & watchers & challenge
Poll & watchers & intimidate
Poll & watcher & intimidating
Poll & watchers & intimidation
Poll & watcher & abusive
Poll & watcher & threatening
Jim & Crow
Literacy & test
Voter & harass
Voter & harassment
Vote & mail & fraud
Poll & guards
Election & consent & decree
Vote & barrier
Voting & barrier
Voter & barrier

Interviews

Common Themes

- There is virtually universal agreement that absentee ballot fraud is the biggest problem, with vote buying and registration fraud coming in after that. The vote buying often comes in the form of payment for absentee ballots, although not always. Some absentee ballot fraud is part of an organized effort; some is by individuals, who sometimes are not even aware that what they are doing is illegal. Voter registration fraud seems to take the form of people signing up with false names. Registration fraud seems to be most common where people doing the registration were paid by the signature.
- There is widespread but not unanimous agreement that there is little polling place fraud, or at least much less than is claimed, including voter impersonation, “dead” voters, noncitizen voting and felon voters. Those few who believe it occurs often enough to be a concern say that it is impossible to show the extent to which it happens, but do point to instances in the press of such incidents. Most people believe that false registration forms have not resulted in polling place fraud, although it may create the perception that vote fraud is possible. Those who believe there is more polling place fraud than reported/investigated/prosecuted believe that registration fraud does lead to fraudulent votes. Jason Torchinsky from the American Center for Voting Rights is the only interviewee who believes that polling place fraud is widespread and among the most significant problems in the system.
- Abuse of challenger laws and abusive challengers seem to be the biggest intimidation/suppression concerns, and many of those interviewed assert that the new identification requirements are the modern version of voter intimidation and suppression. However there is evidence of some continued outright intimidation and suppression, especially in some Native American communities. A number of people also raise the problem of poll workers engaging in harassment of minority voters. Other activities commonly raised were the issue of polling places being moved at the last moment, unequal distribution of voting machines, videotaping of voters at the polls, and targeted misinformation campaigns.
- Several people indicate – including representatives from DOJ -- that for various reasons, the Department of Justice is bringing fewer voter intimidation and suppression cases now and is focusing on matters such as noncitizen voting, double voting and felon voting. While the civil rights section continues to focus on systemic patterns of malfeasance, the public integrity section is focusing now on individuals, on isolated instances of fraud.
- The problem of badly kept voter registration lists, with both ineligible voters remaining on the rolls and eligible voters being taken off, remains a common concern. A few people are also troubled by voters being on registration lists in two states. They said that there was no evidence that this had led to double voting, but it opens the door to the possibility. There is great hope that full implementation of the new requirements of HAVA – done well, a major caveat – will reduce this problem dramatically.

Common Recommendations:

- Many of those interviewed recommend better poll worker training as the best way to improve the process; a few also recommended longer voting times or voting on days other than election day (such as weekends) but fewer polling places so only the best poll workers would be employed
- Many interviewed support stronger criminal laws and increased enforcement of existing laws with respect to both fraud and intimidation. Advocates from across the spectrum expressed frustration with the failure of the Department of Justice to pursue complaints.
  - With respect to the civil rights section, John Tanner indicated that fewer cases are being brought because fewer are warranted – it has become increasingly difficult to know when allegations of intimidation and suppression are credible since it depends on one’s definition of intimidation, and because both parties are doing it. Moreover prior enforcement of the laws has now changed the entire landscape – race based problems are rare now. Although challenges based on race and unequal implementation of identification rules would be actionable, Mr. Tanner was unaware of such situations actually occurring and the section has not pursued any such cases.
  - Craig Donsanto of the public integrity section says that while the number of election fraud related complaints have not gone up since 2002, nor has the proportion of legitimate to illegitimate claims of fraud, the number of cases the department is investigating and the number of indictments the section is pursuing are both up dramatically. Since 2002, the department has brought more cases against alien voters, felon voters and double voters than ever before. Mr. Donsanto would like more resources so it can do more and would like to have laws that make it easier for the federal government to assume jurisdiction over voter fraud cases.
- A couple of interviewees recommend a new law that would make it easier to criminally prosecute people for intimidation even when there is not racial animus.
- Several advocate expanded monitoring of the polls, including some associated with the Department of Justice.
- Almost everyone hopes that administrators will maximize the potential of statewide voter registration databases to prevent fraud
- Challenge laws, both with respect to pre-election day challenges and challengers at the polls, need to be revised by all states to ensure they are not used for purposes of wrongful disenfranchisement and harassment
- Several people advocate passage of Senator Barak Obama’s “deceptive practices” bill
- There is a split on whether it would be helpful to have nonpartisan election officials – some indicated they thought even if elections officials are elected nonpartisanly they will carry out their duties in biased ways nonetheless. However, most agree that elections officials pursuing partisan agendas is a problem that must be addressed in some fashion. Suggestions included moving election responsibilities out of the secretary of states' office; increasing transparency in the process; and enacting conflict of interest rules.

- A few recommend returning to allowing use of absentee ballots “for cause” only if it were politically feasible.
- A few recommend enacting a national identification card, including Pat Rogers, an attorney in New Mexico, and Jason Torchinsky from ACVR, who advocates the scheme contemplated in the Carter-Baker Commission Report.
- A couple of interviewees indicated the need for clear standards for the distribution of voting machines

Interview with Douglas Webber, Assistant Indiana Attorney General

February 15, 2006

Background

Mr. Webber was an attorney for the Marion County Election Board and was also part of the Indianapolis Ballot Security Team (sometimes called the Goon Squad). This Team was a group of attorneys well trained in election law whose mission was to enforce ballot security.

Litigation

Status of litigation in Indiana: On January 12 the briefing was completed. The parties are waiting for a decision from the U.S. district judge. The judge understood that one of the parties would seek a stay from the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals. The parties anticipate a decision in late March or early April. Mr. Webber did the discovery and depositions for the litigation. Mr. Webber feared the plaintiffs were going to state in their reply brief that HAVA's statewide database requirement would resolve the problems alleged by the state. However, the plaintiffs failed to do so, relying on a Motor Voter Act argument instead. Mr. Webber believes that the voter ID at issue will make the system much more user-friendly for the poll workers. The Legislature passed the ID legislation, and the state is defending it, on the basis of the problem of the perception of fraud.

Incidents of fraud and intimidation

Mr. Webber thinks that no one can put his or her thumb on whether there has been voter fraud in Indiana. For instance, if someone votes in place of another, no one knows about it. There have been no prosecuted cases of polling place fraud in Indiana. There is no recorded history of documented cases, but it does happen. In the litigation, he used articles from around the country about instances of voter fraud, but even in those examples there were ultimately no prosecutions, for example the case of Milwaukee. He also stated in the litigation that there are all kinds of examples of dead people voting--totaling in the hundreds of thousands of votes across the country.

One interesting example of actual fraud in Indiana occurred when a poll worker, in a poll using punch cards, glued the chads back and then punched out other chads for his candidate. But this would not be something that would be addressed by an ID requirement.

He also believes that the perception that the polls are loose can be addressed by the legislature. The legislature does not need to wait to see if the statewide database solve the problems and therefore affect the determination of whether an ID requirement is necessary. When he took the deposition of the Republican Co-Director, he said he thought Indiana was getting ahead of the curve. That is, there have been problems around the country, and confidence in elections is low. Therefore Indiana is now in front of getting that confidence back.

Mr. Webber stated that the largest vote problem in Indiana is absentee ballots. Absentee ballot fraud and vote buying are the most documented cases. It used to be the law that applications for absentee ballots could be sent anywhere. In one, case absentee votes were exchanged for “a job on election day”---meaning one vote for a certain price. The election was contested and the trial judge found that although there was vote fraud, the incidents of such were less than the margin of victory and so he refused to overturn the election. Mr. Webber appealed the case for the state and argued the judge used the wrong statute. The Indiana Supreme Court agreed and reversed. Several people were prosecuted as a result – those cases are still pending.

Process

In Indiana, voter complaints first come to the attorney for the county election board who can recommend that a hearing be held. If criminal activity was found, the case could be referred to the county prosecutor or in certain instances to the Indiana Attorney General’s Office. In practice, the Attorney General almost never handles such cases.

Mr. Webber has had experience training county of election boards in preserving the integrity and security of the polling place from political or party officials. Mr. Webber stated that the Indiana voter rolls need to be culled. He also stated that in Southern Indiana a large problem was vote buying while in Northern Indiana a large problem was based on government workers feeling compelled to vote for the party that gave them their jobs.

Recommendations

- Mr. Webber believes that all election fraud and intimidation complaints should be referred to the Attorney General’s Office to circumvent the problem of local political prosecutions. The Attorney General should take more responsibility for complaints of fraud because at the local level, politics interferes. At the local level, everyone knows each other, making it harder prosecute.
- Indiana currently votes 6 am to 6 pm on a weekday. Government workers and retirees are the only people who are available to work the polls. Mr. Webber suggested that the biggest change should be to move elections to weekends. This would involve more people acting as poll workers who would be much more careful about what was going on.
- Early voting at the clerk’s office is good because the people there know what they are doing. People would be unlikely to commit fraud at the clerk’s office. This should be expanded to other polling places in addition to that of the county clerk.
- Finally, Mr. Webber believes polling places should be open longer, run more professionally but that there needs to be fewer of them so that they are staffed by only the best, most professional people.

Interview with Commissioner Harry Van Sickle and Deputy Chief Counsel to the Secretary of State Larry Boyle, State of Pennsylvania

March 1, 2006

As Commissioner Van Sickle has only been in office for about a year, Mr. Boyle answered most of our questions.

Fraud and Intimidation

Neither Van Sickle nor Boyle was aware of any fraud of any kind in the state of Pennsylvania over the last five years. They are not aware of the commission of any deceptive practices, such as flyers that intentionally misinform as to voting procedures. They also have never heard of any incidents of voter intimidation. With respect to the mayoral election of 2003, the local commission would know about that.

Since the Berks County case of 2003, where the Department of Justice found poll workers who treated Latino voters with hostility among other voting rights violations, the Secretary's office has brought together Eastern Pennsylvania election administrators and voting advocates to discuss the problems. As a result, other counties have voluntarily chosen to follow the guidance of the Berks County federal court order.

Regarding the allegations of fraud that surrounded the voter identification debate, Mr. Boyle said was not aware of any instances of fraud involving identity. He believes this is because Pennsylvania has laws in place to prevent this. For example, in 2002 the state legislature passed an ID law that is stricter than HAVA's – it requires all first time voters to present identification. In addition, the SURE System – the state's statewide voter registration database – is a great anti-fraud mechanism. The system will be in place statewide in the May 2006 election.

In addition, the state took many steps before the 2004 election to make sure it would be smooth. They had attorneys in the counties to consult on problems as well as staff at the central office to take calls regarding problems. In addition, in 2004 the state used provisional ballots for the first time. This resolved many of the problems that used to occur on Election Day.

Mr. Boyle is not aware of any voter registration fraud. This is because when someone registers to vote, the administrator does a duplicate check. In addition, under new laws a person registering to vote must provide their drivers license or Social Security number which are verified through the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Social Security Administration. Therefore, it would be unlikely that someone would be able to register to vote falsely.

Process

Most problems are dealt with at the local level and do not come within the review of the Secretary of State's office. For instance, if there is a complaint of intimidation, this is generally dealt with by the county courts which are specially designated solely to election cases on Election Day. The Secretary does not keep track of these cases. Since the passage of NVRA and HAVA counties will increasingly call the office when problems arise.

Recommendations

Mr. Boyle suggested we review the recommendations of the Pennsylvania Election Reform Task Force which is on the Secretary's website. Many of those recommendations have been introduced in the legislature.

Interview with Craig Donsanto, Director, Public Integrity Section, U.S. Department of Justice

January 13, 2006

Questions

How are Prosecution Decisions Made?

Craig Donsanto must approve all investigations that go beyond a preliminary stage, all charges, search warrant applications and subpoenas and all prosecutions. The decision to investigate is very sensitive because of the public officials involved. If a charge seems political, Donsanto will reject it. Donsanto gives possible theories for investigation. Donsanto and Noel Hillman will decide whether to farm out the case to an AUSA. Donsanto uses a concept called predication. In-other-words, there must be enough evidence to suggest a crime has been committed. The method of evaluation of this evidence depends on the type of evidence and its source. There are two types of evidence---factual (antisocial behavior) and legal (antisocial behavior leading to statutory violations). Whether an indictment will be brought depends on the likelihood of success before a jury. Much depends on the type of evidence and the source. Donsanto said he "knows it when he sees it." Donsanto will only indict if he is confident of a conviction assuming the worst case scenario – a jury trial.

A person under investigation will first receive a target letter. Often, a defendant who gets a target letter will ask for a departmental hearing. The defendant's case will be heard by Donsanto and Hillman. On occasion, the assistant attorney general will review the case. The department grants such hearings easily because such defendants are likely to provide information about others involved.

The Civil Rights Division, Voting Rights Section makes its own decisions on prosecution. The head of that division is John Tanner. There is a lot of cooperation between

Does the Decision to Prosecute Incorporate Particular Political Considerations within a State Such as a One Party System or a System in which the Party in Power Controls the Means of Prosecution and Suppresses Opposition Complaints?

Yes. Before, the department would leave it to the states. Now, if there is racial animus involved in the case, there is political bias involved, or the prosecutor is not impartial, the department will take it over.

Does it Matter if the Complaint Comes from a Member of a Racial Minority?

No. But if the question involves racial animus, that has also always been an aggravating factor, making it more likely the Department will take it over

What Kinds of Complaints Would Routinely Override Principles of Federalism?

Federalism is no longer big issue. DOJ is permitted to prosecute whenever there is a candidate for federal office.

Are There Too Few Prosecutions?

DOJ can't prosecute everything.

What Should Be Done to Improve the System?

The problem is asserting federal jurisdiction in non-federal elections. It is preferable for the federal government to pursue these cases for the following reasons: federal districts draw from a bigger and more diverse jury pool; the DOJ is politically detached; local district attorneys are hamstrung by the need to be re-elected; DOJ has more resources – local prosecutors need to focus on personal and property crimes---fraud cases are too big and too complex for them; DOJ can use the grand jury process as a discovery technique and to test the strength of the case.

In U.S. v. McNally, the court ruled that the mail fraud statute does not apply to election fraud. It was through the mail fraud statute that the department had routinely gotten federal jurisdiction over election fraud cases. 18 USC 1346, the congressional effort to “fix” McNally, did not include voter fraud.

As a result, the department needs a new federal law that allows federal prosecution whenever a federal instrumentality is used, e.g. the mail, federal funding, interstate commerce. The department has drafted such legislation, which was introduced but not passed in the early 1990s. A federal law is needed that permits prosecution in any election where any federal instrumentality is used.

Other Information

The Department has held four symposia for DEOs and FBI agents since the initiation of the Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Initiative. In 2003, civil rights leaders were invited to make speeches, but were not permitted to take part in the rest of the symposium. All other symposia have been closed to the public. (Peg will be sending us the complete training materials used at those sessions. These are confidential and are the subject of FOIA litigation).

There are two types of attorneys in the division: prosecutors, who take on cases when the jurisdiction of the section requires it; the US Attorney has recused him or herself; or when the US Attorney is unable to handle the case (most frequent reason) and braintrust attorneys who analyze the facts, formulate theories, and draft legal documents.

Cases:

Donsanto provided us with three case lists: Open cases (still being investigated) as of January 13, 2006 – confidential; election fraud prosecutions and convictions as a result of the Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Initiative October 2002-January 13, 2006 and cases closed for lack of evidence as of January 13, 2006

If we want more documents related to any case, we must get those documents from the states. The department will not release them to us.

Although the number of election fraud related complaints have not gone up since 2002, nor has the proportion of legitimate to illegitimate complaints of fraud, the number of cases that the department is investigating and the number of indictments the department is pursuing are both up dramatically.

Since 2002, the department has brought more cases against alien voters, felon voters, and double voters than ever before. Previously, cases were only brought when there was a pattern or scheme to corrupt the process. Charges were not brought against individuals – those cases went un-prosecuted. This change in direction, focus, and level of aggression was by the decision of the Attorney General. The reason for the change was for deterrence purposes.

The department is currently undertaking three pilot projects to determine what works in developing the cases and obtaining convictions and what works with juries in such matters to gain convictions:

Felon voters in Milwaukee.

Alien voters in the Southern District of Florida. FYI – under 18 USC 611, to prosecute for “alien voting” there is no intent requirement. Conviction can lead to deportation. Nonetheless, the department feels compelled to look at mitigating factors such as was the alien told it was OK to vote, does the alien have a spouse that is a citizen.

Double voters in a variety of jurisdictions.

The department does not maintain records of the complaints that come in from DEOs, U.S attorneys and others during the election that are not pursued by the department. Donsanto asserted that U.S. attorneys never initiate frivolous investigations.

According to the new handbook, the department can take on a case whenever there is a federal candidate on the ballot

Interview with Heather Dawn Thompson, Director of Government Relations, National Congress of American Indians

March 22, 2006

Background

Thompson is a member of the Cheyenne River Sioux tribe in South Dakota. For many years she worked locally on elections doing poll monitoring and legal work, from a nonpartisan perspective. In 2004, she headed the Native Vote Election Protection, a project run by the National Congress of American Indians, and was in charge of monitoring all Native American voting sites around the country, focusing on 10 or 15 states with the biggest Native populations. She is now permanently on staff of the National Congress of American Indians as the Director of Government relations. NCAI works jointly with NARF as well as the Election Protection Coalition.

Recent trends

Native election protection operations have intensified recently for several reasons. While election protection efforts in Native areas have been ongoing, leaders realized that they were failing to develop internal infrastructure or cultivate locally any of the knowledge and expertise which would arrive and leave with external protection groups.

Moreover, in recent years partisan groups have become more aware of the power of the native vote, and have become more active in native communities. This has partly resulted in an extreme increase in voter intimidation tactics. As native communities are easy to identify, easy to target, and generally dominated by a single party, they are especially vulnerable to such tactics.

Initially, reports of intimidation were only passed along by word of mouth. But it became such a problem in the past 5 to 6 years that tribal leaders decided to raise the issue to the national level. Thompson points to the Cantwell election in 2000 and the Johnson election in South Dakota in 2002 as tipping points where many began to realize the Indian vote could matter in Senate and national elections.

Thompson stressed that Native Vote places a great deal of importance on being nonpartisan. While a majority of native communities vote Democratic, there are notable exceptions, including communities in Oklahoma and Alaska, and they have both parties engaging in aggressive tactics. However, she believes the most recent increase in suppression and intimidation tactics have come from Republican Party organizations.

Nature of Suppression/Intimidation of Native Voters

Thompson categorizes suppression into judge related and poll-watcher related incidents, both of which may be purposeful or inadvertent, as well as longstanding legal-structural constraints.

Structural problems

One example of inadvertent suppression built into the system stems from the fact that many Indian communities also include significant numbers of non-Indians due to allotment. Non-Indians tend to be most active in the state and local government while Indians tend to be more involved in the tribal government. Thus, the individuals running elections end up being non-Indian. Having Indians vote at polling places staffed by non-Indians often results in incidents of disrespect towards Native voters (Thompson emphasized the considerable racism which persists against Indians in these areas). Also, judges aren't familiar with Indian last names and are more dismissive of solving discrepancies with native voters.

Structural problems also arise from laws which mandate that the tribal government cannot run state or local elections. In places like South Dakota, political leaders used to make it intentionally difficult for Native Americans to participate in elections. For example, state, local and federal elections could not be held in the same location as tribal elections, leading to confusion when tribal and other elections are held in different locations. Also, it is common to have native communities with few suitable sites, meaning that a state election held in a secondary location can suddenly impose transportation obstacles.

Photo ID Issues

Thompson believes both state level and HAVA photo ID requirements have a considerable negative impact. For a number of reasons, many Indian voters don't have photo ID. Poor health care and poverty on reservations means that many children are born at home, leading to a lack of birth certificates necessary to obtain ID. Also, election workers and others may assume they are Hispanic, causing additional skepticism due to citizenship questions. There is a cultural issue as well—historically, whenever Indians register with the federal government it has been associated with a taking of land or removal of children. Thus many Indians avoid registering for anything with the government, even for tribal ID.

Thompson also offered examples of how the impact of ID requirements had been worsened by certain rules and the discriminatory way they have been carried out. In the South Dakota special election of 2003, poll workers told Native American voters that if they did not have ID with them and they lived within sixty miles of the precinct, the voter had to come back with ID. The poll workers did not tell the voters that they could vote by affidavit ballot and not need to return, as required by law. This was exacerbated by the fact that the poll workers didn't know the voters—as would be the case with non-Indian poll workers and Indian voters. Many left the poll site without voting and did not return.

In Minnesota, the state tried to prohibit the use of tribal ID's for voting outside of a reservation, even though Minnesota has a large urban Native population. Thompson believes this move was very purposeful, and despite any reasonable arguments from the Secretary of State, they had to file a lawsuit to stop the rule. They were very surprised to find national party representatives in the courtroom when they went to deal with lawsuit, representatives who could only have been alerted through a discussion with the Secretary of State.

Partisan Poll-Monitoring

Thompson believes the most purposeful suppression has been perpetrated by the party structures on an individual basis, of which South Dakota is a great example.

Some negative instances of poll monitoring are not purposeful. Both parties send in non-Indian, non-Western lawyers, largely from the East Coast, which can lead to uncomfortable cultural clashes. These efforts display a keen lack of understanding of these communities and the best way to negotiate within in them. But while it may be intimidating, it is not purposeful.

Yet there are also many instances of purposeful abuse of poll monitoring. While there were indeed problems during the 2002 Johnson election, it was small compared to the Janklow special election. Thompson says Republican workers shunned cultural understanding outreach, and had an extensive pamphlet of what to say at polls and were very aggressive about it. In one tactic, every time a voter would come up with no ID, poll monitors would repeat “You can’t vote” over and over again, causing many voters to leave. This same tactic appeared across reservations, and eventually they looked to the Secretary of State to intervene.

In another example, the head of poll watchers drove from poll to poll and told voters without IDs to go home, to the point where the chief of police was going to evict him from the reservation. In Minnesota, on the Red Lake reservation, police actually did evict an aggressive poll watcher—the fact that the same strategies are employed several hundred miles apart points to standardized instructions.

None of these incidents ever went to court. Thompson argues this is due to few avenues for legal recourse. In addition, it is inherently difficult to settle these things, as they are he said-she said incidents and take place amidst the confusion of Election Day. Furthermore, poll watchers know what the outline of the law is, and they are careful to work within those parameters, leaving little room for legal action.

Other seeming instances of intimidation may be purely inadvertent, such as when, in 2002, the U.S. Attorney chose Election Day to give out subpoenas, and native voters stayed in their homes. In all fairness, she believes this was a misunderstanding.

The effect of intimidation on small communities is especially strong and is impossible to ultimately measure, as the ripple effect of rumors in insular communities can’t be traced. In some communities, they try to combat this by using the Native radio to encourage people to vote and dispel myths.

She has suggestions for people who can describe incidents at a greater level of detail if interested.

Vote Buying and Fraud

They haven’t found a great deal of evidence on vote-buying and fraud. When cash is offered to register voters, individuals may abuse this, although Thompson believes this is not necessarily unique to the Native community, but a reflection of high rates of poverty. This doesn't amount to a concerted effort at conspiracy, but instead represents isolated incidents of people not observing the rules. While Thompson believes looking into such incidents is a completely fair inquiry, she also believes it has been exploited for political purposes and to intimidate. For example, large law enforcement contingents were sent to investigate these incidents. As Native voters tend not to draw distinctions between law enforcement and other officials, this made them unlikely to help with elections.

Remedies

As far as voter suppression is concerned, Native Vote has been asking the Department of Justice to look into what might be done, and to place more emphasis on law enforcement and combating intimidation. They have been urging the Department to focus on this at least much as it is focusing on enforcement of Section 203. Native groups have complained to DOJ repeatedly and DOJ has the entire log of handwritten incident reports they have collected. Therefore, Thompson recommends more DOJ enforcement of voting rights laws with respect to intimidation. People who would seek to abuse the process need to believe a penalty will be paid for doing so. Right now, there is no recourse and DOJ does not care, so both parties do it because they can.

Certain states should rescind bars on nonpartisan poll watchers on Election Day; Thompson believes this is contrary to the nonpartisan, pro-Indian presence which would best facilitate voting in Native communities.

As discussed above, Thompson believes ID requirements are a huge impediment to native voters. At a minimum, Thompson believes all states should be explicit about accepting tribal ID on Election Day.

Liberalized absentee ballot rules would also be helpful to Native communities. As many Indian voters are disabled and elderly, live far away from their precinct, and don't have transportation, tribes encourage members to vote by absentee ballot. Yet obstacles remain. Some voters are denied a chance to vote if they have requested a ballot and then show up at the polls. Thompson believes South Dakota's practice of tossing absentee ballots if a voter shows up at the ED would serve as an effective built-in protection. In addition, she believes there should be greater scrutiny of GOTV groups requesting absentee ballots without permission. Precinct location is a longstanding issue, but Thompson recognizes that states have limited resources. In the absence of those resources, better absentee ballot procedures are needed.

Basic voter registration issues and access are also important in native communities and need to be addressed.

Thompson is mixed on what restrictions should be placed on poll watcher behavior, as she believes open elections and third party helpers are both important. However, she would be willing to explore some sort of stronger recourse and set of rules concerning poll watchers' behavior. Currently, the parties are aware that no recourse exists, and try to get away with what they will. This is not unique to a single party—both try to stay within law while shaking people up. The existing VRA provision is 'fluffy'—unless you have a consent decree, you have very little power. Thompson thinks a general voter intimidation law that is left a bit broad but that nonetheless makes people aware of some sort of kickback could be helpful.

Interview with Jason Torchinsky, former attorney with the Civil Rights Section of the Department of Justice, assistant general counsel for the American Center for Voting Rights (ACVR) and Robin DeJarnette, political consultant for C4 and C5 organizations and executive director for the ACVR.

February 16, 2006

ACVR Generally

Other officers of the ACVR-Thor Hearne II-general counsel and Brian Lunde, former executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

Board of Directors of ACVR-Brian Lunde, Thor Hearne II, and Cameron Quinn

ACVR works with a network of attorneys around the country and has been recently involved with lobbying in PA and MO.

Regarding the August 2005 Report

ACVR has not followed up on any of the cases it cited in the 2005 report to see if the allegations had been resolved in some manner. Mr. Torchinsky stated that there are problems with allegations of fraud in the report and prosecution---just because there was no prosecution, does not mean there was no vote fraud. He believes that it is very hard to come up with a measure of voter fraud short of prosecution. Mr. Torchinsky does not have a good answer to resolve this problem.

P. 35 of the Report indicates that there were coordinated efforts by groups to coordinate fraudulent voter registrations. P. 12 of the Ohio Report references a RICO suit filed against organizations regarding fraudulent voter registrations. Mr. Torchinsky does not know what happened in that case. He stated that there was a drive to increase voter registration numbers regardless of whether there was an actual person to register. He stated that when you have an organization like ACORN involved all over the place, there is reason to believe it is national in scope. When it is the same groups in multiple states, this leads to the belief that it is a concerted effort.

Voting Problems

Mr. Torchinsky stated there were incidents of double voting---ex. a double voter in Kansas City, MO. If the statewide voter registration database requirement of HAVA is properly implemented, he believes it will stop multiple voting in the same state. He supports the HAVA requirement, if implemented correctly. Since Washington State implemented its statewide database, the Secretary of State has initiated investigations into felons who voted. In Philadelphia the major problem is permitting polling places in private homes and bars – even the homes of party chairs.

Mr. Torchinsky believes that voter ID would help, especially in cities in places like Ohio and Philadelphia, PA. The ACVR legislative fund supports the Real ID requirements suggested by the Carter-Baker Commission. Since federal real ID requirements will be in place in 2010, any objection to a voter ID requirement should be moot.

Mr. Torchinsky stated that there are two major poll and absentee voting problems---(1) fraudulent votes-ex. dead people voting in St. Louis and (2) people voting who are not legally eligible-ex. felons in most places. He also believes that problems could arise in places that still transport paper ballots from the voting location to a counting room. However, he does not believe this is as widespread a problem now as it once was.

Suggestions

Implement the Carter-Baker Commission recommendations because they represent a reasonable compromise between the political parties.

Interview Sharon Priest, former Secretary of State, Arkansas
January 24, 2006

Process:

When there is an allegation of election fraud or intimidation, the county clerk refers it to the local district attorney. Most often, the DA does not pursue the claim. There is little that state administrators can do about this because in Arkansas, county clerks are partisanly elected and completely autonomous. Indeed, county clerks have total authority to determine who is an eligible voter.

Data:

There is very little data collected in Arkansas on fraud and intimidation cases. Any information there might be stays at the county level. This again is largely because the clerks have so much control and authority, and will not release information. Any statewide data that does exist might be gotten from Susie Storms from the State Board of Elections.

Most Common Problems

The perception of fraud is much greater than the actual incidence of fraud.

- The DMV does not implement NVRA in that it does not take the necessary steps when providing the voter registration forms and does not process them properly. This leads to both ineligible voters potentially getting on the voting rolls (e.g. noncitizens, who have come to get a drivers license, fill out a voter registration form having no intention of actually voting) and voter thinking they are registered to vote to find they are not on the list on Election Day. Also, some people think they are automatically registered if they have applied for a drivers license.
- Absentee ballot fraud is the most frequent form of election fraud.
- In Arkansas, it is suspected that politicians pay ministers to tell their congregations to vote for them
- In 2003, the State Board documented 400 complaints against the Pulaski County Clerk for engaging in what was at least borderline fraud, e.g. certain people not receiving their absentee ballots. The case went to a grand jury but no indictment was brought.
- Transportation of ballot boxes is often insecure making it very easy for insiders to tamper with the ballots or stuff the ballot boxes. Priest has not actually witnessed this happen, but believes it may have.
- Intimidation at the poll sites in court houses. Many voters are afraid of the county judges or county employees and therefore will not vote. They justifiably believe their ballots will be opened by these employees to see who they voted for, and if they voted against the county people, retribution might ensue.

- Undue challenges to minority language voters at the poll sites
- Paid registration collectors fill out phony names, but these individuals are caught before anyone is able to cast an ineligible ballot.

Suggested Reforms for Improvement:

- Nonpartisan election administration
- Increased prosecution of election crimes through greater resources to district attorneys. In addition, during election time, there should be an attorney in the DA's office who is designated to handle election prosecution.
- There should be greater centralization of the process, especially with respect to the statewide database. Arkansas has a "bottom up" system. This means the counties still control the list and there is insufficient information sharing. For example, if someone lives in one county but dies in another, the county in which the voter lived – and was registered to vote – will not be notified of the death.

Interview with Joe Sandler, Counsel to the DNC

February 24, 2006

Background

Sandler is an election attorney. He worked for the DNC in 1986, was in-house counsel from 1993-1998, and currently is outside counsel to the DNC and most state Democratic Parties. Sandler was part of the recount team in Florida in both 2002 and 2004. He recruited and trained attorneys in voting issues---starting in 2002 Sandler recruited in excess of 15, 000 attorneys in twenty-two states. He is now putting together a national lawyers council in each state.

2004-Administrative Incompetence v. Fraud

Sandler believes the 2004 election was a combination of administrative incompetence and fraud. Sandler stated there was a deliberate effort by the Republicans to disenfranchise voters across the country. This was accomplished by mailing out cards to registered voters and then moving to purge from the voters list those whose cards were returned. Sandler indicated that in New Mexico there was a deliberate attempt by Republicans to purge people registered by third parties. He stated that there were intentional efforts to disenfranchise voters by election officials like Ken Blackwell in Ohio.

The problems with machine distribution in 2004 were not deliberate. However, Sandler believes that a large problem exists in the states because there are no laws that spell out a formula to allocate so many voting machines per voter.

Sandler was asked how often names were intentionally purged from the voter lists. He responded that there will be a lot of names purged as a result of the creation of the voter lists under HAVA. However, Sandler stated most wrongful purging results from incompetence. Sandler also said there was not much intimidation at the polls because most such efforts are deterred and that the last systematic effort was in Philadelphia in 2003 where Republicans had official looking cars and people with badges and uniforms, etc.

Sandler stated that deliberate dissemination of misinformation was more incidental, with individuals misinforming and not a political party. Disinformation did occur in small Spanish speaking communities.

Republicans point to instances of voter registration fraud but Sandler believes it did not occur, except for once in a blue moon. Sandler did not believe non-citizen voting was a problem. He also does not believe that there is voter impersonation at the polls and that Republicans allege this as a way of disenfranchising voters through restrictive voter identification rules.

Fraud and Intimidation Trends

Sandler stated that over the years there has been a shift from organized efforts to intimidate minority voters through voter identification requirements, improper purging, failure to properly register voters, not allocating enough voting machines, failure to properly use the provisional ballot, etc., by voter officials as well as systematic efforts by Republicans to deregister voters.

At the federal level, Sandler said, the voting division has become so politicized that it is basically useless now on intimidation claims. At the local level, Sandler does not believe politics prevents or hinders prosecution for vote fraud.

Sandler's Recommendations

Moving the voter lists to the state level is a good idea where carefully done

Provisional ballots rules should follow the law and not be over-used

No voter ID

Partisanship should be taken out of election administration, perhaps by giving that responsibility by someone other than the Secretary of State. There should at least be conflict of interest rules

Enact laws that allow private citizens to bring suit under state law

All suggestions from the DNC Ohio Report:

1. The Democratic Party must continue its efforts to monitor election law reform in all fifty states, the District of Columbia and territories.
2. States should be encouraged to codify into law all required election practices, including requirements for the adequate training of official poll workers.
3. States should adopt uniform and clear published standards for the distribution of voting equipment and the assignment of official pollworkers among precincts, to ensure adequate and nondiscriminatory access. These standards should be based on set ratios of numbers of machines and pollworkers per number of voters expected to turn out, and should be made available for public comment before being adopting.
4. States should adopt legislation to make clear and uniform the rules on voter registration.
5. The Democratic Party should monitor the processing of voter registrations by local election authorities on an ongoing basis to ensure the timely processing of registrations and changes, including both newly registered voters and voters who move within a jurisdiction or the state, and the Party should ask state Attorneys General to take action where necessary to force the timely updating of voter lists.
6. States should be urged to implement statewide voter lists in accordance with the Help America Vote Act ("HAVA"), the election reform law enacted by Congress in 2002 following the Florida debacle.
7. State and local jurisdictions should adopt clear and uniform rules on the use of, and the counting of, provisional ballots, and distribute them for public comment well in advance of each election day.

8. The Democratic Party should monitor the purging and updating of registered voter lists by local officials, and the Party should challenge, and ask state Attorneys General to challenge, unlawful purges and other improper list maintenance practices.
9. States should not adopt requirements that voters show identification at the polls, beyond those already required by federal law (requiring that identification be shown only by first time voters who did not show identification when registering.)
10. State Attorneys General and local authorities should vigorously enforce, to the full extent permitted by state law, a voter's right to vote without showing identification.
11. Jurisdictions should be encouraged to use precinct-tabulated optical scan systems with a computer assisted device at each precinct, in preference to touchscreen ("direct recording equipment" or "DRE") machines.
12. Touchscreen (DRE) machines should not be used until a reliable voter verifiable audit feature can be uniformly incorporated into these systems. In the event of a recount, the paper or other auditable record should be considered the official record.
13. Remaining punchcard systems should be discontinued.
14. States should ask state Attorneys General to challenge unfair or discriminatory distribution of equipment and resources where necessary, and the Democratic Party should bring litigation as necessary.
15. Voting equipment vendors should be required to disclose their source code so that it can be examined by third parties. No voting machine should have wireless connections or be able to connect to the Internet.
16. Any equipment used by voters to vote or by officials to tabulate the votes should be used exclusively for that purpose. That is particularly important for tabulating/aggregating computers.
17. States should adopt "no excuse required" standards for absentee voting.

18. States should make it easier for college students to vote in the jurisdiction in which their school is located.
19. States should develop procedures to ensure that voting is facilitated, without compromising security or privacy, for all eligible voters living overseas.
20. States should make voter suppression a criminal offense at the state level, in all states.
21. States should improve the training of pollworkers.
22. States should expend significantly more resources in educating voters on where, when and how to vote.
23. Partisan officials who volunteer to work for a candidate should not oversee or administer any elections.

Interview with John Ravitz, Executive Director, New York City Board of Elections
February 16, 2006

Process

If there is an allegation of fraud or intimidation, the commissioners can rule to act on it. For example, in 2004 there were allegations in Queens that people had registered to vote using the addresses of warehouses and stores. The Board sent out teams of investigators to look into this. The Board then developed a challenge list that was to be used at the polls if any of the suspect voters showed up to vote.

If the allegation rises to a criminal level, the Board will refer it to the county district attorney. If a poll worker or election official is involved, the Board may conduct an internal investigation. That individual would be interviewed, and if there is validity to the claim, the Board would take action.

Incidences of Fraud and Intimidation

Mr. Ravitz says there have been no complaints about voter intimidation since he has been at the Board. There have been instances of over-aggressive poll workers, but nothing threatening. Voter fraud has also generally not been a problem.

In 2004, the problem was monitors from the Department of Justice intimidating voters. They were not properly trained, and were doing things like going into the booth with voters. The Board had to contact their Department supervisors to put a stop to it.

Charges regarding "ballot security teams" have generally just been political posturing.

The problem of people entering false information on voter registration forms is a problem. However, sometimes a name people allege is false actually turns out to be the voter's real name. Moreover, these types of acts do not involve anyone actually casting a fraudulent ballot.

With respect to the issue of voters being registered in both New York and Florida, the Board now compares its list with that of Florida and other places to address the problem. This will be less of an issue with the use of statewide voter registration databases, as information becomes easier to share. Despite the number of people who were on the voter registration lists of both jurisdictions, there was no one from those lists who voted twice.

Most of the problems at the polls have to do with poll workers not doing what they are supposed to do, not any sort of malfeasance. This indicates that improved training is the most important measure we can take.

There have been instances in which poll workers ask voters for identification when they shouldn't. However, the poll workers seem to do it when they cannot understand the name when the voter tells it to them. The Board has tried to train them that no matter what, the poll worker cannot ask for identification in order to get the person's name.

Absentee ballot fraud has also not been a problem in New York City. This is likely because absentee ballots are counted last – eight days after election day. This is so that they can be checked thoroughly and verified. This is a practice other jurisdictions might consider.

New York City has not had a problem with ex-felons voting or with ex-felons not knowing their voting rights. The City has not had any problems in recent years with deceptive practices, such as flyers providing misinformation about voting procedures.

Recommendations

- Better poll worker training
- Thorough inspection of absentee ballots subsequent to the election

Interview with Joe Rich, former Chief of the Voting Section,
US Department of Justice
February 7, 2006

Background

Mr. Rich went to Yale undergraduate and received his law degree from the University of Michigan. He served as Chief of the Voting Section from 1999-2005. Prior to that he served in other leadership roles in the Civil Rights Division and litigated several civil rights cases.

Data Collection and Monitoring

The section developed a new database before the 2004 election to log complaint calls and what was done to follow up on them. They opened many investigations as a result of these complaints, including one on the long lines in Ohio (see DOJ letter on website, as well as critical commentary on the DOJ letter's analysis). DOJ found no Section 2 violation in Ohio. John Tanner should be able to give us this data. However, the database does not include complaints that were received by monitors and observers in the field.

All attorney observers in the field are required to submit reports after Election Day to the Department. These reports would give us a very good sense of the scope and type of problems that arose on that day and whether they were resolved on the spot or required further action.

The monitoring in 2004 was the biggest operation ever. Prior to 2000, only certain jurisdictions could be observed – a VRA covered jurisdiction that was certified or a jurisdiction that had been certified by a court, e.g. through a consent decree. Since that time, and especially in 2004, the Department has engaged in more informal “monitoring.” In those cases, monitors assigned to certain jurisdictions, as opposed to observers, can only watch in the polling place with permission from the jurisdiction. The Department picked locations based on whether they had been monitored in the past, there had been problems before, or there had been allegations in the past. Many problems that arose were resolved by monitors on the spot.

Processes for Cases not Resolved at the Polling Site

If the monitor or observer believes that a criminal act has taken place, he refers it to the Public Integrity Section (PIN). If it is an instance of racial intimidation, it is referred to the Civil Rights Criminal Division. However, very few such cases are prosecuted because they are very hard to prove. The statutes covering such crimes require actual violence or the threat of violence in order to make a case. As a result, most matters are referred to PIN because they operate under statutes that make these cases easier to prove. In general, there are not a high number of prosecutions for intimidation and suppression.

If the act is not criminal, it may be brought as a civil matter, but only if it violated the Voting Rights Act – in other words, only if there is a racial aspect to the case. Otherwise the only recourse is to refer it to PIN.

However, PIN tends not to focus on intimidation and suppression cases, but rather cases such as alleged noncitizen voting, etc. Public Integrity used to only go after systematic efforts to corrupt the system. Now they focus on scattered individuals, which is a questionable resource choice. Criminal prosecutors over the past 5 years have been given more resources and more leeway because of a shift in focus and policy toward noncitizens and double voting, etc.

There have been very few cases brought involving African American voters. There have been 7 Section 2 cases brought since 2001 – only one was brought on behalf of African American voters. That case was initiated under the Clinton administration. The others have included Latinos and discrimination against whites.

Types of Fraud and Intimidation Occurring

There is no evidence that polling place fraud is a problem. There is also no evidence that the NVRA has increased the opportunity for fraud. Moreover, regardless of NVRA's provisions, an election official can always look into a voter's registration if he or she believes that person should no longer be on the list. The Department is now suing Missouri because of its poor registration list.

The biggest problem is with absentee ballots. The photo ID movement is a vote suppression strategy. This type of suppression is a bigger problem than intimidation. There has been an increase in vote suppression over the last five years, but it has been indirect, often in the way that laws are interpreted and implemented. Unequal implementation of ID requirements at the polls based on race would be a VRA violation.

The most common type of intimidation occurring is open hostility by poll workers toward minorities. It is a judgment call whether this is a crime or not – Craig Donsanto of PIN decides if it rises to a criminal matter.

Election Day challenges at the polls could be a VRA violation but such a case has never been formally pursued. Such cases are often resolved on the spot. Development of a pre-election challenge list targeted at minorities would be a VRA violation but this also has never been pursued. These are choices of current enforcement policy.

Long lines due to unequal distribution of voting machines based on race, list purges based on race and refusal to offer a provisional ballot on the basis of race would also be VRA violations.

Recommendations

Congress should pass a new law that allows the Department to bring civil actions for suppression that is NOT race based, for example, deceptive practices or wholesale challenges to voters in jurisdictions that tend to vote heavily for one party.

Given the additional resources and latitude given to the enforcement of acts such as double voting and noncitizen voting, there should be an equal commitment to enforcement of acts of intimidation and suppression cases.

There should also be increased resources dedicated to expanded monitoring efforts. This might be the best use of resources since monitors and observers act as a deterrent to fraud and intimidation.

Interview with Kevin Kennedy, State Elections Director, State of Wisconsin

April 11, 2006

Background

Kennedy is a nonpartisan, appointed official. He has been in this position since 1983.

Complaints of fraud and intimidation do not usually come to Kennedy's office. Kennedy says that complainants usually take their allegations to the media first because they are trying to make a political point.

2004 Election Incidents of Fraud

The investigations into the 2004 election uncovered some cases of double voting and voting by felons who did not know they were not eligible to vote, but found no concerted effort to commit fraud. There have been a couple of guilty pleas as a result, although not a number in the double digits. The task force and news reports initially referred to 100 cases of double voting and 200 cases of felon voting, but there were not nearly that many prosecutions. Further investigation since the task force investigation uncovered that in some instances there were mis-marks by poll workers, fathers and sons mistaken for the same voter, and even a husband and wife marked as the same voter. The double votes that are believed to have occurred were a mixture of absentee and polling place votes. It is unclear how many of these cases were instances of voting in two different locations.

In discussing the case from 2000 in which a student claimed – falsely – that he had voted several times, Kennedy said that double voting can be done. The deterrent is that it's a felony, and that one person voting twice is not an effective way to influence an election. One would need to get a lot of people involved for it to work.

The task force set up to investigate the 2004 election found a small number of illegal votes but given the 7,000 alleged, it was a relatively small number. There was no pattern of fraud.

The one case Kennedy could recall of an organized effort to commit fraud was in the spring of 2003 or 2004. A community service agency had voters request that absentee ballots be sent to the agency instead of to the voters and some of those ballots were signed without the voters' knowledge. One person was convicted, the leader of the enterprise.

In Milwaukee, the main contention was that there were more ballots than voters. However, it was found that the 7,000 vote disparity was tied to poll worker error. The task force found that there was no concerted effort involved. Kennedy explained that there are many ways a ballot can get into a machine without a voter getting a number. These include a poll worker forgetting to give the voter one; someone does Election Day registration and fills out a registration form but does not get a number because the transaction all takes place at one table; and in Milwaukee, 20,000 voters who registered were not put on the list in time and as a short term solution the department sent the original registration forms to the polling places to be used instead of the list to provide proof of registration. This added another element of confusion that might have led to someone not getting a voter number.

The Republican Party used this original list and contracted with a private vendor to do a comparison with the U.S. postal list. They found initially that there were 5,000 bad addresses, and then later said there were 35,000 illegitimate addresses. When the party filed a complaint, the department told them they could force the voters on their list to cast a challenge ballot. On Election Day, the party used the list but found no actually voting from those addresses. Kennedy suspects that the private vendor made significant errors when doing the comparison.

In terms of noncitizen voting, Kennedy said that there is a Russian community in Milwaukee that the Republican Party singles out every year but it doesn't go very far. Kennedy has not seen much in the way of allegations of noncitizen voting.

However, when applying for a drivers license, a noncitizen could register to vote. There is no process for checking citizenship at this point, and the statewide registration database will not address this. Kennedy is not aware of any cases of noncitizen voting as a result, but it might have happened.

Kennedy said that the biggest concern seemed to be suspicions raised when groups of people are brought into the polling site from group homes, usually homes for the disabled. There are allegations that these voters are being told how to vote.

Incidents of Voter Intimidation

In 2004, there was a lot of hype about challenges, but in Wisconsin, a challenger must articulate a basis under oath. This acts as a deterrent, but at the same time it creates the potential that someone might challenge everyone and create long lines, keeping people from voting. In 2004, the Republican Party could use its list of suspect addresses as a legitimate basis for challenges, so there is the potential for abuse. It is also hard to train poll workers on that process. In 2004, there were isolated cases of problems with challengers.

In 2002, a flyer was circulated only in Milwaukee claiming that you had vote by noon. This was taken as an intimidation tactic by the Democrats.

Reforms

Wisconsin has had difficulty with its database because 1) they have had a hard time getting a good product out of the vendor and 2) until now there was no registration record for one-quarter of the voters. Any jurisdiction with fewer than 5000 voters was not required to have a registration list.

In any case, once these performance issues are worked out, Kennedy does believe the statewide voter registration database will be very valuable. In particular, it will mean that people who move will not be on more than one list anymore. It should also address the double voting issue by identifying who is doing it, catching people who do it, and identifying where it could occur.

Recommendations

Better trained poll workers

Ensure good security procedures for the tabulation process and more transparency in the vote counting process

Conduct post-election audits

Interview with Lori Minnite, Barnard College

February 22, 2006

Background

Ms. Minnite is an assistant professor of political science at Barnard College. She has done substantial research on voter fraud and wrote the report "Securing the Vote." Ms. Minnite also did work related to an election lawsuit. The main question that she was asked to address in the lawsuit was---did election-day registration increase the possibility of fraud?

Securing the Vote

In Securing the Vote, Ms. Minnite found very little evidence of voter fraud because the historical conditions giving rise to fraud have weakened over the past twenty years. She stated that for fraud to take root a conspiracy was needed with a strong local political party and a complicit voter administration system. Since parties have weakened and there has been much improvement in the administration of elections and voting technology, the conditions no longer exist for large scale incidents of polling place fraud.

Ms. Minnite concentrates on fraud committed by voters not fraud committed by voting officials. She has looked at this issue on the national level and also concentrated on analyzing certain specific states. Ms. Minnite stressed that it is important to keep clear who the perpetrators of the fraud are and where the fraud occurs because that effects what the remedy should be. Often, voters are punished for fraud committed by voting officials.

Other Fraud Issues

Ms. Minnite found no evidence that NVRA was leading to more voter fraud. She supports non-partisan election administration. Ms. Minnite has found evidence that there is absentee ballot fraud. She can't establish that there is a certain amount of absentee ballot fraud or that it is the major kind of voter fraud.

Recommendations

Assure there are accurate voter records and centralize voter databases

Reduce partisanship in electoral administration.

Interview with John Tanner, Director, Civil Rights Division, U.S. Department of Justice

February 24, 2006

Note: Mr. Tanner's reluctance to share data, information and his perspective on solving the problems presented an obstacle to conducting the type of interview that would help inform this project as much as we would have hoped. Mr. Tanner would not give us any information about or data from the section's election complaint in-take phone logs; data or even general information from the Interactive Case Management (ICM) system-its formal process for tracking and managing work activities in pursuing complaints and potential violations of the voting laws; and would give us only a selected few samples of attorney-observer reports, reports that every Voting Section attorney who is observing elections at poll sites on Election Day is required to submit. He would not discuss in any manner any current investigations or cases the section is involved in. He also did not believe it was his position to offer us recommendations as to how his office, elections, or the voting process might be improved.

Authority and Process

The Voting Section, in contrast to the Public Integrity section as Craig Donsanto described it, typically looks only at systemic problems, not problems caused by individuals. Indeed, the section never goes after individuals because it does not have the statutory authority to do so. In situations in which individuals are causing problems at the polls and interfering with voting rights, the section calls the local election officials to resolve it.

Federal voting laws only apply to state action, so the section only sues local governments – it does not have any enforcement power over individuals. Most often, the section enters into consent agreements with governments that focus on poll worker training, takes steps to restructure how polls are run, and deals with problems on Election Day on the spot. Doing it this way has been most effective – for example, while the section used to have the most observers in the South, systematic changes forced upon those jurisdictions have made it so now the section does not get complaints from the South.

The section can get involved even where there is no federal candidate on the ballot if there is a racial issue under the 14th and 15th Amendments.

When the section receives a complaint, attorneys first determine whether it is a matter of individuals or systemic. When deciding what to do with the complaint, the section errs on the side of referring it criminally because they do not want civil litigation to complicate a possible criminal case.

When a complaint comes in, the attorneys ask questions to see if there are even problems there that the complainant is not aware are violations of the law. For example, in the Boston case, the attorney did not just look at Spanish language cases under section 203, but also brought a Section 2 case for violations regarding Chinese and Vietnamese voters.

When looking into a case, the attorneys look for specificity, witnesses and supporting evidence.

Often, lawsuits bring voluntary compliance.

Voter Intimidation

Many instances of what some people refer to as voter intimidation are more unclear now. For example, photographing voters at the polls has been called intimidating, but now everyone is at the polls with a camera. It is hard to know when something is intimidation and it is difficult to show that it was an act of intimidation.

The fact that both parties are engaging in these tactics now makes it more complicated. It makes it difficult to point the finger at any one side.

The inappropriate use of challengers on the basis of race would be a violation of the law. Mr. Tanner was unaware that such allegations were made in Ohio in 2004. He said there had never been an investigation into the abusive use of challengers.

Mr. Tanner said a lot of the challenges are legitimate because you have a lot of voter registration fraud as a result of groups paying people to register voters by the form. They turn in bogus registration forms. Then the parties examine the registration forms and challenge them because 200 of them, for example, have addresses of a vacant lot.

However, Mr. Tanner said the Department was able to informally intervene in challenger situations in Florida, Atkinson County, Georgia and in Alabama, as was referenced in a February 23 Op-Ed in USA Today. Mr. Tanner reiterated the section takes racial targeting very seriously.

Refusal to provide provisional ballots would be a violation of the law that the section would investigate.

Deceptive practices are committed by individuals and would be a matter for the Public Integrity Section. Local government would have to be involved for the voting section to become involved.

Unequal implementation of ID rules, or asking minority voters only for ID would be something the section would go after. Mr. Tanner was unaware of allegations of this in 2004. He said this is usually a problem where you have language minorities and the poll workers cannot understand the voters when they say their names. The section has never formally investigated or solely focused a case based on abuse of ID provisions. However, implementation of ID rules was part of the Section 2 case in San Diego. Mr. Tanner reiterated that the section is doing more than ever before.

When asked about the section's references to incidents of vote fraud in the documents related to the new state photo identification requirements, Mr. Tanner said the section only looks at retrogression, not at the wisdom of what a legislature does. In Georgia, for example, everyone statistically has identification, and more blacks have ID than whites. With respect to the letter to Senator Kit Bond regarding voter ID, the section did refer to the perception of concern about dead voters because of reporting by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution. It is understandable that when you have thousands of bogus registrations that there would be concerns about polling place fraud. Very close elections make this even more of an understandable concern. Putting control of registration lists in the hands of the states will be helpful because at this higher level of government you find a higher level of professionalism.

It is hard to know how much vote suppression and intimidation is taking place because it depends on one's definition of the terms – they are used very loosely by some people. However, the enforcement of federal law over the years has made an astounding difference so that the level of discrimination has plummeted. Registration of minorities has soared, as can be seen on the section's website. Mr. Tanner was unsure if the same was true with respect to turnout, but the gap is less. That information is not on the section's website.

The section is not filing as many Section 2 cases as compared to Section 203 cases because many of the jurisdictions sued under Section 2 in the past do not have issues anymore. Mr. Tanner said that race based problems are rare now.

NVRA has been effective in opening up the registration process. In terms of enforcement, Mr. Tanner said they do what they can when they have credible allegations. There is a big gap between complaints and what can be substantiated. Mr. Tanner stated that given the high quality of the attorneys now in the section, if they do not investigate it or bring action, that act complained of did not happen.

Recommendations

Mr. Tanner did not feel it was appropriate to make recommendations.

Interview with Pat Rogers, private attorney

March 3, 2006

Background

In addition to his legal practice with Modrall, Sperling, Roehl, Harris & Sisk, Rogers also does some state-level lobbying for Verizon Wireless, GM, Dumont and other companies. His experience in election law goes back to 1988, where his first elections case was a defense against Bill Richardson, who had sued to get another candidate tossed off a ballot because of petition fraud. Since 1988, he has been involved in election cases at least once every two years.

2004 Litigation

In a case that ended before the New Mexico Supreme Court, Rogers represented the Green Party and other plaintiffs against the New Mexico Secretary of State for sending a directive telling local boards not to require ID for first time voters registering by mail. He argued that this watered-down ID check conflicted with what seemed fairly clear statutory requirements for first time voters. In 2004 these requirements were especially important due to the large presence of 3rd party organizations registering voters such as a 527 funded by Governor Richardson, ACORN, and others.

Plaintiffs were seeking a temporary restraining order requiring Secretary of State to follow the law. Yet the Supreme Court ultimately decided that, whether the directive was right or wrong, it was too late to require ID lest Bush v. Gore issues be raised.

Today, the issue is moot as the state legislature has changed the law, and the Secretary of State will no longer be in office. It seems unlikely they will send any policy directives to county clerks lest they violate due process/public notice.

Major issues in NM w/ regard to vote fraud

Registration fraud seems to be the major issue, and while the legislature has taken some steps, Rogers is skeptical of the effect they will have, considering the history of unequal application of election laws. He also believes there are holes in the 3rd party registration requirement deadlines.

Rogers views a national law requiring ID as the best solution to registration problems. Rather than imposing a burden he contends it will enhance public confidence in the simplest way possible.

Registration Fraud in 2004 election

It came to light that ACORN had registered a 13 year old. The father was an APD officer and received the confirmation, but it was sent to the next door address, a vacant house.

They traced this to an ACORN employee and it was established that this employee had been registering others under 18.

Two weeks later, in a crack cocaine bust of Cuban nationals, one of those raided said his job was registering voters for ACORN, and the police found signatures in his possession for fictitious persons.

In a suspicious break-in at an entity that advertised itself as nonpartisan, only GOP registrations were stolen.

In another instance, a college student was allegedly fired for registering too many Republicans.

Rogers said he believed these workers were paid by the registration rather than hourly.

There have been no prosecution or convictions related to these incidents. In fact, there have been no prosecutions for election fraud in New Mexico in recent history. However, Rogers is skeptical that much action can be expected considering the positions of Attorney General, Governor, and Secretary of State are all held by Democrats. Nor has there been any interest from the U.S. attorney—Rogers heard that U.S. attorneys were given instruction to hold off until after the election in 2004 because it would seem too political.

As part of the case against the Secretary of State regarding the identification requirement, the parties also sued ACORN. At a hearing, the head of ACORN, and others aligned with the Democratic Party called as witnesses, took the 5th on the stand as to their registration practices.

Other incidents

Very recently, there have been reports of vote buying in the town of Espanola. Originally reported by the Rio Grande Sun, a resident of a low-income housing project is quoted as saying it has been going on for 10-12 years. The Albuquerque Journal is now reporting this as well. So far the investigation has been extremely limited.

In 1996, there were some prosecutions in Espanola, where a state district judge found registration fraud.

In 1991, the chair of Democratic Party of Bertolino County was convicted on fraud. Yet she was pardoned by Clinton on same day as Marc Rich.

Intimidation/Suppression

Rogers believes the most notable example of intimidation in the 2004 election was the discovery of a DNC Handbook from Colorado advising Democratic operatives to widely report intimidation regardless of confirmation in order to gain media attention.

In-person polling place fraud

There have only been isolated instances of people reporting that someone had voted in their name, and Rogers doesn't believe there is any large scale conspiracy. Yet he contends that perspective misses the larger point of voter confidence. Although there has been a large public outcry for voter ID in New Mexico, it has been deflected and avoided by Democrats.

In 2004, there were more Democratic lawyers at the polls than there are lawyers in New Mexico. Rogers believes these lawyers had a positive impact because they deterred people from committing bad acts.

Counting Procedures

The Secretary of State has also taken the position that canvassing of the vote should be done in private. In NM, they have a 'county canvas' where they review and certify, after which all materials—machine tapes, etc.,—are centralized with the Secretary of State who does a final canvass for final certification. Conducting this in private is a serious issue, especially considering the margin in the 2000 presidential vote in New Mexico was only 366 votes. They wouldn't be changing machine numbers, but paper numbers are vulnerable.

On a related note, NM has adopted state procedures that will ensure their reports are slower and very late, considering the 2000 late discovery of ballots. In a close race, potential for fraud and mischief goes up astronomically in the period between poll closing and reporting. Rogers believes these changes are going to cause national embarrassment in the future.

Rogers attributes other harmful effects to what he terms the Secretary of State's incompetence and inability to discern a nonpartisan application of the law. In the 2004 election, no standards were issued for counting provisional ballots. Furthermore, the Secretary of State spent over $1 million of HAVA money for 'voter education' in blatant self-promotional ads.

Recommendations

Rogers believes it would be unfeasible to have nonpartisan election administration and favors transparency instead. To make sure people have confidence in the election, there must be transparency in the whole process. Then you don't have the 1960 vote coming down to Illinois, or the Espanola ballot or Dona Anna County (ballots found there in the 2000 election). HAVA funds should also be restricted when you have an incompetent, partisan Secretary of State.

There should be national standards for reporting voting results so there is less opportunity for fraud in a close race. Although he is not generally an advocate of national laws, he does agree there should be more national uniformity into how votes are counted and recorded.

Interview with Rebecca Vigil-Giron, Secretary of State, New Mexico

March 24, 2006

Background

Vigil-Giron has been Secretary of State for twelve years and was the President of the National Association of Secretaries of State in 2004. Complaints of election fraud and intimidation are filed with the SOS office. She then decides whether to refer it to the local district attorney or the attorney general. Because the complaints are few and far between, the office does not keep a log of complaints; however, they do have all of the written complaints on file in the office.

Incidents of Fraud and Intimidation

During the 2004 election, there were a couple of complaints of polling place observers telling people outside the polling place who had just voted, and then the people outside were following the voters to their cars and videotaping them. This happened in areas that are mostly second and third generation Latinos. The Secretary sent out the sheriff in one instance of this. The perpetrators moved to a different polling place. This was the only incident of fraud or intimidation Vigil-Giron was aware of in New Mexico.

There have not been many problems on Native reservations because, unlike in many other states, in New Mexico the polling place is on the reservation and is run by local Native Americans. Vigil-Giron said that it does not make sense to have non-Natives running those polls because it is necessary to have people there who can translate. Because most of the languages are unwritten, the HAVA requirement of accessibility through an audio device will be very helpful in this regard. Vigil-Giron said she was surprised to learn while testifying at the Voting Rights Act commission hearings of the lack of sensitivity to these issues and the common failure to provide assistance in language minority areas.

In 2004 the U.S. Attorney, a Republican, suddenly announced he was launching an investigation into voter fraud without consulting the Secretary of State's office. After all of that, there was maybe one prosecution. Even the allegations involving third party groups and voter registration are often misleading. People doing voter registration drives encourage voters to register if they are unsure if they are already registered, and the voter does not even realize that his or her name will then appear on the voter list twice. The bigger problem is where registrations do not get forwarded to election administrators and the voter does not end up on the voting list on Election Day. This is voter intimidation in itself, Vigil-Giron believes. It is very discouraging for that voter and she wonders whether he or she will try again.

Under the bill passed in 2004, third parties are required to turn around voter registration forms very quickly between the time they get them and when they must be returned. If they fail to return them within 48 hours of getting them, they are penalized. This, Vigil-Giron believes, is unfair. She has tried to get the Legislature to look at this issue again. Regarding allegations of vote buying in Espanola, Vigil-Giron said that the Attorney General is investigating. The problem in that area of New Mexico is that they are still using rural routes, so they have not been able to properly district. There has, as a result, been manipulation of where people vote. Now they seem to have pushed the envelope too far on this. The investigation is not just about vote buying, however. There have also been allegations of voters being denied translators as well as assistance at the polls.

Vigil-Giron believes there was voter suppression in Ohio in 2004. County officials knew thirty days out how many people had registered to vote, they knew how many voters there would be. Administrators are supposed to use a formula for allocation of voting machines based on registered voters. Administrators in Ohio ignored this. As a result, people were turned away at the polls or left because of the huge lines. This, she believes, was a case of intentional vote suppression.

A few years ago, Vigil-Giron heard that there may have been people voting in New Mexico and a bordering town in Colorado. She exchanged information with Colorado administrators and it turned out that there were no cases of double voting.

Recommendations

Vigil-Giron believes that linking voter registration databases across states may be a way to see if people who are registered twice are in fact voting twice.

The key to improving the process is better trained poll workers, who are certified, and know what to look for on Election Day. These poll workers should then work with law enforcement to ensure there are no transgressions.

There should be stronger teeth in the voter fraud laws. For example, it should be more than a fourth degree felony, as is currently the case.

Interview with Nina Perales, Counsel, Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund

March 7, 2006

Background

Ms. Perales is an attorney with the Mexican American Legal Defense Fund (MALDEF). MALDEF's mission is to foster sound public policies, laws and programs to safeguard the civil rights of the 40 million Latinos living in the United States and to empower the Latino community to fully participate in our society. One of the areas MALDEF works in is electoral issues, predominately centered on the Voting Rights Act. Ms. Perales did not seem to have a sense of the overall electoral issues in her working region (the southwest) effecting Hispanic voters and did not seem to want to offer her individual experiences and work activities as necessarily a perfect reflection of the challenges Hispanic voters face.

Largest Election Problems Since 2000

Santa Anna County, New Mexico-2004-intimidated voters by video taping them.

San Antonio-One African American voter subjected to a racial slur.

San Antonio-Relocated polling places at the last minute without Section 5 pre-clearance.

San Antonio-Closed polls while voters were still in line.

San Antonio-2003-only left open early voting polls in predominantly white districts.

San Antonio-2005-racially contested mayoral run-off election switched from touch screen voting to paper ballots.

Voter Fraud and Intimidation

In Texas, the counties are refusing to open their records with respect to Section 203 compliance (bilingual voting assistance), and those that did respond to MALDEF's request submitted incomplete information. Ms. Perales believes this in itself is a form of voter intimidation.

Ms. Perales said it is hard to say if the obstacles minorities confront in voting are a result of intentional acts or not because the county commission is totally incompetent. There have continuously been problems with too few ballots, causing long lines, especially in places that had historically lower turnout. There is no formula in Texas for allocating ballots – each county makes these determinations.

When there is not enough language assistance at the polls, forcing a non-English speaker to rely on a family member to vote, that can suppress voter turnout.

Ms. Perales is not aware of deceptive practices or dirty tricks targeted at the Latino community.

There have been no allegations of illegal noncitizen voting in Texas. Indeed, the sponsor of a bill that would require proof of citizenship to vote could not provide any documentation of noncitizen voting in support of the bill. The bill was defeated in part because of the racist comments of the sponsor. In Arizona, such a measure was passed. Ms. Perales was only aware of one case of noncitizen voting in Arizona, involving a man of limited mental capacity who said he was told he was allowed to register and vote. Ms. Perales believes proof of citizenship requirements discriminate against Latinos.

Recommendations

Ms. Perales feels the laws are adequate, but that her organization does not have enough staff to do the monitoring necessary. This could be done by the federal government. However, even though the Department of Justice is focusing on Section 203 cases now, they have not even begun to scratch the surface. Moreover, the choices DOJ has made with respect to where they have brought claims do not seem to be based on any systematic analysis of where the biggest problems are. This may be because the administration is so ideological and partisan.

Ms. Perales does not believe making election administration nonpartisan would have a big impact. In Texas, administrators are appointed in a nonpartisan manner, but they still do not always have a nonpartisan approach. Each administrator tends to promote his or her personal view regardless of party.

Interview with Steve Ansolobhere and Chandler Davidson
February 17, 2006

Methodology suggestions

In analyzing instances of alleged fraud and intimidation, we should look to criminology as a model. In criminology, experts use two sources: the Uniform Crime Reports, which are all reports made to the police, and the Victimization Survey, which asks the general public whether a particular incident has happened to them. After surveying what the most common allegations are, we should conduct a survey of the general public that asks whether they have committed certain acts or been subjected to any incidents of fraud or intimidation. This would require using a very large sample, and we would need to employ the services of an expert in survey data collection. Mr. Ansolobhere recommended Jonathan Krosnick, Doug Rivers, and Paul Sniderman at Stanford; Donald Kinder and Arthur Lupia at Michigan; Edward Carmines at Indiana; and Phil Tetlock at Berkeley. In the alternative, Mr. Ansolobhere suggested that the EAC might work with the Census Bureau to have them ask different, additional questions in their Voter Population Surveys.

Mr. Chandler further suggested it is important to talk to private election lawyers, such as Randall Wood, who represented Ciro Rodriguez in his congressional election in Texas. Mr. Ansolobhere also recommended looking at experiments conducted by the British Election Commission.

Incidents of Fraud and Intimidation

Mr. Davidson's study for the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights on the Voting Rights Act documented evidence of widespread difficulty in the voting process. However, he did not attempt to quantify whether this was due to intentional, malevolent acts. In his 2005 report on ballot security programs, he found that there were many allegations of fraud made, but not very many prosecutions or convictions. He saw many cases that did go to trial and the prosecutors lost on the merits.

In terms of voter intimidation and vote suppression, Mr. Davidson said he believes the following types of activities do occur: videotaping of voters' license plates; poll workers asking intimidating questions; groups of officious-looking poll watchers at the poll sites who seem to be some sort of authority looking for wrongdoing; spreading of false information, such as phone calls, flyers, and radio ads that intentionally mislead as to voting procedures.

Mr. Ansolobhere believes the biggest problem is absentee ballot fraud. However, many of these cases involve people who do not realize what they are doing is illegal, for example, telling someone else how to vote. Sometimes there is real illegality occurring however. For example, vote selling involving absentee ballots, the filling out of absentee ballots en masse, people at nursing homes filling out the ballots of residents, and there are stories about union leaders getting members to vote a certain way by absentee ballot. This problem will only get bigger as more states liberalize their absentee ballot rules. Mr. Chandler agreed that absentee ballot fraud was a major problem.

Recommendations

Go back to “for cause” absentee ballot rules, because it is truly impossible to ever ensure the security of a mail ballot. Even in Oregon, there was a study showing fraud in their vote by mail system.

False information campaigns should be combated with greater voter education. Los Angeles County’s voter education program should be used as a model.

Interview with Tracy Campbell, author

March 3, 2006

Background

Campbell's first book on election fraud looked at Ed Pritchard, a New Deal figure who went to jail for stuffing ballot boxes. While his initial goal in writing that book was to find out why Pritchard had engaged in vote stealing, his growing understanding of a pervasive culture of electoral corruption led him to consider instead how it was that Pritchard was ever caught. In 1998, he started working on a book regarding fraud in Kentucky, which quickly became a national study. He hoped to convey the 'real politics' which he feels readers, not to mention academics, have little sense about. While less blatant than in previous eras, fraud certainly still occurs, and he mentions some examples in his book. The major trend of the past 60-70 years has been that these tactics have grown more subtle.

While he hasn't conducted any scientific study of the current state of fraud, his sense as a historian is that it seems naive, after generations of watching the same patterns and practices influence elections, to view suspect election results today as merely attributable to simple error.

Vote-buying and absentee fraud

Campbell sees fraud by absentee ballot and vote buying as the greatest threats to fair elections today. He says vote fraud is like real estate: location, location, location—the closer you can keep the ballots to the courthouse the better. Absentee ballots create a much easier target for vote brokers who can manage voting away from the polling place, or even mark a ballot directly, in exchange for, say, $50—or even more if an individual can bring their entire family. He has noted some small counties where absentee ballots outnumber in-person ballots.

However, few people engaged in this activity would call it 'purchasing' a vote. Instead, it is candidate Jones' way of 'thanking' you for a vote you would have cast in any event. The issue is what happens if candidate Smith offers you more. Likewise, the politicians who engage in vote fraud don't see it as a threat to the republic but rather as a game they have to play in order to get elected.

Regional patterns

Campbell suggests such practices are more prevalent in the South than the Northern states, and even more so compared to the West. The South has long been characterized as particularly dangerous in intimidation and suppression practices—throughout history, one can find routine stories of deaths at the polls each year. While he maintains that fraud seems less likely in the Western states, he sees the explosion of mail in and absentee ballots there as asking for trouble.

Poll site closings as a means to suppress votes

Campbell points to a long historical record of moving poll sites in order to suppress votes. Polling places in the 1800s were frequently set-up on rail cars and moved further down the line to suppress black votes.

He would include door-to-door canvassing practices here, as well as voting in homes, which was in use in Kentucky until only a few years ago. All of these practices have been justified as making polling places 'more accessible' while their real purpose has been to suppress votes.

Purge lists

Purge lists are, of course, needed in theory, yet Campbell believes the authority to mark names off the voter rolls presents extensive opportunity for abuse. For this reason, purging must be done in a manner that uses the best databases, and looks at only the most relevant information. When voters discover their names aren't on the list when they go to vote, for example, because they are "dead," it has a considerable demoralizing effect. Wrongful purging takes place both because of incompetence and as a tool to intentionally disenfranchise.

Campbell believes transparency is the real issue here. An hour after the polls close, we tend to just throw up our hands and look the other way, denying voters the chance to see that discrepancies are being rectified. He believes the cost in not immediately knowing election outcomes is a small price to pay for getting results right and showing the public a transparent process.

Deceptive practices

Today's deceptive practices have are solidly rooted in Reconstruction-era practices—i.e. phony ballots, the Texas 'elimination' ballot. The ability to confuse voters is a powerful tool for those looking to sway elections.

Language minorities

Campbell argues there is a fine line between offering help to non-English speakers and using that help against them. A related issue, particularly in the South, is taking advantage of the illiterate.

Current intimidation

Another tactic Campbell considers an issue today is polling place layout: the further vote suppressers can keep people away from the polls, the better. Practices such as photographing people leaving a polling place may also tie into vote-buying, where photos are used to intimidate and validate purchased votes. A good way to combat such practices is by keeping electioneering as far from the polls as possible.

Recommendations

Specific voting administration recommendations Campbell advocates would include reducing the use of absentee ballots and improving the protective zone around polling places.

Campbell would also like to see enforcement against fraud stepped up and stiffer penalties enacted, as current penalties make the risk of committing fraud relatively low. He compares the risk in election fraud similar to steroid use in professional sports—the potential value of the outcome is far higher than the risk of being caught or penalized for the infraction, so it is hard to prevent people from doing it. People need to believe they will pay a price for engaging in fraud or intimidation. Moreover, we need to have the will to kick people out of office if necessary.

He is skeptical of the feasibility of nonpartisan election administration, as he believes it would be difficult to find people who care about politics yet won't lean one way or the other—such an attempt would be unlikely to get very far before accusations of partisanship emerged. He considers the judiciary the only legitimate check on election fraud.

Interview with Sarah Bell Johnson Interview

April 19, 2006

Procedures for Handling Fraud

Fraud complaints are directed first to the state Board of Elections. Unlike boards in other states, Kentucky's has no investigative powers. Instead, they work closely with both the Attorney General and the U.S. Attorney. Especially since the current administration took office, they have found the U.S. Attorney an excellent partner in pursuing fraud cases, and have seen many prosecutions in the last six years. She believes that there has been no increase in the incidence of fraud, but rather the increase in prosecutions is related to increased scrutiny and more resources.

Major Types of Fraud and Intimidation

Johnson says that vote buying and voter intimidation go hand in hand in Kentucky. While historically fraud activity focused on election day, in the last 20 years it has moved into absentee voting. In part, this is because new voting machines aren't easy to manipulate in the way that paper ballots were open to manipulation in the past, especially in distant rural counties. For this reason, she is troubled by the proliferation of states with early voting, but notes that there is a difference between absentee ballot and early voting on machines, which is far more difficult to manipulate.

Among the cases of absentee ballot fraud they have seen, common practice involves a group of candidates conspiring together to elect their specific slate. Nursing homes are an especially frequent target. Elderly residents request absentee ballots, and then workers show up and 'help' them vote their ballots. Though there have been some cases in the Eastern district of election day fraud, most have been absentee.

Johnson argues that it is hard to distinguish between intimidation and vote buying. They have also seen instances where civic groups and church groups intimidate members to vote in a specific manner, not for reward, but under threat of being ostracized or even telling them they will go to hell.

While she is aware of allegations of intimidation by the parties regarding minority precincts in Louisville, the board hasn't received calls about it and there haven't been any prosecutions.

Challengers

Challengers are permitted at the polls in Kentucky. Each party is allowed two per location, and they must file proper paperwork. There is a set list of defined reasons for which they can challenge a voter, such as residency, and the challengers must also fill out paperwork to conduct a challenge.

As for allegations of challengers engaging in intimidation in minority districts, Johnson notes that challengers did indeed register in Jefferson County, and filed the proper paperwork, although they ultimately did not show up on election day.

She finds that relatively few challengers end up being officially registered, and that the practice has grown less common in recent years. This is due more to a change of fashion than anything. And after all, those wishing to affect election outcomes have little need for challengers in the precinct when they can target absentee voting instead.

In the event that intimidation is taking place, Kentucky has provisions to remove disruptive challengers, but this hasn't been used to her knowledge.

Prosecutions

Election fraud prosecutions in Kentucky have only involved vote buying. This may be because that it is easier to investigate, by virtue of a cash and paper trail which investigators can follow. It is difficult to quantify any average numbers about the practice from this, due in part to the five year statute of limitations on vote buying charges. However, she does not believe that vote-buying is pervasive across the state, but rather confined to certain pockets.

Vote-hauling Legislation

Vote hauling is a common form of vote buying by another name. Individuals are legally paid to drive others to the polls, and then divide that cash in order to purchase votes. Prosecutions have confirmed that vote hauling is used for this purpose. While the Secretary of State has been committed to legislation which would ban the practice, it has failed to pass in the past two sessions.

Paying Voter Registration Workers Legislation

A law forbidding people to pay workers by the voter registration card or for obtaining cards with registrations for a specific party was passed this session. Individuals working as part of a registration campaign may still be paid by hour. Kentucky's experience in the last presidential election illustrates the problems arising from paying individuals by the card. That contest included a constitutional amendment to ban gay marriage on the ballot, which naturally attracted the attention of many national groups. One group paying people by the card resulted in the registrar being inundated with cards, including many duplicates in the same bundle, variants on names, and variants on addresses. As this practice threatens to overwhelm the voter registration process, Kentucky views it as constituting malicious fraud.

Deceptive practices

Other than general reports in the news, Johnson hasn't received any separate confirmation or reports of deceptive practices, i.e., false and misleading information being distributed to confuse voters.

Effect of Kentucky's Database

Johnson believes Kentucky's widely praised voter registration database is a key reason why the state doesn't have as much fraud as it might, especially the types alleged elsewhere like double and felon voting. While no database is going to be perfect, the connections with other state databases such as the DMV and vital statistics have been invaluable in allowing them to aggressively purge dead weight and create a cleaner list. When parties use their database list they are notably more successful. Johnson wonders how other states are able to conduct elections without a similar system.

Some factors have made especially important to their success. When the database was instituted in 1973, they were able to make everyone in the state re-register and thus start with a clean database. However, it is unlikely any state could get away with this today.

She is also a big supporter of a full Social Security number standard, as practiced in Kentucky. The full Social Security, which is compared to date of birth and letters in the first and last name, automatically makes matching far more accurate. The huge benefits Kentucky has reaped make Johnson skeptical of privacy concerns arguing for an abbreviated Social Security number. Individuals are willing to submit their Social Security number for many lesser purposes, so why not voting? And in any event, they don't require a Social Security number to register (unlike others such as Georgia). Less than a percent of voters in Kentucky are registered under unique identifiers, which the Board of Elections then works to fill in the number through cross referencing with the DMV.

Recommendations

Johnson believes the backbone of effective elections administration must be standardized procedures, strong record keeping, and detailed statutes. In Kentucky, all counties use the same database and the same pre election day forms. Rather than seeing that as oppressive, county officials report that the uniformity makes their jobs easier.

This philosophy extends to the provisional ballot question. While they did not have a standard in place like HAVA's at the time of enactment, they worked quickly to put a uniform standard in place.

They have also modified forms and procedures based on feedback from prosecutors. Johnson believes a key to enforcing voting laws is working with investigators and prosecutors and ensuring that they have the information they need to mount cases.

She also believes public education is important, and that the media could do more to provide information about what is legal and what is illegal. Kentucky tries to fulfill this role by information in polling places, press releases, and high profile press conferences before elections. She notes that they deliberately use language focusing on fraud and intimidation.

Johnson is somewhat pessimistic about reducing absentee ballot fraud. Absentee ballots do have a useful function for the military and others who cannot get to the polling place, and motivated individuals will always find a way to abuse the system if possible. At a minimum, however, she recommends that absentee ballots should require an excuse. She believes this has helped reduce abuse in Kentucky, and is wary of no-excuse practices in other states.

Interview with Bill Groth, Attorney for the Plaintiffs in Indiana Identification Litigation

February 22, 2006

Fraud in Indiana

Indiana has never charged or prosecuted anyone for polling place fraud. Nor has any empirical evidence of voter impersonation fraud or dead voter fraud been presented. In addition, there is no record of any credible complaint about voter impersonation fraud in Indiana. State legislators signed an affidavit that said there had never been impostor voting in Indiana. At the same time, the Indiana Supreme Court has not necessarily required evidence of voter fraud before approving legislative attempts to address fraud.

The state attorney general has conceded that there is no concrete fraud in Indiana, but has instead referred to instances of fraud in other states. Groth filed a detailed motion to strike evidence such as John Fund's book relating to other states, arguing that none of that evidence was presented to the legislature and that it should have been in the form of sworn affidavits, so that it would have some indicia of verifiability.

Photo ID law

By imposing restrictive ID measures, Groth contends you will discourage 1,000 times more legitimate voters than illegitimate voters you might protect against. He feels the implementation of a REAL ID requirement is an inadequate justification for the law, as it will not affect the upcoming 2006 election where thousands of registered voters will be left without proper ID. In addition, he questions whether REAL ID will be implemented as planned in 2008 considering the backlash against the law so far. He also feels ID laws are unconstitutional because of inconsistent application.

Statewide database as remedy

Groth believes many problems will be addressed by the statewide database required under HAVA. To the extent that the rolls in Indiana are bloated, it is because state officials have not complied with NVRA list maintenance requirements. Thus, it is somewhat disingenuous for them to use bloated voter rolls as a reason for imposing additional measures such as the photo ID law. Furthermore, the state has ceded to the counties the obligation to do maintenance programs, which results in a hit or miss process (see discussion in reply brief, p 26 through p. 28).

Absentee fraud

To the extent that there has been an incidence of fraud, these have all been confined to absentee balloting. Most notably the East Chicago mayoral election case where courts found absentee voting fraud had occurred. See: Pabey vs. Pastrick 816 NE 2nd 1138 Decision by the Indiana Supreme Court in 2004.

Intimidation and vote suppression

Groth is only aware of anecdotal evidence supporting intimidation and suppression activities. While he considers the sources of this evidence credible, it is still decidedly anecdotal. Instances he is aware of include police cars parked in front of African American polling places. However, most incidents of suppression which are discussed occurred well in the past. Trevor Davidson claims a fairly large scale intimidation program in Louisville.

Challengers

There was widespread information that the state Republican Party had planned a large scale challenger operation in Democratic precincts for 2004, but abandoned the plan at the last minute.

Last year the legislature made a crucial change to election laws which will allow partisan challengers to be physically inside the polling area next to members of the precinct board. Previously, challengers at the polling place have been restricted to the 'chute,' which provides a buffer zone between voting and people engaging in political activity. That change will make it much easier to challenge voters. As there is no recorded legislative history in Indiana, it is difficult to determine the justification behind this change. As both chambers and the governorship are under single-party control, the challenger statute was passed under the radar screen.

Photo ID and Challengers

Observers are especially concerned about how this change will work in conjunction with the photo ID provision. Under the law, there are at least two reasons why a member of the precinct board or a challenger can raise object to an ID: whether a presented ID conforms to ID standards, and whether the photo on an ID is actually a picture of the voter presenting it. The law does not require bipartisan agreement that a challenge is valid. All it takes is one challenge to raise a challenge to that voter, and that will lead to the voter voting by provisional ballot.

Provisional ballot voting means that voter must make a second trip to the election board (located at the county seat) within 13 days to produce the conforming ID or to swear out an affidavit that they are who they claim to be. This may pose a considerable burden to voters. For example, Indianapolis and Marion County are coterminous—anyone challenged under the law will be required to make second trip to seat of government in downtown Indianapolis. If the voter in question did not have a driver's license in the first place, they will likely need to arrange transportation. Furthermore, in most cases the election result will already be known.

The law is vague about acceptable cause for challenging a voter's ID. Some requirements for valid photo ID include being issued by state or fed gov't, w/ expiration date, and the names must conform exactly. The League of Women Voters is concerned about voters with hyphenated names, as the Indiana DMV fails to put hyphens on driver's licenses potentially leading to a basis for challenge. Misspelling of names would also be a problem. The other primary mode of challenge is saying the photo doesn't look like the voter, which could be happen in a range of instances. Essentially, the law gives unbridled discretion to challengers to decide what conforms and what does not.

Furthermore, there is no way to determine whether a challenge is in good or bad faith, and there is little penalty for making a bad faith challenge. The fact that there are no checks on the challenges at the precinct level, or even a requirement of concurrence from an opposing party challenger leads to the concern that challenge process will be abused. The voter on the other hand, will need to get majority approval of county election board members to defeat the challenge.

Groth suggests the political situation in Indianapolis also presents a temptation to abuse this process, as electoral margins are growing increasingly close due to shifting political calculus.

Other cases

Groth's other election law work has included a redistricting dispute, a dispute over ballot format, NVRA issues, and a case related to improper list purging, but nothing else related to fraud or intimidation. The purging case involved the election board attempting to refine its voter list by sending registration postcards to everyone on the list. When postcards didn't come back they wanted to purge those voters. Groth blames this error more on incompetence, than malevolence, however, as the county board is bipartisan. (The Indiana Election Commission and the Indiana election division are both bipartisan, but the 92 county election boards which will be administering photo id are controlled by one political party or the other—they are always an odd number, with the partisan majority determined by who controls the clerk of circuit court office.)

Recommendations

Supports nonpartisan administration of elections. Indiana specific recommendations including a longer voting day, time off for workers to vote, and an extended registration period.

He views the central problem of the Indiana photo ID law is that the list of acceptable forms of ID is too narrow and provides no fallback to voters without ID. At the least, he believes the state needs to expand the list so that most people will have at least one. If not, they should be allowed to swear an affidavit regarding their identity, under penalty of perjury/felony prosecution. This would provide sufficient deterrence for anyone considering impersonation fraud. He believes absentee ballot fraud should be addressed by requiring those voters to produce ID as well, as under HAVA.

His personal preference would be signature comparison. Indiana has never encountered an instance of someone trying to forge a name in the poll book, and while this leaves open the prospect of dead voters, that danger will be substantially diminished by the statewide database. But if we are going to have some form of ID, he believes we should apply it to everyone and avoid disenfranchisement, provided they swear an affidavit.

Interview with Neil Bradley, February 21, 2004

Voter Impersonation Cases (issue the Georgia ID litigation revolves around)

Mr. Bradley asserted that Georgia Secretary of State Cox stated in the case at issue: that she clearly would know if there had been any instances of voter impersonation at the polls; that she works very closely with the county and local officials and she would have heard about voter impersonation from them if she did not learn about it directly; and that she said that she had not heard of "any incident"---which includes acts that did not rise to the level of an official investigation or charges.

Mr. Bradley said that it is also possible to establish if someone has impersonated another voter at the polls. Officials must check off the type of voter identification the voter used. Voters without ID may vote by affidavit ballot. One could conduct a survey of those voters to see if they in fact voted or not.

The type of voter fraud that involves impersonating someone else is very unlikely to occur. If someone wants to steal an election, it is much more effective to do so using absentee ballots. In order to change an election outcome, one must steal many votes. Therefore, one would have to have lots of people involved in the enterprise, meaning there would be many people who know you committed a felony. It's simply not an efficient way to steal an election.

Mr. Bradley is not aware of any instance of voter impersonation anywhere in the country except in local races. He does not believe it occurs in statewide elections.

Voter fraud and intimidation in Georgia

Georgia's process for preventing ineligible ex-felons from casting ballots has been improved since the Secretary of State now has the power to create the felon purge list. When this was the responsibility of the counties, there were many difficulties in purging felons because local officials did not want to have to call someone and ask if he or she was a criminal.

The State Board of Elections has a docket of irregularity complaints. The most common involve an ineligible person mailing in absentee ballots on behalf of another voter.

In general, Mr. Bradley does not think voter fraud and intimidation is a huge problem in Georgia and that people have confidence in the vote. The biggest problems are the new ID law; misinformation put out by elections officials; and advertisements that remind people that vote fraud is a felony, which are really meant to be intimidating. Most fraud that does occur involves an insider, and that's where you find the most prosecutions. Any large scale fraud involves someone who knows the system or is in the courthouse.

Prosecution of Fraud and Intimidation

Mr. Bradley stated that fraud and intimidation are hard to prosecute. However, Mr. Bradley made contradictory statements. When asked whether the decision to prosecute on the county level was politically motivated, he first said "no." Later, Mr. Bradley reversed himself stating the opposite.

Mr. Bradley also stated that with respect to US Attorneys, the message to them from the top is that this is not a priority. The Georgia ACLU has turned over information about violations of the Voting Rights Act that were felonies, and the US Attorney has done nothing with the information. The Department of Justice has never been very aggressive in pursuing cases of vote suppression, intimidation and fraud. But, the Georgia ACLU has not contacted Craig Donsanto in DC with information of voter fraud.

Mr. Bradley believes that voter fraud and intimidation is difficult to prove. It is very hard to collect the necessary factual evidence to make a case, and doing so is very labor-intensive.

Recommendations

In Georgia, the Secretary of State puts a lot of work into training local officials and poll workers, and much of her budget is put into that work. Increased and improved training of poll workers, including training on how to respectfully treat voters, is the most important reform that could be made.

Mr. Bradley also suggested that increased election monitoring would be helpful.

Interview with Douglas Webber, Assistant Attorney General, Indiana

February 15, 2006

Background

Mr. Webber was an attorney for the Marion County Election Board and was also part of the Indianapolis Ballot Security Team (sometimes called the Goon Squad). This Team was a group of attorneys well trained in election law whose mission was to enforce ballot security.

Litigation

Status of litigation in Indiana: On January 12 the briefing was completed. The parties are waiting for a decision from the U.S. district judge. The judge understood that one of the parties would seek a stay from the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals. The parties anticipate a decision in late March or early April. Mr. Webber did the discovery and depositions for the litigation. Mr. Webber feared the plaintiffs were going to state in their reply brief that HAVA's statewide database requirement would resolve the problems alleged by the state. However, the plaintiffs failed to do so, relying on a Motor Voter Act argument instead. Mr. Webber believes that the voter ID at issue will make the system much more user-friendly for the poll workers. The Legislature passed the ID legislation, and the state is defending it, on the basis of the problem of the perception of fraud.

Incidents of fraud and intimidation

Mr. Webber thinks that no one can put his or her thumb on whether there has been voter fraud in Indiana. For instance, if someone votes in place of another, no one knows about it. There have been no prosecuted cases of polling place fraud in Indiana. There is no recorded history of documented cases, but it does happen. In the litigation, he used articles from around the country about instances of voter fraud, but even in those examples there were ultimately no prosecutions, for example the case of Milwaukee. He also stated in the litigation that there are all kinds of examples of dead people voting--totaling in the hundreds of thousands of votes across the country.

One interesting example of actual fraud in Indiana occurred when a poll worker, in a poll using punch cards, glued the chads back and then punched out other chads for his candidate. But this would not be something that would be addressed by an ID requirement.

He also believes that the perception that the polls are loose can be addressed by the legislature. The legislature does not need to wait to see if the statewide database solve the problems and therefore affect the determination of whether an ID requirement is necessary. When he took the deposition of the Republican Co-Director, he said he thought Indiana was getting ahead of the curve. That is, there have been problems around the country, and confidence in elections is low. Therefore Indiana is now in front of getting that confidence back.

Mr. Webber stated that the largest vote problem in Indiana is absentee ballots. Absentee ballot fraud and vote buying are the most documented cases. It used to be the law that applications for absentee ballots could be sent anywhere. In one case absentee votes were exchanged for "a job on election day"---meaning one vote for a certain price. The election was contested and the trial judge found that although there was vote fraud, the incidents of such were less than the margin of victory and so he refused to overturn the election. Mr. Webber appealed the case for the state and argued the judge used the wrong statute. The Indiana Supreme Court agreed and reversed. Several people were prosecuted as a result – those cases are still pending.

Process

In Indiana, voter complaints first come to the attorney for the county election board who can recommend that a hearing be held. If criminal activity was found, the case could be referred to the county prosecutor or in certain instances to the Indiana Attorney General's Office. In practice, the Attorney General almost never handles such cases.

Mr. Webber has had experience training county of election boards in preserving the integrity and security of the polling place from political or party officials. Mr. Webber stated that the Indiana voter rolls need to be culled. He also stated that in Southern Indiana a large problem was vote buying while in Northern Indiana a large problem was based on government workers feeling compelled to vote for the party that gave them their jobs.

Recommendations

- Mr. Webber believes that all election fraud and intimidation complaints should be referred to the Attorney General's Office to circumvent the problem of local political prosecutions. The Attorney General should take more responsibility for complaints of fraud because at the local level, politics interferes. At the local level, everyone knows each other, making it harder prosecute.
- Indiana currently votes 6 am to 6 pm on a weekday. Government workers and retirees are the only people who are available to work the polls. Mr. Webber suggested that the biggest change should be to move elections to weekends. This would involve more people acting as poll workers who would be much more careful about what was going on.
- Early voting at the clerk's office is good because the people there know what they are doing. People would be unlikely to commit fraud at the clerk's office. This should be expanded to other polling places in addition to that of the county clerk.
- Finally, Mr. Webber believes polling places should be open longer, run more professionally but that there needs to be fewer of them so that they are staffed by only the best, most professional people.

Interview with Wade Henderson, Executive Director, Leadership Conference for Civil Rights

February 14, 2006

Data Collection

Mr. Henderson had several recommendations as to how to better gather additional information and data on election fraud and intimidation in recent years. He suggested interviewing the following individuals who have been actively involved in Election Protection and other similar efforts:

- Jon Greenbaum, Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights
- Tanya Clay, People for the American Way
- Melanie, Campbell, National Coalition for Black Political Participation
- Larry Gonzalez, National Association of Latino Election Officers
- Jacqueline Johnson, National Congress of American Indians
- Chellie Pingree, Common Cause
- Jim Dickson, disability rights advocate
- Mary Berry, former Chair of the US Commission on Civil Rights, currently at the University of Pennsylvania
- Judith Browne and Eddie Hailes, Advancement Project (former counsel to the US Commission on Civil Rights)
- Robert Rubin, Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights – San Francisco Office
- Former Senator Tom Daschle (currently a fellow at The Center for American Progress)

He also recommended we review the following documents and reports:

- The 2004 litigation brought by the Advancement Project and SEIU under the 1981 New Jersey Consent Decree
- Forthcoming LCCR state-by-state report on violations of the Voting Rights Act
- Forthcoming Lawyers Committee report on violations of the Voting Rights Act (February 21)

Types of Fraud and Intimidation Occurring

Mr. Henderson said he believed that the kinds of voter intimidation and suppression tactics employed over the last five years are ones that have evolved over many years. They are sometimes racially based, sometimes based on partisan motives. He believes the following types of activity have actually occurred, and are not just a matter of anecdote and innuendo, and rise to the level of either voter intimidation or vote suppression:

- Flyers with intentional misinformation, such as ones claiming that if you do not have identification, you cannot vote, and providing false dates for the election
- Observers with cameras, which people associate with potential political retribution or even violence

- Intimidating police presence at the polls
- Especially in jurisdictions that authorize challenges, the use of challenge lists and challengers goes beyond partisanship to racial suppression and intimidation
- Unequal deployment of voting equipment, such as occurred in Ohio. Also, he has seen situations in which historically Black colleges will have one voting machine while other schools will have more.

Mr. Henderson believes that these matters are not pursued formally because often they involve activities that current law does not reach. For example, there is no law prohibiting a Secretary of State from being the head of a political campaign, and then deploying voting machines in an uneven manner. There is no way to pursue that. Also, once the election is over, civil litigation becomes moot. Finally, sometimes upon reflection after the campaign, some of the activities are not as sinister as believed at the time.

Mr. Henderson believes government does not engage in a sustained investigation of these matters or pursue any kind of resolution to them. LCCR has filed a FOIA request with both the Civil Rights Division and the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice to examine this issue.

Election Protection activities will be intensified for the 2006 elections, although the focus may shift somewhat given the implementation of new HAVA requirements.

Recommendations for Reform

There was tremendous concern after the 2004 election about conflicts of interest – the “Blackwell problem” – whereby a campaign chair is also in charge of the voting system. We need to get away from that.

He also supports Senator Barak Obama’s bill regarding deceptive practices, and is opposed to the voter identification laws passing many state legislatures.

- States should adopt election-day registration, in order to boost turnout as well as to allow eligible voters to immediately rectify erroneous or improperly purged registration records
- Expansion of early voting & no-excuse absentee voting, to boost turnout and reduce the strain on election-day resources.
- Provisional ballot reforms:
  - Should be counted statewide – if cast in the wrong polling place, votes should still be counted in races for which the voter was eligible to vote (governor, etc.)
  - Provisional ballots should also function as voter registration applications, to increase the likelihood that voters will be properly registered in future elections
- Voter ID requirements: states should allow voters to use signature attestation to establish their identity

- The Department of Justice should increase enforcement of Americans with Disabilities Act and the accessibility requirements of the Help America Vote Act
- Statewide registration databases should be linked to social service agency databases
- Prohibit chief state election officials from simultaneously participating in partisan electoral campaigns within their states
- Create and enforce strong penalties for deceptive or misleading voting practices

Interview with Wendy Weiser, Deputy Director, Democracy Program, The Brennan Center

Brennan Center findings on fraud

The Brennan Center's primary work on fraud is their report for the Carter Baker Commission with commissioner Spencer Overton, written in response to the Commission's ID recommendations. Brennan reviewed all existing reports and election contests related to voter fraud. They believe the contests serve as an especially good record of whether or not fraud exists, as the parties involved in contested elections have a large incentive to root out fraudulent voters. Yet despite this, the incidence of voter impersonation fraud discovered is extremely low—something on the order 1/10000th of a percentage of voters. See also the brief Brennan filed on 11th circuit in Georgia photo ID case which cites sources in Carter Baker report and argues the incidence of voter fraud too low to justify countermeasures.

Among types of fraud, they found impersonation, or polling place fraud, is probably the least frequent type, although other types, such as absentee ballot fraud are also very infrequent. Weiser believes this is because impersonation fraud is more likely to be caught and is therefore not worth the risk. Unlike in an absentee situation, actual poll workers are present to disrupt impersonation fraud, for instance, by catching the same individual voting twice. She believes perhaps one half to one quarter of the time the person will be caught. Also, there is a chance the pollworker will have personal knowledge of the person. Georgia Secretary of State Cathy Cox has mentioned that there are many opportunities for discovery of in person fraud as well. For example, if one votes in the name of another voter, and that voter shows up at the polls, the fraud will be discovered.

Weiser believes court proceedings in election contests are especially useful. Some are very extensive, with hundreds of voters brought up by each side and litigated. In both pre-election challenges and post-election contests, parties have devoted extraordinary resources into 'smoking out' fraudulent voters. Justin Leavitt at Brennan scoured such proceedings for the Carter Baker report, which includes these citations. Contact him for answers to particular questions.

Countermeasures/statewide databases

Brennan has also considered what states are doing to combat impersonation fraud besides photo ID laws, although again, it seems to be the rarest kind of fraud, beyond statistically insignificant. In the brief Brennan filed in the Georgia case, the Center detailed what states are already doing to effectively address fraud. In another on the web site includes measures that can be taken that no states have adopted yet. Weiser adds that an effort to look at strategies states have to prevent fraud, state variations, effectiveness, ease of enforcement would be very useful.

Weiser believes the best defense against fraud will be better voter lists—she argues the fraud debate is actually premature because states have yet to fully implement the HAVA database requirement. This should eliminate a great deal of 'deadwood' on voter rolls and undermine the common argument that fraud is made possible by this deadwood. This was the experience for Michigan, which was able to remove 600,000 names initially, and later removed almost 1 million names from their rolls. It is fairly easy to cull deadwood from lists due to consolidation at the state level—most deadwood is due to individuals moving within the state and poor communication between jurisdictions. (Also discuss with Chris Thomas, who masterminded the Michigan database for more information and a historical perspective.)

Regarding the question of whether the effect of this maintenance on fraud in Michigan can be quantified, Weiser would caution against drawing direct lines between list problems and fraud. Brennan has found various groups abusing the existence of list deadwood to make claims about fraudulent voting. This is analyzed in greater detail in the Brennan Center's critique of a purge list produced by the NJ Republican party, and was illustrated by the purge list produced by the state of Florida. When compiling such lists and doing comparisons, sound statistical methods must be utilized, and often are not.

The NJ GOP created a list and asked NJ election officials to purge names of ineligible voters on it. Their list assumed that people appearing on the list twice had voted twice. Brennan found their assumptions shoddy and based on incorrect statistical practices, such as treating individuals with the same name and birthdays as duplicates, although this is highly unlikely according to proper statistical methods. Simply running algorithms on voter lists creates a number of false positives, does not provide an accurate basis for purging, and should not be taken as an indicator of fraud.

Regarding the Florida purge list, faulty assumptions caused the list to systematically exclude Hispanics while overestimating African Americans. Matching protocols required that race fields match exactly, despite inconsistent fields across databases.

The kinds of list comparisons that are frequently done to allege fraud are unreliable. Moreover, even if someone is on a voter list twice, that does not mean that voter has voted twice. That, in fact, is almost never the case.

Ultimately, even matching protocols without faulty assumptions will have a 4 percent to 35 percent error rate—that's simply the nature of database work. Private industry has been working on improving this for years. Now that HAVA has introduced a matching requirement, even greater skepticism is called for in judging the accuracy of list maintenance.

Intimidation and Suppression

Brennan does not have a specific focus here, although they do come across it and have provided assistance on bills to prevent suppression and intimidation. They happen to have an extensive paper file of intimidating fliers and related stories from before the 2004 election. (They can supply copies after this week).

Challengers

Brennan has analyzed cases where challenger laws have been beneficial and where they have been abused. See the decision and record from the 1982 NJ vs. RNC case for some of the history of these laws. Brennan is currently working on developing a model challenger law.

Weiser believes challenge laws with no requirement that the challenger have any specific basis for the challenge or showing of ineligibility are an invitation to blanket harassing challenges and have a range of pitfalls. State laws are vague and broad and often involve arcane processes such as where voters are required to meet a challenge within 5 days. There are incentives for political abuse, potential for delaying votes and disrupting the polls, and they are not necessarily directed toward the best result. Furthermore, when a voter receives a mailer alleging vote fraud with no basis, even the mere fact of a challenge can be chilling. A voter does not want to have to go through a quasi-court proceeding in order to vote.

Brennan recommends challenge processes that get results before election, minimize the burden for voters, and are restricted at polling place to challenges by poll workers and election officials, not voters. They believe limitless challenges can lead to pandemonium—that once the floodgates are open they won't stop.

Recommendations

Intimidation— Weiser believes Sen. Barak Obama's bill is a good one for combating voter harassment and deceptive practices. Many jurisdictions do not currently have laws prohibiting voter harassment and deceptive practices.

Fraud— Current state and federal codes seem sufficient for prosecuting fraud. Weiser doesn't consider them under-enforced, and sees no need for additional laws.

Voter lists— New legislation or regulations are needed to provide clear guidance and standards for generating voter lists and purging voters, otherwise states could wrongfully disenfranchise eligible voters.

Challengers—Challenge laws need to be reformed, especially ones that allow for pre-election mass challenges with no real basis. There is no one size fits all model for challenger legislation, but some bad models involving hurdles for voters lead to abuse and should be reformed. There should be room for poll workers to challenge fraudulent voters, but not for abuse.

Also useful would be recommendations for prosecutors investigating fraudulent activity, How should they approach these cases? How should they approach cases of large scale fraud/intimidation? While there is sufficient legislative cover to get at any election fraud activity, questions remain about what proper approaches and enforcement strategies should be.

April 16, 2007

MEMORANDUM

To: EAC Inspector General Curtis Crider
Fr: EAC Chair Donetta Davidson
Cc: Commissioners Rodriguez, Hillman and Hunter, Tom Wilkey, and Julie Hodgkins
RE: EAC requests review of contracting procedures

On Friday, April 13, each of my three colleagues – Rosemary Rodriguez, Gracia Hillman, and Caroline Hunter -- agreed with my recommendation that we issue the following formal request to the Commission’s Office of Inspector General to review the circumstances surrounding two recent EAC research projects – vote fraud and voter intimidation and voter identification.

Background

The U.S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC) is an independent, bipartisan Commission created by the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) of 2002.

EAC develops guidance to meet HAVA requirements, adopts voluntary voting system guidelines, accredits voting system test laboratories, certifies voting systems and audits the use of HAVA funds. HAVA also directs EAC to maintain the national mail voter registration form developed in accordance with the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) of 1993.

The Commission serves as a national clearinghouse and resource of information regarding election administration. It is under the Commission’s clearinghouse role that research projects are conducted with the goal of providing information that will lead to improvements in election administration, as well as inform the public about how, where and when we vote.

The voter identification research was conducted by Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, through its Eagleton Institute of Politics (“Contractor”). The contract, awarded in May 2005, required the Contractor to perform a review and legal analysis of state legislation, administrative procedures and court cases, and to perform a literature review on other research and data available on the topic of voter identification requirements. Further, the Contractor was asked to analyze the problems and challenges of voter identification, to hypothesize alternative approaches and to recommend various policies that could be applied to these approaches. Last month, the commission voted unanimously not to adopt the report, citing concerns with its methodology, but voted to release all of the data provided by the Contractor.

The vote fraud and voter intimidation research was conducted by Tova Wang and Job Serebrov ("Consultants"). The contracts, awarded in September 2005, issued to these Consultants tasked them with defining the terms vote fraud and voter intimidation and providing recommendations how to conduct extensive research in the future on these topics. The contract stated that the Consultants were responsible for "creating a report summarizing the findings of this preliminary research effort and Working Group deliberations. This report should include any recommendations for future EAC research resulting from this effort."

Review Request

The actions taken by the Commission regarding both the voter identification and the vote fraud and voter intimidation research projects have been challenged. Specifically, Members of Congress, the media, and the public have suggested that political motivations may have been part of the Commission's decision making process regarding these two projects. Also, the Commission has been criticized for the amount of taxpayer dollars that were spent on these two projects, as well as how efficiently these projects were managed.

The Commission takes these allegations very seriously, and we request that you fully review the following issues and provide the Commission and the Congress with a report of your findings as soon as possible. The Commission stands ready to assist you in these efforts and will provide whatever information, including memos, emails and other documents you will need. Cooperating with your review will be the staff's top priority.

1. Current Commission policy regarding awarding and managing research contracts.
2. Issuance and management of the vote fraud and voter intimidation contract.
3. Circumstances surrounding the receipt of information from Consultants regarding the vote fraud and voter intimidation project.
4. Circumstances surrounding staff efforts to write a final report for Commission consideration.
5. Identification of staff members who assisted in the editing and collaboration of the final vote fraud and voter intimidation report for Commission consideration.
6. Staff and/or Commissioner collaboration with political entities or other federal agencies regarding the vote fraud and voter intimidation project.
7. Circumstances surrounding Commission discussion and deliberation of final adoption of Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendation for Further Study.
8. Issuance and management of the voter identification contract.
9. Circumstances surrounding the receipt of information from Contractor regarding the voter identification report.
10. Identification of staff members who assisted in the editing, collaboration, and recommendation to the Commission regarding final adoption of the voter identification report.

11. Staff and/or Commissioner collaboration with political entities or other federal agencies regarding the voter identification project.
12. Circumstances surrounding Commission deliberation whether to adopt a final voter identification report.

For your information, I have attached statements and related correspondence from Members of Congress, and a statement issued by the Commission regarding the criticism.

It is our hope that your findings will instruct us how to move forward in a more efficient, effective and transparent manner. The Commission takes its mandates under HAVA very seriously, and this small Commission has an enormous amount of work to conduct, including testing and certifying voting equipment, providing guidance and assistance to election officials, and auditing the proper use of the $3.1 billion that was distributed under HAVA.

We look forward to your findings so that we may take the actions necessary to improve the way we conceive research projects, manage research contracts, and make decisions regarding the final release of data provided to the Commission from a third party.

United States Senate
WASHINGTON, DC 20510

April 12, 2007

The Honorable Donetta Davidson
Chairman
U.S. Election Assistance Commission
1225 New York Avenue, N.W.
Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20005

Dear Commissioner Davidson:

We are writing to seek a response to very troubling news reports that included allegations that the Commission may have altered or delayed release of two taxpayer-funded studies of election issues for political purposes.

While the Commission is within its rights to decide what guidance it issues to election officials, it is critical that its actions are not perceived as politically motivated and it is imperative that you provide full documentation about the Commission's proceedings on these matters.

On Wednesday, the New York Times reported that a bipartisan team of election law experts hired by the Commission to research voter fraud in federal elections found that there was little such fraud around the nation, but the Commission revised the report to say that the pervasiveness of voter fraud was still open to debate.

On Monday, Roll Call reported that the Commission two weeks ago rejected the findings of a report, prepared as part of a $560,000 contract with Rutgers University's Eagleton Institute and Ohio State University's Moritz College of Law. That report found that voter identification laws may reduce election turnout, especially by minorities.

010868

Commissioner Davidson

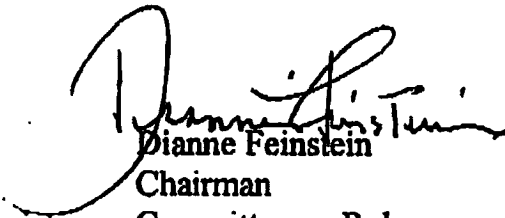

- 2 -

April 12, 2007

It is imperative that the Commission's actions and deliberations are unbiased, free from political influence and transparent. While the Commission does not have to agree with the experts who perform its research, it should make the research available unfettered and unfiltered.

Attached are a series of questions, we would like the Commission to address. We look forward to your timely response.

Sincerely,

Dianne Feinstein
Chairman
Committee on Rules and Administration

Richard J. Durbin
Chairman
Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government
Committee on Appropriations

We request information and documentation from the Commission that answer the following questions:

COMMISSION'S OVERSIGHT ON EAGLETON CONTRACT TO PERFORM A STUDY ON VOTER IDENTIFICATION

1. Did the Commissioners or Commission senior staff receive any outside communication or pressure to change or not release the entire draft report or portions of the draft language on the voter fraud report? If so, who made those requests?
2. Would you please provide a copy of the approved Request For Proposals, as well as any contract modifications that were agreed to between the Commission and Eagleton Institute and subcontractors?
3. Can you provide the names and qualifications of Election Assistance Commission staff that worked on the Eagleton Institute project?
4. Please indicate how many project meetings occurred during the term of the Eagleton contract, including in-person meetings, conference calls regarding the status of the report, and any meeting where Commissioners were present for at least part of the meeting. Please provide copies of any minutes from those meetings.
5. Please identify the names and affiliations of members of the Peer Review group or groups that examined the Eagleton Institute drafts. Please also indicate the dates upon which any such review of the Eagleton research was conducted, and the specific concerns or complaints that were raised by members of the Peer Review group as to either the analysis or statistical methodology, if any. Please provide copies of any minutes from those meetings.
6. If certain members of the Peer Review groups had concerns with the data or methodology of the Eagleton study, was that information communicated to Eagleton, and were any changes made to the study based on Peer Review group concerns with methodology or data?
7. Who were the individuals (and what were their academic qualifications) that advised the Commission that the data, methodology, or the results of the Eagleton Contract were so flawed that the Commission should reject the report? At what point did the Commission receive input from those individuals?

8. The Commission previewed its research on the Eagleton Institute's study on Provisional Voting at its May 2006 Advisory Board meetings—why was the Voter Identification Draft Study not discussed at that time? What is the status of the Provisional Voting report?
9. In rejecting the Eagleton report, the Commission indicated concerns that there was only one year's worth of data. Given that this was the first year that Commission had studied the results, isn't "one year" what was originally contemplated in the Eagleton contract? Isn't the reason for having a major research institute conduct this study is so they can draw initial assessments from that data—even though that data can be augmented in future years? Because of the rejected report, will the Commission start anew for research in the 2008 elections?
10. What was the final, total cost of the Eagleton contract, and what was produced or released by that Commission as a result of that contract?

COMMISSION'S OVERSIGHT OVER VOTER FRAUD/INTIMIDATION STUDY

1. Did the Commissioners or Commission senior staff receive any outside communication or pressure to change or not release the entire draft report or portions of the draft language on the voter fraud report? If so, who made those requests?
2. Given the bipartisan nature of the Working Group that guided the Voter Fraud/Intimidation report, and the bipartisan nature of the contracted experts who uniformly support the results of this report, what concerns lead the Commission to determine the report should not be released?
3. If there were points in the report that the Commission objected to, were there attempts to work with the contractors to deal with specific concerns? If there were such attempts, please describe them.

4. Who drafted the Commission summary (released in December, 2006) of the Voter Fraud/Intimidation report, and what were their credentials and involvement in the original research process? Were there instructions or guidance given from Commissioners or senior staff as to what portions of the research should be emphasized? Who at the Commission reviewed the summarized report? Since the contracted experts are referred to in the Commission's released report, were the contractors allowed a chance to review or edit that Commission's final report that was released in December, 2006?
5. Please provide copies of any electronic or written communications between Commission employees that relate to the editing of the Voter Fraud/Intimidation report.
6. Please explain what Mr. Job Serebrov was referring to in his email referenced in the New York Times article of April 11, 2007. Please provide any documents in the Commission's possession where employees or contracted experts discussed pressure, political sensitivities, or the failure of the Commission to adopt the Voter Fraud/Intimidation report from March 1, 2006 to present.
7. While we realize that the Commission voted to release its summary report in December 2006, was there a public vote taken to reject the Draft Voter Fraud/Intimidation report? Such a monumental decision to reject the contract experts' work is a policy decision, and one that should be done in public. When was the decision made to reject the original report, and what notice was provided to the public that the Commission would reject that report?
8. Prior to the Draft Voter Fraud/Intimidation report's release, had other organizations requested a copy of that original report? Please include copies of your responses to those organizations, if any.
9. Had any States requested that the Commission or staff provide guidance related to voter identification requirements in the Help America Vote Act, or identification requirements generally? Please provide those requests, and any responses from the Commission.
10. Please indicate what steps the Commission is taking to ensure that political considerations do not impact the agency's research and that decisions are handled in a public and transparent manner.

turning out to be accurate according to investigations by the newspapers themselves, elections officials and criminal investigators. Often the problem turned out to be a result of administrative error, poll workers mis-marking of voter lists, a flawed registration list and/or errors made in the attempt to match names of voters on the list with the names of the people who voted. In a good number of cases, there were allegations that charges of double voting by political leaders were an effort to scare people away from the voting process.

Nonetheless there were a few cases of people actually being charged and/or convicted for these kinds of activities. Most of the cases involved a person voting both by absentee ballot and in person. A few instances involved people voting both during early voting and on Election Day, which calls into question the proper marking and maintenance of the voting lists. In many instances, the person charged claimed not to have voted twice on purpose. A very small handful of cases involved a voter voting in more than one county and there was one substantiated case involving a person voting in more than one state. Other instances in which such efforts were alleged were disproved by officials.

In the case of voting in the name of a dead person, the problem lay in the voter registration list not being properly maintained, i.e. the person was still on the registration list as eligible to vote, and a person taking criminal advantage of that. In total, the San Francisco Chronicle found 5 such cases in March 2004; the AP cited a newspaper analysis of five such persons in an Indiana primary in May 2004; and a senate committee found two people to have voted in the names of the dead in 2005.

As usual, there were a disproportionate number of such articles coming out of Florida. Notably, there were three articles out of Oregon, which has one hundred percent vote-by-mail.

Vote Buying

There were a surprising number of articles about vote buying cases. A few of these instances involved long-time investigations in three particular jurisdictions as detailed in the vote buying summary. There were more official investigations, indictments and convictions/pleas in this area. All of these cases are concentrated in the Midwest and South.

Deceptive Practices

In 2004 there were numerous reports of intentional disinformation about voting eligibility and the voting process meant to confuse voters about their rights and when and where to vote. Misinformation came in the form of flyers, phone calls, letters, and even people going door to door. Many of the efforts were reportedly targeted at minority communities. A disproportionate number of them came from key battleground states, particularly Florida, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. From the news reports found, only one of these instances was officially investigated, the case in Oregon involving the destruction of voter registration forms. There were no reports of prosecutions or any other legal proceeding.

Non-citizen Voting

There were surprisingly few articles regarding noncitizen registration and voting – just seven all together, in seven different states across the country. They were also evenly split between allegations of noncitizens registering and noncitizens voting. In one case charges were filed against ten individuals. In one case a judge in a civil suit found there was illegal noncitizen voting. Three instances prompted official investigations. Two cases, from this nexis search, remained just allegations of noncitizen voting.

Felon Voting

Although there were only thirteen cases of felon voting, some of them involved large numbers of voters. Most notably, of course, are the cases that came to light in the Washington gubernatorial election contest (see Washington summary) and in Wisconsin (see Wisconsin summary). In several states, the main problem has the large number of ineligible felons that remained on the voting list.

Election Official Fraud

In most of the cases in which fraud by elections officials is suspected or alleged, it is difficult to determine whether it is incompetence or a crime. There are several cases of ballots gone missing, ballots unaccounted for and ballots ending up in a worker's possession. In two cases workers were said to have changed peoples' votes. The one instance in which widespread ballot box stuffing by elections workers was alleged was in Washington State. The judge in the civil trial of that election contest did not find that elections workers had committed fraud. Four of the cases are from Texas.

April 16, 2007

MEMORANDUM

To: EAC Inspector General Curtis Crider
Fr: EAC Chair Donetta Davidson
Cc: Commissioners Rodriguez, Hillman and Hunter, Tom Wilkey, and Julie Hodgkins
RE: EAC requests review of contracting procedures

On Friday, April 13, each of my three colleagues – Rosemary Rodriguez, Gracia Hillman, and Caroline Hunter -- agreed with my recommendation that we issue the following formal request to the Commission’s Office of Inspector General to review the circumstances surrounding two recent EAC research projects – vote fraud and voter intimidation and voter identification.

Background

The U.S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC) is an independent, bipartisan Commission created by the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) of 2002.

EAC develops guidance to meet HAVA requirements, adopts voluntary voting system guidelines, accredits voting system test laboratories, certifies voting systems and audits the use of HAVA funds. HAVA also directs EAC to maintain the national mail voter registration form developed in accordance with the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) of 1993.

The Commission serves as a national clearinghouse and resource of information regarding election administration. It is under the Commission’s clearinghouse role that research projects are conducted with the goal of providing information that will lead to improvements in election administration, as well as inform the public about how, where and when we vote.

The voter identification research was conducted by Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, through its Eagleton Institute of Politics (“Contractor”). The contract, awarded in May 2005, required the Contractor to perform a review and legal analysis of state legislation, administrative procedures and court cases, and to perform a literature review on other research and data available on the topic of voter identification requirements. Further, the Contractor was asked to analyze the problems and challenges of voter identification, to hypothesize alternative approaches and to recommend various policies that could be applied to these approaches. Last month, the commission voted unanimously not to adopt the report, citing concerns with its methodology, but voted to release all of the data provided by the Contractor.

The vote fraud and voter intimidation research was conducted by Tova Wang and Job Serebrov ("Consultants"). The contracts, awarded in September 2005, issued to these Consultants tasked them with defining the terms vote fraud and voter intimidation and providing recommendations how to conduct extensive research in the future on these topics. The contract stated that the Consultants were responsible for "creating a report summarizing the findings of this preliminary research effort and Working Group deliberations. This report should include any recommendations for future EAC research resulting from this effort."

Review Request

The actions taken by the Commission regarding both the voter identification and the vote fraud and voter intimidation research projects have been challenged. Specifically, Members of Congress, the media, and the public have suggested that political motivations may have been part of the Commission's decision making process regarding these two projects. Also, the Commission has been criticized for the amount of taxpayer dollars that were spent on these two projects, as well as how efficiently these projects were managed.

The Commission takes these allegations very seriously, and we request that you fully review the following issues and provide the Commission and the Congress with a report of your findings as soon as possible. The Commission stands ready to assist you in these efforts and will provide whatever information, including memos, emails and other documents you will need. Cooperating with your review will be the staff's top priority.

1. Current Commission policy regarding awarding and managing research contracts.
2. Issuance and management of the vote fraud and voter intimidation contract.
3. Circumstances surrounding the receipt of information from Consultants regarding the vote fraud and voter intimidation project.
4. Circumstances surrounding staff efforts to write a final report for Commission consideration.
5. Identification of staff members who assisted in the editing and collaboration of the final vote fraud and voter intimidation report for Commission consideration.
6. Staff and/or Commissioner collaboration with political entities or other federal agencies regarding the vote fraud and voter intimidation project.
7. Circumstances surrounding Commission discussion and deliberation of final adoption of Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendation for Further Study.
8. Issuance and management of the voter identification contract.
9. Circumstances surrounding the receipt of information from Contractor regarding the voter identification report.
10. Identification of staff members who assisted in the editing, collaboration, and recommendation to the Commission regarding final adoption of the voter identification report.

11. Staff and/or Commissioner collaboration with political entities or other federal agencies regarding the voter identification project.
12. Circumstances surrounding Commission deliberation whether to adopt a final voter identification report.

For your information, I have attached statements and related correspondence from Members of Congress, and a statement issued by the Commission regarding the criticism.

It is our hope that your findings will instruct us how to move forward in a more efficient, effective and transparent manner. The Commission takes its mandates under HAVA very seriously, and this small Commission has an enormous amount of work to conduct, including testing and certifying voting equipment, providing guidance and assistance to election officials, and auditing the proper use of the $3.1 billion that was distributed under HAVA.

We look forward to your findings so that we may take the actions necessary to improve the way we conceive research projects, manage research contracts, and make decisions regarding the final release of data provided to the Commission from a third party.

Interview List

Academics

Mike Alvarez
Steve Ansolobohere
Lorri Minnite
Chandler Davidson

Judges

Justice Tom Glaze, Supreme Court of Arkansas
Justice Charles Talley Wells, Supreme Court of Florida
Justice Evelyn Lundberg Stratton, Supreme Court of Ohio
Justice Pamela B. Minzner, Supreme Court of New Mexico

Election Administrators

Harry VanSickle, Commissioner of Elections, Pennsylvania
Mike McCarthy, Supervisor of Elections, Minnesota
John Ravitz, Board of Elections, New York City
Kevin Kennedy, Director of Elections, Wisconsin
Connie McCormick, Los Angeles County Registrar
Trey Grayson, Kentucky Secretary of State
Rebecca Vigil-Giron, New Mexico Secretary of State

Advocates

Wade Henderson, Executive Director, Leadership Conference on Civil Rights
Donna Brazile, Chair, Democratic National Committee's Voting Rights Institute
Nina Perales, Regional Counsel, Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund
James A. Baker III (DC), Baker-Carter Commission
Sharon Priest (AR), former Secretary of State of Arkansas, Baker-Carter Commission
Robin DeJarnette, Executive Director, American Center for Voting Rights

Election Lawyers

Laughlin McDonald, ACLU Voting Rights Project
Wendy Weiser, Brennan Center
Joseph Sandler, Sandler, Reif & Young
Joseph Rich, former head of the Voting Section, DOJ

James Bopp, Bopp, Coleson & Bostrom
Pat Rogers, Modrall, Sperling, Roehl, Harris and Sisk, P.A.
Colleen McAndrews, Bell, McAndrews, Hiltachk, & Davidson
Charles Bell Jr., Bell, McAndrews, Hiltachk, & Davidson

Attorneys involved in the Georgia, Indiana, and Arizona Litigation

Georgia

Thurbert Baker, Georgia Attorney General (Defendants)
Laughlin McDonald and Danny Levitas, ACLU of Georgia (Plaintiffs)

Indiana

Bill Groth, Fillenwarth, Dennerline, Groth & Towe (Plaintiffs)

Thomas M. Fisher, Esq. and Douglas J. Webber, Esq. Indiana Attorney General's Office
(Defendants)

Arizona

Steve Reyes and Nina Perales, MALDEF (Plaintiffs)
Mary O'Grady, Arizona Assistant Attorney General

SUMMARY OF INFO FROM INTERVIEWS
PRELIMINARY VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION STUDY

---

Voter Suppression & Intimidation:

- Voter suppression efforts are sometimes racially based, and sometimes based on partisan considerations
- Hard to know how much vote suppression and intimidation is taking place because it depends on one's definition of the terms – they are used very loosely by some people. Many instances of what some people refer to as voter intimidation are more unclear now (e.g.; photographing voters at the polls has been called intimidating, but now everyone is at the polls with a camera). It is hard to know when something is intimidation and it is difficult to show that it was an act of intimidation
- The fact that both parties are engaging in these tactics now makes it more complicated. It makes it difficult to point the finger at any one side.
- Some advocates assert that, given the additional resources and latitude given to the DOJ enforcement of acts such as double voting and noncitizen voting, there should be an equal commitment to enforcement of acts of intimidation and suppression cases.
- Examples:
  - spreading of false information, such as phone calls, flyers, and radio ads that intentionally mislead as to voting procedures, such as claiming that if you do not have identification, you cannot vote, and providing false dates for the election
  - Observers with cameras, which people associate with potential political retribution or even violence
  - Intimidating police presence at the polls
  - open hostility by poll workers toward minorities (racial and language), or poll workers asking intimidating questions;
  - groups of officious-looking poll watchers at the poll sites who seem to be some sort of authority looking for wrongdoing;
  - challenges
    - There are cases where challenger laws have been beneficial and where they have been abused (Brennan is currently working on developing a model challenger law)
    - No way to determine whether a challenge is in good or bad faith, and there is little penalty for making a bad faith challenge. The fact that there are no checks on the challenges at the precinct level, or even a requirement of concurrence from an opposing party challenger leads to the concern that challenge process will be abused. The voter on the other hand, will need to get majority approval of county election board members to defeat the challenge.
    - Especially in jurisdictions that authorize challenges, the use of challenge lists and challengers goes beyond partisanship to racial suppression and intimidation
  - instances where civic groups and church groups intimidate members to vote in a specific manner, not for reward, but under threat of being ostracized or even telling them they will go to hell.(AR, KY)
  - moving poll sites
  - having Indians vote at polling places staffed by non-Indians often results in incidents of disrespect towards Native voters, judges aren't familiar with Indian last names and are more dismissive of solving discrepancies with native voters
  - intimidation at the poll sites in court houses. Many voters are afraid of the county judges or county employees and therefore will not vote. They justifiably believe their ballots will be opened by these employees to see who they voted for, and if they voted against the county people, retribution might ensue. (AR)

Fraud in Voting:

NOTE: Many interviewees appear to have made claims regarding the quantity and type of voting fraud based on incomplete data, their personal experience, or their impressions (e.g.; voting fraud has been confined to absentee ballots; there is no in person assumption of others' voter identities to vote).

SUMMARY OF INFO FROM INTERVIEWS
PRELIMINARY VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION STUDY

---

- The most commonly cited example of voting fraud mentioned was absentee ballot fraud (e.g.; vote selling involving absentee ballots, the filling out of absentee ballots en masse, people at nursing homes filling out the ballots of residents, and union leaders getting members to vote a certain way by absentee ballot).
- Many assert that impersonation, or polling place fraud, is probably the least frequent type because:
  - impersonation fraud is more likely to be caught and is therefore not worth the risk
  - unlike in an absentee situation, actual poll workers are present to disrupt impersonation fraud, for instance, by catching the same individual voting twice
  - if one votes in the name of another voter, and that voter shows up at the polls, the fraud will be discovered
  - one half to one quarter of the time the person will be caught (there is a chance the pollworker will have personal knowledge of the person, Georgia Secretary of State Cathy Cox has mentioned that there are many opportunities for discovery of in person fraud as well).
  - deterrent is that it's a felony, and that one person voting twice is not an effective way to influence an election. One would need to get a lot of people involved for it to work
- Vote buying still occurs and, in some cases, it is hard to distinguish between intimidation and vote buying.
- Tampering with ballots in transit between poll and election office is a concern (AR)

Voter Registration:

- Some assert that registration fraud is the major issue (esp unsupervised voter registration drives by political parties and advocacy groups that pay workers to register voters)
- Some assert that various groups abuse the existence of list deadwood to make claims about fraudulent voting.
- Some assert that when compiling such lists and doing comparisons, which are used as the basis for challenges, sound statistical methods must be utilized, and often are not. Matching protocols without faulty assumptions will have a 4 percent to 35 percent error rate—that's simply the nature of database work. Private industry has been working on improving this for years.
- If someone is on a voter list twice, that does not mean that voter has voted twice.
- Many problems will be addressed by the statewide database required under HAVA

Enforcement:

- States vary in their authority to intervene in and track voter intimidation-voter suppression and voting fraud cases (e.g.; in AR, enforcement is the responsibility of counties, in IN it is responsibility of State AG).
- Voter fraud and intimidation is difficult to prove. It is very hard to collect the necessary factual evidence to make a case, and doing so is very labor-intensive
- Some believe that voter suppression matters are not pursued formally because often they involve activities that current law does not reach.
- Only two interviewees assert that current state and federal codes seem sufficient for prosecuting fraud, and are not under-enforced (no need for additional laws).
- Some advocacy groups assert that the government does not engage in a sustained investigation of voter suppression matters or pursue any kind of resolution to them. There is a perception that the Department of Justice has never been very aggressive in pursuing cases of vote suppression, intimidation and fraud, and that choices DOJ has made with respect to where they have brought claims do not seem to be based on any systematic analysis of where the biggest problems are.
- Some advocates point out that, once the election is over, civil litigation becomes moot.

SUMMARY OF INFO FROM INTERVIEWS
PRELIMINARY VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION STUDY

---

- The development of a pre-election challenge list targeted at minorities (some claim this has never been pursued, yet Mr. Tanner said the DOJ was able to informally intervene in challenger situations in Florida, Atkinson County, Georgia and in Alabama), long lines due to unequal distribution of voting machines based on race, list purges based on race, unequal application of voter ID rules, and refusal to offer a provisional ballot on the basis of race would be VRA violations.
- DOJ asserts there is a big gap between complaints and what can be substantiated
- DOJ Voting Rights Section - Federal Voting Rights Act only applies to state action, so the section only sues State and local governments – it does not have any enforcement power over individuals. Most often, the section enters into consent agreements with governments that focus on poll worker training, takes steps to restructure how polls are run, and deals with problems on Election Day on the spot. When deciding what to do with the complaint, the section errs on the side of referring it criminally because they do not want civil litigation to complicate a possible criminal case
- DOJ Election Crimes Branch – DOJ is permitted to prosecute whenever there is a candidate for federal office, but can't prosecute everything. Deceptive practices that are committed by individuals and would be a matter for the Public Integrity Section; local government would have to be involved for the voting section to become involved. The problem is asserting federal jurisdiction in non-federal elections. (In U.S. v. McNally, the court ruled that the mail fraud statute does not apply to election fraud. It was through the mail fraud statute that the department had routinely gotten federal jurisdiction over election fraud cases. 18 USC 1346, the congressional effort to "fix" McNally, did not include voter fraud.)
- It is preferable for the federal government to pursue these cases for the following reasons:
  - federal districts draw from a bigger and more diverse jury pool;
  - the DOJ is politically detached; local district attorneys are hamstrung by the need to be re-elected;
  - DOJ has more resources – local prosecutors need to focus on personal and property crimes---fraud cases are too big and too complex for them;
  - DOJ can use the grand jury process as a discovery technique and to test the strength of the case.
- Some assert that election crimes are not high on the priority list of either district attorneys or grand juries; therefore, complaints of election crime very rarely are prosecuted or are indicted by the grand jury.
- Political parties have devoted extraordinary resources into 'smoking out' fraudulent voters

Recommendations Re Laws & Procedures:

- It is important to keep clear who the perpetrators of the fraud are and where the fraud occurs because that effects what the remedy should be.
- Support Senator Barak Obama's bill for combating voter harassment and deceptive practices. (Many jurisdictions do not currently have laws prohibiting voter harassment and deceptive practices.)
- Support a new law that allows the DOJ to bring civil actions for suppression that are not race based, for example, deceptive practices or wholesale challenges to voters in jurisdictions that tend to vote heavily for one party.
- Support a new federal law that allows federal prosecution whenever a federal instrumentality is used, e.g. the mail, federal funding, interstate commerce (DOJ has drafted such legislation, which was introduced but not passed in the early 1990s.)
- Put stronger teeth in the voter fraud laws; step up enforcement against fraud and provide stiffer penalties as current penalties make the risk of committing fraud relatively low
- There should be increased resources dedicated to expanded DOJ monitoring efforts. This might be the best use of resources since monitors and observers act as a deterrent to fraud and intimidation.
- Some advocate that all election fraud and intimidation complaints should be referred to the State Attorney General's Office to circumvent the problem of local political prosecutions. The

SUMMARY OF INFO FROM INTERVIEWS
PRELIMINARY VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION STUDY

---

Attorney General should take more responsibility for complaints of fraud because at the local level, politics interferes

- Some advocate greater resources for district attorneys. In addition, during election time, there should be an attorney in the DA's office who is designated to handle election prosecution
- Would be useful to have recommendations for prosecutors investigating fraudulent activity
- Better trained poll workers
- Polling places should be open longer, run more professionally but there needs to be fewer of them so that they are staffed by only the best, most professional people (Voting Centers).
- Move elections to weekends. This would involve more people acting as poll workers who would be much more careful about what was going on.
- A day should be given off of work without counting as a vacation day so that better poll workers are available.
- Early voting at the clerk's office is good because the people there know what they are doing. People would be unlikely to commit fraud at the clerk's office. This should be expanded to other polling places in addition to that of the county clerk.
- Many assert that the best defense against fraud will be better voter lists.
  - States should be urged to implement statewide voter lists in accordance with the Help America Vote Act ("HAVA"), the election reform law enacted by Congress in 2002 following the Florida debacle
  - Linking voter registration databases across states may be a way to see if people who are registered twice are in fact voting twice
  - New legislation or regulations are needed to provide clear guidance and standards for generating voter lists and purging voters, otherwise states could wrongfully disenfranchise eligible voters; purging must be done in a manner that uses the best databases, and looks at only the most relevant information
  - The process for preventing ineligible ex-felons from casting ballots needs to be improved
  - statewide registration databases should be linked to social service agency databases
- Challenge laws need to be reformed, especially ones that allow for pre-election mass challenges with no real basis. There is no one size fits all model for challenger legislation, but some bad models involving hurdles for voters lead to abuse and should be reformed. There should be room for poll workers to challenge fraudulent voters, but not for abuse. (KY has list of defined reasons for which they can challenge a voter, such as residency, and the challengers must also fill out paperwork to conduct a challenge) Last minute challenges should not be permitted
- False information campaigns should be combated with greater voter education, the media could do more to provide information about what is legal and what is illegal
- Improve the protective zone around polling places: the further vote suppressers can keep people away from the polls, the better.
- States should be encouraged to:
  - codify into law uniform and clear published standards for voter registration, challenges, voter ID, poll worker training, use and counting of provisional votes, the distribution of voting equipment and the assignment of official pollworkers among precincts, to ensure adequate and nondiscriminatory access
  - standardize forms
  - modify forms and procedures based on feedback from prosecutors
- Ensure good security procedures for the tabulation process and more transparency in the vote counting process
- Conduct post-election audits
- Many advocate eliminating "no excuse" absentee voting.
- Some recommend reducing partisanship in election administration, but others are skeptical of the feasibility of this

SUMMARY OF INFO FROM INTERVIEWS
PRELIMINARY VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION STUDY

---

- Some strongly recommend requiring voter ID, while others strongly oppose it as a voter suppression tactic, asserting that states should not adopt requirements that voters show identification at the polls, beyond those already required by federal law (requiring that identification be shown only by first time voters who did not show identification when registering.) and that states could use signature comparisons.
- Political parties should monitor the processing of voter registrations and purging of registered by local election authorities on an ongoing basis to ensure the timely processing of registrations and changes, including both newly registered voters and voters who move within a jurisdiction or the state, and the Party should ask state Attorneys General to take action where necessary to force the timely updating of voter lists or to challenge, unlawful purges and other improper list maintenance practices.

Future Study Recommendations:

- Just because there was no prosecution, does not mean there was no vote fraud; very hard to come up with a measure of voter fraud short of prosecution
- EAC should conduct a survey of the general public that asks whether they have committed certain acts or been subjected to any incidents of fraud or intimidation. This would require using a very large sample, and we would need to employ the services of an expert in survey data
- EAC should work with the Census Bureau to have them ask different, additional questions in their Voter Population Surveys
- EAC should talk to private election lawyers

August 2005

CURRICULUM VITAE

NAME: Chandler Davidson

TITLE: Research Professor, Department of Sociology,
Radoslav Tsanoff Professor of Public Policy Emeritus

ADDRESS: Department of Sociology MS 28
Rice University
6100 South Main Street
Houston, Texas 77005-1892

PHONE NUMBERS: 713-348-3490
[REDACTED]

FAX NUMBER: 713-348-5296

DATE OF BIRTH: 13 May 1936

EDUCATION:

|                      |       |      |
|----------------------|-------|------|
| University of Texas  | B.A.  | 1961 |
| Princeton University | M.A.  | 1966 |
| Princeton University | Ph.D. | 1969 |

MILITARY SERVICE: U.S. Navy (Honorable Discharge, 1962)

TEACHING EXPERIENCE:

- 1966-1968 Instructor, Rice University
- 1968-1973 Assistant Professor, Rice University
- 1973-1983 Associate Professor with tenure, Rice University
- 1983-2003 Professor, Rice University
- 2003- Professor Emeritus, Research Professor

HONORS:

- Senior Honors Program, Dept. of Philosophy, University of Texas, 1960-61
- Undergraduate Philosophy Scholarship, University of Texas, 1960-61

010885

Phi Beta Kappa, University of Texas, 1961
Fulbright Scholar, University of Poitiers, Faculté des Lettres, 1961-62
Woodrow Wilson Fellow, Princeton University, 1963-64
Brown College (Rice University), Teaching Excellence Award in the Humanities 1969-70
Outstanding Texas author, 1972, Theta Sigma Phi, Austin Professional Chapter of Women in Communications (award given for Biracial Politics).
Research Fellow, National Endowment for the Humanities, 1976-77
Rice University Provost Lecturer, 1985
Controversies in Minority Voting, co-edited with Bernard Grofman, chosen as an Outstanding Book on Human Rights in the United States by the Gustavus
Myers Center for the Study of Human Rights, 1993
Quiet Revolution in the South, co-edited with Bernard Grofman, chosen as the winner of the Richard F. Fenno Prize awarded annually by the Legislative Studies section of the American Political Science Association for the best book in legislative studies published in the previous year, 1995
Ally Award, Center for the Healing of Racism (Houston), 1996
George R. Brown Award for Superior Teaching, Rice University, 1997, 1999, 2000, 2002
George R. Brown Award for Excellence in Teaching, Rice University, 1998
Philosophical Society of Texas, 1998-
Minority Vote Dilution named to Howard University Press Classic Editions
Library Series, 2004

ADVISORY PANELS, COMMISSIONS

Voting Rights Research Advisory Board, University of California, Berkeley, 2004-
National Commission on the Voting Rights Act, 2005-

BIOGRAPHICAL ENTRIES:

Who's Who in America
Who's Who in The Southwest
Who's Who in American Education

JOINT APPOINTMENTS:

Professor, Department of Political Science, Rice University (1997-2003)

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES AND MEMBERSHIPS:

American Political Science Association
American Association of University Professors
Advisory Committee, Democracy, Diversity, and Voice (The Democracy Collaborative, University of Maryland)

SELECTED ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE:

- 1973-75 Chair, University Library Committee
- 1977-78 President, Rice Chapter, American Association of University Professors
- 1979-83 Chair, Department of Sociology
- 1986-89 Chair, Department of Sociology
- 1987-88 Chair, Rice Task Force on Substance Abuse
- 1988 Chair, Search Committee, Director of Office of Minority Affairs
- 1988-90 Co-founder and first coordinator of interdisciplinary teaching team for "Intellectual Foundations of the Social Sciences," core curriculum course
- 1993-96 Chair, Committee on Undergraduate Admission
- 1995-2003 Chair, Department of Sociology
- 1997 Chair, President's Ad Hoc Committee to Revise Faculty Dismissal Policy
- 1999-00 Chair, Committee on Teaching
- 1998-02 Chair, Inter-institutional Search Committee, University of Texas School of Public Health and Rice University Department of Sociology
- 2002-03 Chair, Athletic Subcommittee of Faculty Council

AREAS OF SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY:

- Politics and Society
- Social Stratification
- Race and Ethnic Relations
- Electoral Behavior
- Texas Politics
- Minority Voting Rights

EXTERNAL RESEARCH SUPPORT:

- National Endowment for the Humanities, full salary support for the year (1976-77)
- National Science Foundation, $231,331 grant, "Collaborative Research on the Implementation and Effects of the 1965 Voting Rights Act," co-principal investigator with Bernard Grofman, University of California at Irvine (1988-92)
- National Science Foundation Law and Social Sciences Program, $8,500 grant, "Supplementary Grant for Collaborative Research on the Voting Rights Act: The Effects of Changing Electoral Systems on the Election of Women" (NSF SES #88-09329), co-principal investigator with Bernard Grofman and Susan Welch (1989-90).
- Rockefeller Foundation, $50,000 grant, "A Conference on the Voting Rights Act: A Twenty-five Year Perspective," with Thomas Mann and Bernard Grofman, under the auspices of the Brookings Institution (1989-90).

Ford Foundation, $6,000 grant. "Newspaper Data Base on 1990s Redistricting," Bernard Grofman, principal investigator (1991-93).

CONGRESSIONAL TESTIMONY

"Prepared statement of Chandler Davidson, Chair, Department of Sociology, Rice University, Houston, Tex." Voting Rights Act: Hearings before the Subcommittee on the Constitution of the Committee on the Judiciary, United States Senate (Volume 2), Serial No. J-97-92; Washington, D.C.: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1983, pp. 293-303.

"Voting Rights Roundtable," Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights, Judiciary Committee, U.S. House of Representatives, May 25, 1994, invited participant.

U. S. SUPREME COURT CITATIONS OF PUBLICATIONS

Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 106 S. Ct. 2752 (1986).

Shaw v. Reno, 509 U.S. 630, 113 S. Ct. 2816 (1993).

Johnson v. De Grandy, 512 U.S. 997, 114 S. Ct. 2647 (1994).

Miller v. Johnson, 515 U.S. 900, 115 S. Ct. 2475 (1995).

Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 116 S. Ct. 1941 (1996).

Shaw v. Hunt, 517 U.S. 899, 116 S. Ct. 1896 (1996).

Abrams v. Johnson, 521 U.S. 74, 117 S. Ct. 1925 (1997).

PUBLICATIONS:

I. Intended Primarily for a Professional Audience

Books:

Biracial Politics: Conflict and Coalition in the Metropolitan South, Louisiana State University Press, 1972.

Minority Vote Dilution (editor), Howard University Press, 1984 (paperback ed., 1989).

Race and Class in Texas Politics, Princeton University Press, 1990 (paperback ed. 1992).

Controversies in Minority Voting: The Voting Rights Act in Perspective (ed. with Bernard Grofman), The Brookings Institution, 1992 (hardcover and paperback).

Quiet Revolution in the South: The Impact of the Voting Rights Act, 1965-1990 (ed. with Bernard Grofman), Princeton University Press, 1994 (hardcover and paperback).

Commissioned Reports:

Republican Ballot Security Programs: Vote Protection or Minority Vote Suppression—or Both? in co-authorship with Tanya Dunlap, Gale Kenny, and Benjamin Wise, Center for Voting Rights and Protection, Washington, D.C. (2004).

Articles and Book Chapters:

- "A Summer Enrichment Program for Black Pre-Medical students," in co-authorship with Daniel Creson, M.D., Texas Reports on Biology and Medicine, 29 (1971), 443-50.
- "Houston Elects a Mayor," in co-authorship with Douglas Longshore, New South: A Quarterly Journal of Southern Affairs, 27 (1972), 47-61.
- "Ethnic Attitudes as a Basis for Minority Cooperation in a Southwestern Metropolis," in co-authorship with Charles Gaitz, Social Science Quarterly, 22 (1974), 738-48.
- "Are the Poor Different?," in co-authorship with Charles Gaitz, Social Problems, 22 (1974), 230-45.
- "Variations in Gender Roles Among Classes," in co-authorship with Virginia Davidson, M.D., Sex Roles: A Journal of Research, 3 (1977), 459-67.
- "At-Large Elections and Minority Representation," Social Science Quarterly, 60 (1979), 337-38.
- "The Effects of At-Large Elections on Minority Representation: A Review of Historical and Recent Evidence," in co-authorship with George Korbel, Journal of Politics, 43 (1981), 982-1005.
- "Reforming a Reform," in Merle Black and John Shelton Reed (eds.), Perspectives on the American South, London, New York, Paris: Gordon and Breach Science Publishers, 1981, 143-49.
- "Houston: The City Where the Business of Government is Business," in Wendell Bedichek and Neal Tannahill (eds.), Public Policy in Texas, Glenview, Ill.: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1982, 275-88.
- "The Democrats," in Wendell Bedichek and Neal Tannahill (eds.), Public Policy in Texas, Glenview, Ill.: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1982, 160-70.
- "Carter Wesley," in Rayford Logan and Jeremy Townsend (eds.), The Dictionary of American Negro Biography, New York and London: W. W. Norton and Company, 1983, 639-40.
- "Minority Vote Dilution: An Overview," in Chandler Davidson (ed.), Minority Vote Dilution, Washington, D.C.: Howard University Press, 1984, 1-23.
- "Nonpartisan Slating Groups in an At-Large Setting," in co-authorship with Luis Fraga, in Chandler Davidson, Minority Vote Dilution, Washington, D.C.: Howard University Press, 1984, 119-43.
- "Ethnic Jokes: An Introduction to Race and Nationality," Teaching Sociology, 15 (1987), 296-302.
- "Slating Groups as Parties in a 'Nonpartisan' Setting," in co-authorship with Luis Fraga, Western Political Quarterly, 41 (1988), 373-90.
- "The Voting Rights Act: A Brief History," in Grofman and Davidson (eds.), Controversies in Minority Voting (1992), 7-51.

- "Postscript: What is the Best Route to a Color-Blind Society?", with B. Grofman, in Grofman and Davidson (eds.), Controversies in Minority Voting (1992), 300-17.
- "The Voting Rights Act: Protecting the Rights of Racial and Language Minorities in the Electoral Process" (Introduction to special issue of journal on the Voting Rights Act), Chicano-Latino Law Review, 13 (1993), 1-14.
- "Editors' Introduction" (in co-authorship with B. Grofman), in Davidson and Grofman (eds.), Quiet Revolution in the South (1994), 3-17.
- "The Recent Evolution of Voting Rights Law Affecting Racial and Language Minorities," in Davidson and Grofman (eds.), Quiet Revolution in the South (1994), 21-37.
- "Texas" (with R. Brischetto, D. Richards, and B. Grofman), in Davidson and Grofman (eds.), Quiet Revolution in the South (1994), 233-70.
- "The Effect of Municipal Election Structure on Black Representation in Eight Southern States," (with B. Grofman) in Davidson and Grofman (eds.), Quiet Revolution in the South (1994), 301-34.
- "The Voting Rights Act and the Second Reconstruction" (with B. Grofman) in Davidson and Grofman (eds.), Quiet Revolution in the South (1994), 378-87.
- "African Americans and Politics," The New Handbook of Texas (1996). Vol. 1, 51-55.
- "Voting Rights Act of 1965 and its Amendments," in Leonard W. Levy and Kenneth L. Karst, eds., Supplement II, Encyclopedia of the American Constitution, 2d. ed. (2000) 2813-14.
- "Race and Voting," in Leonard W. Levy and Kenneth L. Karst, eds., Supplement II, Encyclopedia of the American Constitution, 2d. ed. (2000) 2093-94.
- "White Gerrymandering of Black Voters: A Response to Professor Everett," North Carolina Law Review 79 (2001), 1333-43.

Work in Preparation:

Report commissioned by the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law (Washington, D.C.) on the status of minority voting rights since the last extension of the non-permanent features of the Voting Rights Act.

II. Intended Primarily for a General Audience

Articles:

- "The Oil Patch," Harper's (August, 1964), 41-46.
- "Our 'Dirty War' in Vietnam," The Nation (November 2, 1964), 299-303.
- "A Case for Busing," The Texas Observer (July 16, 1971), 12-14.
- "Stalking the White Working Class," Dissent (Fall, 1972), 595-601.
- "Reply to Professor Lipset," Dissent (Winter, 1973), 128.
- "Wonder Bread and Hog Jowls: New Politics in the Old South," Dissent (September 29, 1974), 269-72.
- "The Texans' and Other Myths," The Texas Observer (June 18, 1976), 3-5.

- "The Culture of Shiftlessness," Dissent (Fall, 1976), 349-56.
- "A Night of Violence," The Texas Observer (September 9, 1977), 19-21.
- "Women and Minorities at Large," Houston Breakthrough (October, 1977), 1, 31.
- "Interview with Billie Carr," Houston Breakthrough (April, 1978), 1.
- "The Privileged Ones," The Texas Observer (June 9, 1978) 16-19.
- "Of That Time, of This Place," The Texas Observer (Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Edition) (December 28, 1979), 60-73.
- "In Texas, Electoral Changes," New York Times, Op-Ed Essay, (February 23, 1980).
- "A Painfully Narrow Set of Options," The Texas Observer (October 17, 1980), 3-14.
- "Beware No-pass, No-Play Red Herrings," Houston Post, Op-Ed Essay (June 3, 1985), B3.
- "Numbers Behind the Numbers in Black Progress," Houston Post, Op-Ed Essay (March 14, 1987), B3.
- "Texas judges can be elected without diluting ethnic vote," Houston Post, Op-Ed Essay (December 3, 1989), C3.
- "Lack of knowledge may top list of reasons babies are dying here," Houston Post (September 15, 1991), C-3 (with Victoria Soto).
- "The Color Line Reconsidered" (review essay of three books: Arthur Ashe, Days of Grace; John Hope Franklin, The Color Line; and Cornel West, Race Matters), The Texas Observer, (September 17, 1993), pp. 18-19.
- "Affirmative Action in Undergraduate Admissions: The Experience at Rice," Reconstruction 2 (1994), 45-54.
- "Voting Rights and the Second Reconstruction: the Rocky Road to the Present . . . and Beyond." Southern Changes, 16 (Winter 1994), 4-7.
- "Affirmative Action in Undergraduate Admissions: The Experience at Rice," Sallyport: The Magazine of Rice University, 52 (Winter 1996), 18-25.
- "Minority Representation in Congress: Reply to Professor Swain" (with Bernard Grofman), Chronicle of Higher Education (November 8, 1996).
- "Vouchers Only Serve to Balkanize Schools," Houston Chronicle Op-Ed Essay (April 21, 1999)

SELECTED PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES:

- "An Introduction to Sociology," ten-week seminar for resident psychiatrists, The University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, 1971.
- Invited response to two papers, Southern Historical Association annual meeting, Atlanta, 1974.
- "Roundtable on Peace Education: Regional Experiences and Resources," Southwestern Social Science Association annual meeting, San Antonio, 1975.
- "The Culture of Poverty and the Culture of Wealth," paper, Southwestern Social Science Association annual meeting, Dallas, 1976.

- Charter member, Board of Directors, Houston Metropolitan Research Center, Houston Public Library, 1977.
- "The Influence of Money on Elections: The Texas Case," jointly authored paper, Southwestern Social Science Association annual meetings, Dallas, 1977.
- "The Struggle for Control of the Democratic Party in Texas," paper, Eastern Sociological Association annual meeting, New York City, 1976.
- "The Mobilization of Bias in Houston City Politics," co-authored paper, Southwestern Social Science Association annual meeting, Houston, 1978.
- "The Political Economy of Contemporary Public Policy," Symposium participant, Department of Government, The University of Texas at Austin, 1978.
- Invited response to two papers, Southern Historical Association annual meeting, Atlanta, 1979.
- "Increasing Opportunities for Political Participation," invited panelist, Texas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, San Antonio, 1979.
- "A Model of Contemporary Houston Politics," paper, Social Sciences Faculty, Houston Community College, 1980.
- "At-Large Elections and Minority-Group Representation," co-authored paper, Texas Southern University Conference on Afro-American Studies, Houston, 1981.
- "At-Large Election Systems and the Dilution of the Black Vote: Historians as Expert Witnesses," panelist, Social Science History Association annual meeting, Nashville, 1981.
- "Minority Politics and Political Cultures," panelist, Southwestern Social Science Association annual meeting, San Antonio, 1982.
- "Continuity and Change in a Sunbelt City: Perspectives on Houston and Survey Research in the 1980s," panel chair, Southeastern Sociological Association Annual Meetings, Houston, 1983.
- "The Social Scientist as Expert Witness," panelist, Southwestern Political Science Association annual meetings, Houston, 1983.
- "Minority Vote Dilution," panel chair, Southern Political Science Association Annual Meeting, Birmingham, 1983.
- "Power, Influence, and Public Policy in Houston," panelist, Southwestern Political Science Association annual meeting, Houston, 1985.
- "Nonpartisan Slating Groups and Minority Representation," paper, American Political Science Association annual meeting, New Orleans, 1985.
- "Partisans in Sheep's Clothing: The Ambiguous Legacy of Municipal Reform," Rice University Provost's Lecture Series, 1985.
- "The Impact of the Voting Rights Act of 1965," co-organizer (with Bernard Grofman) planning conference, Rice University, 1988.
- "Municipal and Special District Elections," panelist, Southwestern Political Science Association annual meetings, 1988.

- "V. O. Key's Vision of Texas Politics," presentation , symposium on "The World of Texas Politics," sponsored by The Houston Post and the LBJ School of Public Affairs, Houston, 1988.
- "Texas Politics," invited panelist, Lee College Symposium on "Texas Politics in Transition," Baytown, 1988
- "Race and Class in Texas Politics," paper, Conference on Social Class, University of Kansas, 1989.
- "Race and Class in Texas Politics," paper, American Sociological Association, San Francisco, 1989.
- "The Impact of the Voting Rights Act," panel chair, American Political Science Association, Atlanta, 1989.
- "The Voting and Campaign Process," panel moderator, Symposium on Democracy in the 1990s: Voting in the United States, Lyndon Baines Johnson School of Public Affairs, Austin, 1990.
- "The Voting Rights Act and the Transformation of Urban Politics," panel chair, Western Political Science Association, Seattle, March 1991.
- "What is Election Discrimination? Argument and Proof in Voting Rights Cases," panelist, American Association of Black Political Scientists annual meeting, Houston, March 1992.
- "Recent Controversies over The Voting Rights Act," invited lecture, Seminar on Voting Rights, University of San Francisco School of Law, San Francisco, March 1992.
- "1990s Redistricting," panelist, Western Political Science Association annual meeting, San Francisco, March 1992.
- "Regulating the Electoral Process," invited panelist, Texas Law Review Symposium, University of Texas Law School, Austin, Texas, 1992.
- "The Impact of the Voting Rights Act in the South: The First Twenty-five Years," invited panelist, Southern Regional Council Voting Rights Conference, Atlanta, 1993.
- "Voting Rights After Shaw v. Reno," invited panelist, American Political Science Association annual meeting, New York City, 1994.
- "Response to Gary Orfield," invited panelist on "Educational Policy," Conference on the Impact of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, National Judicial Center, Washington, D.C., 1994.
- "Diversity and Democracy: Creating the Common Good," invited paper, 75th Anniversary of the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta, 1994.
- "The Voting Rights Act: The Accomplishments." Panel moderator, Conference on the Voting Rights Act, Thurgood Marshall School of Law, Texas Southern University, 1995.
- "Voting Rights in the Wake of Recent Supreme Court Decisions," panel moderator, American Political Science Association annual meeting, Chicago, 1995.
- "The Media and the Quiet Revolution: Public Opinion and Voting Rights," invited paper, Conference on "The Voting Rights After Thirty Years," co-sponsored

- by the Southern Regional Council and the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, New Orleans, 1995.
- "Mechanisms of Ethnic/Racial Conflict Resolution," invited panelist, "E Pluribus Unum" conference, Stanford University, 1996.
- "Tenth Anniversary Roundtable on Voting Rights Issues," invited panelist, The Citadel Symposium on Southern Politics, Charleston, March 7-8, 1996.
- "The Rise of Racial Gerrymandering in Texas," invited public lecture, Lamar University, Beaumont, March 25, 1997.
- "Contemporary Districting Challenges and Opportunities," invited panelist, conference on "Geographic Information Systems and Political Redistricting," National Center for Geographic Information and Analysis, SUNY at Buffalo, Oct. 26, 1997.
- "Perspectives on the 2000 Redistricting," invited panelist, Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies, Washington, D.C. , July 9, 1998.
- "Author Meets Critics," invited panelist responding to Morgan Kousser's Color Blind Injustice, Southern Sociological Society, Nashville, April 9, 1999.
- "Race and Redistricting," invited paper, Conference on "African Americans: Research and Policy Perspectives at the Turn of the Century," Stanford University, November 11-13, 1999.
- "And Then You Are Sued: Examining the Role of the U.S. Department of Justice and the Federal Courts in the Fifth Wave of Redistricting Since the Passage of the Voting Rights Act," invited chair, Conference on "Power Shift: Redrawing America's Political Boundaries After the 2000 Elections and Census," University of Houston Center for Public Policy, December 8, 2000.
- "White Gerrymandering of Black Voters: A Response to Professor Everett," invited paper, "Democracy in a New America: A Symposium," sponsored by the University of North Carolina Law Review, Chapel Hill, February 2001.
- "Urban Disfranchisement," invited organizer and chair, plenary session of American Sociological Association annual meeting, Anaheim, California, August 20, 2001.
- "Author Meets Critics: S.M. Lipset and Gary Marks's Why There is No Socialism in the United States," organizer of panel, American Sociological Association annual meeting, Anaheim, California, August 18-21, 2001.
- Invited participant, "The Future of the Voting Rights Act," a conference at Columbia University, September 20-21, 2003.
- Invited participant, "Protecting Democracy: Defining the Research Agenda for the 2007 Voting Rights Act Reauthorization," Harvard Civil Rights Project, Harvard University, May 9-12, 2004.
- Invited participant, "Protecting Our Voices: The Significance of the Voting Rights Act," June 17-18, 2004, Washington, D.C. (sponsored by the Mexican American Legal Defense Fund, the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.)

Invited participant, "One Nation with Many Voices," conference on the Voting Rights Act and minority language provisions, Arizona State University, Phoenix, April 6, 2005.

Invited panelist, "Lessons From the Past, Prospects for the Future: Honoring the 40th Anniversary of the Voting Rights Act of 1965," Yale University, April 21-23, 2005.

Invited panelist, "Past and Prologue," National Conference Commemorating the 40th Anniversary of the Voting Rights Act of 1965" (Sponsored by the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights, LDF, MALDEF, ACLU, and Native American Rights Fund), July 25-26, 2005, Washington, D.C.

CONSULTING:

- 1971 Sparks v. Griffin, U.S. District Court, Marshall, Texas. Expert witness for plaintiffs, black school teachers who were fired when Upshur Independent School District was required to desegregate.
- 1973-74 USA v. Griggs, U.S. District Court, Gainesville, Florida. Consultant to defendants in their efforts to demonstrate that the jury selection procedure in Florida was unfair.
- 1973-74 Sabala v. Western Gillette, Inc. and Ramirez v. Western Gillette, Inc., U.S. District Court, Houston, Texas (Case Nos. 71-H-961 and 71-H-1336). Consultant to plaintiffs in class-action employment discrimination suit.
- 1975-76 Greater Houston Civic Council v. Mann, U.S. District Court, Houston (Case No. 73-H-1650). Expert witness for plaintiffs, who alleged minority vote dilution as a result of the City of Houston's at-large election system.
- 1978 Three-judge panel, U.S. District Court, Houston. Expert witness for plaintiffs-intervenors attempting to enjoin the City of Houston from holding elections until it complied with Section 5 pre-clearance requirements of the Voting Rights Act.
- 1979-80 Whitfield v. City of Taylor, Texas U.S. District Court, Austin, Texas (Case No. A-79-CA-0015). Consultant to plaintiffs, who alleged unconstitutional dilution of their vote.
- 1979-83 Jones v. City of Lubbock, Texas, U.S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit, Unit A (No. 79-2744). Consultant and expert witness for plaintiffs-appellants, who alleged unconstitutional dilution of their votes.

- 1979-86 Velasquez v. City of Abilene, Texas, U.S. District Court, Abilene (Case No. CA-1-80-57). Consultant and expert witness for plaintiffs, who alleged unconstitutional dilution of their votes.
- 1980 City of Port Arthur, Texas v. United States of America, U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia (Case No. 80-064P). Expert witness for USA, who contended that a consolidation election by the city illegally diluted the votes of minorities under the Voting Rights Act.
- 1980-81 Oxford Place Welfare Rights Organization v. Jerome Chapman, U.S. District Court, Houston (Case No. 79-H-1283). Consultant to plaintiffs, welfare recipients who alleged that long delays in receipt of their welfare payments were unconstitutional.
- 1981 At the request of the Legal Aid Society of Central Texas, analyzed voting data for the City of Austin, Texas, relevant to a preclearance submission the city made to the Justice Department under the Voting Rights Act.
- 1981 Brown v. Board of School Commissioners of Mobile County, U.S. District Court, Mobile, Alabama (Case No. CV-75-298-P). Expert witness for USA, intervenors in the rehearing of a vote-dilution suit, remanded by the Supreme Court.
- 1981 Bolden v. City of Mobile, U.S. District Court, Mobile, Alabama (Case No. 75-297-P). Expert witness for plaintiffs in the rehearing of a vote-dilution case, remanded by the Supreme Court.
- 1981 Walton v. Henson, U.S. District Court, Paris, Texas (Case No. P-80-39-CA). Expert witness for plaintiffs, who alleged unconstitutional dilution of their votes.
- 1981 Seaman v. Upham. Three-judge panel, U.S. District Court, Austin, Texas (Case No. P-81-49-CA). Expert witness for plaintiffs, who alleged unconstitutional dilution of their votes.
- 1982 Texas v. Martin, 104th District Court of Taylor County, Texas. Consultant to defendant, Dee Dee Martin, indicted on capital murder charges, who claimed the jury selection system discriminated against blacks.
- 1982 Harris v. City of Hopewell, Virginia, U.S. District Court, Richmond, Virginia (Case No. 82-0036-R). Consultant to plaintiffs, who claimed unconstitutional dilution of their votes.

- 1983-84 Kirksey v. Danks, Mayor of Jackson, Mississippi, U.S. District Court, Jackson (Civil Action No. J83-0077-C). Expert witness for plaintiffs, who claimed dilution of their votes under Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.
- 1985 Sumbry v. Russell County, Alabama. Consultant to plaintiffs, who claimed dilution of their voting strength under Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.
- 1985 Lee County Branch of the NAACP v. City of Opelika, Alabama, (Case No. 83-7275). Consultant to plaintiffs, who claimed dilution of their voting strength under Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.
- 1985 Tallahassee NAACP v. Leon County, Florida. Consultant to plaintiffs alleging dilution of their votes in county commission elections.
- 1985 Harris v. Graddick, U.S. District Court, Birmingham (C.A. No. 84-T-595-N). Expert witness for plaintiffs alleging that the state of Alabama employed a system for appointing poll officials that denied blacks equal access to the political process.
- 1985-86 LULAC v. Midland Independent School District, U.S. District Court, Midland, Texas (MO-85-CA-001). Expert witness for plaintiffs alleging vote dilution.
- 1985-86 United States of America v. Dallas County (Alabama) Commission, U.S. District Court, Selma (C.A. No. 78-578-H). Expert witness for U.S.A. in case alleging the dilution of minority votes in Dallas County.
- 1986-87 Martin v. Allain, Governor of Mississippi, U.S. District Court, Jackson (C.A. No. J84-0708 (W)) Expert witness for plaintiffs alleging vote dilution.
- 1985-87 McNeil v. City of Springfield, U.S. District Court, Springfield, Ill. (C.A. No. 85-2365). Expert witness for plaintiffs alleging minority vote dilution.
- 1987 Martin v. Allain (see above) consolidated with Kirksey v. Allain, U.S. District Court, Jackson (C.A. No. J85-0960 (W)). Expert witness for plaintiffs.
- 1987 Metropolitan Pittsburgh Crusade for Votes v. City of Pittsburgh (C.A. No. 86-173). Consultant to plaintiffs alleging vote dilution.
- 1988-89 Badillo v. City of Stockton, California (C.A. No. 87-1726 U.S. District Court, Eastern District of California). Consultant to plaintiffs alleging vote dilution.
- 1988-89 Russell Yarbrough v. City of Birmingham, Alabama (C.A. No. CV87-PT-1947-S). Consultant to defendants, a racially-mixed city council elected at large in a system white plaintiffs claimed diluted their votes.

- 1988-89 League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) v. Clements, U.S. District Court, Western District of Texas (No. 88-CA-154) Consultant to plaintiffs alleging vote dilution in multi-member district state judicial elections.
- 1994 Vera v. Richards, U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas (C.A. No. H-94-0227). Expert for State of Texas, which was alleged to have violated the U.S. Constitution in creating majority-minority districts in the 1990s round of congressional redistricting.
- 2004 Center for Voting Rights and Protection, Inc.. Washington, D.C. Director of research on ballot security programs as instruments of minority vote suppression.
- 2004- Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, Washington, D.C. Director of research on the status of minority voting rights in the U.S.; member, National Commission on the Voting Rights Act.

REFERENCES

Bernard Grofman

Professor of Political Science and Adjunct Professor of Economics
School of Social Sciences
University of California, Irvine
3151 Social Science Plaza
Irvine CA 92697-5100
949-824-6394
FAX: 949-824-8762
Past President, Public Choice Society
Fellow, American Academy of Arts and Sciences

Lani Guinier

Bennett Boskey Professor of Law
Harvard Law School
lguinier@law.harvard.edu

J. Gerald Hebert

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Samuel Issacharoff

Harold R. Medina Professor in Procedural Jurisprudence
Columbia Law School
212-854-2527
212-854-7946 (fax)

Pamela S. Karlan
Kenneth and Harle Montgomery Professor of Public Interest Law
Stanford Law School
559 Nathan Abbott Way
Stanford, CA 94305-8610
650-725-4851

Peyton McCrary, Ph.D.
U.S. Department of Justice
Civil Rights Division: Voting Section
950 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20530
202-307-6263

CRAIG DON SANTO MEETING
CRIMINAL DIVISION, PUBLIC INTEGRITY SECTION, US DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

January 13, 2006

Tova Wang's notes

Other contacts:

Cynthia Mitchell, 202-305-4932

Noel Hillman, Chief of Division

We will be receiving by mail the new handbook, the draft mail fraud legislation and the Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Symposia training materials

I. Process and Structure:

- Mr. Donsanto must approve all investigations that go beyond a preliminary stage, all charges, search warrant applications and subpoenas. If a charge seems political, he will reject it. If there is still a dispute, it may be reviewed by the assistant attorney general. Often the department will not bring a case, but will rather refer it to a different law enforcement agency or the voting section.
- Often, a defendant who gets a target letter will ask for a departmental hearing. The defendant's case will be heard by Mr. Donsanto and Ms. Hillman. On occasion, the assistant attorney general will review the case. The department grants such hearings easily because such defendants are likely to provide information about others involved.
- The Department has held four symposia for DEOs and FBI agents since the initiation of the Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Initiative. In 2003, civil rights leaders were invited to make speeches, but were not permitted to take part in the rest of the symposium. All other symposia have been closed to the public. (Peg will be sending us the complete training materials used at those sessions. These are confidential and are the subject of FOIA litigation).
- There are two types of attorneys in the division
  - Prosecutors, who take on cases when the jurisdiction of the section requires it; the US Attorney has recused him or herself; or when the US Attorney is unable to handle the case (most frequent reason)
  - Braintrust attorneys

II. Cases:

Mr. Donsanto provided us with three case lists:

- Open cases (still being investigated) as of January 13, 2006 – confidential
- Election fraud prosecutions and convictions as a result of the Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Initiative October 2002-January 13, 2006
- Cases closed for lack of evidence as of January 13, 2006

010900

If we want more documents related to any case, we must get those documents from the states. The department will not release them to us.

Although the number of election fraud related complaints have not gone up since 2002, nor has the proportion of legitimate to illegitimate complaints of fraud, the number of cases that the department is investigating and the number of indictments the department is pursuing are both up dramatically. {Future query: Is this similarly true in the voting section?}

Since 2002, the department has brought more cases against “alien voters,” felon voters, and double voters than ever before. Previously, cases were only brought when there was a pattern or scheme to corrupt the process. Charges were not brought against individuals – those cases went un-prosecuted.

This change in direction, focus, and level of aggression was by the decision of the Attorney General. The reason for the change was for deterrence purposes.

The department is currently undertaking three pilot projects to determine what works in developing the cases and obtaining convictions; what works with juries in such matters to gain convictions:

1. Felon voters in Milwaukee
2. Alien voters in the Southern District of Florida
  - a. FYI – under 18 USC 611, to prosecute for “alien voting” there is no intent requirement. Conviction can lead to deportation. Nonetheless, the department feels compelled to look at mitigating factors such as was the alien told it was OK to vote, does the alien have a spouse that is a citizen.
3. Double voters in a variety of jurisdictions

The department does not maintain records of the complaints that come in from DEOs, U.S attorneys and others during the election that are not pursued by the department. Mr. Donsanto asserted that U.S. attorneys never initiate frivolous investigations.

III. Process for Making Prosecution Decisions:

Mere suspicion of a crime is insufficient. The division needs enough evidence to suggest a crime to go forward. Much depends on the type of matter and the source. Mr. Donsanto said he “knows it when he sees it.” They will only indict if they are confident of a conviction assuming the worst case scenario – a jury trial.

Political considerations, such as whether the state has a one party system or the party in power controls the means of prosecution and suppresses minority complaints are factors in the decision. Before, the department would leave it to the states. Now, if there is racial animus involved in the case, there is political bias involved, or the prosecutor is not impartial, the department will take it over.

Racial animus is an “aggravating factor” that would lead the department to be more likely to take over the case. This is also because in such a case there is likely to be more federal law involved.

According to the new handbook, the department can take on a case whenever there is a federal candidate on the ballot

IV. Recommendations for Improvements

- Since most fraud takes place in local elections, it needs to be easier to assert federal jurisdiction in non-federal elections. It is preferable for the federal government to pursue these cases for the following reasons:
  - It draws from a bigger and more diverse jury pool
  - The Feds are politically detached
  - Local district attorneys are hamstrung by the need to be re-elected
  - The Feds have more resources – local prosecutors need to focus on personal and property crimes, fraud cases are too big and too complex for them
  - The Feds can use the grand jury process as a discovery technique and to test the strength of the case

In U.S. v. McNally, the court ruled that the mail fraud statute does not apply to election fraud. It was through the mail fraud statute that the department had routinely gotten federal jurisdiction over election fraud cases. 18 USC 1346, the congressional effort to “fix” the decision in the McNally case, did not include voter fraud.

As a result, the department needs a new federal law that allows federal prosecution whenever a federal instrumentality is used, e.g. the mail, federal funding, interstate commerce. The department has drafted such legislation, which was introduced but not passed in the early 1990s.

LORRAINE CAROL MINNITE

Department of Political Science
Barnard College, Columbia University
3009 Broadway, New York, New York 10027
lcm25@columbia.edu
Tel. 212-854-4385

EDUCATION

The Graduate School and University Center of the City University of New York

Ph.D. in Political Science, 2000

Dissertation: "Identity, Voting Rights and the Remapping of Political Representation in New York City"

Honors: Distinction

M.Phil. in Political Science, 1994

Major field: American Politics

Minor field: Public Policy

M.A. in Political Science, 1992

Master's Thesis: "The Ecology of the Underclass: William Julius Wilson and the Chicago School"

Boston University, College of Liberal Arts

B.A. in History, 1983

Area of Concentration: American Civilization

Honors: Cum Laude

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Assistant Professor

Barnard College, Columbia University, January 2000 to present.

Teach undergraduate courses in American politics and urban studies.

Associate Director

The Center for Urban Research and Policy, Columbia University, December 1993 to 2000.

Responsible for the day-to-day management of the Center; wrote grant proposals and helped secure funding from government and private sources for all activities totaling nearly $2,000,000.

Instructor and Research Associate

Metropolitan Studies Department, New York University, Spring 1991.

Designed and taught a core course for undergraduates on the political and economic development of post-war American cities.

Assistant Program Director

Borough of Manhattan Community College, City University of New York, 1987 to 1990.

Assisted the Director in all administrative aspects of the BMCC Summer Immersion Program, a non-traditional, intensive, remedial education program.

Research Assistant and Data Analyst

CUNY Data Service, The Graduate School, City University of New York, 1987 to 1991.

Programmed and analyzed large data sets from the 1980 STF and PUMS (microdata) Census files, and the New York City Housing and Vacancy Surveys.

Research Assistant

Department of Political Science, The Graduate School, City University of New York, 1985 to 1987.

OTHER EMPLOYMENT

Issues Director

The Committee for David N. Dinkins, II, New York City, 1991 to 1993.

Conducted research for Mayor David N. Dinkins' campaign committee on a wide range of public policy issues and problems facing New York City.

Campaign Manager

McCabe for City Council, Brooklyn, New York, 1991.

Organized and administered the successful campaign for the Democratic Party nomination and the New York City Council seat in the 38th Council District.

Union Organizer

District 65/UAW, (AFL-CIO), Northeast Regional Office, Boston, Massachusetts, 1984 to 1985, Summer 1986.

Participated in the planning and implementation of a union organizing campaign; served as editor of union local's newsletter; assisted negotiating committee in contract negotiations.

ACADEMIC AND PROFESSIONAL HONORS

Faculty Fellow, Institute for Social and Economic Research and Policy, Columbia University, 2002-to present

Member, Working Group on New York's Recovery from 9-11, Russell Sage Foundation, 2002 to 2005

Curriculum Development Award, Barnard Project on Diaspora and Migration, 2000

CUNY Graduate School Dissertation Year Fellowship, 1996-1997

CUNY Graduate Assistantship, 1987-1991

Boston University Student Scholarship, 1979-1983 (Dean's List)

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

American Political Science Association

American Sociological Association

Law and Society Association

Urban Affairs Association

COURSES

Taught at Barnard College

American Urban Politics

Contemporary Urban Problems and Solutions

Dynamics of American Politics

Independent Study in American Politics

Political Participation and Democracy

Senior Research Seminar in American Politics

Urban Myths and the American City

Taught at New York University

The Crisis of the Modern American City

Graduate Committees

Examiner, CUNY Graduate Center Ph.D. Program in Political Science, Dissertation Committee, Antoinette Pole, April 2005.

Examiner, Columbia University Ph.D. Program in Political Science, Dissertation Committee, David Park, December 2003

Examiner, CUNY Graduate Center Ph.D. Program in Political Science, Oral Doctoral Exam, John Flateau, December 2000.

Examiner, Columbia University Ph.D. Program in Political Science, Dissertation Committee, Natasha Hritzuk, May 2000

PUBLICATIONS

Journal Articles

"Model Assumptions, and Model Checking in Ecological Regressions," Journal of the Royal Statistical Society 164, Part 1 (2001): 101-118; co-authored with Andrew Gelman, David K. Park, Stephen Ansolabehere, and Phillip N. Price.

Book Chapters

"Outside the Circle: The Impact of Post-9/11 Responses on the Immigrant Communities of New York City," in John H. Mollenkopf, ed., The Politics of the 9/11 Recovery Effort in New York City, New York: Russell Sage Foundation, forthcoming.

"Between Anglo and Black: Asian and Latina/o Political Participation in New York City," in William E. Nelson and Jessica Perez-Monforti, eds., Black and Latino/a Political Development in the United States, Miami: Barnhardt and Ash, in press; co-authored with John Mollenkopf.

"Environmental Risk and Childhood Disease in an Urban Working Class Caribbean Neighborhood," in Barbara Deutsch Lynch and Sherrie L. Bayer, eds., Caribbean Environmental Issues: Beyond Sun and Sand, New Brunswick, NJ: Rutgers University Press, in press; co-authored with Immanuel Ness.

"The Changing Arab New York Community," in Kathleen Benson and Philip M. Kayal, eds., A Community of Many Worlds: Arab Americans in New York City, Syracuse: Syracuse University Press, 2002; co-authored with Louis Abdellatif Cristillo.

"Social Capital, Political Participation and the Urban Community," in Susan Saegert, J. Phillip Thompson, and Mark Warren, eds., Social Capital and Poor Communities, New York: Russell Sage Foundation, 2001; co-authored with Ester R. Fuchs and Robert Y. Shapiro.

"The Political Incorporation of Immigrants in New York," in In Defense of the Alien: Proceedings of the 23rd Annual National Legal Conference on Immigration and Refugee Policy, New York: Center for Migration Studies, 2001; co-authored with Jennifer Holdaway and Ronald Hayduk.

"The Working Families Party," in Immanuel Ness, ed. The Encyclopedia of American Third Parties, Armonk, New York: M.E. Sharpe, Inc., 2000.

"Patterns of Neighborhood Change," in John H. Mollenkopf and Manuel Castells, eds., Dual City: Restructuring New York, New York: Russell Sage, 1991; co-authored with Frank F. DeGiovanni.

Book Reviews

Governing From Below: Urban Regions and the Global Economy by Jefferey M. Sellers, Cambridge University Press, 2002, in Political Science Quarterly Vol. 118, No. 4 (Winter 2003-2004).

Social Class, Politics, and Urban Markets: The Makings of Bias in Policy Outcomes by Herman L. Boschken, Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press, 2002, in The International Journal of Urban and Regional Research, Vol. 27, No. 4 (December 2003).

The Miami Fiscal Crisis: Can a Poor City Regain Prosperity? by Milan J. Dluhy and Howard A. Frank, Westport, Connecticut: Praeger Publishers, 2002, in Political Science Quarterly Vol. 117, No. 4 (Winter 2002-2003).

Research Reports

Securing the Vote: An Analysis of Election Fraud, New York: Demos, A Network for Ideas and Action, 2003; co-authored with David Callahan.

Journalism

"Albany's Making Bad Elections Worse," New York Daily News, New York, August 22, 2004.

UNPUBLISHED PAPERS, PRESENTATIONS AND REPORTS

Conference Participation, Papers and Presentations

"Immigrant Politics in an Age of Terror," paper presented at the 101st Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Washington, D.C., September 1 – September 4, 2005.

Panel Discussant, "Immigrants As Local Political Actors," 100th Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Chicago, September 1–4, 2004.

Invited Lecturer, "Literature of Immigration," New Jersey Council for the Humanities Teacher Institute, Monmouth University, Long Branch, New Jersey, August 5, 2004.

"The Impact of 9/11 on Immigrant Politics in New York, With a Focus on Arab, Muslim, and South Asian Immigrant Communities," Columbia University Seminar on the City, New York City, March 23, 2004.

Invited Participant, "The Impact of Post-9/11 Immigration and Law Enforcement Policies," The Century Foundation, New York City, February 4, 2004.

Workshop Participant, Multi-race Study Group, Harvard CAPS Workshop on Methodologies to Study Immigrant Political Incorporation, Harvard University, Cambridge, October 30-31, 2003.

Invited Lecturer, "Literature of Immigration," New Jersey Council for the Humanities Teacher Institute, Monmouth University, Long Branch, New Jersey, July 10, 2003.

Panelist, "Rebuilding Post-War Iraq: Domestic and International Implications;" Community Forum, Barnard College, New York City, April 21, 2003.

"Political Participation and the Neglected Role of Spatial Form;" paper presented at the 33rd Annual Meeting of the Urban Affairs Association, Cleveland, Ohio, March 27-30, 2003.

Invited Speaker, "Teach-In on Iraq;" Barnard College, New York City, November 8, 2002.

Panelist, "Colloquium on Responding to Violence," in honor of Virginia C. Gildersleeve Lecturer, Jody Williams, Barnard Center for Research on Women, Barnard College, New York City, October 25, 2002.

Panel Moderator, "Who is Brooklyn?" at The Future of Brooklyn Conference, Brooklyn College, June 7, 2002.

"Asian and Latino Participation in New York City: The 2000 Presidential Election," co-authored with John H. Mollenkopf; paper presented at the 97th Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, San Francisco, August 29 – September 2, 2001.

Organizer and Panelist, The Changing Face of New York's Electorate: The Immigrant Vote in 2000 and Beyond, A Panel Discussion and Media Briefing sponsored by the New York Immigration Coalition and Barnard College, New York City, May 2, 2001.

Organizer and Panelist, The Muslim Communities in New York City Project; A One-Day Conference, sponsored by the Center for Urban Research and Policy and the Middle East Institute at the School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, New York City, April 30, 2001.

Panelist, Democratizing New York City; Reimagining City Government, sponsored by the Center for Humanities, CUNY Graduate Center, New York City, March 27, 2001.

Organizer and Panel Moderator, Independent Politics in A Global World, sponsored by the Independent Politics Group, CUNY Graduate Center, New York City, October 6-7, 2000.

"Political Capital and Political Participation," co-authored with Ester R. Fuchs and Robert Y. Shapiro; paper presented at the 96th Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Washington, D.C., August 31 – September 3, 2000.

"The Political Participation of Immigrants in New York," at Immigrant Political Participation in New York City; A One-Day Working Conference, sponsored by the Center for Urban Research/CUNY and the International Center for Migration, Ethnicity, and Citizenship, New York City, June 16, 2000

"The Muslim Community in New York City Project," with Louis Abdellatif Cristillo; Muslims in New York: An Educational Program for Religious Leaders in New York City, seminar on faith traditions in New York; sponsored by the Interfaith Center of New York and the Imans Council of New York, New York City, June 14, 2000.

"The Political Participation of Immigrants in New York," Session VI on "Integration of Immigrants and Their Descendants," Center for Migration Studies 23rd Annual National Legal Conference on Immigration and Refugee Policy, Washington, D.C., March 30-31, 2000.

"The Changing Arab New York Community," with Louis Abdellatif Cristillo; A Community of Many Worlds: Arab Americans in New York City, symposium sponsored by the Museum of the City of New York, New York City, February 5-6, 2000.

"Model Assumptions, and Model Checking in Ecological Regressions," co-authored with Andrew Gelman, Stephen Ansolabehere, Phillip N. Price and David K. Park; paper presented at the Royal Statistical Society conference on the Analysis and Interpretation of Disease Clusters and Ecological Studies, London, December 16-17, 1999.

"The Political Incorporation of Immigrants in New York," co-authored with Jennifer Holdaway and Ronald Hayduk; paper presented at the 95th Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Atlanta, September 1-4, 1999.

"Political Capital and Political Participation," co-authored with Ester R. Fuchs and Robert Y. Shapiro; paper presented at the 58th Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association, Chicago, April 15-17, 1999.

"Racial and Ethnic and Urban/Suburban Differences in Public Opinion and Policy Priorities," co-authored with Ester R. Fuchs, Robert Y. Shapiro, and Gustavo Cano; paper presented at the 58th Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association, Chicago, April 15-17, 1999.

"The Importance of Full Disclosure of Nonresponse Due to Refusals and the Nature of Potential Bias in Phone Surveys," with Robert Y. Shapiro, evening workshop presentation to the New York City chapter of the American Association for Public Opinion Research, New York City, March 9, 1999.

"White, Black and Latino Voter Turnout in the 1993 New York City Mayoral Election: A Comparison of Ecological Regression Techniques and Exit Poll Data," co-authored with David K. Park and Daniel M. Slotwiner; paper presented at the 94th Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Boston, September 4, 1998.

Panel Discussant, "Race, Rights, and American Politics;" panel at the 27th Annual Meeting of the Northeastern Political Science Association and International Studies Association-Northeast, Newark, New Jersey, November 9-11, 1995.

"Assessing the Quality of Political Reform: Redistricting and the Case of New York City," paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the New York State Political Science Association, Albany, New York, April 22, 1994.

Research Reports

The Myth of Voter Fraud, A Report to Demos: A Network for Action and Ideas, May 2002.

Evaluation of the New York Immigration Coalition's '200,000 in 2000: New Americans Pledging to Strengthen Democracy and New York' Initiative, Final Report to the New York Foundation, with John H. Mollenkopf, August 2001.

A Study of Attitudes Among Low-Income Parents Toward Environmental Health Risks and Childhood Disease: The Brooklyn College COPC Survey, with Immanuel Ness, June 2001.

Political Participation and Political Representation in New York City; With a Special Focus on Latino New Yorkers, Report of the Columbia University/Hispanic Education and Legal Fund Opinion Research Project, co-authored with Ester R. Fuchs and Robert Y. Shapiro, December 1997.

RESEARCH GRANTS

Prior Grants

Principal Investigator, "2002 New Americans Exit Poll," December 2002 to March 2003 ($1,800). Funded by the Faculty Research Fund of Barnard College.

Principal Investigator, "Evaluation of the New York Immigration Coalition's '200,000 in 2000' Campaign," July 2000 to July 2001 ($40,000). Barnard College, Columbia University. Funded by the New York Foundation.

Co-Principal Investigator, "Muslim Communities in New York City," July 1998 to July 2001 ($350,000). The Center for Urban Research and Policy, Columbia University. Funded by the Ford Foundation.

Co-Principal Investigator, "New York State and City Public Opinion Research Project," May 1997 to November 1998 ($100,000). The Center for Urban Research and Policy, Columbia University. Funded by Local 1199, National Health and Human Services Employees Union, AFL-CIO.

Active Grants

Recipient, Special Assistant Professor Leave Travel Grant, September 2003 to September 2005 ($7,700). Funded by the Provost's Office, Winston Fund, Barnard College.

Recipient, Conference Grant, September 2003 to September 2005 ($3,000). Funded by the Provost's Office, Forman Fund, Barnard College.

Member, Working Group on New York's Recovery from September 11th, June 2002 to June 2005 ($30,000). Funded by the Russell Sage Foundation.

SERVICE

College and University

Member, Medalist Committee, Barnard College, 2004-2005.

Member, Columbia University Seminar in Political and Social Thought, 2004 to present.

Faculty Mentor, Francene Rodgers Scholarship Program, Barnard College, Summer 2004.

Panel Moderator, "Governance by the Media: Feminists and the Coming Election," at the Twenty-ninth Annual The Scholar and the Feminist Conference, Barnard College, New York City, April 3, 2004.

Member, Ph.D. Subcommittee in Urban Planning, Columbia University School of Architecture, Planning and Preservation, 2003 to present.

Member, Columbia University Seminar on Globalization, Labor, and Popular Struggles, 2001 to present.

Member, Columbia University Seminar on the City, 2001 to present.

Faculty Mentor, Columbia University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences Summer Research Program, 2001.

Advisory Board Member, Center for Research on Women, 2000 to present.

First Year Adviser, Barnard College, 2000 to 2004.

One-Year Replacement Member, Committee on Programs and Academic Standing, Barnard College, 2000-2001.

Professional

Editorial Board Member, , Working USA: The Journal of Labor and Society, 2004 to present.

Manuscript Reviewer, Working USA: The Journal of Labor and Society, 2004 to present.

Manuscript Reviewer, Urban Affairs Review, 2004.

Manuscript Reviewer, Political Science Quarterly, 2004.

Grant Reviewer, Research Award Program, The City University of New York, 2003.

Manuscript Reviewer, American Political Science Review, 2001.

Member, New York Colloquium on American Political Development, 2001 to present.

Community

Speaker, "The Immigrant Voter in New York City," New York Voter Assistance Commission, New York City, May 19, 2005.
Speaker, "The Immigrant Voter in New York City," Citizens Union, New York City, May 18, 2005.
Speaker, "The Immigrant Voter in New York City," New York Immigration Coalition, New York City, February 17, 2005.
Speaker, "The Immigrant Voter in New York City," New York City Central Labor Council, New York City, April 28, 2004.
Speaker, "The Post-9/11 Crackdown on Immigrants," Coney Island Avenue Project, Brooklyn, New York, March 25, 2004.
Volunteer, New York Immigration Coalition, Voter Registration at INS Naturalization Ceremonies, 1998 to present.

CONSULTANTSHIPS

Brennan Center for Justice at New York University School of Law, 2004-2005.

Provided expert report on voter fraud and testified as a fact witness in ACORN, et al. v. Bysiewicz (Civil Action No. 3:04-CV-1624 (MRK)).

Howard Samuels State Management and Policy Center, Graduate School and University Center of CUNY, 2002.

Consulted on survey design for a project on the efficacy of community-based organizations.

Demos, New York, New York, 2001 to 2002.

Researched and wrote a study of voter fraud in contemporary American politics.

1199 Child Care Fund, New York, New York, 2000 to 2002.

Prepare demographic data for Fund-eligible union members and their children.

Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, New York, 1998 to 2000.

Developed survey instrument and devised sampling strategy to measure respondents' knowledge of relationships between indoor and outdoor environmental risks, and childhood disease.

National Association of Social Workers, New York City Chapter, 1998.

Designed survey instrument and analyzed findings of a survey of the organization's membership.

Primary Care Development Corporation, New York, New York, 1997 to 2002.

Developed project maps for this organization, which builds health care clinics in New York City.

Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, Washington, D.C., 1997.

Prepared tables for a report from raw data collected for a political opinion survey.

Committee to Elect Sal F. Albanese, New York, New York, 1997.

Wrote economic development position paper and consulted on campaign strategy for Democratic mayoral primary candidate.

1199 National Health and Human Service Employees Union, AFL-CIO, New York, New York, 1996 to 1997.

Advised the Political Action Director on the development of a political action plan for union members; advised on the management of the union's telecommunications center.

New York City Districting Commission, March to June 1991.

Assisted individuals and organizations gain access to Census and electoral data, construct viable plans for new City Council districts, and operate the public access computer provided by the Commission.

(5/05)

© Lorraine C. Minnite

Lorraine C. Minnite

has taught American and urban politics at Barnard College, Columbia University, since January 2000. Prior to that she was the Associate Director of the Center for Urban Research and Policy at Columbia's School of International and Public Affairs. Her research is concerned with issues of equality, social and racial justice, political conflict and institutional change. Dr. Minnite has consulted with various labor, advocacy, and governmental organizations, and political campaigns which relied on her expertise in public policy and demographic patterns in New York City. An experienced survey researcher, she has published on various aspects of political participation, voting behavior and urban politics, among other things. Currently, she is working on a book on the contemporary immigrant rights movement in the U.S.

List of Experts Interviewed

Wade Henderson, Executive Director, Leadership Conference for Civil Rights

Wendy Weiser, Deputy Director, Democracy Program, The Brennan Center

William Groth, attorney for the plaintiffs in the Indiana voter identification litigation

Lori Minnite, Barnard College, Columbia University

Neil Bradley, ACLU Voting Rights Project

Nina Perales, Counsel, Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund

Pat Rogers, attorney, New Mexico

Rebecca Vigil-Giron, Secretary of State, New Mexico

Sarah Ball Johnson, Executive Director of the State Board of Elections, Kentucky

Stephen Ansolobhere, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Chandler Davidson, Rice University

Tracey Campbell, author, Deliver the Vote

Douglas Webber, Assistant Attorney General, Indiana, (defendant in the Indiana voter identification litigation)

Heather Dawn Thompson, Director of Government Relations, National Congress of American Indians

Jason Torchinsky, Assistant General Counsel, American Center for Voting Rights

Robin DeJarnette, Executive Director, American Center for Voting Rights

Joseph Rich, former Director of the Voting Section, Civil Rights Division, U.S. Department of Justice

Joseph Sandler, Counsel to the Democratic National Committee

John Ravitz, Executive Director, New York City Board of Elections

John Tanner, Director, Voting Section, Civil Rights Division, U.S. Department of Justice

Kevin Kennedy, Executive Director of the State Board of Elections, Wisconsin

Evelyn Stratton, Justice, Supreme Court of Ohio

Tony Sirvello, Executive Director, International Association of Clerks, Recorders, Election Officials and Treasurers

Harry Van Sickle, Commissioner of Elections, Pennsylvania

Craig Donsanto, Director, Public Integrity Section, U.S. Department of Justice

Sharon Priest, former Secretary of State, Arkansas

Biographical Sketch

R. Michael Alvarez, Ph.D.
Professor of Political Science
Division of the Humanities and Social Sciences
California Institute of Technology
rma@hss.caltech.edu
<http://www.hss.caltech.edu/rma/home.html>
626-395-4422

R. Michael Alvarez was selected by Scientific American magazine to be on the 2004 "Scientific American 50" for his outstanding scientific and technological contributions to help improve the U.S. voting system. He has taught political science at Caltech since December 1992. He received his B.A. in political science in 1986 from Carleton College; he received his M.A. and Ph.D. from Duke University in 1990 and 1992, respectively. Alvarez was named an Associate Professor in April 1995, received tenure in June 1997, and was promoted to Professor in March 2002. Alvarez has focused most of his research and teaching on the study of electoral politics in the United States. His first book, Information and Elections, was published in the spring of 1997: This project examined the question of how much American voters know about presidential candidates and how they obtain that information. His second book, Hard Choices, Easy Answers (with John Brehm), is a study of American public opinion about divisive social and political issues. His recent book (published January 2004), Point, Click, and Vote: The Future of Internet Voting (with Thad E. Hall), published by Brookings Institution Press, examines the controversies swirling around the Internet voting in the United States. He has also published many articles on electoral behavior and public opinion in the United States and other advanced industrial democratic nations.

Alvarez has received a number of honors and grants for his work. He was named the "Emerging Scholar" by the American Political Science Association's Voting Behavior and Public Opinion Section in 2002. He was a John M. Olin Faculty Fellow (1994-95) as well as a John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Faculty Fellow (1994, 1997, 1999, 2002). Alvarez received the Sprague Award with John Brehm for their work on public opinion, and the Durr Award with Jonathan Nagler for their work on modeling elections. Also, Alvarez has received financial support for his research from the National Science Foundation, The IBM Corporation, the Carnegie Corporation of New York, and the Knight Foundation. Alvarez edits the Analytical Methods for Social Research book series and is on the editorial boards of a number of academic journals: American Journal of Political Science, American Politics Quarterly, Election Law Journal, Political Behavior, The Journal of Politics and Political Research Quarterly. He was the editor of The Political Methodologist, 1993-96.

Professor Alvarez is Co-Director of the Caltech-MIT Voting Technology Project, researching technological solutions to electoral problems, and is the Principal Investigator of the "Secure Electronic Registration and Voting Experiment" Evaluation. He has been an expert witness in a series of recent court cases, including California's defense of the blanket primary (California Democratic Party v. Jones), Bradley v. Compton, and Cano v. Davis. He has testified before a number of organizations, including the U.S. Senate. He was an outside consultant for Knight Ridder on their 2000 Hispanic Voter Poll, and in 2004 is a consultant to Greenberg, Quinlan, Rosner Research Inc. in their research on the Hispanic electorate. Alvarez is a frequent guest on Pasadena's National Public Radio affiliate, KPCC-FM, and writes opinion pieces for local newspapers. He has been interviewed for National Public Radio, Jim Lehrer's NewsHour, CNN, ABC, NBC News, and for many state, national and international newspapers.

Curriculum Vitae Ramon Michael Alvarez

Address

Division of the Humanities and Social Sciences
Mail Code 228-77
California Institute of Technology
Pasadena, CA 91125
626-395-4422
e-mail: rma@hss.caltech.edu

Academic Background

Professor of Political Science with tenure, California Institute of Technology, February 2002 to present.

Associate Professor of Political Science with tenure, California Institute of Technology, June 1997 to February 2002.

Associate Professor of Political Science, California Institute of Technology, April 1995 to June 1997.

Assistant Professor of Political Science, California Institute of Technology, December 1992 to April 1995.

Robert S. Rankin Instructor of American Politics, Duke University, 1991-1992.

Duke University, Ph.D., December 1992 (Political Science). M.A., with distinction on Ph.D. Preliminary Examination, May 1990, (Political Science).

Carleton College, B.A., magna cum laude, 1986 (Political Science).

Grants and Fellowships

Carnegie Corporation of New York, "Electronic Elections", 2005-2006, Co-principal Investigator, ($50,000).

IBM Center for The Business of Government, "Database Integration for Election Administration", 2004-2005, Co-principal Investigator, ($15,000).

John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, "Internet and Electronic Voting", 2003 – 2006, Co-principal Investigator, ($650,000).

U.S. Department of Defense, "Evaluation of the Secure Electronic Registration and Voting (SERVE) Project", November 2002 – December 2005, Principal Investigator, ($1,700,000).

Carnegie Corporation, "Internet Voting", 2003 – 2005, Co-principal Investigator, ($273,000).

U.S. Department of Defense, "Evaluation of the Secure Electronic Registration and Voting (SERVE) Project", DASW01-02-C-0027, ($236,140), Principal Investigator.

John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation Faculty Fellowship, 2002. Project title: "California's Voting Systems", May 2002 – October 2002, ($10,000).

Carnegie Corporation, Project title: "MIT-Caltech Voting Technology Initiative", 2000 – 2001, Co-principal Investigator, ($450,000).

USC-Caltech Center for the Study of Law and Politics, Associate Director, 2000 ($150,000) 2001 ($150,000), 2002 ($150,000).

USC Center for Law, Communications, and Public Policy, "Manufacturing a Gender Gap", 1999, Co-principal Investigator ($8,500).

John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation Faculty Fellowship, Project title: "An Experiment in Democracy: The Blanket Primary in California", 1999, ($8,000).

National Science Foundation, Project title: "Issues and Economics in Multiparty Elections", 1997-99, Co-principal Investigator, ($85,000).

IBM University Equipment Matching Grants Program, 1998, ($25,000).

John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation Faculty Fellowship, Project title: "Who Governs Southern California: Will the Rise of Latino Political Power Continue?" 1997, ($8,000).

IBM University Equipment Grants Program, Project title: "Individuals and Aggregates: New Computational Techniques for Resolving Ecological Relationships", 1996 – 97, Co-principal Investigator, ($134,000).

John M. Olin Faculty Fellowship, 1994 – 95, ($45,000).

John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation Faculty Fellowship, Project title: "Information in State-Level Political Campaigns: An Examination of the 1994 Senate and Gubernatorial Races in California", 1994, ($8,000).

Duke Endowment Fellow, 1987 – 89.

Professional Honors

Named and recognized by Scientific American magazine for outstanding acts of leadership in science and technology as a Policy Leader in the computing category of the 2004 "Scientific American 50".

Emerging Scholar Award, Elections, Public Opinion, and Voting Behavior Section of the American Political Science Association, for the top scholar within ten years of Ph.D. receipt in the field, 2002.

Robert H. Durr Award for the best paper applying quantitative methods to a substantive problem in political science at the 1997 Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association.

Sprague Award for the best paper applying quantitative methods to a substantive problem in political science at the 1995 Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association.

Brooks/Cole Award for the best paper written by a graduate student in the 1991 Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association.

Distinction in the Department of Political Science, Carleton College, 1986, awarded for thesis titled Latin American Revolutions: Going Beyond Skocpol.

Publications

Books

Electronic Elections. With Thad E. Hall. Princeton University Press, forthcoming 2006.

Point, Click and Vote. With Thad E. Hall. Brookings Institution Press, 2004.

Hard Choices, Easy Answers. With John Brehm. Princeton University Press, 2002.

Information and Elections. Revised Edition. University of Michigan Press, 1998.

Information and Elections. University of Michigan Press, 1997.

Journal Articles

"Strategic Voting in British Elections." With Fred Boehmke and Jonathan Nagler. Electoral Studies, forthcoming.

"A Natural Experiment of Race-Based and Issue Voting: The 2001 City of Los Angeles Elections." With Marisa A. Abrajano and Jonathan Nagler. Political Research Quarterly, forthcoming.

"Voting Behavior and the Electoral Context of Government Formation: The 1994 Dutch Parliamentary Election and the 'Purple Coalition'." With Garrett Glasgow. Electoral Studies, forthcoming.

"Web-Based Surveys." With Carla VanBeselaere. Encyclopedia of Social Measurement, Vol. 3, 2005, 955-962.

"Studying Elections: Data Quality and Pitfalls in Measuring the Effects of Voting Technologies." With Stephen Ansolabehere and Charles Stewart III. Policy Studies Journal, Vol. 33, No. 1 (February 2005), 15-24.

"Latinos, Anglos, Voters, Candidates, and Voting Rights." With Jonathan Nagler. University of Pennsylvania Law Review. Vol. 153, No. 1 (November 2004), 393-432.

"Party System Compactness: Measurement and Consequences." With Jonathan Nagler. Political Analysis, Vol. 12, No. 1 (Winter 2004), 46-62.

"The Race Gap in Student Achievement Scores: Longitudinal Evidence from a Racially Diverse Environment." With Valentina Bali, Policy Studies Journal, Vol. 32, No. 3 (August 2004), 393-416.

"The Revolution Against Affirmative Action in California: Politics, Economics, and Proposition 209." With Lisa García Bedolla. State Politics and Policy Quarterly, Vol. 4, No. 1 (Spring 2004), 1-17.

"Who Overvotes, Who Undervotes, Using Punchcards? Evidence from Los Angeles County." With Betsy Sinclair. Political Research Quarterly, Vol. 57, No. 1 (March 2004), 15-25.

"The Complexity of the California Recall Election." With Melanie Goodrich, Thad E. Hall, D. Roderick Kiewiet, and Sarah M. Sled. PSOnline, (www.apsanet.org), January 2004.

"Schools and Educational Outcomes: What Causes the "Race Gap" in Student Test Scores?" With Valentina A. Bali. Social Science Quarterly, September 2003, vol. 84, no. 3, 485-507.

"Are There Sex Differences in Fiscal Political Preferences?" With Edward J. McCaffery. Political Research Quarterly, March 2003, vol. 56, no. 1, 5-17.

"The Foundations of Latino Voter Partisanship: Evidence from the 2000 Election." With Lisa García Bedolla. Journal of Politics, February 2003, vol. 65, no. 1, 31-49.

"Subject Acquisition for Web-Based Surveys." With Robert Sherman and Carla VanBeselaere. Political Analysis, vol. II, no. 1, Winter 2003.

"The Likely Consequences of Internet Voting for Political Representation." With Jonathan Nagler. Loyola Law Review, April 2001, vol. 34, no. 3, 1115-1153.

"Issues, Economics and the Dynamics of Multi-Party Elections: The British 1987 General Election." With Jonathan Nagler and Shaun Bowler. American Political Science Review, March 2000, vol. 94, no. 1, 131-150.

"The Resurgence of Nativism in California? The Case of Proposition 187 and Illegal Immigration." With Tara Butterfield. Social Science Quarterly, March 2000, vol. 81, no. 1, 167-179.

"Two-Stage Estimation of Non-Recursive Choice Models." With Garrett Glasgow. Political Analysis, Spring 2000, vol. 8, no. 2, 147-166.

"Measuring the Relative Impact of Issues and the Economy in Democratic Elections." With Jennifer Niemann and Jonathan Nagler. Electoral Studies, June-September, 2000, vol. 19, no. 2-3, 237-253.

"A New Approach for Modeling Strategic Voting in Multiparty Elections." With Jonathan Nagler. British Journal of Political Science, January 2000, vol. 30, no. 1, 57-75.

"Uncertainty and Candidate Personality Traits." With Garrett Glasgow. American Politics Quarterly, January 2000, vol. 28, no. 1, 26-49.

"Citizenship and Political Representation in Contemporary California." With Tara L. Butterfield. Pacific Historical Review, May 1999, vol. 68, no. 2, 293-308.

"Explaining the Gender Gap in U.S. Presidential Elections, 1980-1992." With Carole Chaney and Jonathan Nagler. Political Research Quarterly, June 1998, vol. 51, no. 2, 311-339.

"Speaking in Two Voices: American Equivocation about the Internal Revenue Service." With John Brehm. American Journal of Political Science, April 1998, vol. 42, no. 2, 418-452.

"Economics, Entitlements and Social Issues: Voter Choice in the 1996 Presidential Election." With Jonathan Nagler. American Journal of Political Science, October 1998, vol. 42, no. 4, 1349-1363.

"When Politics and Models Collide: Estimating Models of Multicandidate Elections." With Jonathan Nagler. American Journal of Political Science, January 1998, vol. 42, no. 1, 55-96.

"Deficits, Democrats, and Distributive Benefits: Congressional Elections and the Pork Barrel in the 1980s." With Jason Saving. Political Research Quarterly, December 1997, vol. 50, no. 4, 809-832.

"Congressional Committees and the Political Economy of Federal Outlays." With Jason Saving. Public Choice, August 1997, vol. 92, no. 1-2, 55-73.

"Are Americans Ambivalent Towards Racial Policies?" With John Brehm. American Journal of Political Science, April 1997, vol. 40, no. 2, 345-374.

"Constituents and Legislators: Learning About the Persian Gulf War Resolution." With Paul W. Gronke. Legislative Studies Quarterly, February 1996, vol. 21, no. 1, 105-127.

"American Ambivalence Towards Abortion Policy: Development of a Heteroskedastic Probit Model of Competing Values." With John Brehm. American Journal of Political Science, November 1995, vol. 39, no. 4, 1055-1082.

"Voter Choice in 1992: Economics, Issues and Anger." With Jonathan Nagler. American Journal of Political Science, August 1995, vol. 39, no. 3, 714-744.

"Issues and the Presidential Primary Voter." With John Aldrich. Political Behavior, September 1994, vol. 16, no. 3, 289-317.

"Uncertainty and Political Perceptions." With Charles Franklin. Journal of Politics, August 1994, vol. 56, no. 4, 671-689.

"Government Partisanship, Labor Organizations and Macroeconomic Performance, A Corrigendum." With Nathaniel Beck, Jonathan N. Katz, Geoffrey Garrett, and Peter Lange. American Political Science Review, December 1993, vol. 87, no. 4, 945-948.

"Policy Moderation or Conflicting Expectations: Testing the Intentional Models of Ticket-Splitting." With Matthew M. Schousen. American Politics Quarterly, October 1993, vol. 21, no. 4, 410-438.

"Government Partisanship, Labor Organization and Macroeconomic Performance, 1967-1984." With Geoffrey Garrett and Peter Lange. American Political Science Review, June 1991, vol. 85, no. 2, 539-556. Reprinted in: Carlos Boix (ed.), Modelos Politico-Institucionales de Politica Economica (Madrid: Instituto de Estudios Fiscales, 1994), and Ronald Rogowski (ed.), Comparative Politics and the International Political Economy (Cheltenham: Edward Elgar, 1994).

"The Puzzle of Party Identification: Dimensionality of an Important Concept." American Politics Quarterly, October 1990, vol. 18, no. 4, 476-491.

Research Reports and Monographs

Making Voting Easier: Election Day Registration in New York. With Jonathan Nagler and Catherine Wilson. Prepared for Demos, May 2004.

California Votes: Election Day Registration in California. With Stephen Ansolabehere. Prepared for Demos, May 2002.

Voting: What is, What Could Be. Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project, June 2001.

Bush's Tax Cut. With Edward J. McCaffery. Prepared for the USC-Caltech Center for the Study of Law and Politics, 2001.

American Opinion About Election Reform. Prepared for USC-Caltech Center for the Study of Law and Politics, 2001.

California's Blanket Primary. With Jonathan Nagler. Prepared for the California Secretary of State, 1998.

Unrefereed Publications

"Rational Voters and the Recall Election." With D. Roderick Kiewiet and Betsy Sinclair, in Shawn Bowler and Bruce Cain, Clicker Politics, Prentice-Hall, forthcoming.

"And now for something completely different for California elections: Other views: Commission would ease politicking" With Thad E. Hall, Special to The Sacramento Bee, published Tuesday, February 22, 2005.

"Ambivalence as Internal Conflict." With Bethony Albertson and John Brehm, in Stephen C. Craig and Michael D. Martinez, Ambivalence and the Structure of Political Opinion, Palgrave Macmillan, December 2004.

"Online Voting." With Thad Hall, in William Sims Bainbridge, Berkshire Encyclopedia of Human-Computer Interaction, Berkshire Publishing Group, 2004, 526-527.

"Counting Ballots and the 2000 Election: What Went Wrong?" With Betsy Sinclair and Catherine H. Wilson, in A. Crigler et. al., "Rethinking the Vote", Oxford University Press, 2004, 34-50.

"Uncertainty and American Public Opinion", with John Brehm and Catherine Wilson, in B. Burden, Uncertainty and American Politics, Cambridge University Press, 2003.

Review of The Initiative and Referendum in California, 1898-1998, Pacific Historical Review, 2002.

"Should I Stay or Should I Go? Crossover Voting in Assembly Races." With Jonathan Nagler, in B. Cain and E. Gerber, California's Blanket Primary, University of California Press, 2002.

"Gender and Tax." With Edward J. McCaffery. In S. Tolleson-Rinehart and J. J. Josephson, editors, Gender and American Politics, M. E. Sharpe, 2000.

Book review in American Political Science Review, 2000 (98:2), 463-464 of Cambridge University Press, The Democratic Dilemma: Can Citizens Learn What They Need to Know? 1998. Arthur Lupia and Mathew D. McCubbins.

"Gender and Tax", with Edward J. McCaffery. 2000. In S. Tolleson-Ronhart and J. J. Josephson, editors, Gender and American Politics, M. E. Sharpe.

Review of Colorblind Injustice: Minority Voting Rights and the Undoing of the Second Reconstruction, Engineering and Science, vol. LXII, no. 1-2, 1999, 54-55.

Review of Change and Continuity in the 1996 Elections, Political Science Quarterly, Summer 1999, vol. 114, no. 2, 331.

Review of Political Analysis, Volume 5. American Political Science Review, vol. 91, no. 3, 721-722.

"Polmeth -- You've Come a Long Way, Baby." The Political Methodologist, Spring 1996, vol. 7, no. 2, 10-12.

"The Role of Replication," in Mistakes That Social Scientists Make, edited by Richard Seltzer. New York: St. Martins Press, 1996.

"Can Bush Hit a Home Run?" With Brian Loynd. The Political Methodologist, Spring-Summer 1994, vol. 5, no. 2, 2-4.

"Methods Madness: Graduate Training and the Political Methodology Conferences." The Political Methodologist, Spring 1992, vol. 5, no. 1, 2-3.

Working Papers

Papers Under Review or Revision

"Where the Good Signatures Are: The Number and Validity Rates of Initiative Petition Signatures Gathered in California Counties." With Frederick J. Boehmke.

"Why Everything That Can Go Wrong Often Does: An Analysis of Election Administration Problems." With Thad E. Hall.

“Election Day Voter Registration in the United States: How One-Step Voting Can Change the Composition of the American Electorate.” With Stephen Ansolabehere and Catherine H. Wilson.

“Similar Yet Different? Latino and Anglo Party Identification.” With Lisa García Bedolla.

“A Comparative Evaluation of Economic and Issue Voting.” With Catherine Wilson and Jonathan Nagler.

“Whose Absentee Votes Are Counted?” With Thad Hall and Betsy Sinclair.

Papers under Preparation for Submission

“Campaign Effects in the 2004 Presidential Election.” With Jonathan Nagler.

“Instigation by Initiative: The Influence of Signature Gathering Campaigns on Political Participation.” With Frederick J. Boehmke.

“Machines Versus Humans: The Counting and Recounting of Pre-scored Punchcard Ballots.” With Sarah A. Hill and Jonathan N. Katz.

“Detecting Election Fraud: The Case of Georgia.” With Jonathan N. Katz.

“California’s Latino Electorate and the Davis Recall Election.” With D. Roderick Kiewiet.

“Rationality and the Recall Election.” With D. Roderick Kiewiet.

“Political Competition, Partisanship, and Contemporary Election Fraud.” With Fred Boehmke.

“An Experimental Study of the Adequacy of Voter Registration Lists and the Effectiveness of Official Get-Out-The-Vote Mail.” With Stephen Ansolabehere and Mary King Sikora.

“How Widespread Is Voting Fraud in California?”

“Does Being First on the Ballot Matter?” With Richard Hasen and Melanie Goodrich.

“Abortion and the Latino Vote in the 2000 Presidential Election.” With Marisa A. Abrajano and Jonathan Nagler.

“Aggregation and Dynamics of Survey Responses: The Case of Presidential Approval.” With Jonathan Katz.

“Economic Voting in the United States: Methodological Issues and Research Agendas.” With Jonathan Nagler.

“Understanding the Political Response to Affirmative Action: Antagonism and Social Context in a Multi-Ethnic World.” With Claudine Gay.

“Binding the Frame: Do Frames Matter for Survey Response?” With John Brehm.

“Is the Sleeping Giant Awakening? Latinos and California Politics in the 1990’s.” With Jonathan Nagler.

“Electoral Institutions and Strategic Voting: California’s Experiment with the Blanket Primary.” With Jonathan Nagler.

“Modeling Voter Support in the 1989 and 1994 Dutch Elections.” With Garrett Glasgow.

“The “Ham and Eggs” Movement in Southern California: Public Opinion on Economic Redistribution in the 1938 Campaign.” With William Deverell and Elizabeth Penn.

“Does That Mariachi Band Make a Difference? Latino Public Opinion and Party Identification.” With Lisa García Bedolla.

“The Dynamics of Issue Emphasis: Campaign Strategy and Media Coverage in Statewide Races.”

“Identification in Discrete Choice Models.” With Eric Lawrence and Jonathan Nagler.

“Efficient Estimation of Models with Discrete Endogenous Regressors.” With Tara Butterfield and Garrett Glasgow.

“Hamilton’s Political Economy and the National Bank.” Duke University Program in Political Economy, Papers in American Politics, Working Paper Number 84, August 23, 1989.

“The New Republic and The New Institutionalism: Hamilton’s Plan and Extra-Legislative Organization.” Duke University Program in Political Economy, Papers in American Politics, Working Paper Number 85, August 23, 1989.

“Attributions of Responsibility and Priming in Economic Perception Survey Questions.” With Garrett Glasgow and Carla VanBeselaere.

“Do Voters Learn from Presidential Election Campaigns?” With Garrett Glasgow.

“Attitudes, Uncertainty, and the Survey Response.” With Charles Franklin.

“Correlated Disturbances in Discrete Choice Models: A Comparison of Multinomial Probit Models and Logit Models.” With Jonathan Nagler.

Professional Presentations

San Gabriel Valley Young Presidents Organization, Pasadena, October 2004 (presentation).

“The 2004 Election: What Does It Mean for Campaigns and Governance?” USC Law School Conference, October 2004 (presentation).

Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project Symposium, “Voting Technology: Innovations for Today and Tomorrow”, presentation and session leader, MIT, October 2004.

JustDemocracy workshop presentation, Harvard University, October 2004.

League of Women Voters of Los Angeles Forum, September 10, 2004. Keynote speaker.

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 2004 (roundtable presentation).

The National Academies workshop on "A Framework for Understanding Electronic Voting", Washington DC, July 2004 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 2004 (paper presentation).

University of Michigan, Department of Political Science, January 2004 (presentation).

"Digital Divide, Global Development and the Information Society", World Forum on Information Society, International Research Foundation for Development, Geneva, Switzerland, December 2003 (paper presentation).

Internet Survey Workshop, Pacific Chapter of American Association for Public Opinion Research, October 2003 (Presentation).

Modeling the Constitution Conference. California Institute of Technology, May 2003 (Discussant).

Earnest C. Watson Lecture, "Voting: Where We Have Been, Where We Are Going", California Institute of Technology, April 2003 (presentation).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 2003 (two paper presentations).

Election Reform, Cantigny Conference, November 2002 (presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 2002 (three paper presentations).

Election Law Summit, Washington D.C., June 2002 (presentation).

American Empirical Seminar Series, Stanford University, Stanford Institute for the Quantitative Study of Society, May 2002 (presentation).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 2002 (paper presentation).

California Association of Election Officials, Los Angeles, April 2002 (presentation).

Southern California Political Methodology Program, University of California, Riverside, October 2001 (paper presentation).

City Clerk Summit III, Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder, October 2001 (presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, September 2001 (two paper presentations).

Democratic Caucus Special Committee on Election Reform, "Making Every Vote Count!" Los Angeles, CA, August 2001 (testimony).

United States Senate, Committee on Governmental Affairs, Hearings on Election Reform, May 3, 2001 (written and oral testimony).

Election Reform: 2000 and Beyond. USC-Caltech Center for the Study of Law and Politics, University of Southern California, April 2001 (paper presentation, panel session moderator).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 2001 (paper presentation).

National Commission on Election Reform, April 2001 (testimony on new technology for elections).

Pasadena Rotary, March 28, 2001 (presentation).

Voting Technology Conference, Caltech-MIT Voting Technology Project, March 2001 (panel session moderator).

Annual Meetings of the Western Political Science Association, March 2001 (paper presentation).

Internet Voting and Democracy, Loyola Law School, October 2000 (paper presentation).

e-Voting Workshop, Internet Policy Institute, Sponsored by the National Science Foundation, conducted in cooperation with the University of Maryland and hosted by the Freedom Forum, October 2000 (panel discussion chair and research presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 2000 (two paper presentations).

California Voting in the 21st Century, Los Angeles, May 2000 (research presentation on Internet voting).

Southern California Political Methodology Program, University of California, Santa Barbara, May 2000 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 2000 (paper presentation).

University of New Mexico, Political Science Department, April 2000.

Annual Meetings of the Western Political Science Association, March 2000 (paper presentation, roundtable presentation).

Southern California Political Methodology Program, UCLA Lake Arrowhead Conference Center, December 1999 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, September 1999 (paper presentation, discussant).

Southern California Political Methodology Program, California State Polytechnic University, San Luis Obispo, May 1999 (paper presentation).

Center for Basic Research in the Social Sciences, Harvard University, April 1999.

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1999 (paper presentation, discussant).

Annual Meetings of the Western Political Science Association, March 1999 (paper presentation).

Public Policy Institute of California, March 1999.

University of Southern California, March 1999.

Yale Law School, Yale University, February 1999.

“Campaign 1998: The California Governor’s Race”, The Institute of Governmental Studies, University of California, Berkeley, January 1999 (paper presentation).

“Proposition 227”, Center for U.S. – Mexican Studies, University of California, San Diego, January 1999 (paper presentation).

Emory University, October 1998. Annual Meetings of the Southern Political Science Association, October 1998 (paper presentation, discussant).

University of California, Irvine, Institute for Mathematical Behavioral Sciences, October 1998.

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, September 1998 (two paper presentations, discussant).

Fifteenth Political Methodology Conference, July 1998 (discussant).

“California’s Blanket-Open Primary: A Natural Experiment in Election Dynamics”, University of California at Berkeley, June 1998 (participant).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1998 (four paper presentations, roundtable discussant, poster presentation).

University of California at Santa Barbara, April 1998.

Annual Meetings of the Western Political Science Association, March 1998 (two paper presentations, discussant).

“Orange Empires: Miami and Los Angeles” Conference. The Huntington Library, San Marino, California, February 27-28, 1998 (paper presentation).

University of California at Riverside, February 1998 (Southern California Political Methodology Group).

The Annenberg School of Communication, University of Pennsylvania, October 1997.

Duke University, October 1997.

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1997 (two paper presentations).

Fourteenth Political Methodology Conference, July 1997 (discussant).

University of California at Los Angeles, April 1997 (Southern California Political Methodology Group).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1997.

University of Michigan, March 1997.

University of Arizona, December 1996.

Annual Meetings of the Southern Political Science Association, November 1996 (three paper presentations.)

University of Minnesota, October 1996 (Second CIC Interactive Video Methods Seminar broadcast to the University of Wisconsin--Madison, the University of Illinois, and Ohio State University).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1996 (three paper presentations, discussant).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1996 (four paper presentations).

National Election Studies Research & Development Conference on Congressional Elections, Chicago, IL, March 1996 (paper presentation).

Southern California Political Economy Seminar, University of California-Irvine, September 1995 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1995 (one paper presentation, chair-discussant).

Twelfth Political Methodology Conference, July 1995 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1995 (three paper presentations).

Annual Meeting of the Public Choice Society, April 1995 (paper presentation, discussant).

Hoover Institution, Stanford University, February 1995.

National Election Study Conference on the Impact of the Presidential Campaign, University of Pennsylvania, November 1994 (discussant).

Southern California Political Economy Seminar, University of California-Irvine, October 1994 (discussant).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1994 (two paper presentations).

Eleventh Political Methodology Conference, July 1994 (discussant).

Annual Meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1994 (two paper presentations and chair of panel).

Southern Political Science Association Annual Meeting, November 1993 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, September 1993 (two paper presentations).

Tenth Political Methodology Conference, Florida State University, July 1993 (paper presentation).

University of California at San Diego, June 1993.

University of California at Riverside, May 1993.

Annual Meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association, April 1993 (two paper presentations).

Western Political Science Association Annual Meeting, April 1993 (chair of panel and discussant).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1992 (chair of roundtable and paper presentation).

Ninth Political Methodology Conference, Harvard University, July 1992 (paper presentation).

Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meetings, Chicago, IL., April 1992 (two paper presentations).

The Political Consequences of War, The Brookings Institution, Washington, D.C., February 1992 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1991 (two paper presentations).

Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, April 1991 (two paper presentations).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1990 (paper presentation and discussant).

Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, April 1990 (paper presentation).

Conference on Political Economics, National Bureau of Economic Research, February, 1990 (paper presentation).

Annual Meetings of the American Political Science Association, August 1989 (paper presentation).

Southern Political Science Association Annual Meeting, September 1988 (discussant).

Other Professional Activities

HAVA Section 301 Task Force member (State of California), November 2004 to present.

Committee member, National Commission on Elections and Voting, 2004-present.

Committee member, National Research Council Computer Science and Telecommunications Board Committee, National Academy of Sciences, "A Framework for Understanding Electronic Voting", 2004-present.

Political Research Quarterly (PRQ) Editor Search Committee, 2004-present.

Steering Committee member, The Commonwealth Club of California, 2004-present.

Board of Scholars of the Initiative and Referendum Institute (IRI), University of Southern California, Winter 2002-present.

Chair, Durr Award Committee, Midwest Political Science Association, 2003, 2004, 2005.

Recall Election Symposium, Caltech-USC Center for the Study of Politics, September 2003.

State Plan Advisory Committee member, Help America Vote Act (HAVA), Spring 2003-present.

Co-director, Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project, Fall 2002-present.

Advisory Board, The Reform Institute, Advisory Board, 2001-present.

Participant, Federal Voting Assistance Program, Voting Over the Internet, Peer Review Workshop, March 14, 2001.

USC-Caltech Center for the Study of Law and Politics, Associate Director, 2001-present; Advisory Board, 2000-present.

American Political Science Association Research Support Advisory Committee, 2000-2002.

Advisory/Editorial board, Encyclopedia of Social Science Research Methods [2001 to present], Editorial board, American Journal of Political Science [2001 to present]; Election Law Journal [2001 to present]; Journal of Politics [2001 to present]; Political Research Quarterly [2000 to present]; Political Analysis [1998 to 2003]; American Politics Research formerly American Politics Quarterly [1997 to 2004]; Political Behavior [1997 to present].

Executive Council Representative, Western Political Science Association, 1998-2001.

Book series co-editor, Techniques of Political Analysis, published by the University of Michigan Press, 1998-2003.

Book series co-editor, Analytical Methods for Social Research, Cambridge University Press, 2003-present.

Best paper prize committee chair, Political Research Quarterly, 2002.

Program Committee and Comparative Politics Section Chair, 2000 Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting.

Program Committee and Issues in Methodology Section Chair, 1999 Western Political Science Association Annual Meeting.

Political Methodology Section (APSA) Publications Committee, 1997 to present.

Political Methodology Section (APSA) Nominations Committee chair, 1998.

ICPSR Summer Program Advisory Committee, 1998.

Political Methodology Section (APSA) delegate-at-large to the American Political Science Association, 1996 to 1998.

Instructor, American Political Science Association Annual Meetings Short Course, "Models of Political Choice", 1997.

Instructor, ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods, Advanced Maximum Likelihood, August 1998; August 1997.

Instructor, ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods, Maximum Likelihood, July 1996.

National Election Studies 1996 Planning Committee Member.

"Campaigns and the Study of Congressional Elections". Memorandum to the NES Board of Overseers, September 5, 1995.

"Survey Measures of Uncertainty: A Report to the NES Board on the Use of 'Certainty' Questions to Measure Uncertainty About Candidate Traits and Issue Positions," Memorandum to the NES Board of Overseers, January 1996.

Program Committee and Political Methodology Section Chair, 1996 Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting.

Co-editor, The Political Methodologist, Newsletter of the Political Methodology Section of the American Political Science Association, 1993-1996.

Co-organizer, Southern California Political Economy Seminars, 1993 to 1995.

Participant in the Annual Political Methodology Summer Conferences, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1996, 2000.

Participant in the Methodological Advances in Comparative Political Economy Conference, April 1991.

Manuscript reviews: American Journal of Political Science; American Political Science Review; American Politics Review; American Politics Research; British Journal of Political Science; Canadian Journal of Political Science; The Harvard International Journal of Press/Politics; Journal of Law, Economics and Organization; Journal of Politics; Journal of Theoretical Politics; Pacific Historical Review; Political Analysis; Political Behavior; Political

Research Quarterly; Polity; Public Opinion Quarterly; Social Science Quarterly; State Politics and Political Quarterly.

Book manuscript review, University of Michigan Press, Harvard University Press, Princeton University Press, University of Chicago Press, University of Pittsburg Press, Quantitative Analysis in the Social Sciences (Sage Publications), Cambridge University Press, State University of New York Press.

Project proposal reviewer, National Science Foundation, Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Member of American Political Science Association, Midwest Political Science Association, Western Political Science Association, Southern Political Science Association, The Econometric Society, California Historical Society.

Columnist (biweekly), Pasadena Weekly, "From the Ivory Tower", 1999-2000.

Panelist, Pasadena Mayor Forum, March 3, 1999.

Panelist, "Measuring Progress in Our Schools", March 21, 2000.

Member, Internet Voting Task Force, California Secretary of State's Office, 1999.

Panelist, National Science Foundation National Workshop on Internet Voting, October 2000.

Consultant to: Duke University, Dean of Undergraduate Admissions (1988-90); Duke University, Law School Admissions (1990-91); State of California, Office of the Attorney General, California Democratic Party vs. Jones (1997); State of California, Secretary of State's Office, Open Primary Analysis (1998); Knight-Ridder Newspapers, Hispanic Voter Poll 2000; O'Melveny & Myers, LLP, Righeimer vs. Jones (2000); City of Compton, Bradley vs. Compton (2001); State of California, Senate Democratic Caucus, Cano vs. Davis (2001); Demos, California Votes: Election Day Registration in California (2002); Greenberg, Quinlan, Rosner, (Hispanic Voter Surveys) (2004); Greenberg, Quinlan, Rosner (NARAL Pro-Choice American) (2004); The Mellman Group (Hispanic Voter Surveys) (2004).

Media relations (partial list): Guest, KPCC-FM Airtalk, Talk of the City; 2000 Super Tuesday Analysis, National Public Radio; Science Friday, National Public Radio, Latino Politics and the DNC, KNX Radio; Special on Latino Politics 2000, CBC Radio-Canada; Editorial, Pasadena Star-News; Interviews, US News and World Report, Financial Times, PC Week, KQED-FM's "California Report", Dallas Business Journal, Associated Press-Sacramento, Wired Magazine, CQ Weekly Review, Los Angeles Times, New York Times, Chronicle of Higher Education, Glendale News Press, Reforma (Mexico City), Sacramento Bee, USA Today, San Jose Mercury News, CBS News, Swedish National Public Radio, KCET Life and Times, The New Republic, The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer, CNN, CNN Moneyline, CNN-Online, San Francisco Chronicle, The Dallas Morning News, Business Week, CASH Magazine, Pasadena Star-News, Pasadena Weekly, Fresno Bee, Contra Costa Times, ABC News, California Journal, Orange County Register, Fox News, San Diego Union Tribune; Chicago Tribune; Los Angeles Business Journal; Sunday London Times; Fusion Magazine, Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine, Scripps-Howard News Service, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal.

Institute Service

The Friends of the Caltech Library “Focal Presentation”, September 27, 2004. “Voter Registration: Past, Present, and Future”.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Political Science Search Committee Chair, 1993, 1994, 1998, 1999, 2000.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Political Science Search Committee, 2001 to present.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Social Sciences Strategic Planning Committee Political Science Search Committee, 2004 to present.

FACS Science Reporting Institute, Research presentations, June 2001, June 2002.

SURF Seminar presentation, August 7, 1996; July 25, 2001.

Research presentations to the Executive Council of the Caltech Board of Trustees, December 2, 1996; July 12, 2001.

Discovery Weekend presentation, March 16, 2001.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Division Library Committee, 1993 to present.

Hazardous Chemical Safety Committee, California Institute of Technology, 2000 to present.

Computational Science and Engineering Committee, California Institute of Technology, 2000 to present.

Chair, Caltech Women’s Center Advisory Board, 1998 to 2001. Women’s Center Advisory Committee Member, California Institute of Technology, 1994 to 1998. Women’s Center Advisor Board, Chair, 1998-2001.

Dissertation Committee Chair, California Institute of Technology:

Fang Wang (Political Science, 1998), currently at First Quadrant, Inc.

Garrett Glasgow (Political Science, 1999), currently at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Fred Boehmke (Political Science, 2000), currently at the University of Iowa.

Tara Butterfield (Political Science, 2001).

Catherine Wilson (Political Science, 2002), currently at Northwestern University.

Carla VanBeselaere (Political Science and Economics, 2004).

Betsy Sinclair (Political Science 2007).

Dissertation Committee Member, California Institute of Technology, Mark Fey (Political Science, 1994), Jason Saving (Economics, 1995), Michael Udell (Economics, 1995), Micah Altman (Political Science, 1998), Reginald Roberts (Political Science, 2001), Valentina Bali

(Political Science and Economics, 2001), Elizabeth Penn (Political Science, 2003), Kevin Roust (Political Science, 2005).

Dissertation Committee Member, New York University, Marisa A. Abrajano (Political Science, 2005).

Sponsor, Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship, California Institute of Technology, Daniel T. Knoepfle and Eugenia S. Iofinova (2004); Melanie Goodrich (2002, 2003); Betsy Sinclair (2001); Neal Reeves (1999); John White (1994); Stacy Kerkela (1993).

Alumni College presentation, June 22, 2000.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Graduate Admissions Committee, 1993 to 1998, 2000. Committee Chair, 1996.

Research presentation to the Caltech Associates, October 27, 1998.

Social Science .01 Lecture, "Empirical Voting Models", May 8, 1998.

Director of Graduate Studies and Graduate Option Representative, Social Sciences, 1996 to 1998.

Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, California Institute of Technology, Graduate Admissions Committee Chair, 1996.

Research and Teaching Interests

American voting behavior, campaigns and elections, American government, macro-political economy, positive theory/public choice, comparative politics, quantitative methodologies.

March 8, 2005

STEPHEN DANIEL ANSOLABEHERE

EDUCATION

|                         |                          |      |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|------|
| Harvard University      | Ph.D., Political Science | 1989 |
| University of Minnesota | B.A., Political Science  | 1984 |
|                         | B.S., Economics          |      |

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

|              |  |
|--------------|--|
| 1998-present | Elting R. Morison Professor,Department of Political Science, MIT                           |
| 2002-present | Associate Head, Department of Political Science  |
| 2000-2004    | Co-Director, Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project   |
| 1995-1998    | Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, MIT                                      |
| 1993-1994    | National Fellow, The Hoover Institution  |
| 1989-1993    | Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science,University of California, Los Angeles |

FELLOWSHIPS AND HONORS

|  |         |
|--|---------|
| Carnegie Scholar                               | 2000-02 |
| Goldsmith Book Prize for Going Negative | 1996    |
| National Fellow, The Hoover Institution        | 1993-94 |
| Harry S. Truman Fellowship                     | 1982-86 |

PUBLICATIONS

Books

|      |   |
|------|---|
| 1996 | Going Negative: How Political Advertising Divides and Shrinks the American Electorate (with Shanto Iyengar). The Free Press. |
| 1993 | The Media Game: American Politics in the Television Age (with Roy Behr and Shanto Iyengar). Macmillan.                       |

Articles in Refereed Journals

- Forthcoming "Statistical Bias in Newspaper Reporting: The Case of Campaign Finance" Public Opinion Quarterly (with James M. Snyder, Jr., and Erik Snowberg).
- Forthcoming "Studying Elections" Policy Studies Journal (with Charles H. Stewart III and R. Michael Alvarez).
- Forthcoming "Legislative Bargaining under Weighted Voting" American Economic Review (with James M. Snyder, Jr., and Michael Ting)
- Forthcoming "Voting Weights and Formateur Advantages in Coalition Formation: Evidence from Parliamentary Coalitions, 1946 to 2002" (with James M. Snyder, Jr., Aaron B. Strauss, and Michael M. Ting) American Journal of Political Science.
- Forthcoming "Reapportionment and Party Realignment in the American States" Pennsylvania Law Review (with James M. Snyder, Jr.)
- 2004 "Residual Votes Attributable to Voting Technologies" (with Charles Stewart) Journal of Politics (forthcoming)
- 2004 "Using Term Limits to Estimate Incumbency Advantages When Office Holders Retire Strategically" (with James M. Snyder, Jr.). Legislative Studies Quarterly vol. 29, November 2004, pages 487-516.
- 2004 "Did Firms Profit From Soft Money?" (with James M. Snyder, Jr., and Michiko Ueda) Election Law Journal vol. 3, April 2004.
- 2003 "Bargaining in Bicameral Legislatures" (with James M. Snyder, Jr. and Mike Ting) American Political Science Review, August, 2003.
- 2003 "Why Is There So Little Money in U.S. Politics?" (with James M. Snyder, Jr.) Journal of Economic Perspectives, Winter, 2003.
- 2002 "Equal Votes, Equal Money: Court-Ordered Redistricting and the Public Spending in the American States" (with Alan Gerber and James M. Snyder, Jr.) American Political Science Review, December, 2002.
Paper awarded the Heinz Eulau award for the best paper in the American Political Science Review.
- 2002 "Are PAC Contributions and Lobbying Linked?" (with James M. Snyder, Jr. and Micky Tripathi) Business and Politics 4, no. 2.
- 2002 "The Incumbency Advantage in U.S. Elections: An Analysis of State and Federal

- Offices, 1942-2000” (with James Snyder) Election Law Journal, 1, no. 3.
- 2001 “Voting Machines, Race, and Equal Protection.” Election Law Journal, vol. 1, no. 1
- 2001 “Models, assumptions, and model checking in ecological regressions” (with Andrew Gelman, David Park, Phillip Price, and Lorraine Minnite) Journal of the Royal Statistical Society, series A, 164: 101-118.
- 2001 “The Effects of Party and Preferences on Congressional Roll Call Voting.” (with James Snyder and Charles Stewart) Legislative Studies Quarterly (forthcoming).
Paper awarded the Jewell-Lowenberg Award for the best paper published on legislative politics in 2001. Paper awarded the Jack Walker Award for the best paper published on party politics in 2001.
- 2001 “Candidate Positions in Congressional Elections,” (with James Snyder and Charles Stewart). American Journal of Political Science 45 (November).
- 2000 “Old Voters, New Voters, and the Personal Vote,” (with James Snyder and Charles Stewart) American Journal of Political Science 44 (February).
- 2000 “Soft Money, Hard Money, Strong Parties,” (with James Snyder) Columbia Law Review 100 (April):598 - 619.
- 2000 “Campaign War Chests and Congressional Elections,” (with James Snyder) Business and Politics. 2 (April): 9-34.
- 1999 “Replicating Experiments Using Surveys and Aggregate Data: The Case of Negative Advertising.” (with Shanto Iyengar and Adam Simon) American Political Science Review 93 (December).
- 1999 “Valence Politics and Equilibrium in Spatial Models,” (with James Snyder), Public Choice.
- 1999 “Money and Institutional Power,” (with James Snyder), Texas Law Review 77 (June, 1999): 1673-1704.
- 1997 “Incumbency Advantage and the Persistence of Legislative Majorities,” (with Alan Gerber), Legislative Studies Quarterly 22 (May 1997).
- 1996 “The Effects of Ballot Access Rules on U.S. House Elections,” (with Alan Gerber), Legislative Studies Quarterly 21 (May 1996).
- 1994 “Riding the Wave and Issue Ownership: The Importance of Issues in Political

- Advertising and News,” (with Shanto Iyengar) Public Opinion Quarterly 58: 335-357.
- 1994 “Horseshoes and Horseraces: Experimental Evidence of the Effects of Polls on Campaigns,” (with Shanto Iyengar) Political Communications 11/4 (October-December): 413-429.
- 1994 “Does Attack Advertising Demobilize the Electorate?” (with Shanto Iyengar), American Political Science Review 89 (December).
- 1994 “The Mismeasure of Campaign Spending: Evidence from the 1990 U.S. House Elections,” (with Alan Gerber) Journal of Politics 56 (September).
- 1993 “Poll Faulting,” (with Thomas R. Belin) Chance 6 (Winter): 22-28.
- 1991 “The Vanishing Marginals and Electoral Responsiveness,” (with David Brady and Morris Fiorina) British Journal of Political Science 22 (November): 21-38.
- 1991 “Mass Media and Elections: An Overview,” (with Roy Behr and Shanto Iyengar) American Politics Quarterly 19/1 (January): 109-139.
- 1990 “The Limits of Unraveling in Interest Groups,” Rationality and Society 2: 394-400.
- 1990 “Measuring the Consequences of Delegate Selection Rules in Presidential Nominations,” (with Gary King) Journal of Politics 52: 609-621.
- 1989 “The Nature of Utility Functions in Mass Publics,” (with Henry Brady) American Political Science Review 83: 143-164.

Special Reports

- 2002 “Election Day Registration.” A report prepared for DEMOS. This report analyzes the possible effects of Proposition 52 in California based on the experiences of 6 states with election day registration.
- 2002 “MIT Energy Survey: Summary Results,” report prepared for the MIT Nuclear Study Group.
- 2001 Voting: What Is, What Could Be. A report of the Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project. This report examines the voting system in the United States and was widely used by election reform efforts following the 2000 election, including the National Commission on Federal Election Reform and the National Council of State Legislatures.

- 2001 “An Assessment of the Reliability of Voting Technologies.” A report of the Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project. This report provided the first nationwide assessment of voting equipment performance in the United States. It was prepared for the Governor’s Select Task Force on Election Reform in Florida.

Chapters in Books

- 2005 “Voters, Candidates and Parties” in Handbook of Political Economy, Barry Weingast and Donald Wittman, eds. New York: Oxford University Press.
- 2003 “Baker v. Carr in Context, 1946 – 1964” (with Samuel Isaaccharoff) in Constitutional Cases in Context, Michael Dorf, editor. New York: Foundation Press.
- 2002 “Corruption and the Growth of Campaign Spending”(with Alan Gerber and James Snyder). A User’s Guide to Campaign Finance, Jerry Lubenow, editor. Rowman and Littlefield.
- 2001 “The Paradox of Minimal Effects,” in Henry Brady and Richard Johnston, eds., Do Campaigns Matter? University of Michigan Press.
- 2001 “Campaigns as Experiments,” in Henry Brady and Richard Johnson, eds., Do Campaigns Matter? University of Michigan Press.
- 2000 “Money and Office,” (with James Snyder) in David Brady and John Cogan, eds., Congressional Elections: Continuity and Change. Stanford University Press.
- 1996 “The Science of Political Advertising,” (with Shanto Iyengar) in Political Persuasion and Attitude Change, Richard Brody, Diana Mutz, and Paul Sniderman, eds. Ann Arbor, MI: University of Michigan Press.
- 1995 “Evolving Perspectives on the Effects of Campaign Communication,” in Philo Warburn, ed., Research in Political Sociology, vol. 7, JAI.
- 1995 “The Effectiveness of Campaign Advertising: It’s All in the Context,” (with Shanto Iyengar) in Campaigns and Elections American Style, Candice Nelson and James A. Thurber, eds. Westview Press.
- 1993 “Information and Electoral Attitudes: A Case of Judgment Under Uncertainty,” (with Shanto Iyengar), in Explorations in Political Psychology, Shanto Iyengar and William McGuire, eds. Durham: Duke University Press.

Working Papers

- 2004 "Voting Cues and the Incumbency Advantage: A Critical Test" (with Shigeo Hirano, James M. Snyder, Jr., and Michiko Ueda)
- 2004 "Television and the Incumbency Advantage" (with Erik C. Snowberg and James M. Snyder, Jr)
- 2004 "Using Recounts to Measure the Accuracy of Vote Tabulations: Evidence from New Hampshire Elections, 1946 to 2002" (with Andrew Reeves).
- 2004 "Did the Introduction of Voter Registration Decrease Turnout?" (with David Konisky).
- 2002 "Evidence of Virtual Representation: Reapportionment in California," (with Ruimin He and James M. Snyder).
- 2002 "Lost Votes." (with Charles Stewart) Paper presented at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association.
- 2002 "Rational Publics: The Case of Energy"
- 1999 "Why did a majority of Californians vote to lower their own power?" (with James Snyder and Jonathan Woon). Paper presented at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association, Atlanta, GA, September, 1999. Paper received the award for the best paper on Representation at the 1999 Annual Meeting of the APSA.
- 1999 "Has Television Increased the Cost of Campaigns?" (with Alan Gerber and James Snyder).
- 1996 "Money, Elections, and Candidate Quality," (with James Snyder).
- 1996 "Party Platform Choice - Single- Member District and Party-List Systems,"(with James Snyder).
- 1995 "Messages Forgotten" (with Shanto Iyengar).
- 1994 "Consumer Contributors and the Returns to Fundraising: A Microeconomic Analysis," (with Alan Gerber), presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, September.
- 1992 "Biases in Ecological Regression," (with R. Douglas Rivers) August, (revised February 1994). Presented at the Midwest Political Science Association Meetings, April 1994, Chicago, IL.

- 1992 "Using Aggregate Data to Correct Nonresponse and Misreporting in Surveys" (with R. Douglas Rivers). Presented at the annual meeting of the Political Methodology Group, Cambridge, Massachusetts, July.
- 1991 "The Electoral Effects of Issues and Attacks in Campaign Advertising" (with Shanto Iyengar). Presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, Washington, DC.
- 1991 "Television Advertising as Campaign Strategy: Some Experimental Evidence" (with Shanto Iyengar). Presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Association for Public Opinion Research, Phoenix.
- 1991 "Why Candidates Attack: Effects of Televised Advertising in the 1990 California Gubernatorial Campaign," (with Shanto Iyengar). Presented at the Annual Meeting of the Western Political Science Association, Seattle, March.
- 1990 "Winning is Easy, But It Sure Ain't Cheap." Working Paper #90-4, Center for the American Politics and Public Policy, UCLA. Presented at the Political Science Departments at Rochester University and the University of Chicago.

Research Grants

- 1989-1990 Markle Foundation. "A Study of the Effects of Advertising in the 1990 California Gubernatorial Campaign." Amount: $50,000
- 1991-1993 Markle Foundation. "An Experimental Study of the Effects of Campaign Advertising." Amount: $150,000
- 1991-1993 NSF. "An Experimental Study of the Effects of Advertising in the 1992 California Senate Electoral." Amount: $100,000
- 1994-1995 MIT Provost Fund. "Money in Elections: A Study of the Effects of Money on Electoral Competition." Amount: $40,000
- 1996-1997 National Science Foundation. "Campaign Finance and Political Representation." Amount: $50,000
- 1997 National Science Foundation. "Party Platforms: A Theoretical Investigation of Party Competition Through Platform Choice." Amount: $40,000
- 1997-1998 National Science Foundation. "The Legislative Connection in Congressional Campaign Finance. Amount: $150,000
- 1999-2000 MIT Provost Fund. "Districting and Representation." Amount: $20,000.

- 1999-2002 Sloan Foundation. "Congressional Staff Seminar." Amount: $156,000.
- 2000-2001 Carnegie Corporation. "The Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project." Amount: $253,000.
- 2001-2002 Carnegie Corporation. "Dissemination of Voting Technology Information." Amount: $200,000.
- 2003-2005 National Science Foundation. "State Elections Data Project." Amount: $256,000.
- 2003-2004 Carnegie Corporation. "Internet Voting." Amount: $279,000.
- 2003-2005 Knight Foundation. "Accessibility and Security of Voting Systems." Amount: $450,000.

Professional Boards and Task Forces

- Member, Board of the National Election Studies (1999 to present)
 Editorial Board of Legislative Studies Quarterly (2005 to present)
 Editorial Board of the Election Law Journal (2002 to present)
 Editorial Board of the Harvard International Journal of Press/Politics (1996 to present)
 Editorial Board of Business and Politics (2002 to Present)

Special Projects and Task Forces

- Co-Director, Caltech/MIT Voting Technology Project (2000 to present)
- Co-Organizer, MIT Seminar for Senior Congressional and Executive Staff (1996 to present)
- MIT Coal Study (2004-present)
- MIT Nuclear Study (2002-2004)
- Voting Technology Task Force Leader, Election Reform Initiative of The Constitution Project (2001 to 2002)

Interview List

Academics

Together (TW)

Mike Alvarez
Steve Ansolobohere
Lori Minnite
Chandler Davidson

Judges

Together (JS)

Justice Tom Glaze, Supreme Court of Arkansas
Justice Charles Talley Wells, Supreme Court of Florida
Justice Evelyn Lundberg Stratton, Supreme Court of Ohio
Justice Pamela B. Minzner, Supreme Court of New Mexico

Election Administrators

Harry Van Sickle, Commissioner of Elections, Pennsylvania (TW)
Mike McCarthy, Supervisor of Elections, Minnesota (PS)
John Ravitz, Board of Elections, New York City (TW)
Kevin Kennedy, Director of Elections, Wisconsin (PS)
Connie McCormick, Los Angeles County Registrar (PS)
Trey Grayson, Kentucky Secretary of State
Sarah Ball Johnson -- Director of Elections, KY (McConnell) (PS)
Rebecca Vigil-Giron, Secretary of State (TW)
Tom Harrison, former Secretary of State Office (PS)

Advocates

Wade Henderson, Executive Director, Leadership Conference on Civil Rights (TW)
Donna Brazile, Chair, Democratic National Committee's Voting Rights Institute (TW)
Nina Perales, Regional Counsel, Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund (TW)
James A. Baker III (DC), Baker-Carter Commission (JS)
Sharon Priest (AR), former Secretary of State of Arkansas, Baker-Carter Commission (while in Little Rock) (JS)
Robin DeJarnette, Executive Director, American Center for Voting Rights (JS)

Election Lawyers

Wendy Weiser, Brennan Center (TW)

Joseph Sandler, Sandler, Reif & Young (TW)

Joseph Rich, former head of the Voting Section, DOJ (TW)

Pat Rogers, Modrall, Sperling, Roehl, Harris and Sisk, P.A.(JS)

Colleen McAndrews, Bell, McAndrews, Hiltachk, & Davidson (JS)

Charles Bell Jr., Bell, McAndrews, Hiltachk, & Davidson (JS)

Attorneys involved in the Georgia, Indiana, and Arizona Litigation

Georgia

Thurbert Baker, Georgia Attorney General (Defendants) (JS)

Laughlin McDonald and Danny Levitas, ACLU of Georgia (Plaintiffs) (TW)

Indiana

Bill Groth, Fillenwarth, Dennerline, Groth & Towe (Plaintiffs) (TW)

Thomas M. Fisher, Esq. and Douglas J. Webber, Esq. Indiana Attorney General's Office
(Defendants) (JS)

Arizona

Steve Reyes and Nina Perales, MALDEF (Plaintiffs) (TW)

Mary O'Grady, Arizona Assistant Attorney General (JS)

SCHEDULE OF INTERVIEWS - VOTING FRAUD/VOTER INTIMIDATION PROJECT

| Date      | Time         | Name                  | Organization   | Phone #                      | Arrangements  |
|-----------|--------------|-----------------------|--|------------------------------|---|
| 1/13/2006 | 2:00 PM EST  | Craig Donsanto        | Director, Election Crimes Branch, DOJ                            | 202-514-1421                 | Tova and Peg to meet Donsanto at DOJ and call Job                       |
| 2/14/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | Wade Henderson        | Leadership Conference on Civil Rights                            | 202-466-3311                 | Tova will coordinate call   |
| 2/15/2006 | 2:00 PM EST  | Douglas Webber        | Indiana Assistant Attorney General                               | 317-373-4346317-232-6224 | Peg Sims will call Tova, Job, and Webber to establish Conference Call   |
| 2/16/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | John Ravitz           | Board of Elections, New York City                                | 212-487-5412                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
|           | 2:00 PM EST  | Robin DeJarnette      | American Center for Voting Rights                                | 804-241-5368                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
| 2/17/2006 | Noon EST     | Steve Ansolobehere    | MIT  |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
|           |              | Chandler Davidson     | Rice University  |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
|           | 3:00 PM EST  | Evelyn Stratton       | Justice, Ohio Supreme Court                                      | 614-387-9050                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
| 2/21/2006 | 1:00 PM EST  | Neil Bradley          | Lawyer for GA Plaintiffs   | 404-523-2721ext.217      | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
| 2/22/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | Wendy Weiser          | Brennan Center   | 212-998-6130                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
|           | Noon EST     | Lori Minnite          | Barnard College  |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62210   |
|           | 4:00 PM EST  | Bill Groth            | Fillenwarth, Dennerline, Groth & Towe (IN Plaintiffs)            | 317-353-9363                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209   |
| 2/24/2006 | Noon EST     | Joe Sandler           | Sandler, Reif & Young  | 202-479-1111                 | Job will call EAC toll-free. Peg will transfer him to Sandler's office. |
|           | 2:00 PM EST  | John Tanner           | DOJ  | 202-514-2386                 | Suggest calling Job from Tanner's office and using speaker phone.       |
| 3/1/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | Harry VanSickle       | Commissioner of Elections - PA                                   |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
| 3/3/2006  | Noon EST     | Pat Rogers            | Modrall, Sperling, Roehl, Harris and Sisk, P.A.                  |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
|           | 3:00 PM EST  | Tracy Campbell        | University of Kentucky   |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
| 3/7/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | Nina Perales          | MALDEF   |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
| 3/22/2006 | 3:30 PM EST  | Heather Dawn Thompson | The Appleseed Foundation/Native Vote Election Protection Project |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
| 3/24/2006 | Noon EST     | Rebecca Vigil-Giron   | Secretart of State, NM   |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209.  |
|           |              |                       |  |                              |   |
|           |              |                       |  |                              |   |

As of 3/20/06

Phone Numbers for EAC Consultants:
 Tova Wang, 212-452-7704
 Job Serebrov, 501-374-2176

010943

| SCHEDULE OF INTERVIEWS - VOTING FRAUD/VOTER INTIMIDATION PROJECT |              |                    |  |                         |  |
|--|--------------|--------------------|--|-------------------------|--|
| Date   | Time         | Name               | Organization   | Phone #                 | Arrangements   |
| 2/16/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | John Ravitz        | Board of Elections, New York City                        | 212-487-5412            |  |
|  | 2:00 PM EST  | Robin DeJarnette   | American Center for Voting Rights                        | 804-241-5368            |  |
| 2/17/2006  | Noon EST     | Mike Alvarez       | CalTech  |                         | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209. |
|  |              | Steve Ansolobehere | MIT  |                         |  |
|  |              | Chandler Davidson  | Rice University  |                         |  |
|  | 3:00 PM EST  | Evelyn Stratton    | Justice, Ohio Supreme Court                              | 614-387-9050            |  |
| 2/21/2006  | 4:00 PM EST  | Neil Bradley       | Lawyer for GA Plaintiffs                                 | 404.523.2721ext 217 |  |
| 2/22/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | Wendy Weiser       | Brennan Center   | 212-998-6130            |  |
|  | Noon EST     | Lori Minnite       | Barnard College  |                         |  |
|  | 4:00 PM EST  | Bill Groth         | Fillenwarth, Dennerline, Groth & Towe(IN Plaintiffs) | 317-353-9363            |  |
| 3/7/2006   | 11:00 AM EST | Nina Perales       | MALDEF   |                         |  |

As of 2/15/06

Phone Numbers for EAC Consultants:

Tova Wang, 212-452-7704

Job Serebrov, 501-374-2176

010947

SCHEDULE OF INTERVIEWS - VOTING FRAUD/VOTER INTIMIDATION PROJECT

| Date      | Time         | Name               | Organization  | Phone #                      | Arrangements   |
|-----------|--------------|--------------------|---|------------------------------|--|
| 1/13/2006 | 2:00 PM EST  | Craig Donsanto     | Director, Election Crimes Branch, DOJ                 | 202-514-1421                 | Tova and Peg to meet Donsanto at DOJ and call Job                      |
| 2/14/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | Wade Henderson     | Leadership Conference on Civil Rights                 | 202-466-3311                 | Tova will coordinate call  |
| 2/15/2006 | 2:00 PM EST  | Douglas Webber     | Indiana Assistant Attorney General                    | 317-373-4346317-232-6224 | Peg Sims will call Tova, Job, and Webber to establish Conference Call  |
| 2/16/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | John Ravitz        | Board of Elections, New York City                     | 212-487-5412                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
|           | 2:00 PM EST  | Robin DeJarnette   | American Center for Voting Rights                     | 804-241-5368                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 2/17/2006 | Noon EST     | Steve Ansolobehere | MIT   |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
|           |              | Chandler Davidson  | Rice University                                       |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
|           | 3:00 PM EST  | Evelyn Stratton    | Justice, Ohio Supreme Court                           | 614-387-9050                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 2/21/2006 | 1:00 PM EST  | Neil Bradley       | Lawyer for GA Plaintiffs                              | 404-523-2721ext 217      | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 2/22/2006 | 11:00 AM EST | Wendy Weiser       | Brennan Center  | 212-998-6130                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
|           | Noon EST     | Lori Minnite       | Barnard College                                       |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62210  |
|           | 4:00 PM EST  | Bill Groth         | Fillenwarth, Dennerline, Groth & Towe (IN Plaintiffs) | 317-353-9363                 | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 2/24/2006 | Noon EST     | Joe Sandler        | Sandler, Reif & Young                                 | 202-479-1111                 | Job will call EAC toll-free. Peg will transfer him to Sandler's office |
|           | 2:00 PM EST  | John Tanner        | DOJ   | 202-514-2386                 | Suggest calling Job from Tanner's office and using speaker phone       |
| 3/1/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | Harry VanSickle    | Commissioner of Elections - PA                        |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 3/3/2006  | Noon EST     | Pat Rogers         | Modrall, Sperling, Roehl, Harris and Sisk, P.A        |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
|           | 3:00 PM EST  | Tracy Campbell     | University of Kentucky                                |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |
| 3/7/2006  | 11:00 AM EST | Nina Perales       | MALDEF  |                              | All participants should dial 1-866-222-9044 and enter Pass Code 62209  |

As of 2/24/06

Phone Numbers for EAC Consultants:

Tova Wang, 212-452-7704

Job Serebrov, 501-374-2176

019645

Determining a Methodology for Measuring Voter Fraud and Intimidation: Recommendations of Political Scientists

The following is a summary of interviews conducted with a number of political scientists and experts in the field as to how one might undertake a comprehensive examination of voter fraud and intimidation. A list of the individuals interviewed and their ideas are available, and all of the individuals welcome any further questions or explanations of their recommended procedures.

- 1) In analyzing instances of alleged fraud and intimidation, we should look to criminology as a model. In criminology, experts use two sources: the Uniform Crime Reports, which are all reports made to the police, and the Victimization Survey, which asks the general public whether a particular incident has happened to them. After surveying what the most common allegations are, we should conduct a survey of the general public that ask whether they have committed certain acts or been subjected to any incidents of fraud or intimidation. This would require using a very large sample, and we would need to employ the services of an expert in survey data collection. (Stephen Ansolobhere, MIT)

- 2) Several political scientists with expertise in these types of studies recommended a methodology that includes interviews, focus groups, and a limited survey. In determining who to interview and where the focus groups should be drawn from, they recommend the following procedure:
  - Pick a number of places that have historically had many reports of fraud and/or intimidation; from that pool pick 10 that are geographically and demographically diverse, and have had a diversity of problems
  - Pick a number of places that have not had many reports of fraud and/or intimidation; from that pool pick 10 places that match the geographic and demographic make-up of the previous ten above (and, if possible, have comparable elections practices)
  - Assess the resulting overall reports and impressions resulting from these interviews and focus groups, and examine comparisons and differences among the states and what may give rise to them.

In conducting a survey of elections officials, district attorneys, district election officers, they recommend that:

- The survey sample be large in order to be able to get the necessary subsets
- The survey must include a random set of counties where there have and have not been a large number of allegations

(Allan Lichtman, American University; Thad Hall, University of Utah; Bernard Grofman, UC – Irvine)

- 3) Another political scientist recommended employing a methodology that relies on qualitative data drawn from in-depth interviews with key critics and experts on all sides of the debate on fraud; quantitative data collected through a survey of state and local elections and law enforcement officials; and case studies. Case studies should focus on the five or ten states, regions or cities where there has been a history of election fraud to examine past and present problems. The survey should be mailed to each state's attorney general and secretary of state, each county district attorney's office and each county board of elections in the 50 states. (Lorraine Minnite, Barnard College)
- 4) The research should be a two-step process. Using LexisNexis and other research tools, a search should be conducted of news media accounts over the past decade. Second, interviews with a systematic sample of election officials nationwide and in selected states should be conducted. (Chandler Davidson, Rice University)
- 5) One expert in the field posits that we can never come up with a number that accurately represents either the incidence of fraud or the incidence of voter intimidation. Therefore, the better approach is to do an assessment of what is most likely to happen, what election violations are most likely to be committed – in other words, a risk analysis. This would include an analysis of what it would actually take to commit various acts, e.g. the cost/benefit of each kind of violation. From there we could rank the likely prevalence of each type of activity and examine what measures are or could be effective in combating them. (Wendy Weiser, Brennan Center of New York University)
- 6) Replicate a study in the United States done abroad by Susan Hyde of the University of California- San Diego examining the impact of impartial poll site observers on the incidence of election fraud. Doing this retrospectively would require the following steps:
  - Find out where there were federal observers
  - Get precinct level voting information for those places
  - Analyze whether there was any difference in election outcomes in those places with and without observers, and whether any of these results seem anomalous.

Despite the tremendous differences in the political landscapes of the countries examined by Hyde in previous studies and the U.S., Hyde believes this study could be effectively replicated in this country by sending observers to a random sample of precincts. Rather than compare the incumbent's vote share, such factors such as voter complaints, voter turnout, number of provisional ballots used, composition of the electorate, as well as any anomalous voting results could be compared between sites with and without monitors.

For example, if intimidation is occurring, and if reputable monitors make intimidation less likely or voters more confident, then turnout should be higher on average in monitored precincts than in unmonitored precincts. If polling station officials are intentionally refusing to issue provisional ballots, and the polling station officials are more likely to adhere to regulations while being monitored, the average number of provisional ballots should be higher in monitored precincts than in unmonitored precincts. If monitors cause polling station officials to adhere more closely to regulations, then there should be fewer complaints (in general) about monitored than unmonitored precincts (this could also be reversed if monitors made voters more likely to complain).

Again, random assignment controls for all of the other factors that otherwise influence these variables.

One of the downsides of this approach is it does not get at some forms of fraud, e.g. absentee ballot fraud; those would have to be analyzed separately

7) Another political scientist recommends conducting an analysis of vote fraud claims and purging of registration rolls by list matching. Allegations of illegal voting often are based on matching of names and birth dates. Alleged instances of double voting are based on matching the names and birth dates of persons found on voting records. Allegations of ineligible felon (depending on state law), deceased, and of non-citizen voting are based on matching lists of names, birth dates, and sometimes addresses of such people against a voting records. Anyone with basic relational database skills can perform such matching in a matter of minutes.

However, there are a number of pitfalls for the unwary that can lead to grossly over-estimating the number of fraudulent votes, such as missing or ignored middle names and suffixes or matching on missing birth dates. Furthermore, there is a surprising statistical fact that a group of about three hundred people with the same first and last name are almost assured to share the exact same birth date, including year. In a large state, it is not uncommon for hundreds of Robert Smiths (and other common names) to have voted. Thus, allegations of vote fraud or purging of voter registration rolls by list matching almost assuredly will find a large proportion of false positives: people who voted legally or are registered to vote legally.

Statistics can be rigorously applied to determine how many names would be expected to be matched by chance. A simulation approach is best applied here: randomly assign a birth date to an arbitrary number of people and observe how many match within the list or across lists. The simulation is repeated many times to average out the variation due to chance. The results can then be matched back to actual voting records and purge lists, for example, in the hotly contested states of Ohio or Florida, or in states with Election Day registration where there are concerns that easy access to voting permits double voting. This analysis will rigorously identify the magnitude alleged voter fraud, and may very well find instances of alleged fraud that exceed what might have otherwise happened by chance.

This same political scientist also recommends another way to examine the problem: look at statistics on provisional voting: the number cast might provide indications of intimidation (people being challenged at the polls) and the number of those not counted would be indications of "vote fraud." One could look at those jurisdictions in the Election Day Survey with a disproportionate number of provisional ballots cast and cross reference it with demographics and number of provisional ballots discarded. (Michael McDonald, George Mason University)

- 8) Spencer Overton, in a forthcoming law review article entitled Voter Identification, suggests a methodology that employs three approaches— investigations of voter fraud, random surveys of voters who purported to vote, and an examination of death rolls provide a better understanding of the frequency of fraud. He says all three approaches have strengths and weaknesses, and thus the best studies would employ all three to assess the extent of voter fraud. An excerpt follows:

1. Investigations and Prosecutions of Voter Fraud

Policymakers should develop databases that record all investigations, allegations, charges, trials, convictions, acquittals, and plea bargains regarding voter fraud. Existing studies are incomplete but provide some insight. For example, a statewide survey of each of Ohio's 88 county boards of elections found only four instances of ineligible persons attempting to vote out of a total of 9,078,728 votes cast in the state's 2002 and 2004 general elections. This is a fraud rate of 0.00000045 percent. The Carter-Baker Commission's Report noted that since October 2002, federal officials had charged 89 individuals with casting multiple votes, providing false information about their felon status, buying votes, submitting false voter registration information, and voting improperly as a non-citizen. Examined in the context of the 196,139,871 ballots cast between October 2002 and August 2005, this represents a fraud rate of 0.0000005 percent (note also that not all of the activities charged would have been prevented by a photo identification requirement).

A more comprehensive study should distinguish voter fraud that could be prevented by a photo identification requirement from other types of fraud — such as absentee voting and stuffing ballot boxes — and obtain statistics on the factors that led law enforcement to prosecute fraud. The study would demand significant resources because it would require that researchers interview and pour over the records of local district attorneys and election boards.

Hard data on investigations, allegations, charges, pleas, and prosecutions is important because it quantifies the amount of fraud officials detect. Even if prosecutors vigorously pursue voter fraud, however, the number of fraud cases charged probably does not capture the total amount of voter fraud. Information on official investigations, charges, and prosecutions should be supplemented by surveys of voters and a comparison of voting rolls to death rolls.

2. Random Surveys of Voters

Random surveys could give insight about the percentage of votes cast fraudulently. For example, political scientists could contact a statistically representative sampling of 1,000 people who purportedly voted at the polls in the last election, ask them if they actually voted, and confirm the percentage who are valid voters. Researchers should conduct the survey soon after an election to locate as many legitimate voters as possible with fresh memories.

Because many respondents would perceive voting as a social good, some who did not vote might claim that they did, which may underestimate the extent of fraud. A surveyor might mitigate this skew through the framing of the question (“I’ve got a record that you voted. Is that true?”).

Further, some voters will not be located by researchers and others will refuse to talk to researchers. Photo identification proponents might construe these non-respondents as improper registrations that were used to commit voter fraud.

Instead of surveying all voters to determine the amount of fraud, researchers might reduce the margin of error by focusing on a random sampling of voters who signed affidavits in the three states that request photo identification but also allow voters to establish their identity through affidavit—Florida, Louisiana, and South Dakota. In South Dakota, for example, only two percent of voters signed affidavits to establish their identity. If the survey indicates that 95 percent of those who signed affidavits are legitimate voters (and the other 5 percent were shown to be either fraudulent or were non-responsive), this suggests that voter fraud accounts for, at the maximum, 0.1 percent of ballots cast.

The affidavit study, however, is limited to three states, and it is unclear whether this sample is representative of other states (the difficulty may be magnified in Louisiana in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina’s displacement of hundreds of thousands of voters). Further, the affidavit study reveals information about the amount of fraud in a photo identification state with an affidavit exception—more voter fraud may exist in a state that does not request photo identification.

3. Examining Death Rolls

A comparison of death rolls to voting rolls might also provide an estimate of fraud.

Imagine that one million people live in state A, which has no documentary identification requirement. Death records show that 20,000 people passed away in state A in 2003. A cross-referencing of this list to the voter rolls shows that 10,000 of those who died were registered voters, and these names remained on the voter rolls during the November 2004 election. Researchers would look at what percentage of the 10,000 dead-but-registered people who “voted” in the November 2004 election. A researcher should distinguish the votes cast in the name of the dead at the polls from those cast absentee (which a photo identification requirement would not prevent). This number would be extrapolated to the electorate as a whole.

This methodology also has its strengths and weaknesses. If fraudulent voters target the dead, the study might overestimate the fraud that exists among living voters (although a low incidence of fraud among deceased voters might suggest that fraud among all voters is low). The appearance of fraud also might be inflated by false positives produced by a computer match of different people with the same name. Photo identification advocates would likely assert that the rate of voter fraud could be higher among fictitious names registered, and that the death record survey would not capture that type of fraud because fictitious names registered would not show up in the death records. Nevertheless, this study, combined with the other two, would provide important insight into the magnitude of fraud likely to exist in the absence of a photo identification requirement.

MAJOR VOTE BUYING CASES SUMMARY

Between 2001 and 2006, allegations and convictions for vote buying and conspiracies to buy votes were concentrated in three states: Illinois, West Virginia and Kentucky.

In East St. Louis, Illinois, nine individuals, including a former city council member and the head of the local Democratic Party, Charles Powell, Jr., were convicted or pled guilty to vote buying and conspiracy to commit election fraud during the 2004 general election. The government's conspiracy case was almost entirely based on taped conversations in which the defendants discussed buying votes for $5 and whether this would be adequate. Federal prosecutors alleged that the vote buying was financed with $79,000 transferred from the County Democratic Party shortly before the election, although county officials have not been charged. Four defendants were convicted of purchasing or offering to purchase at least one vote directly, while Democratic Party chairman was only convicted of conspiracy.<sup>1</sup> Earlier, three precinct officials and one precinct worker pled guilty to buying votes for $5 or $10 in that same election.<sup>2</sup>

Eastern Kentucky has witnessed a series of vote buying cases over the last several years. The most recent revolved around Ross Harris, a Pike County political fundraiser and coal executive, and his associate Loren Glenn Turner. Harris and Turner were convicted in September 2004 of vote buying, mail fraud, and several other counts.<sup>3</sup> Prosecutors alleged Harris and Turner conspired to buy votes and provided the necessary funds in an unsuccessful 2002 bid for Pike County district judge by former State Senator Doug Hays. Harris supplied nearly $40,000, Turner laundered the money through straw contributors, and the cash was then disbursed in the form of $50 checks ostensibly for 'vote hauling', the legal practice of paying campaign workers to get voters to the polls which is notorious as a cover for buying votes.<sup>4</sup> Harris attempted to influence the race on behalf of Hays in order to get revenge on Hays' opponent for a personal matter.<sup>5</sup>

A grand jury initially indicted 10 individuals in connection with the Harris and Turner case, including Hays and his wife, and six campaign workers. Of the remaining defendants, only one, Tom Varney, also a witness in the Hays case, pled guilty. The others were either acquitted of vote buying charges or had vote buying charges dropped.<sup>6</sup> Prosecutors have announced that their investigation continues into others tied to Harris and may produce further indictments.

The Harris case follows a series of trials related to the 1998 Knott County Democratic primary. Between 2003 and 2004, 10 individuals were indicted on vote buying charges, including a winning candidate in those primaries, Knott County judge-executive Donnie Newsome, who was reelected in 2002. In 2004 Newsome and a supporter were sent to jail and fined. Five other

---

<sup>1</sup> "Five convicted in federal vote-fraud trial" Associated Press, June 30, 2005; "Powell gets 21 months" Belleville News-Democrat, March 1, 2006.

<sup>2</sup> "Four Plead Guilty To Vote-Buying Cash Was Allegedly Supplied By St. Clair Democratic Machine" Belleville News-Democrat, March 23, 2005.

<sup>3</sup> "2 found guilty in pike county vote-fraud case; Two-year sentences possible," Lexington Herald Leader, September 17, 2004.

<sup>4</sup> "Jury weighing vote-fraud case," Lexington Herald Leader, September 16, 2004.

<sup>5</sup> "Pike Election Trial Goes To Jury" Lexington Herald Leader, January 1, 2006.

<sup>6</sup> "Former state senator acquitted of vote buying," Lexington Herald Leader, November 2, 2004.

EAC Preliminary Research on Voting Fraud and Voter Intimidation

---

defendants pled guilty to vote buying charges, and three were acquitted. The primary means of vote buying entailed purchasing absentee votes from elderly, infirm, illiterate or poor voters, usually for between $50 and $100. This resulted in an abnormally high number of absentee ballots in the primary.<sup>7</sup> Indictments relating to that same 1998 primary were also brought in 1999, when 6 individuals were indicted for buying the votes of students at a small local college. Five of those indicted were convicted or pled guilty.<sup>8</sup>

Absentee vote buying was also an issue in 2002, when federal prosecutors opened an investigation in Kentucky's Clay County after an abnormal number of absentee ballots were filed in the primary and the sheriff halted absentee voting twice over concerns.<sup>9</sup> Officials received hundreds of complaints of vote-buying during the 2002 primary, and state investigators performed follow up investigations in a number of counties, including Knott, Bell, Floyd, Pike, and Maginoff.<sup>10</sup> No indictments have been produced so far.

So far, relatively few incidents of vote-buying have been substantially identified or investigated in the 2004 election. Two instances of vote buying in local 2004 elections have been brought before a grand jury. In one, a Casey County man was indicted for purchasing votes in a local school board race with cash and whiskey.<sup>11</sup> In the second, the grand jury chose not to indict an individual accused of offering to purchase a teenager's vote on a local proposal with beer.<sup>12</sup>

An extensive vote buying conspiracy has also been uncovered in southern West Virginia. The federal probe, which handed down its first indictment in 2003, has yielded more than a dozen guilty pleas to charges of vote buying and conspiracy in elections since the late 1980s. As this area is almost exclusively dominated by the Democratic Party, vote-buying occurred largely during primary contests.

The first phase of the probe focused on Logan County residents, where vote buying charges were brought in relation to elections in 1996, 2000, 2002 and 2004. In an extraordinary tactic, the FBI planted the former mayor of Logan City, Tom Esposito, as a candidate in a state legislative race. Esposito's cooperation led to guilty pleas from the Logan County Clerk, who pled guilty to selling his vote to Esposito in 1996,<sup>13</sup> and another man who took money from Esposito for the purpose of vote buying in 2004.<sup>14</sup>

Guilty pleas were also obtained in connection with former county sheriff Johnny Mendez, who pled guilty to buying votes in two primary elections in order to elect candidates including

---

<sup>7</sup> "Knott County, KY., Judge Executive sentenced on vote-buying conspiracy charges," Department of Justice, March 16, 2004.

<sup>8</sup> "6 men accused of vote fraud in '98 Knott primary; Charges include vote buying and lying to FBI"

<sup>9</sup> "Election 2002: ABSENTEE BALLOTING; State attorney general's office investigates voting records in some counties" The Courier-Journal, November 7, 2002.

<sup>10</sup> "Election 2002: Kentucky; VOTE FRAUD; Investigators monitor 17 counties across state" The Courier-Journal, November 6, 2002.

<sup>11</sup> "Jury finds man guilty on vote-buying charges" Associated Press, November 11, 2005.

<sup>12</sup> "Man in beer vote case files suit" The Cincinnati Enquirer, March 17, 2005.

<sup>13</sup> "Two plead to vote fraud; Logan clerk sold vote; politician tried to buy votes" Charleston Gazette, December 14, 2005.

<sup>14</sup> "Logan man gets probation in vote-fraud scandal" Charleston Gazette, March 1, 2006.

himself. In 2000, with a large amount of funding from a prominent local lawyer seeking to influence a state delegate election for his wife, Mendez distributed around $10,000 in payments to voters of $10 to $100. Then, in the 2004 primary, Mendez distributed around $2,000 before his arrest.<sup>15</sup> A deputy of Mendez', the former Logan police chief, also pled guilty to a count of vote buying in 2002.<sup>16</sup>

Prosecutors focusing on neighboring Lincoln County have alleged a long-standing vote-buying conspiracy extending back to the late 1980s. The probe identified Lincoln County Circuit Clerk Greg Stowers as head of a Democratic Party faction which routinely bought votes in order to maintain office. Stowers pled guilty in December 2005 to distributing around $7,000 to buy votes in the 2004 primary. The Lincoln County Assessor, and Stowers' longtime political ally, Jerry Allen Weaver, also pled guilty to conspiracy to buy votes.<sup>17</sup> These were accompanied by four other guilty pleas from party workers for vote buying in primaries. While most specific charges focused on vote buying in the 2004 primary, defendants also admitted buying votes as far back as the 1988, 1990, and 1992 primaries.

The leading conspirators would give party workers candidate slates and cash, which workers would then take to the polling place and use to purchase votes for amounts between $10 and $40 and in one instance, for liquor. Voters would be handed the slate of chosen candidates, and would then be paid upon exiting the polling place. In other cases, the elected officials in question purchased votes in exchange for non-cash rewards, including patronage positions, fixed tickets, favorable tax assessments, and home improvements.<sup>18</sup>

The West Virginia probe is ongoing, as prosecutors are scrutinizing others implicated during the proceedings so far, including a sitting state delegate, who may be under scrutiny for vote buying in a 1990 election, and one of the Lincoln county defendants who previously had vote buying charges against him dropped.<sup>19</sup>

---

<sup>15</sup> "Mendez confined to home for year Ex-Logan sheriff was convicted of buying votes" Charleston Gazette, January 22, 2005.

<sup>16</sup> "Ex-Logan police sentenced for buying votes" Associated Press, February 15, 2005.

<sup>17</sup> "Clerk says he engaged in vote buying" Charleston Gazette, December 30, 2005.

<sup>18</sup> "Lincoln clerk, two others plead guilty to election fraud" Charleston Daily Mail, December 30, 2005.

<sup>19</sup> "Next phase pondered in federal vote-buying probe" Associated Press, January 1, 2006.

Nexis Articles Analysis

Note: The search terms used were ones agreed upon by both Job Serebrov and Tova Wang and are available upon request. A more systematic, numerical analysis of the data contained in the Nexis charts is currently being undertaken. What follows is an overview.

Recommendation: In phase 2, consultants should conduct a Nexis search that specifically attempts to follow up on the cases for which no resolution is evident from this particular initial search.

Overview of the Articles

Absentee Ballots

According to press reports, absentee ballots are abused in a variety of ways:

1. Campaign workers, candidates and others coerce the voting choices of vulnerable populations, usually elderly voters
2. Workers for groups and individuals have attempted to vote absentee in the names of the deceased
3. Workers for groups, campaign workers and individuals have attempted to forge the names of other voters on absentee ballot requests and absentee ballots and thus vote multiple times

It is unclear how often actual convictions result from these activities (a handful of articles indicate convictions and guilty pleas), but this is an area in which there have been a substantial number of official investigations and actual charges filed, according to news reports where such information is available. A few of the allegations became part of civil court proceedings contesting the outcome of the election.

While absentee fraud allegations turn up throughout the country, a few states have had several such cases. Especially of note are Indiana, New Jersey, South Dakota, and most particularly, Texas. Interestingly, there were no articles regarding Oregon, where the entire system is vote by mail.

Voter Registration Fraud

According to press reports, the following types of allegations of voter registration fraud are most common:

1. Registering in the name of dead people
2. Fake names and other information on voter registration forms
3. Illegitimate addresses used on voter registration forms
4. Voters being tricked into registering for a particular party under false pretenses

5. Destruction of voter registration forms depending on the party the voter registered with

There was only one self evident instance of a noncitizen registering to vote. Many of the instances reported on included official investigations and charges filed, but few actual convictions, at least from the news reporting. There have been multiple reports of registration fraud in California, Colorado, Florida, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Voter Intimidation and Suppression

This is the area which had the most articles in part because there were so many allegations of intimidation and suppression during the 2004 election. Most of these remained allegations and no criminal investigation or prosecution ensued. Some of the cases did end up in civil litigation.

This is not to say that these alleged activities were confined to 2004 – there were several allegations made during every year studied. Most notable were the high number of allegations of voter intimidation and harassment reported during the 2003 Philadelphia mayoral race.

A very high number of the articles were about the issue of challenges to voters' registration status and challengers at the polling places. There were many allegations that planned challenge activities were targeted at minority communities. Some of the challenges were concentrated in immigrant communities.

However, the tactics alleged varied greatly. The types of activities discussed also include the following:

- Photographing or videotaping voters coming out of polling places.
- Improper demands for identification
- Poll watchers harassing voters
- Poll workers being hostile to or aggressively challenging voters
- Disproportionate police presence
- Poll watchers wearing clothes with messages that seemed intended to intimidate
- Insufficient voting machines and unmanageably long lines

Although the incidents reported on occurred everywhere, not surprisingly, many came from "battleground" states. There were several such reports out of Florida, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

"Dead Voters and Multiple Voting"

There were a high number of articles about people voting in the names of the dead and voting more than once. Many of these articles were marked by allegations of big numbers of people committing these frauds, and relatively few of these allegations

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

| City/County              | State       | Date      | Type of Election                  | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Source 1 | Source 2 | Source 3 | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|--------------------------|-------------|-----------|-----------------------------------|--|---------------------------|----------|----------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
| Phillips                 | Arkansas    | 2-Nov-02  | primary                           | The sanitation director for Helena, the Phillips County seat, admitted in court to illegally casting more than 25 absentee ballots in the Democratic primary in May.   | Arkansas Democrat-Gazette |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| South Gate               | California  | 28-Jan-03 | Treasurer and city council recall | Supporters of the recall, which is being led by the city's two police unions, say city employees have been illegally filling out absentee ballots against the recall.  | Los Angeles Times         |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Bridgeport               | Connecticut | 6-Sep-02  |                                   | Election officials found an absentee ballot application for someone who is dead  | Connecticut Post          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Bridgeport and New Haven | Connecticut | 4-Nov-02  | probate judge                     | FBI is investigating potential absentee ballot fraud in Bridgeport Democratic primary and two men face absentee ballot charges involving 2 New Haven primaries   | Connecticut Post          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Hartford                 | Connecticut | 12-Aug    | state legislature                 | former state representative is charged with seven counts of absentee ballot fraud for absentee ballot coercion in a particular apartment complex.  | Hartford Courant          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Bridgeport               | Connecticut | 3-Dec-03  | town committee                    | The elections commission wants four brothers to be charged with fraudulent voting for allegedly submitting illegal absentee ballots in the March 2002 Democratic Town Committee primary. The commission alleges that none of the brothers lived in Bridgeport when they voted in those city elections. | Connecticut Post          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Smyrna                   | Delaware    | 3-Aug-05  | town                              | A challenger to the mayor who lost by 2 votes is suing the mayor for personally delivering absentee ballots to minority residents, some of whom were not eligible to vote  | The News Journal          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Winter Garden            | Florida     | 5-Mar-02  | city commissioner                 | Four are charged with forging names on absentee ballots  | AP                        |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Volusia                  | Florida     | 3-Oct-03  | city                              | Elections officials inquire into 43 absentee ballot request forms with the wrong date of birth and 3 requests with forged signatures   | Orlando Sentinel          |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Winter Haven             | Florida     | 6-Jan-04  | town                              | criminal complaint filed against woman for voting by absentee ballot when she did not live in the district   | Polk Online               |          |          |          |                                     |                        |                        |

010957

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|              |          |           |              |  |                        |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
|--------------|----------|-----------|--------------|--|------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|---------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Hialeah      | Florida  | 21-Mar-04 | city council | Miami-Dade public corruption detectives fanned across Hialeah on Friday, questioning employees of the city's public housing agency, as well as friends and relatives of politicians aligned with Mayor Raul Martinez. Sources close to the investigation say those interviewed were asked about their alleged handling of absentee ballots gathered from voters - many of them elderly - in the city's public housing units. | Miami Herald           |  |  |  |  | A special state prosecutor said he found no evidence of election fraud after a yearlong investigation of absentee voting at the Hialeah Housing Authority during that city's 2003 elections  | Miami Herald, May 11, 2005      |                                    |
| Orlando      | Florida  | 5-Mar-05  | mayoral      | A grand jury is investigating the possible mishandling of absentee ballots by a minority voting advocate who has worked for many campaigns   | Orlando Sentinel       |  |  |  |  | All charges are dropped. Democrats allege the whole case was politically motivated; Florida prosecutors dropped a case charging the mayor with paying a campaign worker to collect absentee ballots. Three others indicted on the same charge were also cleared. | April 21, 2005 Orlando Sentinel | April 21, 2005, The New York Times |
| Cook         | Illinois | 15-Mar-02 | state        | ACORN alleges that a man went to a senior citizen home and voted the seniors' absentee ballots   | Chicago Sun-Times      |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| Calumet City | Illinois | 3-Sep-03  | mayoral      | A county judge threw out and reversed an election because of absentee coercion of disabled voters  | Chicago Tribune        |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| Marion       | Indiana  | 1-Nov-02  | county       | The county prosecutor is investigating absentee ballots in which signatures don't match, voter's names were misspelled, and correction fluid was used to change te address   | Indianapolis Star      |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| Madison      | Indiana  | 29-Apr-03 | primary      | State police are investigating whether Democratic primary absentee ballots were delivered to nursing homes that traditionally vote Republican  | Herald Bulletin        |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| Lake         | Indiana  | 11-Jul-03 | town         | Allegations are made of absentee ballots from voters who moved and forged signatures by one person. Case will be heard by a county judge   | Northwest Indiana News |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| Porter       | Indiana  | 31-Mar-04 | town         | Elections board investigates allegations that two ineligible voters voted by bsentee ballots   | Northwest Indiana News |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |
| East Chicago | Indiana  | 23-Jun-04 | mayoral      | The Indiana Supreme Court is considering whether to order a special mayoral election. The losing candidate claims he would have won if not for hundreds of fraudulent absentee votes cast for his opponent, including some cast on behalf of dead voters   | AP                     |  |  |  |  |  |                                 |                                    |

010958

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|              |             |                                |                 |  |                        |  |  |   |   |  |   |
|--------------|-------------|--------------------------------|-----------------|--|------------------------|--|--|---|---|--|---|
| Anderson     | Indiana     | 11-Dec-04                      | mayoral         | The longtime Democratic Party chairman in Madison County is accused of illegally delivering absentee ballots cast by two Anderson residents. Another man is accused of 17 Class D felony charges for allegedly registering absentee voters, then telling them how to vote and picking up their ballots. A woman is accused of completing an absentee ballot in September 2003 that listed an address where she did not live. | Indianapolis Star      |  |  |   |   |  |   |
| East Chicago | Indiana     | August 6, 2003, August 8, 2003 | mayoral primary | It is alleged that city workers were asked to vote absentee, acquire absentee applications, and given paid election day positions for bringing in absentee votes   | Northwest Indiana News |  |  | four people indicted, one for receiving absentee ballots for people ineligible to vote, one for failing to appear before the grand jury, and two for voter fraud and lying to the grand jury; county judges tosses out 155 absentee ballots but this does not change the election outcome; DOJ begins investigating | WISH TV, November 18, 2003; Northwest Indiana Times, January 21, 2004     |  | Post Tribune, December 15, 2005: two Democratic precinct committeement and three people with ties to a city contractor were charged with pressuring acquaintances to fill out absentee ballots. This brings the total number of people charged to 22 (See East Chicago summary) |
|              | Maine       | 13-Feb-04                      | state house     | Police have begun investigating allegations that elderly voters were pres-sured into casting absentee ballots for a Green Independent candidate in Maine's special election. Chief Roger Beaupre said Thursday his department has received 10 complaints of voter intimidation from elderly voters who were told votes for candidates other than Green Independent candidate Dorothy Lafortune did not count.                | AP                     |  |  |   |   |  |   |
| River Rouge  | Michigan    | 4-Apr-01                       | mayoral         | state police investigating absentee coercion in a senior apartment building  | Yahoo News             |  |  |   |   |  |   |
| Detroit      | Michigan    | 8-Nov-05                       | mayoral         | A lawsuit alleges the City Clerk's assistants have allowed voters to fill out ballots in group settings, didn't sign their names on ballot envelopes and advertised their services in nursing homes. She also sent 130,000 unsolicited absentee ballot applications defying a court order.   | Detroit Free Press     |  |  | County Circuit Court judge ruled the Clerk violated the law; There is an election contest and a federal investigation involving irregularities with absentee ballots.   | November 9, 2005 Detroit Free Press; November 24, 2005 Detroit Free Press |  |   |
| Houston      | Mississippi | 10-Nov-05                      | mayoral         | Candidate files a complaint alleging 59 absentee ballots are questionable. He produced a letter from two elderly absentee voters saying they were given plates of food in exchange for allowing his opponent to fill out their ballots.  | AP                     |  |  |   |   |  |   |

010959

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|                |            |           |                                    |  |                       |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
|----------------|------------|-----------|------------------------------------|--|-----------------------|--|--|--|--|-----------------------------|--|--|
|                | Missouri   | 19-Sep-04 | gubernatorial                      | The state Democratic Party accused Republicans of coercion when they asked county clerks to send the names of people who had requested absentee ballots  | AP                    |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| East St. Louis | Missouri   | 5-Jan-05  | city                               | investigations by the state attorney and the FBI into unspecified absentee ballot fraud  | Post Dispatch         |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| Tonopah        | Nevada     | 23-Oct-02 | local general and primary election | The FBI investigates questionable absentee ballot requests   | Pahrump Valley Times  |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| Las Vegas      | Nevada     | 26-Apr-03 | assembly                           | Man is indicted because he voted other people's ballots using absentee voter forms for people who lived outside the district.  | AP                    |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| Atlantic City  | New Jersey | 31-Oct-01 | Mayoral                            | Mayor Whelan's campaign has alleged that street operatives for the mayor's challenger, Councilman Lorenzo Langford, tricked voters into requesting absentee ballots and then went to their homes to bully them into filling the ballots out for Langford. The Whelan campaign has also alleged that Langford has stockpiled absentee ballots to fill out fraudulently. The Langford campaign yesterday denounced Whelan's actions as a means of suppressing voter rights and said it would file a federal civil-rights lawsuit this week.                          | Philadelphia Inquirer |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| Palisades Park | New Jersey | 6-Nov-02  |                                    | The Deputy Attorney General said in a court filing that the prosecutor is investigating four types of irregularities: "1) improprieties in the manner in which voters requested absentee ballots; 2) instances where the voter has stated that they received assistance in voting but that fact is not noted on the voter certification; 3) instances where the absentee ballot was delivered to the Board of Elections by a person other than the one to whom the voter gave the ballot; 4) instances where the voter gave an unmarked ballot to another person." | The Record            |  |  |  | 276 absentee ballots from the 2002 election in Palisades Park are still impounded in the office of Patricia DiCostanzo, the Bergen County superintendent of elections. | October 4, 2004, The Record |  |  |
| Atlantic City  | New Jersey | 9-Jul-03  | county primary                     | Board of elections requests an inquiry into alleged forged absentee ballots  | Atlantic County News  |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |
| Passaic        | New Jersey | 22-Sep-04 | county                             | The FBI is investigating charges that voters targeted by a Democratic campaign had their signatures forged or had been pressured or misled into voting absentee  | Heral News (Passaic)  |  |  |  |  |                             |  |  |

096010

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|                    |                |           |                      |   |                             |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|--------------------|----------------|-----------|----------------------|---|-----------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
|                    | New Jersey     | 4-Oct-04  |                      | In the city of Passaic, three dozen voters claimed they'd been victims of absentee ballot fraud in 2003.  | The Record                  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Albany County      | New York       | 8-Mar-04  | special primaries    | 131 absentee ballots were delivered by a ward leader, leading to vague allegations of coercion. All absentee ballots and machines impounded under a court order   | Albany Times Union          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Albany County      | New York       | 10-Mar-04 | county legislature   | One person filled in more than 140 signed absentee ballot applications, and there were other administrative errors in absentee ballot distribution and return. The candidates made a deal before the judge ruled on the case to have a special election; the absentee ballots are not counted   | Albany Times Union          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Haskell            | Oklahoma       | 7-Nov-02  | district attorney    | An absentee ballot scandal is being investigated in Haskell County, where one man allegedly admitted notarizing 42 absentee ballots without having the voters present while another man helped him, the District Attorney said.   | Daily Oklahoman             |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Providence         | Rhode Island   | 23-Aug-02 | mayoral              | Elderly woman says strangers coerced her into giving them her ballot  | Providence Journal-Bulletin |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Senate District 30 | South Carolina | 27-Sep-04 | state senate primary | A person with connections to the Williams campaign nicknamed "The Voter Man" convinced elderly voters, some living in residential care facilities, to fill out absentee ballot registration forms. Some say they never received a ballot, even though records indicate a ballot was cast in their names.* At least one staff member at a Mullins care facility said non-communicative Alzheimer's patients were coaxed into casting absentee ballots.* Another person with ties to the Williams campaign turned in nearly 60 ab-sentee ballots to election officials, many from elderly voters. While not technically illegal, the volume of absentee votes raised eyebrows within the Norwood campaign. As a result of suspected fraud the party ordered a new election and the cases are being criminally investigated. | The State                   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |

010961

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|             |              |           |                  |   |                          |  |  |  |  |   |  |  |
|-------------|--------------|-----------|------------------|---|--------------------------|--|--|--|--|---|--|--|
|             | South Dakota | 20-Oct-02 | statewide        | several counties forward questionable absentee ballot requests  | Angus Leader             |  |  |  | October 25, 2002: Red Earth Villeda, a former Democratic contractor is investigated; October 27, 2002: State and federal agents target 25 South Dakota counties; October 31, 2002: no illegally cast ballots are found (see South Dakota summary)  | Argus Leader                                |  |  |
| Shannon     | South Dakota | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | The prosecutor in Fall River County says he will investigate possible multiple voting by absentee ballot. The multiple ballots were cast by fewer than 10 people  | AP                       |  |  |  |  |   |  |  |
| Sioux Falls | South Dakota | 2-Nov-04  | senatorial       | Three former Republican notary publics pled guilty to signing absentee ballots without witnessing the signatures. Three other former GOP workers are charged, as is one Daschle staff person accused of not being present for two notary applications. Officials say none of the incidents affected any votes | AP                       |  |  |  | A fourth former employee of the South Dakota Republican Party's get-out-the-vote operation has pleaded guilty to improperly notarizing absentee-ballot re-quests, and another who had pleaded not guilty will appear in court next week to change his plea. Six workers for the GOP Victory effort resigned last month after questions surfaced about some absentee-ballot applications collected at college campuses across the state. Charges were filed after officials said the workers notarized applications collected by other workers, violating a state law that requires notaries to witness documents being signed before they can give them their official seal. | November 4, 2004, Argus Leader              |  |  |
| Dallas      | Texas        | 10-May-01 | district council | Both candidates accuse the other manipulating the absentee ballot votes of senior citizens  | Dallas Observer          |  |  |  |  |   |  |  |
| Dallas      | Texas        | 16-May-01 | city council     | Several affidavits alleging mail-in voter fraud have been submitted to the Dallas County district attorney's office, according to election officials. But prosecutors have declined to comment about whether those allegations, or any others, would result in a criminal complaint.                          | Dallas Morning News      |  |  |  | A voter fraud investigation has resulted in the indictment of a Dallas woman who is accused of filling out a mail-in ballot in May without the voter's permission, a Dallas prosecutor said Tuesday.   | February 13, 2002, Fort-Worth Star Telegram |  |  |
| Dallas      | Texas        | 27-Jul-02 | district council | A candidate for the council alleged three campaign workers spent Friday reviewing mail-in ballots and applications for the ballots and found at least 69 that they believe might have forged signatures on either document.   | Fort Worth Star-Telegram |  |  |  |  |   |  |  |
| Dallas      | Texas        | 22-Apr-03 | city council     | A candidate submitted 12 absentee ballot applications with forged signatures. The DA is investigating.  | Dallas Morning News      |  |  |  |  |   |  |  |

010962

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|         |       |           |  |   |                          |  |  |   |                          |  |  |
|---------|-------|-----------|--|---|--------------------------|--|--|---|--------------------------|--|--|
| Hearne  | Texas | 18-Oct-03 | municipal                                    | Man fined and sentenced to five years probation for voting in the names of three dozen other people by absentee ballot. He is the fifth person to plead guilty to similar charges brought by a grand jury in August.17 were indicted.   | Houston Chronicle        |  |  |   |                          |  |  |
| Hearne  | Texas | 28-Dec-03 | mayoral                                      | 30 people were indicted for forged absentee ballot applications and sending in multiple absentee ballots  | Star Telegram            |  |  |   |                          |  |  |
| El Paso | Texas | 12-Feb-04 | water board                                  | Several mail in ballot requests appeared to be filled out by the same person and a few were in the names of dead people. A precinct chairwoman was charged with four counts of tampering with government records  | Assoc Press              |  |  | Five people have been charged with sending in absentee ballot applications in the names of other people | 2/13/2004, El Paso Times |  |  |
| Hidalgo | Texas | 3-Mar-04  | miscellaneous, from congress to judge's race | Complaints were made to the Board of Elections against workers for several campaigns of irregularities concerning absentee ballots, including coercion of elderly voters, a complaint that someone requested an absentee ballot for a dead voter; four people said their ballots were already sealed when they received them, and a voter whos absentee ballot that was sent elsewhere  | The Monitor              |  |  |   |                          |  |  |
| Bexar   | Texas | 25-Mar-04 | congressional                                | The names of 42 deceased people, most of whom lived on the South Side, appeared on applications for mail-in ballots that were submitted to election officials for the primaries. A computer at the Bexar County elections office flagged the applications and the district attorney's office is investigating. No ballots appear to have been sent to a dead person as a result of the applications, election officials have said. However, the applications were cited by Henry Cuellar - a Democratic candi-date for the District 28 congressional seat who lost by 145 votes - as one of several concerns that persuaded him to call for a recount this week. The list of applicants includes next-door neighbors, people who never voted when they were alive, and two who died in 1988. All but one bear the deceased's correct voter registration number. Each had the correct address and voting precinct, and all indicated the voter was older than 65, which is one of the reasons individuals may obtain a mail-in ballot.But whoever filled out many of the applications didn't alter his or her hand | San Antonio Express-News |  |  |   |                          |  |  |

010963

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|                   |       |                          |                 |  |                             |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|-------------------|-------|--------------------------|-----------------|--|-----------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
| South San Antonio | Texas | 23-May-04                |                 | Elderly voters complain of "vote brokering" whereby "coyotes" pressure them into voting by absentee ballot. Investigators have looked into this in the past, and there has only been one conviction of someone pressuring others to vote absentee.   | San Antonio Express-News    |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Robstown          | Texas | 27-May-04                | school district | The District Attorney requested a recount of ballots because of many complaints of people filing mail-in ballots sent to homes of people who have died. One of the candidates says that in one instance a wife mailed in the ballot of her husband who just died, and another was a son's vote being mistaken for the father's because they had the same name.   | Corpus Christi Caller-Times |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Falfurrias        | Texas | 11-Sep-04                | city            | After a May 26 recount, Jaime received 501 votes and Martinez wound up with 500 votes. In June, Martinez filed an election contest in district court claiming that "numerous co-conspirators" obtained votes by instructing the voters to cast their ballots for particular candidates. But a criminal investigation into voting violations started before voters cast the final ballots, according to a police report. So far, the criminal investigation has resulted in five felony and one misdemeanor indictments: Santiago Vela was indicted on a bribery charge; Armando Gonzalez, Vanessa Kiser and Roel Mireles were indicted on illegal voting charges; Magdalena Saenz was indicted on an unlawful delivery of a voting certificate charge. One woman, Mirna Quintanilla, was indicted on a misdemeanor charge for allegedly filling out a mail-in ballot for a voter without permission. | Corpus Christi Caller-Times |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Houston           | Texas | 11-Nov-05                | mayoral         | Candidate alleges that 64 of the 579 absentee ballots cast in the primary are questionable.  | AP                          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Hidalgo           | Texas | 2/26/2004, March 6, 2004 | primary         | Texas Rangers investigate tampering with mail ballots by "politiqueras"  | The Monitor                 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |

010964

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Absentee Balloting

|           |           |           |                     |   |                            |  |  |  |  |                          |  |  |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|---------------------|---|----------------------------|--|--|--|--|--------------------------|--|--|
| Gate City | Virginia  | 2-Aug-05  | mayor               | mayor is indicted on 37 felony counts of voter fraud for coercing choices on absentee ballots   | Roanoke Times              |  |  |  | The former mayor was arraigned in Scott County Circuit Court. He entered not guilty pleas to 18 charges of aiding and abetting in violating the absentee voting process, 17 charges of making a false statement on an absentee ballot application, and two charges of conspiracy. Authorities say he targeted elderly and unsophisticated voters, pressuring them to give false reasons for voting absentee and sometimes filling out their ballots himself. | 8/17/2005, Roanoke Times |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 5-Mar-03  | county board recall | A police handwriting expert labeled signatures on 60 absentee ballot envelopes suspicious and elections officials and the DA questioned 36 more. The 96 are among 162 that were distributed to 5th District voters by the African American Coalition for Empowerment. The group had residents agree to ask the city to send absentee ballots to their offices rather than directly to the voters. The group then went to the homes, witnessed the votes and returned the ballots. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |  |                          |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 15-Jan-04 | county recall       | A voting rights activist was convicted of three felony counts stemming from his management of an absentee ballot campaign. Although evidence suggested forgery and other mischief, the case turned on one voter registration card. The voter had his signature forged by his girlfriend, and the activist had signed the form as a deputy registrar.  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |  |                          |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 20-Feb-04 | county recall       | One person is convicted for forging absentee ballots  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |  |                          |  |  |

110965

010966

010967

8/18/08

About.com

Report Puts Election Fraud On Front Burner

USA Today published a controversial draft report from the Election Assistance Commission that suggests voter fraud is "less of a problem than is commonly described in political debate." The controversy lies in the fact that the report has remained under wraps since mid-May, and a final report isn't due until after the election.

However, the issue of "illegal voting" is a hot button for many politicians this fall. For example, in September the House of Representatives passed a bill that would require voters to show a valid photo identification in federal elections.

The angst and gnashing of teeth over the report is misplaced. Not only is it a draft report, it's a poor draft. The authors cite interviews with unnamed "experts" ... report results of Lexis-Nexis searches of news reports ... and have a literature review that ignores a body of peer-reviewed research which would have squashed one of the cited fears (voting by mail).

Their analysis of news reports suggests that fraud involving absentee votes is an area of abuse. The authors close that section by saying: "Interestingly, there were no [news] articles regarding Oregon, where the entire system is vote by mail."

There are at least three peer-reviewed articles analyzing Oregon's vote-by-mail system. I found them in a five-minute search. This research rebuts the claim made in the press -- and echoed without analysis in the report -- that absentee voting is a high-risk. Not one peer-reviewed paper is cited in the EAC draft report, but that research suggests why there might be no news articles claiming fraud. What a surprise.

If this had been a final report, I'd be writing the government, demanding that they get our money back.

Oh, and like just about everything having to do with HAVA, it's late. The law was passed in 2002. It's four years later, and they still haven't done this research. But they can throw buckets of money at the states for voting technology without good systems, standards or voter-verified ballots.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FURTHER EAC ACTIVITY ON VOTER FRAUD AND INTIMIDATION

Time and resource constraints prevented the consultants from interviewing the full range of participants in the electoral process. As a result, we recommend that in the next phase of this project, further interviews be conducted. In particular, a greater sampling of state and local election officials from different parts of the country should be interviewed. These individuals have first hand information and experience in the operation of elections. [words removed]

We also recommend that in the next phase interviews be conducted with people in law enforcement, specifically Federal District Election Officers (“DEOs”)<sup>1</sup> and local district attorneys and attorneys defending those accused of election crimes or civil violations. In many instances it is the local district attorney who will investigate election fraud and suppression complaints. Finally, attorneys who defend people accused of election crimes will have a different perspective on how the system is working to detect, prevent, and prosecute election fraud.

The Nexis search conducted for this phase of the research was based on a list of search terms agreed upon by both consultants. Thousands of articles were reviewed and hundreds analyzed. Many of the articles contain allegations of fraud or intimidation. Similarly, many of the articles contain information about investigations into such activities or even charges brought. However, without being able to go beyond the search [word removed] terms, we could not determine whether there was any action taken regarding the allegations, investigation or charges brought. Consequently, it is impossible to know if the article is just reporting on “talk” or what turns out to be a serious affront to the system. We recommend that follow up Nexis research be conducted to establish what, if any, resolutions or further activity there was in each case. [sentence removed]

---

<sup>1</sup> The Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice has all of the 93 U.S. Attorneys appoint Assistant U.S. Attorneys to serve as DEOs for two years. DEOs are required to screen and conduct preliminary investigations of complaints, in conjunction with the FBI and PIN, to determine whether they constitute potential election crimes and should become matters for investigation; oversee the investigation and prosecution of election fraud and other election crimes in their districts; coordinate their district’s (investigative and prosecutorial) efforts with DOJ headquarters prosecutors; coordinate election matters with state and local election and law enforcement officials and make them aware of their availability to assist with election-related matters; issue press releases to the public announcing the names and telephone numbers of DOJ and FBI officials to contact on election day with complaints about voting or election irregularities and answer telephones on election day to receive these complaints; and supervise a team of Assistant U.S. Attorneys and FBI special agents who are appointed to handle election-related allegations while the polls are open on election day.

Similarly, many allegations are made in the reports and books that we analyzed and summarized. Those allegations are often not substantiated in any way and are inherently time limited by the date of the writing. Despite this, various interested parties frequently cite such reports and books as evidence of fraud or intimidation. Therefore, we recommend as a follow up to the literature review, an analysis of the resolution, if any, of specific instances of fraud and intimidation cited in the books and reports reviewed in the first phase.

In the first phase, we read and analyzed over 44,000 cases. Unfortunately, few of these were found to be on point. We therefore recommend that in the second phase, research should be concentrated on a national sampling of state district court level electoral cases. Often the district courts settle important issues that are not subsequently appealed. We believe that there could be a storehouse of information regarding vote fraud and intimidation in these cases.

We believe that in the second phase of this project, there should be a sampling of local newspapers from around the country to analyze for articles on voter fraud and voter intimidation. This will lead to a better idea of problems that occur on city and county levels that are often not reported statewide. We also recommend that there be a sampling of state electoral laws (including criminal penalty provisions), in order to aid in the development of model legislation that would address voter fraud and intimidation.

During the 2004 election and the statewide elections of 2005, the University of Pennsylvania led a consortium of groups and researchers in conducting the MyVote1 Project. This project involved using a 1-800 voter hotline where voters could call for poll location, be transferred to a local hotline, or leave a recorded message with a complaint. In 2004, this resulted in over 200,000 calls received and over 56,000 calls recorded complaints. The researchers in charge of this project have done a great deal of work to parse and analyze the data collected through this process, including reviewing the audio messages and categorizing them by the nature of the complaint. These categories include registration, absentee ballot, poll access, ballot/screen, coercion/intimidation, identification, mechanical, and provisional (ballot). We recommend that the second phase research include making full use of this data with the cooperation of the project leaders. While perhaps not a full scientific survey (given the self-selection of the callers), the information [words removed] should provide a good deal of insight into the problems voters experienced, especially those in the nature of intimidation or suppression.

Although according to a recent GAO report the Voting Section of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice tracks complaints of voter intimidation in a variety of ways, the Section was extremely reluctant to provide the consultants with useful information. Further attempts should be made to obtain relevant data. This includes the telephone logs of complaints the Section keeps and information from the database – the Interactive Case Management (ICM) system – the Section maintains on complaints received and the corresponding action taken. We also recommend that further research include a review and analysis of the observer and monitor field reports from Election Day that must be filed with the Section.

Similarly, the consultants believe it would be useful for any further research to include a review of the reports that must be filed by every DEO to the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. As noted above, the DEOs play a central role in receiving reports of voter fraud and investigating and pursuing them. Their reports [words removed] would likely provide tremendous insight into what actually transpired during the last several elections. Where necessary, information could be redacted or kept confidential.

The consultants also believe it would be useful for any further activity in this area to include attendance at the next Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Symposium.<sup>2</sup> According to the Department, [words removed] DEOs are required to attend annual training conferences centered on combating election fraud and voting rights abuses. These conferences [word removed] sponsored by the Voting Section of the Civil Rights Division and the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division, feature presentations by civil rights officials and senior prosecutors from the Public Integrity Section and the U.S. Attorneys' Offices. As a result of these conferences, there has been a nationwide increase in Department expertise relating to the prosecution of election crimes and the enforcement of voting rights.

Included in this report is a summary of various methodologies political scientists and others suggested to measure voter fraud and intimidation. While we note the skepticism of the Working Group in this regard, we nonetheless recommend that in order to further the mission of providing unbiased data, further activity in this area include an academic institution and/or individual that focuses on sound, statistical methods for political science research.

Finally, we recommend that phase two project researchers review federal laws to explore ways to make it easier to impose either civil or criminal penalties for acts of intimidation that do not necessarily involve racial animus and/or a physical or economic threats.

According to Craig Donsanto, long-time director of the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice,

As with other statutes addressing voter intimidation, in the absence of any jurisprudence to the contrary, it is the Criminal Division's position that

---

<sup>2</sup> By attending the symposium researchers could learn more about the following:

How DEOs are trained, e.g. what they are taught to focus their resources on; How they are instructed to respond to various types of complaints; How information about previous elections and voting issues is presented; and, How the Voting Rights Act, the criminal laws governing election fraud and intimidation, the National Voter Registration Act, and the Help America Vote Act are described and explained to participants.

section 1973gg-10(1) applies only to intimidation which is accomplished through the use of threats of physical or economic duress. Voter “intimidation” accomplished through less drastic means may present violations of the Voting Rights Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1973i(b), which are enforced by the Civil Rights Division through noncriminal remedies.

Mr. Donsanto reiterated these points to us on several occasions, including at the working group meeting.

The second phase of this project should examine if [words removed] current laws can be revised or new laws drafted that would address voter intimidation that does not threaten the voter physically or financially, but rather threatens the voter’s tangible right to vote [words removed]. Such legislation would penalize all forms of voter intimidation, regardless of the motivation. The law would [word removed] potentially cover [words removed] letters and postcards with contain language meant to deter voters from voting and pre-Election and Election Day challenges that are clearly [words removed] illegitimate [word removed].

In the alternative to finding a way to penalize such behavior, researchers might examine ways [words removed] to deter and punish voter intimidation under [word removed] civil law. For example, there might be a private right of action created for voters or groups who have been subjected to intimidation tactics in the voting process. Such an action could be brought against individual offenders; any state or local actor where there is a unchecked pattern of repeated abuse [words removed]; and organizations that intentionally engage in intimidating practices. Civil damage penalties and attorney fees should be included. Another, more modest measure [words removed], as has been suggested by Ana Henderson and Christopher Edley, would be to bring fines for violations under the Voting Rights Act up to parity. Currently, the penalty for fraud is $10,000 while the penalty for acts to deprive the right to vote is $5,000.

Department of Justice's Activities to Address Past Election-Related Voting Irregularities: General Accounting Office, October 14, 2004, GAO-04-1041R

The MyVote1 Project Final Report: Fels Institute of Government, University of Pennsylvania, November 1, 2005, Pg. 12

Department of Justice's Activities to Address Past Election-Related Voting Irregularities: General Accounting Office, October 14, 2004, GAO-04-1041R, p. 4. This same report criticizes some of the procedures the Section used for these systems and urged the Department to improve upon them in time for the 2004 presidential election. No follow-up report has been done since that time to the best of our knowledge.

Department Of Justice To Hold Ballot Access and Voting Integrity Symposium: U.S.

Department of Justice press release, August 2, 2005.

Craig C. Donsanto, Prosecution of Electoral Fraud Under United States Federal Law, IFES Political Finance White Paper Series, 2006, p. 29.

Ana Henderson and Christopher Edley, Jr., Voting Rights Act Reauthorization: Research-Based Recommendations to Improve Voting Access, Chief Justice Earl Warren Institute on Race, Ethnicity and Diversity, University of California at Berkeley, School of Law, 2006, p. 29

Wednesday, October 11, 2006

Voter fraud reports overstated: US elections panel

Rob DeVries at 7:30 PM ET

[JURIST] The US Election Assistance Commission [official website] has found little evidence to support claims of voter fraud [status report, PDF] that have been driving the recent push for more stringent voter registration and voter ID policies [JURIST report], USA Today reported Wednesday. The report, released in May but just made public Wednesday, evaluated claims of fraud and voter intimidation and concluded:

There is widespread but not unanimous agreement that there is little polling place fraud, or at least much less than is claimed, including voter impersonation, "dead" voters, noncitizen voting and felon voters. Those few who believe it occurs often enough to be a concern say that is impossible to show the extent to which it happens, but do point to instance in the press of such incidents. Most people believe that false registration forms have not resulted in polling place fraud, although it may create the perception that vote fraud is possible. ...

Abuse of challenger laws and abusive challengers seem to be the biggest intimidation/suppression concerns, and many of those interviewed assert that the new identification requirements are the modern version of voter intimidation and suppression.

The report also concluded that absentee ballot fraud is far and away the most common type of voter fraud. The report also noted frustration from both sides of the political spectrum regarding failure of the Department of Justice [official website] to pursue voting fraud complaints. USA Today has more.

Several states have enacted laws requiring voters to present photo ID [JURIST news archive] at the polls in an effort to combat voter fraud, but courts have largely struck down these laws an unconstitutional. Most recently, the US Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit issued an emergency injunction [JURIST report] last week blocking Arizona officials from enforcing the state's voter ID law. Similar voter ID bills have recently been blocked in Georgia and Pennsylvania [JURIST reports], and the Missouri Supreme Court is currently considering a challenge [JURIST report] on that state's ID law.

Suggested States:

Based on these factors, the 10 most useful states for the purposes of our inquiry include: Kentucky, California, Florida, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Washington, Oregon, and Texas.

Timelines and General Workplan:

Below is a suggested timeframe in which we should accomplish Phase II of our election crimes research:

- Statement of Work developed by April 30, 2007
- Contractor to perform research identified by May 30, 2007
- Preliminary research findings delivered by August 15, 2007
- EAC report on initial findings on October 30, 2007

EAC Research Project for Study and Analysis of Election Crimes - Projected Time Line for 2007

| TASK   | Jan | Feb | March | April | May | June | July | Aug | Sept | Oct | Nov | Dec |
|--|-------------------|-------------------|---------------------|---------------------|-------------------|--------------------|--------------------|-------------------|--------------------|-------------------|-------------------|-------------------|
| Develop and Finalize RFP (EAC)   | XX                | -----             | XX                  |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   |                   |
| Issue RFP (per CR) (GovWorks)  |                   | XX                |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   |                   |
| Award Contract (Gov Works)   |                   |                   | XX                  |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   |                   |
| Paperwork Reduction Approval(EAC and Contractor)                           |                   |                   |                     | XX                  | -----             | XX                 |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   |                   |
| Phase I - all functions to preparefor data gathering phase(Contractor) |                   |                   |                     | XX                  | -----             | XX                 |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   |                   |
| Phase II - gather data, conductinterviews, etc. (Contractor)               |                   |                   |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    | XX                | -----              | XX                |                   |                   |
| Phase III - analyze data, preparefirst draft of report (Contractor)        |                   |                   |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   | XX                 | -----             | XX                |                   |
| EAC Due Diligence  |                   |                   |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   | XXX               |                   |
| Finalize Report (Contractor)   |                   |                   |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   | XXXX              |                   |
| EAC Adopts and Issues Reports  |                   |                   |                     |                     |                   |                    |                    |                   |                    |                   |                   | XX                |

EAC ELECTION CRIMES STUDY: NEXT STEPS

Background: Phase I

Section 241 of the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA) requires the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to conduct research on election administration issues including nationwide statistics and methods of identifying, deterring, and investigating voting fraud in elections for Federal office [Section 241(b)(6)]; and ways of identifying, deterring, and investigating methods of voter intimidation [Section 241(b)(7)].

The EAC initiated its study of election crimes in 2005, issuing its first report, "Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendations for Future Study" in December 2006. The EAC adopted all or part of six of the 16 recommendations made by EAC consultants and the working group in the 2006 Report. These recommendations include:

- Surveying state chief election officers regarding administrative complaint processes mandated by Section 402 of HAVA,
- Surveying state election crime investigation units regarding complaints filed and referred to local or state law enforcement,
- Surveying state law enforcement and prosecutorial agencies regarding complaints and charges of voting crimes, and
- Analyzing survey data in light of state laws and procedures.

Next Steps: Phase II

As we look to initiate Phase II of this study and explore next steps for conducting a comprehensive survey of election crimes, the main aims of this phase should be:

- Identifying the methods by which states are capturing/identifying and investigating/prosecuting potential election crimes,
- Comparing the rates of election fraud in the context of these state laws/procedures, and
- Accessing the general scale of election crimes under various election systems and election crime enforcement methods.

Suggested Research Methodology:

In order to identify and assess the magnitude and quality of the election crime enforcement methods currently utilized by the states, it would be useful to select a sample of jurisdictions and survey election officials, district attorneys, and district election officers. This sample should be geographically and demographically diverse, juxtaposing states with substantial election crime allegations against those with limited election crime allegations.

Using the uniform definition of election crimes generated during Phase I, the survey would be designed to capture specific data regarding the existence and enforcement of election crimes. Three surveys would be conducted:

- A survey designed for the state's chief election officials would focus on election crime complaint procedures—assessing the volume and type of election crimes reported. Additionally, the survey would address the administrative complaint procedures required by Section 402 of HAVA in order to analyze the complaints that have been filed, investigated, and resolved via these procedures since January 1, 2004.
- A survey designed for district attorneys would focus on election crime investigations and prosecutions—analyzing the number and type of complaints, charges or indictments, and pleas or convictions.
- A survey of the district election officers (DEOs) would include a review of reports filed to the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice.

Criteria for States to be Sampled:

In order to get a broad assessment of the current election crime enforcement landscape, it would be helpful for our sample to include the following:

- States with multiple reports of voter registration fraud (e.g. California, Florida, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin),
- States with multiple reports of voter intimidation and suppression, (e.g. Florida, Ohio, and Pennsylvania),
- States with multiple reports of deceptive practices (e.g. Florida, Ohio, and Pennsylvania)
- States with multiple reports of felons voting (e.g. Washington and Wisconsin),
- States with multiple reports of dead/multiple voters (e.g. Florida)
- States with multiple reports of election official fraud (e.g. Washington and Texas), and
- States with multiple reports of absentee ballot fraud (e.g. Indiana, New Jersey, South Dakota, and Texas).

In order to balance these locations, we would also sample from states which do not have multiple reports of these election crimes (e.g. Oregon which has few, if any, reported election crimes despite the entire system being conducted by mail).

Additionally, the sample should include states which have the following election system characteristics:

- States with longstanding statewide voter registration databases (e.g. Kentucky).
- States with election day registration (e.g. Wisconsin),
- States with election crime investigation units (e.g. California, New York, and Florida), and
- States with special election courts (e.g. Pennsylvania).

U.S. ELECTION ASSISTANCE COMMISSION
1225 New York Ave. NW – Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20005

EAC Requests Review of Voter ID, Vote Fraud and Voter Intimidation Research Projects

For Immediate Release
April 16, 2007

Contact: Jeannie Layson
Bryan Whitener
(202) 566-3100

WASHINGTON – U.S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC) Chair Donetta Davidson today issued a formal request to the commission’s inspector general to conduct a review of the commission’s contracting procedures, including a review of two recent projects focusing on voter identification and vote fraud and voter intimidation. The chair’s memo to the inspector general is attached.

“The actions taken by the commission regarding these research projects have been challenged, and the commissioners and I agree that it is appropriate and necessary to ask the inspector general to review this matter,” said EAC Chair Davidson.

Chair Davidson has requested that the inspector general specifically review the circumstances surrounding the issuance and management of the voter identification research project and the vote fraud and voter intimidation research project.

EAC is an independent bipartisan commission created by HAVA. It is charged with administering payments to states and developing guidance to meet HAVA requirements, implementing election administration improvements, adopting voluntary voting system guidelines, accrediting voting system test laboratories and certifying voting equipment and serving as a national clearinghouse and resource of information regarding election administration. The four EAC commissioners are Donetta Davidson, chair; Rosemary E. Rodriguez, Caroline Hunter and Gracia Hillman.

###

010980

U.S. ELECTION ASSISTANCE COMMISSION
1225 New York Ave. NW – Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20005

EAC Statement Regarding Research and Contracting Policies

Commission to Review Internal Procedures

For Immediate Release
April 11, 2007

Contact: Jeannie Layson
Bryan Whitener
(202) 566-3100

WASHINGTON – The Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA) directs the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to serve as a national clearinghouse and resource by, among other things, conducting studies with the goal of improving the administration of federal elections. To fulfill this mandate, the EAC has entered into contracts with a variety of persons and entities. Reports adopted by the EAC, a bipartisan federal entity, are likely to be cited as authoritative in public discourse. Prior to the EAC's adopting a report submitted by a contractor, the EAC has the responsibility to ensure its accuracy and to verify that conclusions are supported by the underlying research.

The Commission takes input and constructive criticism from Congress and the public very seriously. We will take a hard look at the way we do business. Specifically, we will examine both the manner in which we have awarded contracts and our decision-making process regarding the release of research and reports. The EAC takes its mandates very seriously, and we will continue to move forward in a bipartisan way to improve the way America votes.

EAC is an independent bipartisan commission created by HAVA. It is charged with administering payments to states and developing guidance to meet HAVA requirements, implementing election administration improvements, adopting voluntary voting system guidelines, accrediting voting system test laboratories and certifying voting equipment and serving as a national clearinghouse and resource of information regarding election administration. The four EAC commissioners are Donetta Davidson, chair; Rosemary Rodriguez, Caroline Hunter and Gracia Hillman.

###

010981

Congressman José E. Serrano
 Representing the Sixteenth District of New York
PRESS RELEASE

MEDIA CONTACT:
Philip Schmidt (202)
 225-4361

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:
 Apr 11, 2007

SERRANO, HINCHEY URGE NON-PARTISANSHIP, GREATER TRANSPARENCY AT ELECTION ASSISTANCE COMMISSION

Washington, DC – April 11, 2007 – Today, Congressmen Maurice Hinchey (NY-22) and José E. Serrano (NY-16) urged the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to act with greater transparency and without partisanship. The comments from the congressmen came as the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government released a draft version of an EAC report on voter fraud and intimidation that shows significant changes were made to the findings of outside experts before the final report was released.

“The EAC has an obligation to be forthright with the American people and operate transparently and in a non-partisan manner,” said Congressman Hinchey, who requested the draft report from EAC Commissioner Donetta L. Davidson during a subcommittee hearing last month. “The draft report was commissioned with taxpayer dollars upon a mandate from Congress so that we could learn more about voter fraud and intimidation. The need for this report is even more clear when we see the way in which the Bush administration is carrying out the electoral process and how this system is sliding towards corruption. In hiding a draft report from the public that is significantly different from the final version, the EAC has created a lot more questions than it has answered while stunting debate on the issue. In order for our democracy to function properly it is essential that our elections are free of any corruption and that includes ensuring that the EAC does not work to benefit one political party over the other. To achieve that goal we must have all the facts and opinions on the table, not just some of them. The EAC must never limit discussion and debate.”

“The EAC is charged with helping to ensure our elections are trustworthy and administered fairly,” said Congressman Serrano, who is Chair of the Appropriations Subcommittee that oversees the EAC budget. “I’m concerned if changes were made to the report on voter fraud because of partisan bias rather than impartial analysis. When you read the draft report side-by-side with the final version, it is clear that important conclusions of the experts who wrote the draft report were excluded from the final product. Among the excluded information is an analysis that undermines the notion that voter fraud is rampant.”

“I am concerned that the EAC did not publicly release the taxpayer-funded draft report, and I worry that political considerations may have played a role. We cannot have a politicized EAC, or one that yields to outside pressure. Our democracy, and the American people’s faith in it, is far more important than any short-term political advantage.”

010982

The draft report was written by outside experts under contract with the EAC. The final report was entitled "Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendations for Future Study" and was issued on December 7, 2006.

The EAC is an independent bipartisan commission created by the 2002 Help America Vote Act in order to disburse funds to the states for the purchase of new voting systems, certify voting technologies, develop guidelines and serve as an information resource for election administration.

###

|  |   |
|--|---|
| WASHINGTON OFFICE2227 Rayburn House Office BuildingWashington, D.C. 20515-3216(202) 225-4361Fax: (202) 225-6001 | BRONX OFFICE788 Southern Blvd.Bronx, New York 10455(718) 620-0084Fax: (718) 620-0658 |
| Email: jserrano@mail.house.gov  |   |

010983

For Immediate Release

April 11, 2007

Hinchey, Serrano Urge Non-Partisanship, Greater Transparency at Election Assistance Commission

Washington, DC - Today, Congressmen Maurice Hinchey (NY-22) and José E. Serrano (NY-16) urged the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to act with greater transparency and without partisanship. The comments from the congressmen came as the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government released a draft version of an EAC report on voter fraud and intimidation that shows significant changes were made to the findings of outside experts before the final report was released.

"The EAC has an obligation to be forthright with the American people and operate transparently and in a non-partisan manner," said Congressman Hinchey, who requested the draft report from EAC Commissioner Donetta L. Davidson during a subcommittee hearing last month. "The draft report was commissioned with taxpayer dollars upon a mandate from Congress so that we could learn more about voter fraud and intimidation. The need for this report is even more clear when we see the way in which the Bush administration is carrying out the electoral process and how this system is sliding towards corruption. In hiding a draft report from the public that is significantly different from the final version, the EAC has created a lot more questions than it has answered while stunting debate on the issue. In order for our democracy to function properly it is essential that our elections are free of any corruption and that includes ensuring that the EAC does not work to benefit one political party over the other. To achieve that goal we must have all the facts and opinions on the table, not just some of them. The EAC must never limit discussion and debate."

"The EAC is charged with helping to ensure our elections are trustworthy and administered fairly," said Congressman Serrano, who is Chair of the Appropriations Subcommittee that oversees the EAC budget. "I'm concerned if changes were made to the report on voter fraud because of partisan bias rather than impartial analysis. When you read the draft report side-by-side with the final version, it is clear that important conclusions of the experts who wrote the draft report were excluded from the final product. Among the excluded information is an analysis that undermines the notion that voter fraud is rampant."

"I am concerned that the EAC did not publicly release the taxpayer-funded draft report, and I worry that political considerations may have played a role. We cannot have a politicized EAC, or one that yields to outside pressure. Our democracy, and the American people's faith in it, is far more important than any short-term political advantage."

The draft report was written by outside experts under contract with the EAC. The final report was entitled "Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendations for Future Study" and was issued on December 7, 2006.

The EAC is an independent bipartisan commission created by the 2002 Help America Vote Act in order to disburse funds to the states for the purchase of new voting systems, certify voting technologies, develop guidelines and serve as an information resource for election administration.

010984

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY

- CHAIR — SUBCOMMITTEE ON IMMIGRATION, CITIZENSHIP, REFUGEES, BORDER SECURITY, AND INTERNATIONAL LAW
- SUBCOMMITTEE ON COURTS, THE INTERNET, AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY
- SUBCOMMITTEE ON COMMERCIAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

COMMITTEE ON HOMELAND SECURITY

- SUBCOMMITTEE ON BORDER, MARITIME AND GLOBAL COUNTERTERRORISM
- SUBCOMMITTEE ON EMERGING THREATS, CYBERSECURITY, AND SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

COMMITTEE ON HOUSE ADMINISTRATION

- CHAIR — SUBCOMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS

CHAIR, CALIFORNIA DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
 Washington, DC 20515-0516

ZOE LOFGREN

16TH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

838 NORTH FIRST STREET
 SUITE B
 SAN JOSE, CA 95112
 (408) 271-8700
 (408) 271-8713 (FAX)

102 CANNON HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, DC 20515
 (202) 225-8072
 (202) 225-9336 (FAX)

www.house.gov/lofgren

CO-CHAIR, CONGRESSIONAL HAZARDS CAUCUS

CO-CHAIR, BIPARTISAN CONGRESSIONAL REFUGEE CAUCUS

CO-CHAIR, CONGRESSIONAL VIETNAM CAUCUS

April 12, 2007

Chairwoman Donetta Davidson
 United States Election Assistance Commission
 1225 New York Avenue N.W., Suite 1100
 Washington, DC 20005

Dear Chairwoman Davidson:

As Chairwoman of the Committee on House Administration Subcommittee on Elections, which has oversight over the Election Assistance Commission, I was alarmed at what appears to be an emerging pattern by the EAC to hold off on publicly releasing reports as well as modifying reports that are released. Two recent instances have brought to light the increased politicalization of the EAC and this lack of transparency.

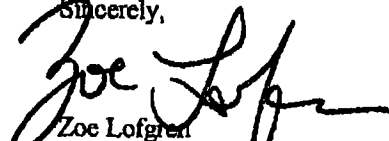

First, the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government released a draft version of an EAC report on voter fraud and intimidation that shows significant changes were made to the findings of outside experts before the final report was released. The EAC released report "Election Crimes: An Initial Review and Recommendations for Future Study" does not accurately reflect the research in the original report "Voting Fraud and Voter Intimidation."

Second, in addition to this report on voter fraud and intimidation, the EAC recently released a report by The Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University on voter identification. Again, the EAC did not endorse the report, citing methodological concerns, and only released it after pressure from Congress.

The EAC is charged with conducting nonpartisan research and to advise policy makers. How are we to rely on advice if instead of full and accurate reporting, we are provided an inaccurate modified version which negates clear evidence to the contrary in the original research? I am outraged that the election process is being threatened by a lack of transparency and limited discussion.

In order to preempt any further problems with the release of reports from the EAC, I request all versions of the Absentee Ballot report and the Military and Overseas report, as well as any other overdue reports, including supporting documents and research, be provided to my office by close of business Monday, April 16, 2007. These reports are overdue and I want to ensure that the delay is no way related to what appears to be an ongoing problem of politicalization of the EAC.

Sincerely,

 Zoe Lofgren
 Member of Congress

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case    | Court   | Citation  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|---|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Johnson v. Bush | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 214 F. Supp. 2d 1333; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14782 | July 18, 2002 | Plaintiff felons sued defendant state officials for alleged violations of their constitutional rights. The officials moved and the felons cross-moved for summary judgment. | The felons had all successfully completed their terms of incarceration and/or probation, but their civil rights to register and vote had not been restored. They alleged that Florida's disenfranchisement law violated their rights under First, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Twenty--Fourth Amendments to the United States Constitution, as well as § 1983 and §§ 2 and 10 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Each of the felons' claims was fatally flawed. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

986010

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | The felons' exclusion from voting did not violate the Equal Protection or Due Process Clauses of the United States Constitution. The First Amendment did not guarantee felons the right to vote. Although there was evidence that racial animus was a factor in the initial enactment of Florida's disenfranchisement law, there was no evidence that race played a part in the re-enactment of that provision. Although it appeared that there was a disparate impact on |                              |             |                                       |

010987

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case       | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |   |                             |                  |   | minorities, the cause was racially neutral. Finally, requiring the felons to pay their victim restitution before their rights would be restored did not constitute an improper poll tax or wealth qualification. The court granted the officials' motion for summary judgment and implicitly denied the felons' motion. Thus, the court dismissed the lawsuit with prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |
| Farrakhan v. Locke | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Washington | 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22212 | December 1, 2000 | Plaintiffs, convicted felons who were also racial minorities, sued defendants for alleged | The felons alleged that Washington's felon disenfranchisement and restoration of civil rights  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010988

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | violations of the Voting Rights Act. The parties filed cross--motions for summary judgment. | schemes, premised upon Wash. Const. art. VI § 3, resulted in the denial of the right to vote to racial minorities in violation of the VRA. They argued that race bias in, or the discriminatory effect of, the criminal justice system resulted in a disproportionate number of racial minorities being disenfranchised following felony convictions. The court concluded that Washington's felon disenfranchisement provision disenfranchised a disproportionate number of |                              |             |                                       |

010989

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | minorities; as a result, minorities were under-represented in Washington's political process. The Rooker-Feldman doctrine barred the felons from bringing any as-applied challenges, and even if it did not bar such claims, there was no evidence that the felons' individual convictions were born of discrimination in the criminal justice system. However, the felons' facial challenge also failed. The remedy they sought would create a new |                              |             |                                       |

066010

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case            | Court  | Citation                                  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|--|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |  |   |               |   | constitutional problem, allowing disenfranchisement only of white felons. Further, the felons did not establish a causal connection between the disenfranchisement provision and the prohibited result. The court granted defendants' motion and denied the felons' motion for summary judgment. |                              |             |                                       |
| Farrakhan v. Washington | United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit | 338 F.3d 1009; 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS 14810 | July 25, 2003 | Plaintiff inmates sued defendant state officials, claiming that Washington state's felon disenfranchisement scheme constitutes improper race--based vote denial | Upon conviction of infamous crimes in the state, (that is, crimes punishable by death or imprisonment in a state correctional facility), the inmates were disenfranchised.   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010991

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | in violation of § 2 of the Voting Rights Act. The United States District Court for the Eastern District of Washington granted of summary judgment dismissing the inmates' claims. The inmates appealed. | The inmates claimed that the disenfranchisement scheme violated § 2 because the criminal justice system was biased against minorities, causing a disproportionate minority representation among those being disenfranchised. The appellate court held, inter alia, that the district court erred in failing to consider evidence of racial bias in the state's criminal justice system in determining whether the state's felon disenfranchisement laws resulted in |                              |             |                                       |

010992

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | denial of the right to vote on account of race. Instead of applying its novel "by itself" causation standard, the district court should have applied a totality of the circumstances test that included analysis of the inmates' compelling evidence of racial bias in Washington's criminal justice system. However, the inmates lacked standing to challenge the restoration scheme because they presented no evidence of their eligibility, much |                              |             |                                       |

010993

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case       | Court   | Citation                                | Date           | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|---|---|----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |   |   |                |   | less even allege that they were eligible for restoration, and had not attempted to have their civil rights restored. The court affirmed as to the eligibility claim but reversed and remanded for further proceedings to the bias in the criminal justice system claim. |                              |             |                                       |
| Muntaqim v. Coombe | United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit | 366 F.3d 102; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 8077 | April 23, 2004 | Plaintiff inmate appealed a judgment of the United States District Court for the Northern District of New York, which granted summary judgment in favor of defendants in the inmate's action alleging violation | At issue was whether the VRA could be applied to N.Y. Elec. Law § 5-106, which disenfranchised currently incarcerated felons and parolees. The instant court concluded that the Voting Rights Act did not apply to the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010992

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                    | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | of § 2 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. | New York law. Applying the Act to state law would alter the traditional balance of power between the states and the federal government. The court was not convinced that there was a congruence and proportionality between the injury to be prevented or remedied (i.e., the use of vote denial and dilution schemes to avoid the strictures of the VRA), and the means adopted to that end (i.e., prohibition of state felon disenfranchisement law that resulted in |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | vote denial or dilution but were not enacted with a discriminatory purpose). Further, there was no clear statement from Congress that the Act applied to state felon disenfranchisement statutes. Inter alia, defendants were entitled to qualified immunity as to claim asserted against them in their personal capacities, and to Eleventh Amendment immunity to the extent the inmate sought damages against defendants in their official capacities. The |                              |             |                                       |

010996

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case                | Court   | Citation                                  | Date              | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------|---|---|-------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                             |   |   |                   |   | district court's judgment was affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Johnson v. Governor of Fla. | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 353 F.3d 1287; 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS 25859 | December 19, 2003 | Plaintiffs, ex--felon citizens of Florida, on their own right and on behalf of others, sought review of a decision of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida, which granted summary judgment to defendants, members of the Florida Clemency Board in their official capacity. The citizens challenged the validity of the Florida felon disenfranchisement laws. | The citizens alleged that Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 (1968) was racially discriminatory and violated their constitutional rights. The citizens also alleged violations of the Voting Rights Act. The court of appeals initially examined the history of Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 (1968) and determined that the citizens had presented evidence that historically the disenfranchisement provisions were motivated by a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

010997

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | discriminatory animus. The citizens had met their initial burden of showing that race was a substantial motivating factor. The state was then required to show that the current disenfranchisement provisions would have been enacted absent the impermissible discriminatory intent. Because the state had not met its burden, summary judgment should not have been granted. The court of appeals found that the claim under the Voting Rights Act, also needed to |                              |             |                                       |

010998

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | be remanded for further proceedings. Under a totality of the circumstances, the district court needed to analyze whether intentional racial discrimination was behind the Florida disenfranchisement provisions. The court affirmed the district court's decision to grant summary judgment on the citizens' poll tax claim. The court reversed the district court's decision to grant summary judgment to the Board on the claims under the equal protection clause and for |                              |             |                                       |

686070

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case        | Court                          | Citation                                      | Date           | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--------------------------------|---|----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |                                |   |                |   | violation of federal voting laws and remanded the matter to the district court for further proceedings.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Fischer v. Governor | Supreme Court of New Hampshire | 145 N.H. 28; 749 A.2d 321; 2000 N.H. LEXIS 16 | March 24, 2000 | Appellant State of New Hampshire challenged a ruling of the superior court that the felon disenfranchisement statutes violate N.H. Const. pt. I, Art. 11. | Appellee was incarcerated at the New Hampshire State Prison on felony convictions. When he requested an absentee ballot to vote from a city clerk, the request was denied. The clerk sent him a copy of N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 607(A)(2) (1986), which prohibits a felon from voting "from the time of his sentence until his final discharge." The trial court | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | declared the disenfranchisement statutes unconstitutional and ordered local election officials to allow the plaintiff to vote. Appellant State of New Hampshire challenged this ruling. The central issue was whether the felon disenfranchisement statutes violated N.H. Const. pt. I, art. 11. After a review of the article, its constitutional history, and legislation pertinent to the right of felons to vote, the court concluded that the legislature retained the |                              |             |                                       |

011001

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case           | Court                  | Citation       | Date           | Facts                      | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|------------------------|----------------|----------------|----------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |                        |                |                |                            | authority under the article to determine voter qualifications and that the felon disenfranchisement statutes were a reasonable exercise of legislative authority, and reversed. Judgment reversed because the court concluded that the legislature retained its authority under the New Hampshire Constitution to determine voter qualifications and that the felon disenfranchisement statutes were a reasonable exercise of legislative authority. |                              |             |                                       |
| Johnson v. Governor of | United States Court of | 405 F.3d 1214; | April 12, 2005 | Plaintiff individuals sued | The individuals argued that the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011002

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court                            | Citation                  | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|----------------------------------|---------------------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Fla.         | Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 5945 |      | defendant members of Florida Clemency Board, arguing that Florida's felon disenfranchisement law, Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 (1968), violated the Equal Protection Clause and the Voting Rights Act. The United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida granted the members summary judgment. A divided appellate panel reversed. The panel opinion was vacated and a rehearing en banc was granted. | racial animus motivating the adoption of Florida's disenfranchisement laws in 1868 remained legally operative despite the reenactment of Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 in 1968. The subsequent reenactment eliminated any discriminatory taint from the law as originally enacted because the provision narrowed the class of disenfranchised individuals and was amended through a deliberative process. Moreover, there was no allegation of racial |                              |             |                                       |

011003

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | discrimination at the time of the reenactment. Thus, the disenfranchisement provision was not a violation of the Equal Protection Clause and the district court properly granted the members summary judgment on that claim. The argument that the Voting Rights Act applied to Florida's disenfranchisement provision was rejected because it raised grave constitutional concerns, i.e., prohibiting a practice that the Fourteenth Amendment |                              |             |                                       |

011004

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case          | Court                              | Citation                      | Date               | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------|-------------------------------|--------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                       |                                    |                               |                    |   | permitted the state to maintain. In addition, the legislative history indicated that Congress never intended the Voting Rights Act to reach felon disenfranchisement provisions. Thus, the district court properly granted the members summary judgment on the Voting Rights Act claim. The motion for summary judgment in favor of the members was granted. |                              |             |                                       |
| Mixon v. Commonwealth | Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania | 759 A.2d 442; 2000 Pa. Commw. | September 18, 2000 | Respondents filed objections to petitioners' complaint seeking declaratory relief | Petitioner convicted felons were presently or had formerly been confined in state  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011005

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation     | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|--------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | LEXIS534 |      | as to the unconstitutionality of the Pennsylvania Election Code, 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. §§ 2600 -- 3591, and the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act, 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. §§ 961.101--961.5109, regarding felon voting rights. | prison. Petitioner elector was currently registered to vote in respondent state. Petitioners filed a complaint against respondent state seeking declaratory relief challenging as unconstitutional, state election and voting laws that excluded confined felons from the definition of qualified absentee electors and that barred a felon who had been released from a penal institution for less than five years from registering to vote. Respondents filed objections to petitioners' |                              |             |                                       |

011006

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | complaint. The court sustained respondents' objection that incarcerated felons were not unconstitutionally deprived of qualified absentee elector status because respondent state had broad power to determine the conditions under which suffrage could be exercised. However, petitioner elector had no standing and the court overruled objection as to deprivation of ex-felon voting rights. The court sustained respondents' objection since |                              |             |                                       |

011007

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation                    | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|-----------------------------|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |                             |                   |  | incarcerated felons were not unconstitutionally deprived of qualified absentee elector status and petitioner elector had no standing, but objection that ex--incarcerated felons' voting rights were deprived was overruled since status penalized them. |                              |             |                                       |
| Rosello v. Calderon | United States District Court for the District of Puerto Rico | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27216 | November 30, 2004 | Plaintiff voters filed a § 1983 action against defendant government officials alleging violations the Due Process and Equal Protection Clauses of the U.S. Const. amend. XIV, resulting from the | The voters' § 1983 action against government officials alleged that absentee ballots for a gubernatorial election were untimely mailed and that split votes, which registered two votes for the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011008

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | invalidity of absentee and split ballots in a gubernatorial election. | same office, were null. The court asserted jurisdiction over the disparate treatment claims, which arose under the U.S. Constitution. The court declined to exercise discretionary abstention because the case was not merely a facial attack on the constitutionality of a statute, but was mainly an applied challenge, requiring a hearing in order to develop the record, and because equal protection and due process were secured under the state and federal constitutions. The |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | court held that the voters had a fundamental due process right created by Puerto Rico Election Law and suffered an equal protection violation in further violation of the U.S. Const. amend. I right to vote, thereby creating their total disenfranchisement. The court held that the evidence created an inference that the split ballots were not uniformly treated and that it was required to examine a mixed question of fact and constitutional law pursuant to federal |                              |             |                                       |

011010

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation                                      | Date            | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|---|-----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |   |                 |   | guidelines to determine whether potential over votes were invalid. The court asserted jurisdiction over the voters' claims.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Woodruff v. Wyoming | United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit | 49 Fed. Appx. 199; 2002 U.S. App. LEXIS 21060 | October 7, 2002 | Plaintiffs, pro se inmates, appealed from an order of the United States District Court for the District of Wyoming, dismissing their complaint brought under § 1983, challenging Wyo. Stat. Ann. § 6--10-106, which denied them, as convicted felons, the right to vote. The district court dismissed the action for failure to state a claim upon which relief could | The inmates argued that the statute violated their Eighth Amendment right and their State constitutional right to be free from cruel and unusual punishment, their equal protection rights under the Fourteenth Amendment and State Constitution, and their federal and state rights to due process. One inmate had not paid the appellate filing fee or filed a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011011

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                        | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|------------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | be granted and as frivolous. | motion to proceed on appeal without prepayment of costs or fees, and his appeal was dismissed. The court found that U.S. Const. amend. XIV, § 2 had long been held to exclude felons from the right to vote. It could scarcely be unreasonable for a state to decide that perpetrators of serious crimes should not take part in electing the legislators who made the laws, the executives who enforced them, the prosecutors who tried the cases, or the judges who heard their cases. |                              |             |                                       |

011012

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                   |  |   |                  |  | The court also found the dismissed suit constituted a "strike" under 28 U.S.C.S. § 1915(g), although the suit did not challenge prison conditions per se. One inmate's appeal was dismissed; the judgment dismissing the other's complaint was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| N.J. State Conf.--NAACP v. Harvey | Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division | 381 N.J. Super. 155; 885 A.2d 445; 2005 N.J. Super. LEXIS 316 | November 2, 2005 | The Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, Union County, dismissed a complaint filed by plaintiff interested parties to invalidate N.J. Stat. Ann. § 19:4--1(8) on the ground that it denied | The statute at issue prohibited all people on parole or probation for indictable offenses from voting. The interested parties alleged that the criminal justice system in New Jersey discriminated   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011013

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | African--Americans and Hispanics equal protection of the law. Defendant, the New Jersey Attorney General, moved to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim, and said motion was granted. The interested parties then appealed. | against African-Americans and Hispanics, thereby disproportionately increasing their population among parolees and probationers and diluting their political power. As a result, the alleged that enforcement of the statute resulted in a denial of equal protection under the state Constitution. The appeals court disagreed. N.J. Const. art. II authorized the New Jersey Legislature to disenfranchise persons convicted of certain crimes from voting. Moreover, those |                              |             |                                       |

011014

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case           | Court  | Citation                   | Date         | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|--|----------------------------|--------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |  |                            |              |  | convicts could not vote unless pardoned or unless otherwise restored by law to the right of suffrage. The statute also limited the period of disenfranchisement during a defendant's actual service on parole or probation. Thus, it clearly complied with this specific constitutional mandate. The judgment was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| King v. City of Boston | United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8421 | May 13, 2004 | Plaintiff inmate filed a motion for summary judgment in his action challenging the constitutionality of Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1, which | The inmate was convicted of a felony and incarcerated. His application for an absentee ballot was denied on the ground that he was  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011015

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | excluded incarcerated felons from voting while they were imprisoned. | not qualified to register and vote under Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1. The inmate argued that the statute was unconstitutional as it applied to him because it amounted to additional punishment for crimes he committed before the statute's enactment and thus violated his due process rights and the prohibition against ex post facto laws and bills of attainder. The court held that the statute was regulatory and not punitive because rational choices |                              |             |                                       |

011016

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were implicated in the statute's disenfranchisement of persons under guardianship, persons disqualified because of corrupt elections practices, persons under 18 years of age, as well as incarcerated felons. Specifically, incarcerated felons were disqualified during the period of their imprisonment when it would be difficult to identify their address and ensure the accuracy of their ballots. Therefore, the court concluded that Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1 did not violate the inmate's constitutional |                              |             |                                       |

011017

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case  | Court   | Citation  | Date            | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|-----------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |                 |  | rights. The court found the statute at issue to be constitutional and denied the inmate's motion for summary judgment.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Southwest Voter Registration Educ. Project v. Shelley | United States District Court for the Central District of California | 278 F. Supp. 2d 1131; 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14413 | August 15, 2003 | Plaintiffs, several groups, brought suit alleging that the proposed use of "punch-card" balloting machines in the California election would violate the United States Constitution and Voting Rights Act. Plaintiffs moved for an order delaying that election, scheduled for October 7, 2003, until such time as it could be conducted without use of punch--card | Plaintiffs claimed voters using punch-card machines would have a comparatively lesser chance of having their votes counted in violation of the Equal Protection Clause and the counties employing punch-card systems had greater minority populations thereby disproportionately disenfranchising and/or diluting the votes on the basis of race, in violation | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011018

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-----------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | machines. | of § 2 of the Voting Rights Act. While the court did not need to decide the res judicata issue at this juncture, there was ample reason to believe that plaintiffs would have had a difficult time overcoming it as they were seeking to establish the same constitutional violations alleged in prior litigation, but to secure an additional remedy. Plaintiffs failed to prove a likelihood of success on the merits with regard to both of their claims. Even if plaintiffs could show disparate |                              |             |                                       |

011019

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | treatment, such would not have amounted to illegal or unconstitutional treatment. The balance of hardships weighed heavily in favor of allowing the election to proceed. The public interests in avoiding wholesale disenfranchisement, and/or not plunging the State into a constitutional crisis, weighed heavily against enjoining the election. Plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction (consolidated with plaintiffs' ex parte application for |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case                         | Court  | Citation                                 | Date           | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------------------|--|--|----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                      |  |  |                |   | temporary restraining order) was denied.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Igartua--de la Rosa v. United States | United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit | 417 F.3d 145; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 15944 | August 3, 2005 | Plaintiff, a U.S. citizen residing in Puerto Rico, appealed from an order of the United States District Court for the District of Puerto Rico, that rejected his claim that he was deprived of the constitutional right to vote for President and Vice President of the United States, and was also violative of three treaty obligations of the United States. | The putative voter had brought the same claims twice before. The court pointed out that U.S. law granted to the citizens of states the right to vote for the slate of electors to represent that state. Although modern ballots omitted the names of the electors and listed only the candidates, and in form it appeared that the citizens were voting for President and Vice President directly, they were not, but were voting for electors. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disenfranchisement Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Puerto Rico was not a state, and had not been enfranchised as the District of Columbia had by the 23rd Amendment. The franchise for choosing electors was confined to "states" by the Constitution. The court declined to turn to foreign or treaty law as a source to reverse the political will of the country. The judgment of the district court was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case                                     | Court   | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|---|--------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Am. Ass'n of People with Disabilities v. Shelley | United States District Court for the Central District of California | 324 F. Supp. 2d 1120; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12587 | July 6, 2004 | Plaintiffs, disabled voters and organizations representing those voters, sought to enjoin the directives of defendant California Secretary of State, which decertified and withdrew approval of the use of certain direct recording electronic voting systems. One voter applied for a temporary restraining order, or, in | The voters urged the invalidation of the Secretary's directives because, allegedly, their effect was to deprive the voters of the opportunity to vote using touch--screen technology. Although it was not disputed that some disabled persons would be unable to vote independently and in private without the use of DREs, it was clear that they would not be | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011023

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                      | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | the alternative, a preliminary injunction. | deprived of their fundamental right to vote. The Americans with Disabilities Act did not require accommodation that would enable disabled persons to vote in a manner that was comparable in every way with the voting rights enjoyed by persons without disabilities. Rather, it mandated that voting programs be made accessible. |                              |             |                                       |

011024

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Defendant's decision to suspend the use of DREs pending improvement in their reliability and security of the devices was a rational one, designed to protect the voting rights of the state's citizens. The evidence did not support the conclusion that the elimination of the DREs would have a discriminatory effect on the visually or manually impaired. Thus, the voters |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case                                  | Court   | Citation   | Date           | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--|----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |  |                |   | showed little likelihood of success on the merits. The individual's request for a temporary restraining order, or, in the alternative, a preliminary injunction, was denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Am. Ass'n of People with Disabilities v. Hood | United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida | 310 F. Supp. 2d 1226; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5615 | March 24, 2004 | Plaintiffs, disabled voters, and a national organization, sued defendants, the Florida Secretary of State, the Director of the Division of Elections of the Florida | The voters were visually or manually impaired. The optical scan voting system purchased by the county at issue was not readily accessible to visually or manually impaired   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011026

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Department of State, and a county supervisor of elections, under Title II of the Americans With Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. Summary judgment was granted for the Secretary and the Director as to visually impaired voters. | voters. The voters were unable to vote using the system without third--party assistance. If it was feasible for the county to purchase a readily accessible system, then the voters' rights under the ADA and the RA were violated. The court found that the manually impaired voter's rights were violated. To the extent "jelly switches" and "sip and puff" devices |                              |             |                                       |

011027

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | needed to be attached to a touch screen machine for it to be accessible, it was not feasible for the supervisor to provide such a system, since no such system had been certified at the time of the county's purchase. 28 C.F.R. § 35.160 did not require that visually or manually impaired voters be able to vote in the same or similar manner as non--disabled voters. |                              |             |                                       |

011028

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Visually and manually impaired voters had to be afforded an equal opportunity to participate in and enjoy the benefits of voting. The voters' "generic" discrimination claim was coterminous with their claim under 28 C.F.R. § 35.151. A declaratory judgment was entered against the supervisor to the extent another voting system would |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | have permitted unassisted voting. The supervisor was directed to have some voting machines permitting visually impaired voters to vote alone. The supervisor was directed to procure another system if the county's system was not certified and/or did not permit mouth stick voting. The Secretary and Director were granted judgment against the voters. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case      | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Troiano v. Lepore | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25850 | November 3, 2003 | Plaintiffs, disabled voters, sued defendant a state county supervisor of elections alleging discrimination pursuant to the Americans With Disability Act, 42 U.S.C.S. § 12132 et seq., § 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, 29 U.S.C.S. § 794 et seq., and declaratory relief for the discrimination. Both sides moved for summary judgment. | The complaint alleged that after the 2000 elections Palm Beach County purchased a certain number of sophisticated voting machines called the "Sequoia." According to the voters, even though such accessible machines were available, the supervisor decided not to place such accessible machines in each precinct because it would slow things down | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011031

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | too much. The court found that the voters lacked standing because they failed to show that they had suffered an injury in fact. The voters also failed to show a likely threat of a future injury because there was no reasonable grounds to believe that the audio components of the voting machines would not be provided in the future. The voters also failed to state |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | an injury that could be redressed by a favorable decision, because the supervisor was already using the Sequoia machines and had already trained poll workers on the use of the machines. Finally, the action was moot because the Sequoia machines had been provided and there was no reasonable expectation that the machines would not have audio |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case                       | Court   | Citation                                  | Date              | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------------------|---|---|-------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                    |   |   |                   |  | components available in the future. The supervisor's motion for summary judgment was granted. The voters' motion for summary judgment was denied.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Troiano v. Supervisor of Elections | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 382 F.3d 1276; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 18497 | September 1, 2004 | Plaintiff visually impaired registered voters sued defendant county election supervisor, alleging that the failure to make available audio components in voting booths | The district court granted the election supervisor summary judgment on the grounds that the voters did not have standing to assert their claims and the claims were moot. The appellate court | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011034

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | to assist persons who were blind or visually impaired violated state and federal law. The United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida entered summary judgment in favor of the election supervisor. The voters appealed. | agreed that the case was moot because the election supervisor had furnished the requested audio components and those components were to be available in all of the county's voting precincts in upcoming elections. Specifically, the election supervisor had ceased the allegedly illegal practice of limiting access to the audio components |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | prior to receiving notice of the litigation. Moreover, since making the decision to use audio components in every election, the election supervisor had consistently followed that policy and taken actions to implement it even prior to the litigation. Thus, the appellate court could discern no hint that she had any intention of removing the accessible |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case                                   | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |   |   |                  |  | voting machines in the future. Therefore, the voters' claims were moot, and the district court's dismissal was affirmed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. The decision was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Am. Ass'n of People with Disabilities v. Smith | United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida | 227 F. Supp. 2d 1276; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21373 | October 16, 2002 | Plaintiff organization of people with disabilities and certain visually and manually impaired voters filed an action against defendant state and local | Individual plaintiffs were unable to vote unassisted with the equipment currently used in the county or the equipment the county had recently purchased. In order to vote,                         | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011037

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | election officials and members of a city council, claiming violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C.S. § 12101 et seq., and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and Fla. Const. art. VI, § 1. Defendants filed motions to dismiss. | the impaired individuals relied on the assistance of third parties. The court held that it could not say that plaintiffs would be unable to prove any state of facts that would satisfy the ripeness and standing requirements. The issue of whether several Florida statutory sections were violative of the Florida Constitution were so intertwined with the federal |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | claims that to decline supplemental jurisdiction be an abuse of discretion. Those statutes which provided for assistance in voting did not violate Fla. Const. art. VI, § 1. Because plaintiffs may be able to prove that visually and manually impaired voters were being denied meaningful access to the service, program, or activity, the court could not |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | say with certainty that they would not be entitled to relief under any state of facts which could be proved in support of their claims. Defendant council members were entitled to absolute legislative immunity. The state officials' motion to dismiss was granted in part such that the counts were dismissed with prejudice to the extent plaintiffs asserted that |                              |             |                                       |

011040

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | they had been excluded from or denied the benefits of a program of direct and secret voting and in part was dismissed with leave to amend. The local officials motion to dismiss was granted in part such that all counts against the city council members were dismissed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case      | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Powers v. Donahue | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, First Department | 276 A.D.2d 157; 717 N.Y.S.2d 550; 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 12644 | December 5, 2000 | Petitioner appealed an order of the supreme court, which denied his motion to direct the New York County Board of Elections, in cases where more than one absentee ballot was returned by a voter, to count only the absentee ballot listing correct candidates' names. | When the New York County Board of Elections learned some absentee ballots mailed to voters in one district listed the wrong candidates for state senator it sent a second set of absentee ballots to absentee voters informing them the first ballot was defective and requesting they use the second ballot. The board agreed if two ballots were received from the same voter, only the corrected ballot would be counted. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011042

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Appellant candidate moved in support of the board's determination. Respondent candidate opposed the application, contending that only the first ballot received should have been canvassed. The trial court denied appellant's motion, ruling that pursuant to New York law, where two ballots were received from the same voter, only the ballot with the earlier date was to be accepted. The court found the |                              |             |                                       |

011043

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case            | Court                    | Citation         | Date              | Facts               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |                          |                  |                   |                     | local board officials should have resolved the dispute as they proposed. The order was modified and the motion granted to the extent of directing the New York County Board of Elections, in cases where more than one absentee ballot was returned by a voter, to accept only the corrected ballot postmarked on or before November 7, 2000, and otherwise affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Goodwin v. St. Thomas-- | Territorial Court of the | 43 V.I. 89; 2000 | December 13, 2000 | Plaintiff political | Plaintiff alleged that defendants   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011044

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case              | Court          | Citation      | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------------|----------------|---------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| St. John Bd. of Elections | Virgin Islands | V.I. LEXIS 15 |      | candidate alleged that certain general election absentee ballots violated territorial election law, and that the improper inclusion of such ballots by defendants, election board and supervisor, resulted in plaintiff's loss of the election. Plaintiff sued defendants seeking invalidation of the absentee ballots and certification of the election results | counted unlawful absentee ballots that lacked postmarks, were not signed or notarized, were in unsealed and/or torn envelopes, and were in envelopes containing more than one ballot. Prior to tabulation of the absentee ballots, plaintiff was leading intervenor for the final senate position, but the absentee ballots entitled intervenor to the position. The court held that plaintiff was not entitled to relief since he failed to |                              |             |                                       |

011045

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                           | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | tabulated without such ballots. | establish that the alleged absentee voting irregularities would require invalidation of a sufficient number of ballots to change the outcome of the election. While the unsealed ballots constituted a technical violation, the outer envelopes were sealed and thus substantially complied with election requirements. Further, while defendants improperly counted one ballot where a sealed ballot |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case         | Court                    | Citation        | Date             | Facts             | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--------------------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                      |                          |                 |                  |                   | envelope and a loose ballot were in the same outer envelope, the one vote involved did not change the election result. Plaintiff's other allegations of irregularities were without merit since ballots without postmarks were valid, ballots without signatures were not counted, and ballots without notarized signatures were proper. Request for declaratory and injunctive relief denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Townson v. Stonicher | Supreme Court of Alabama | 2005 Ala. LEXIS | December 9, 2005 | The circuit court | The voters and the incumbent all  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011047

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | 214      |      | overturned the results of a mayoral election after reviewing the absentee ballots cast for said election, resulting in a loss for appellant incumbent based on the votes received from appellee voters. The incumbent appealed, and the voters cross-- appealed. In the meantime, the trial court stayed enforcement of its judgment pending | challenged the judgment entered by the trial court arguing that it impermissibly included or excluded certain votes. The appeals court agreed with the voters that the trial court should have excluded the votes of those voters for the incumbent who included an improper form of identification with their absentee ballots. It was undisputed that at least 30 absentee voters who voted for the incumbent provided with |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | resolution of the appeal. | their absentee ballots a form of identification that was not proper under Alabama law. As a result, the court further agreed that the trial court erred in allowing those voters to somewhat "cure" that defect by providing a proper form of identification at the trial of the election contest, because, under those circumstances, it was difficult to conclude that those voters made an honest effort to comply with the law. Moreover, to |                              |             |                                       |

011049

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                            | Court   | Citation   | Date            | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--|-----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |  |                 |   | count the votes of voters who failed to comply with the essential requirement of submitting proper identification with their absentee ballots had the effect of disenfranchising qualified electors who choose not to vote but rather than to make the effort to comply with the absentee-voting requirements. Affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Gross v. Albany County Bd. of Elections | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, Third Department | 10 A.D.3d 476; 781 N.Y.S.2d 172; 2004 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS | August 23, 2004 | Appellant candidates appealed from a judgment entered by the supreme court, which partially | The candidates argued that the Board violated a federal court order regarding the election. The appellate court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011050

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | 10360    |      | granted the candidates' petition challenging the method used by respondent Albany County Board of Elections for counting absentee applications and ballots for the office of Albany County Legislator, 26th and 29th Districts, in a special general election required by the federal courts. | held that absentee ballots that were sent to voters for the special general election based solely on their applications for the general election were properly voided. The Board had no authority to issue the ballots without an absentee ballot application for the special general election. Two ballots were properly invalidated as the Board failed to retain the envelopes. Ballots were properly counted for voters who failed to |                              |             |                                       |

011051

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | identify their physician on their applications. A ballot was properly counted where the Board failed to scrutinize the sufficiency of the reason for the application. A ballot containing two signatures was properly rejected. A ballot was properly rejected due to extraneous marks outside the voting square. A ballot was properly counted despite the failure of the election inspector to witness the voter's signature. A ballot was |                              |             |                                       |

011052

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case           | Court                      | Citation                             | Date           | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |                            |                                      |                |  | properly counted as the application stated the date of the voter's absence. A ballot was properly counted as the failure to date the application was cured by a time stamp. Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Erlandson v. Kiffmeyer | Supreme Court of Minnesota | 659 N.W.2d 724; 2003 Minn. LEXIS 196 | April 17, 2003 | Petitioners, representing the Democratic--Farmer--Labor Party, brought an action against respondents, the Minnesota Secretary of State and the Hennepin County Auditor, seeking relief | The appellate court found that, while it may have seemed unfair to the replacement candidate to count votes for other candidates from regular absentee ballots on which the replacement candidate did not appear, those were properly cast ballots voting for a properly | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | in regard to the election for United States Senator, following the death of Senator Wellstone. The issue concerned the right of absentee voters to obtain replacement ballots. Individuals intervened on behalf of the Republican Party. The instant court granted review. | nominated candidate. Petitioners' request that the Minnesota supreme court order that votes for United States Senator cast on regular absentee ballots not be counted was denied. A key issue was Minn. Stat. § 204B.41 (2002), which provided, in--part, that official supplemental ballots could not be mailed to absent voters to whom ballots were mailed before the official supplemental ballots were |                              |             |                                       |

011054

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | prepared. The supreme court held that, by treating similarly-situated voters differently, § 204B.41 violated equal protection guarantees and could not even survive rational basis review. For voters who cast their regular absentee ballots for Wellstone before the vacancy occurred, but were unable to go to their polling place on election day or pick up a replacement ballot by election day, the prohibition on |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case        | Court   | Citation   | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|---|--|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |   |  |              |  | mailing replacement ballots in § 204B.41 denied them the right to cast a meaningful vote for United States Senator. The petition of petitioners was denied in part, but granted with respect to mailing replacement ballots to all applicants for regular absentee ballots who requested a replacement ballot. |                              |             |                                       |
| People v. Deganutti | Appellate Court of Illinois, First District, Third Division | 348 Ill. App. 3d 512; 810 N.E.2d 191; 2004 Ill. App. | May 12, 2004 | Defendant appealed from a judgment of the circuit court, which convicted | Defendant went to the voters' homes and obtained their signatures on absentee ballot   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011056

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation     | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|--------------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | LEXIS518 |      | defendant on charges of unlawful observation of voting and on charges of absentee ballot violations in connection with the completion and mailing of the absentee ballots of two voters. | request forms. Once the ballots were mailed to the voters, defendant returned to the homes. With voter one, defendant sat on the couch with the voter and instructed which numbers to punch on the ballot. With voter two, defendant provided a list a numbers and stood nearby as voter two completed the ballots. Defendant then looked at the ballot and had voter two re--punch a number that had not |                              |             |                                       |

011057

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | punched cleanly. Defendant then put the ballots in the mail for the voters. On appeal, she argued insufficient evidence to sustain her convictions. The court affirmed, holding that (1) the circumstantial evidence surrounding defendant's presence as the voters completed their ballots supported the unlawful observation convictions; (2) the fact that defendant knowingly took the voters ballots |                              |             |                                       |

011058

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                             | Court         | Citation                             | Date              | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |               |                                      |                   |  | and mailed them, a violation of Illinois law supported her conviction, and (3) the fact that the statutes defendant was convicted under required only a knowing mental state rather than criminal intent did not violate substantive due process. Affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Jacobs v. Seminole County Canvassing Bd. | Supreme Court | 773 So. 2d 519; 2000 Fla. LEXIS 2404 | December 12, 2000 | In an election contest, the First District court of appeal certified a trial court order to be of great public importance and to require | Prior to the general election, two political parties mailed preprinted requests for absentee ballots to registered voters in Seminole County.   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011059

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | immediate resolution by the supreme court. The trial court denied appellants' request to invalidate absentee ballot requests in Seminole County in the 2000 presidential election. | Forms mailed by one party failed to include either a space for the voter identification number or the preprinted number. Representatives from that party were allowed to add voter identification numbers to request forms after they were returned, and absentee ballots were sent to the persons named on the request forms. The supreme court affirmed the trial court's refusal to invalidate the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballot requests, and adopted the trial court's reasoning that the information required, which included the voter identification number, was directory rather than mandatory. The trial court properly found that the evidence did not support a finding of fraud, gross negligence, or intentional wrongdoing. Allowing one party to correct ballots did not constitute illegal disparate treatment because there was no need to correct the |                              |             |                                       |

011061

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                            | Court                        | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|------------------------------|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |                              |  |                  |  | other party's forms. Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Gross v. Albany County Bd. of Elections | Court of Appeals of New York | 3 N.Y.3d 251; 819 N.E.2d 197; 785 N.Y.S.2d 729; 2004 N.Y. LEXIS 2412 | October 14, 2004 | Appellant candidates sought review from an order of the Appellate Division, which affirmed a trial court order holding that absentee ballots from a special general election were not to be canvassed because respondent Albany County Board of Elections failed to follow the set procedure for those voters. | Due to a challenge to a redistricting plan, the Board was enjoined from conducting primary and general elections for certain county districts. A special primary election was directed, with a special general election to be held "expeditiously thereafter." Absentee ballot requests for the first special election were based on prior requests, but new requests had to be | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011062

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | made for the general election. However, the Board forwarded absentee ballots for that election as well, based on the prior requests. Candidates in two close races thereafter challenged those absentee ballots, as they violated the procedure that was to be followed. The trial court held that the ballots should not be canvassed, which decision was affirmed on appeal. On further review due to dissenting opinions, the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | court found that the ballots were in violation of the federal court order that directed the procedure to be followed, as well as in violation of New York election law. The court concluded that the Board's error was not technical, ministerial, or inconsequential because it was central to the substantive process, and the voters who used absentee ballots were not determined to be "duly qualified electors." Affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case  | Court                         | Citation                                       | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|-------------------------------|--|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| In re Canvass of Absentee Ballots of Nov. 4, 2003 Gen. Election | Supreme Court of Pennsylvania | 577 Pa. 231; 843 A.2d 1223; 2004 Pa. LEXIS 431 | March 8, 2004 | A county elections board voided certain absentee ballots cast in the November 4, 2003, general election. The court of common pleas held that absentee ballots delivered by third persons were valid and should be counted. The commonwealth court affirmed the trial court's decision. The state supreme court granted allocatur. Appellants and appellees were certain | The absentee ballots at issue were hand-delivered to the county elections board by third persons on behalf of non--disabled voters. On appeal, the issue was whether non--disabled absentee voters could have third persons hand--deliver their ballots to the elections board where the board indicated that the practice was permitted. The state supreme court concluded that the "in person" delivery requirement was mandatory, and | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | candidates and voters. | that absentee ballots delivered in violation of the provision were invalid, notwithstanding the board's erroneous instructions to the contrary. Under the statute's plain meaning, a non--disabled absentee voter had two choices: send the ballot by mail, or deliver it in person. Third--person hand--delivery of absentee ballots was not permitted. To ignore the law's clear instructions regarding in--person delivery |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case     | Court                 | Citation           | Date              | Facts                | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|-----------------------|--------------------|-------------------|----------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |                       |                    |                   |                      | would undermine the statute's very purpose as a safeguard against fraud. The state supreme court concluded that its precedent was clear, and it could not simply ignore substantive provisions of the Pennsylvania Election Code. The judgment of the Commonwealth Court was reversed in so far as it held that certain absentee ballots delivered on behalf of non-disabled absentee voters were valid. |                              |             |                                       |
| In re Canvass of | Commonwealth Court of | 839 A.2d 451; 2003 | December 22, 2003 | The Allegheny County | On appeal, the issue was whether  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011067

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                         | Court        | Citation             | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------------------|--------------|----------------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Absentee Ballots of November 4, 2003 | Pennsylvania | Pa. Commw. LEXIS 963 |      | Elections Board did not allow 74 challenged third--party hand--delivered absentee ballots to be counted in the statewide general election. The court of common pleas of Allegheny County reversed the Board's decision and allowed the 74 ballots to be counted. Appellant objecting candidates appealed the trial court's order. | non-disabled voters who voted by absentee ballots and had those ballots delivered by third parties to county election boards could have their ballots counted in the statewide general election. First, the appellate court concluded that political bodies had standing to appeal. Also, the trial court did not err by counting the 74 ballots because absentee voters could not be held responsible for following the statutory |                              |             |                                       |

011068

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | requirements of Pennsylvania election law where the Board knowingly failed to abide by the statutory language regarding the delivery of absentee ballots, changed its policy to require voters to abide by the language, and then changed its policy back to its original stance that voters did not have to abide by the statutory language, thereby misleading absentee voters regarding delivery requirements. |                              |             |                                       |

011069

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                  | Court  | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|--|-----------------------------|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |  |                             |                  |  | Under the circumstances, it was more important to protect the interest of the voters by not disenfranchising them than to adhere to the strict language of the statute. However, one ballot was not counted because it was not delivered to the Board. Affirmed with the exception that one voter's ballot was stricken. |                              |             |                                       |
| United States v. Pennsylvania | United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21167 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff United States sued defendant Commonwealth of | The testimony of the two witnesses offered by the United States did not support its   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011070

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Pennsylvania, governor, and state secretary, claiming that overseas voters would be disenfranchised if they used absentee ballots that included the names of two presidential candidates who had been removed from the final certified ballot and seeking injunctive relief to address the practical implications of the final certification of the slate of candidates so | contention that voters protected by the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act would be disenfranchised absent immediate injunctive relief because neither witness testified that any absentee ballots issued to UOCAVA voters were legally incorrect or otherwise invalid. Moreover, there was no evidence that any UOCAVA voter had complained or otherwise expressed concern regarding their ability or |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                      | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|----------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | late in the election year. | right to vote. The fact that some UOCAVA voters received ballots including the names of two candidates who were not on the final certified ballot did not ipso facto support a finding that Pennsylvania was in violation of UOCAVA, especially since the United States failed to establish that the ballot defect undermined the right of UOCAVA voters to cast their ballots. Moreover, Pennsylvania had |                              |             |                                       |

011072

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                              | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | adduced substantial evidence that the requested injunctive relief, issuing new ballots, would have harmed the Pennsylvania election system and the public by undermining the integrity and efficiency of Pennsylvania's elections and increasing election costs. Motion for injunctive relief denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Hoblock v. Albany County Bd. of Elections | United States District Court for the Northern District of New York | 341 F. Supp. 2d 169; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21326 | October 25, 2004 | Plaintiffs, candidates and voters, sued defendant, the Albany County, New York, | An election for members of the Albany County Legislature had been enjoined, and special   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011073

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Board of Elections, under § 1983, claiming that the Board violated plaintiffs' Fourteenth Amendment rights by refusing to tally the voters' absentee ballots. Plaintiffs moved for a preliminary injunction. | primary and general elections were ordered. The order stated that the process for obtaining and counting absentee ballots for the general election would follow New York election law, which required voters to request absentee ballots. However, the Board issued absentee ballots for the general election to all persons who had applied for an absentee ballot for the cancelled election. The voters used absentee ballots |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | to vote; their ballots were later invalidated. A state court determined that automatically sending absentee ballots to those who had not filed an application violated the constitution of New York. The district court found that the candidates' claims could have been asserted in state court and were barred by res judicata, but the voters were not parties to the state court action. The candidates were not entitled to joinder and had |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | not filed a motion to intervene. The voters established a likelihood of success on the merits, as the Board effectively took away their right to vote by issuing absentee ballots and then refusing to count them. The voters' claims involved more than just an "unintended irregularity." The candidates' claims were dismissed, and their request for joinder or to intervene was denied. Plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction preventing the |                              |             |                                       |

011076

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case      | Court  | Citation                                  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|--|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                   |  |   |                  |  | Board from certifying winners of the election was granted.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Griffin v. Roupas | United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit | 385 F.3d 1128; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 21476 | October 15, 2004 | In a suit brought by plaintiff working mothers against defendants, members of the Illinois State Board of Elections, alleging that the United States Constitution required Illinois to allow them to vote by absentee ballot, the mothers appealed from a decision of the United States District | The mothers contended that, because it was a hardship for them to vote in person on election day, the U.S. Constitution required Illinois to allow them to vote by absentee ballot. The district court dismissed the mothers' complaint. On appeal, the court held that the district court's ruling was correct, because, although it was possible that the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011077

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, which dismissed their complaint for failure to state a claim. | problems created by absentee voting might be outweighed by the harm to voters who would lose their vote if they were unable to vote by absentee ballot, the striking of the balance between discouraging fraud and encouraging voter turnout was a legislative judgment with which the court would not interfere unless strongly convinced that such judgment was grossly awry. The court further held that Illinois |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | law did not deny the mothers equal protection of the laws, because the hardships that prevented voting in person did not bear more heavily on working mothers than other classes in the community. Finally, the court held that, although the length and complexity of the Illinois ballot supported an argument for allowing people to vote by mail, such argument had nothing to do with the problems faced by working mothers. It |                              |             |                                       |

011079

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case     | Court  | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|--|-----------------------------|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |  |                             |                  |   | applied to everyone.Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Reitz v. Rendell | United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21813 | October 29, 2004 | Plaintiff service members filed an action against defendant state officials under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act, alleging that they and similarly situated service members would be disenfranchised because they did not receive their absentee ballots in time. The parties entered into a | The court issued an order to assure that service members and other similarly situated service members who were protected by the UOCAVA would not be disenfranchised. The court ordered the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take all reasonable steps necessary to direct the county boards of elections to accept as timely received absentee | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011080

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | voluntary agreement and submitted it to the court for approval. | ballots cast by service members and other overseas voters as defined by UOCAVA, so long as the ballots were received by November 10, 2004. The ballots were to be considered solely for purposes of the federal offices that were included on the ballots. The court held that the ballot needed to be cast no later than November 2, 2004 to be counted. The court did not make any findings of liability against |                              |             |                                       |

011081

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                               | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|---|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |   |   |                  |   | the Governor or the Secretary. The court entered an order, pursuant to a stipulation between the parties, that granted injunctive relief to the service members.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bush v. Hillsborough County Canvassing Bd. | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 123 F. Supp. 2d 1305; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19265 | December 8, 2000 | The matter came before the court on plaintiffs' complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief alleging that defendant county canvassing boards rejected overseas absentee state ballots and federal write--in ballots based | Plaintiff presidential and vice--presidential candidates and state political party contended that defendant county canvassing boards rejected overseas absentee state ballots and federal write--in ballots based on criteria inconsistent with the Uniformed | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011082

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | on criteria inconsistent with federal law, and requesting that the ballots be declared valid and that they should be counted. | and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act. Because the state accepted overseas absentee state ballots and federal write--in ballots up to 10 days after the election, the State needed to access that the ballot in fact came from overseas. However, federal law provided the method to establish that fact by requiring the overseas absentee voter to sign an oath that the ballot was mailed from outside the United States and requiring the state |                              |             |                                       |

011083

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | election officials to examine the voter's declarations. The court further noted that federal law required the user of a federal write--in ballot to timely apply for a regular state absentee ballot, not that the state receive the application, and that again federal law, by requiring the voter using a federal write--in ballot to swear that he or she had made timely application, had provided the proper method of proof. Plaintiffs withdrew as moot |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court         | Citation | Date      | Facts           | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------|----------|-----------|-----------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |               |          |           |                 | their request for injunctive relief and the court granted in part and denied in part plaintiffs' request for declaratory relief, and declared valid all federal write-in ballots that were signed pursuant to the oath provided therein but rejected solely because the ballot envelope did not have an APO, FPO, or foreign postmark, or solely because there was no record of an application for a state absentee ballot. |                              |             |                                       |
| Kolb v.      | Supreme Court | 270      | March 17, | Both petitioner | Both petitioner  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011085

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation   | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|--|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Casella      | of New York, Appellate Division, Fourth Department | A.D.2d 964; 705 N.Y.S.2d 746; 2000 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3483 | 2000 | and respondent appealed from order of supreme court, determining which absentee and other paper ballots would be counted in a special legislative election. | and respondent, presumably representing different candidates, challenged the validity of particular paper ballots, mostly absentee, in a special legislative election. The court affirmed most of the trial court's findings, but modified its order to invalidate ballots improperly marked outside the voting square--ballots where the signature on the envelope differed substantially from the voter |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | registration card signature---and ballots where voters neglected to supply statutorily required information on the envelopes. However, the court, seeking to avoid disenfranchising voters where permissible, held that ballots were not invalid where applications substantially complied with statute, there was no objection to the ballots themselves, and there was no evidence of fraud. Where absentee |                              |             |                                       |

011087

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case    | Court                        | Citation  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|------------------------------|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |                              |   |               |   | ballot envelopes contained extra ballots, the ballots were to be placed in a ballot box so that procedures applicable when excess ballots are placed in a ballot box could be followed. Order modified.                            |                              |             |                                       |
| People v. Woods | Court of Appeals of Michigan | 241 Mich. App. 545; 616 N.W.2d 211; 2000 Mich. App. LEXIS 156 | June 27, 2000 | Defendant filed an interlocutory appeal of the decision by the circuit court, which denied defendant's request for a jury instruction on entrapment by estoppel, but stayed the proceedings to allow defendant to | Defendant distributed and collected absentee ballots in an election. Because both defendant and his brother were candidates on the ballot, defendant's assistance was illegal under Michigan law. Bound over for trial on election | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | pursue the interlocutory appeal, in a criminal action alleging violations of election laws. | fraud charges, defendant requested a jury instruction on entrapment by estoppel, which was denied. On interlocutory appeal, the appellate court reversed and remanded for an entrapment hearing, holding that defendant should be given the opportunity to present evidence that he unwittingly committed the unlawful acts in reasonable reliance upon the word of the township clerk. The necessary |                              |             |                                       |

011089

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | elements of the entrapment defense were: (1) a government official (2) told the defendant that certain criminal conduct was legal; (3) the defendant actually relied on the official's statements; (4) the defendant's reliance was in good faith and reasonable in light of the official's identity, the point of law represented, and the substance of the official's statement; and (5) the prosecution would be so unfair as to |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                                  | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |                  |   | violate the defendant's right to due process. Denial of jury instruction was reversed because the trial court did not hold an entrapment hearing; remanded for an entrapment hearing where defendant could present elements of the entrapment by estoppel defense. |                              |             |                                       |
| Harris v. Florida Elections Canvassing Comm'n | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 122 F. Supp. 2d 1317; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17875 | December 9, 2000 | Plaintiffs challenged the counting of overseas absentee ballots received after 7 p.m. on election day, alleging the | The court found Congress did not intend 3 U.S.C.S. § 1 to impose irrational scheduling rules on state and local canvassing officials, and did  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011091

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                                    | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|-----------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |                             |                  | ballots violated Florida law.  | not intend to disenfranchise overseas voters. The court held the state statute was required to yield to the Florida Administrative Code, which required the 10-day extension in the receipt of overseas absentee ballots in federal elections because the rule was promulgated to satisfy a consent decree entered by the state in 1982. |                              |             |                                       |
| Weldon v. Berks County Dep't of Election Servs. | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21948 | November 1, 2004 | Plaintiffs, a congressman and a state representative, filed a motion seeking a preliminary | The congressman and representative sought to have the absentee ballots at issue set aside until a hearing could be held to   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011092

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | injunction or temporary restraining order that would prohibit defendant county department of election services from delivering to local election districts absentee ballots received from any state, county, or city correctional facility. | determine whether any of the straining order denied. CASE SUMMARY: PROCEDURAL POSTURE: Plaintiffs, a congressman and a state representative, filed a motion seeking a preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order that would prohibit defendant county department of election services from delivering to local election districts absentee ballots received from any state, |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | county, or city correctional facility as provided in Pa. Stat. Ann. tit. 25, § 3416.6 and Pa. Stat. Ann. tit. 25, § 3416.8. OVERVIEW:The congressman and representative sought to have the absentee ballots at issue set aside until a hearing could be held to determine whether any of the ballots were delivered to the county board of elections by a third party in violation of Pennsylvania law, whether any of the ballots were |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | submitted by convicted incarcerated felons in violation of Pennsylvania law, and whether any of the ballots were submitted by qualified voters who were improperly assisted without the proper declaration required by Pennsylvania law. The court concluded that an ex parte temporary restraining order was not warranted because there were potential jurisdictional issues, substantial questions |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case           | Court  | Citation                                 | Date              | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|--|--|-------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |  |  |                   |  | concerning the alleged violations, and the complaint did not allege that the department acted or threatened to act in an unlawful manner. The court denied the ex parte motion for a temporary restraining order. The court set a hearing on the motion for preliminary injunction. |                              |             |                                       |
| Qualkinbush v. Skubisz | Court of Appeals of Illinois, First District | 822 N.E.2d 38; 2004 Ill. App. LEXIS 1546 | December 28, 2004 | Respondent appealed from an order of the circuit court certifying mayoral election results for a city in which the court | Respondent first claimed the trial court erred in denying his motion to dismiss with respect to 38 votes the Election Code was preempted by and   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                      | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|----------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | declared petitioner mayor. | violated the Voting Rights Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 since it restricted the individuals with whom an absentee voter could entrust their ballot for mailing. The appeals court found the trial court did not err in denying the motion to dismiss, as Illinois election law prevented a candidate or his or her agent from asserting undue influence upon a disabled voter and from manipulating that |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | voter into voting for the candidate or the agent's candidate, and was designed to protect the rights of disabled voters. Respondent had not established that the federal legislature intended to preempt the rights of state legislatures to restrict absentee voting, and, particularly, who could return absentee ballots. The Election Code did not violate equal protection principles, as the burden placed |                              |             |                                       |

011098

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |   |                  |   | upon absentee voters by the restriction on who could mail an absentee ballot was slight and nondiscriminatory and substantially contributed to the integrity of the election process. Affirmed.                                |                              |             |                                       |
| Panio v. Sunderland | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, Second Department | 14 A.D.3d 627; 790 N.Y.S.2d 136; 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 3433 | January 25, 2005 | In proceedings filed pursuant to New York election law to determine the validity of certain absentee and affidavit ballots tendered for the office of 35th District Senator, appellants, a chairperson of | The question presented was whether the county election board should count the six categories of ballots that were in dispute. After a review of the evidence presented, the appeals court modified the trial court's order by: | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011099

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | the county Republican committee and the Republican candidate, both sought review of an order by the supreme court to count or not count certain ballots. Respondent Democratic candidate cross-- appealed. | (1) deleting an order directing the county elections board (board) to count 160 affidavit ballots tendered by voters who appeared at the correct polling place but the wrong election district, as there were meaningful distinctions between those voters who went to the wrong polling place and those voters who went to the correct polling place but the wrong election district; (2) directing that the board not count |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 10 affidavit ballots tendered in the wrong election district because of a map error, as there was no evidence that the voters in this category relied on the maps when they went to the wrong election districts; and (3) directing the board to count 45 absentee ballots tendered by poll workers, as it appeared that the workers substantially complied with the statute by providing a written statement that was the functional |                              |             |                                       |

011101

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation   | Date              | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--|-------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |  |                   |   | equivalent of an application for a special ballot. Order modified and judgment affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Pierce v. Allegheny County Bd. of Elections | United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania | 324 F. Supp. 2d 684; 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25569 | November 13, 2003 | Plaintiff voters sought to enjoin defendant election board from allowing three different procedures for third--party absentee ballot delivery, require the set aside of all absentee third--party delivered ballots in connection with the November 2003 election, prohibit those | Intervenor political committees also moved to dismiss for lack of standing, lack of subject matter jurisdiction, and failure to state a claim, as well as abstention. Inter alia, the court found that abstention was appropriate under the Pullman doctrine because: (1) construction of Pennsylvania election law was not clear | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011102

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | ballots from being delivered to local election districts after having been commingled with other absentee ballots, and convert a temporary restraining order to an injunction. | regarding whether the absentee ballot provision requiring hand--delivery to be "in person" was mandatory or directory; (2) the construction of the provision by state courts as mandatory or directory could obviate the need to determine whether there had been a Fourteenth Amendment equal protection violation; and (3) erroneous construction of the provision could disrupt very important state voting rights policies. |                              |             |                                       |

011103

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | However, the court had a continuing duty to consider the motion for temporary restraining order/preliminary injunction despite abstention. The court issued a limited preliminary injunction whereby the 937 hand--delivered absentee ballots at issue were set aside as "challenged" ballots subject to the election code challenge procedure. Any equal protection issues could be heard in state |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case       | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|---|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |   |   |                  |   | court by virtue of the state court's concurrent jurisdiction.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Friedman v. Snipes | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 345 F. Supp. 2d 1356; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23739 | November 9, 2004 | Plaintiff registered voters sued defendant state and county election officials under § 1983 for alleged violations of their rights under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1971(a)(2)(B) of the Civil Rights Act, and the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution. The voters | The voters claimed they timely requested absentee ballots but (1) never received the requested ballot or (2) received a ballot when it was too late for them to submit the absentee ballot. The court held that 42 U.S.C.S. § 1971(a)(2)(B) was not intended to apply to the counting of ballots by those already deemed qualified to vote. The plain meaning of § | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | moved for a temporary restraining order (TRO) and/or preliminary injunction. The court granted the TRO and held a hearing on the preliminary injunction. | 1971(a)(2)(B) did not support the voters' claim that it should cover an error or omission on any record or paper or any error or omission in the treatment, handling, or counting of any record or paper. Further, because Florida election law only related to the mechanics of the electoral process, the correct standard to be applied here was whether Florida's important regulatory interests justified the restrictions imposed on their |                              |             |                                       |

011106

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | First and Fourteenth Amendment rights. The State's interests in ensuring a fair and honest election and counting votes within a reasonable time justified the light imposition on voting rights. The deadline for returning ballots did not disenfranchise a class of voters. Rather, it imposed a time deadline by which voters had to return their votes. So there was no equal protection violation. |                              |             |                                       |

011107

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Absentee Balloting Cases

---

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding                        | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Preliminary injunction denied. |                              |             |                                       |

011108

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case            | Court  | Citation                                | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|--|---|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| United States v. Madden | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 403 F.3d 347; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 5326 | April 4, 2005 | Defendant appealed his conviction for violating the federal vote--buying statute. He also appealed the sentence imposed by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky at Pikeville. The district court applied the U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual (Guidelines) § 3B1.1(c) supervisory--role | Defendant paid three people to vote for a local candidate in a primary election. The same ballot contained candidates for the U.S. Senate. While he waived his right to appeal his conviction, he nonetheless asserted two arguments in seeking to avoid the waiver. He first posited that the vote buying statute prohibited only buying votes for federal candidates----a prohibition not | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011109

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | enhancement and increased defendant's base offense level by two levels. | violated by his conduct. In the alternative, he stated if the statute did criminalize buying votes for state or local candidates, then the statute was unconstitutional. Both arguments failed. Defendant argued that applying the supervisory--role enhancement constituted impermissible double counting because the supervision he exercised was no more than necessary to |                              |             |                                       |

011110

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | establish a vote-buying offense. That argument also failed. Defendant next argued that the district court erred by applying the vulnerable--victim enhancement under U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 3A1.1(b)(1). He acknowledged that he knew the mentally ill people who sold their votes were vulnerable, but maintained they were not victims because they received $50 for |                              |             |                                       |

011111

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case           | Court  | Citation                                 | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|--|--|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |  |  |              |  | their votes. The vote sellers were not victims for Guidelines purposes. The district court erred. Defendant's appeal of conviction was dismissed. Defendant's sentence was vacated, and the case was remanded for resentencing. |                              |             |                                       |
| United States v. Slone | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 411 F.3d 643; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 10137 | June 3, 2005 | Defendant pled guilty to vote buying in a federal election. The United States District Court for the Eastern District of | Defendant offered to pay voters for voting in a primary election. Defendant claimed that the vote buying statute did not apply to him  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011112

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Kentucky sentenced defendant to 10 months in custody and recommended that the sentence be served at an institution that could accommodate defendant's medical needs. Defendant appealed his conviction and sentence. | because his conduct related solely to a candidate for a county office. Alternatively, defendant asserted that the statute was unconstitutional because it exceeded Congress' enumerated powers. Finally, defendant argued that the district court erred when it failed to consider his medical condition as a ground for a downward departure at sentencing. The |                              |             |                                       |

011113

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | appellate court found that the vote buying statute applied to all elections in which a federal candidate was on the ballot, and the government need not prove that defendant intended to affect the federal component of the election by his corrupt practices. The facts admitted by defendant at his guilty-plea hearing established all of the essential elements of an |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | offense. The Elections Clause and the Necessary and Proper Clause combined to provide Congress with the power to regulate mixed federal and state elections even when federal candidates were running unopposed. There was no error in the district court's decision on departure under U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 5H1.4. Defendant's conviction and |                              |             |                                       |

011115

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case           | Court  | Citation                                       | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|--|--|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |  |  |               |   | sentence were affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| United States v. Smith | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 139 Fed. Appx. 681; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 14855 | July 18, 2005 | Defendants were convicted of vote buying and conspiracy to buy votes. The United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky entered judgment on the jury verdict and sentenced defendants. Defendants appealed. | One of the defendants was a state representative who decided to run for an elected position. Defendants worked together and with others to buy votes. During defendants' trial, in addition to testimony regarding vote buying, evidence was introduced that two witnesses had been threatened. The appellate court found that defendants | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011115

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | failed to show evidence of prejudice with regard to denial of the motion for severance. Threat evidence was not excludable under Fed. R. Evid. 404(b) because it was admissible to show consciousness of guilt without any inference as to the character of defendants. Admission of witnesses' testimony was proper because each witness testified that he or she was approached by a |                              |             |                                       |

011117

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | member of the conspiracy and offered money for his or her vote. The remaining incarcerated defendant's challenges to his sentence had merit because individuals who sold their votes were not "victims" for the purposes of U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 3A1.1. Furthermore, application of U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 3B1.1(b) violated |                              |             |                                       |

011118

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case     | Court              | Citation             | Date           | Facts               | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|--------------------|----------------------|----------------|---------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |                    |                      |                |                     | defendant's Sixth Amendment rights because it was based on facts that defendant did not admit or proved to the jury beyond a reasonable doubt. Defendants' convictions were affirmed. The remaining incarcerated defendant's sentence was vacated and his case was remanded for resentencing in accordance with Booker. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nugent v. Phelps | Court of Appeal of | 816 So. 2d 349; 2002 | April 23, 2002 | Plaintiff incumbent | The incumbent argued that: (1)   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court                     | Citation            | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------------------|---------------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Louisiana, Second Circuit | La. App. LEXIS 1138 |      | police chief sued defendant challenger, the winning candidate, to have the election nullified and a new election held based on numerous irregularities and unlawful activities by the challenger and his supporters. The challenger won the election by a margin of four votes. At the end of the incumbent's | the number of persons who were bribed for their votes by the challenger's worker was sufficient to change the outcome of the election; (2) the trial judge failed to inform potential witnesses that they could be given immunity from prosecution for bribery of voters if they came forth with truthful testimony; (3) the votes of three of his ardent supporters |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | case, the district court for the dismissed his suit. The incumbent appealed. | should have been counted because they were incarcerated for the sole purpose of keeping them from campaigning and voting; and (4) the district attorney, a strong supporter of the challenger, abused his power when he subpoenaed the incumbent to appear before the grand jury a week preceding the election. The appellate court held no more than two votes would be |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | subtracted, a difference that would be insufficient to change the election result or make it impossible to determine. The appellate court found the trial judge read the immunity portion of the statute to the potential witnesses. The appellate court found the arrests of the three supporters were the result of grand jury indictments, and there was no manifest error in holding that the |                              |             |                                       |

011122

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                           | Citation                   | Date              | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|---------------------------------|----------------------------|-------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                                 |                            |                   |   | incumbent failed to prove a scheme by the district attorney. The judgment of the trial court was affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Eason v. State | Court of Appeals of Mississippi | 2005 Miss. App. LEXIS 1017 | December 13, 2005 | Defendant appealed a decision of circuit court convicting him of one count of conspiracy to commit voter fraud and eight counts of voter fraud. | Defendant was helping with his cousin's campaign in a run--off election for county supervisor. Together, they drove around town, picking up various people who were either at congregating spots or their homes. Defendant would drive the voters to the clerk's office | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011123

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | where they would vote by absentee ballot and defendant would give them beer or money. Defendant claimed he was entitled to a mistrial because the prosecutor advanced an impermissible "sending the message" argument. The court held that it was precluded from reviewing the entire context in which the argument arose because, while the prosecutor's closing |                              |             |                                       |

011124

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | argument was in the record, the defense counsel's closing argument was not. Also, because the prosecutor's statement was incomplete due to defense counsel's objection, the court could not say that the statement made it impossible for defendant to receive a fair trial. Furthermore, the trial judge did not abuse his discretion when he did not allow defendant |                              |             |                                       |

011125

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case            | Court   | Citation                    | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|---|-----------------------------|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |   |                             |                   |  | to ask the individual whether she wanted to see defendant go to prison because the individual's potential bias was shown by the individual's testimony that she expected the prosecution to recommend her sentence. The court affirmed defendant's conviction. |                              |             |                                       |
| United States v. Turner | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky | 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 31709 | November 30, 2005 | Defendants were charged with committing mail fraud and conspiracy to commit mail fraud and | Defendants argued that recusal was mandated by 28 U.S.C.S. § 455(a) and (b)(1). The court found no merit in defendants'  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011126

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | vote--buying. First defendant filed a motion to recuse. Second defendant's motion to join the motion to recuse was granted. First defendant moved to compel the Government to grant testimonial use immunity to second defendant and moved to sever defendants. | arguments. The fact that the judge's husband was the commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Environmental Protection, a position to which he was appointed by the Republican Governor, was not relevant. The judge's husband was neither a party nor a witness. The court further concluded that no reasonable person could find that the judge's spouse had any direct |                              |             |                                       |

011127

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | interest in the instant action. As for issue of money donated by the judge's husband to Republican opponents of first defendant, the court could not discern any reason why such facts warranted recusal. First defendant asserted that second defendant should have been granted use immunity based on a belief that second defendant would testify that first defendant did |                              |             |                                       |

011128

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | not agree to, possess knowledge of, engage in, or otherwise participate in any of the illegal activity alleged in the indictment. The court found the summary of expected testimony to be too general to grant immunity. In addition, it was far from clear whether the court had the power to grant testimonial use immunity to second defendant. Defendants' motion to recuse |                              |             |                                       |

011129

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Vote Buying Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | was denied. First defendant's motions to compel and to sever were denied. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case    | Court                     | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|---------------------------|---|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Ways v. Shively | Supreme Court of Nebraska | 264 Neb. 250; 646 N.W.2d 621; 2002 Neb. LEXIS 158 | July 5, 2002 | Appellant felon filed a writ of mandamus, which sought to compel appellee Election Commissioner of Lancaster County, Nebraska, to permit him to register to vote. The District Court for Lancaster County denied the felon's petition for writ of mandamus and dismissed the petition. The felon appealed. | The felon was discharged from the Nebraska State Penitentiary in June 1998 after completing his sentences for the crimes of pandering, carrying a concealed weapon and attempting to possess a controlled substance. The commissioner asserted that as a result of the felon's conviction, the sentence for which had neither been reversed nor annulled, he had lost his right to vote. The commissioner contended that the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011131

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | only method by which the felon's right to vote could be restored was through a warrant of discharge issued by the Nebraska Board of Pardons---a warrant of discharge had not been issued. The supreme court ruled that the certificate of discharge issued to the felon upon his release did not restore his right to vote. The supreme court ruled that as a matter of law, the specific right to vote was not restored to the felon upon his discharge from incarceration at the |                              |             |                                       |

011132

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case        | Court                          | Citation                                      | Date           | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--------------------------------|---|----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |                                |   |                |   | completion of his sentences. The judgment was affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Fischer v. Governor | Supreme Court of New Hampshire | 145 N.H. 28; 749 A.2d 321; 2000 N.H. LEXIS 16 | March 24, 2000 | Appellant State of New Hampshire challenged a ruling of the superior court that the felon disenfranchisement statutes violate N.H. Const. pt. I, Art. 11. | Appellee was incarcerated at the New Hampshire State Prison on felony convictions. When he requested an absentee ballot to vote from a city clerk, the request was denied. The clerk sent him a copy of N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 607(A)(2) (1986), which prohibits a felon from voting "from the time of his sentence until his final discharge." The trial court declared the disenfranchisement | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011133

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | statutes unconstitutional and ordered local election officials to allow the plaintiff to vote. Appellant State of New Hampshire challenged this ruling. The central issue was whether the felon disenfranchisement statutes violated N.H. Const. pt. I, art. 11. After a review of the article, its constitutional history, and legislation pertinent to the right of felons to vote, the court concluded that the legislature retained the authority under |                              |             |                                       |

011134

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the article to determine voter qualifications and that the felon disenfranchisement statutes were a reasonable exercise of legislative authority, and reversed. Judgment reversed because the court concluded that the legislature retained its authority under the New Hampshire Constitution to determine voter qualifications and that the felon disenfranchisement statutes were a reasonable exercise of legislative |                              |             |                                       |

011135

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case          | Court                              | Citation                                | Date               | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------|---|--------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                       |                                    |   |                    |   | authority.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Mixon v. Commonwealth | Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania | 759 A.2d 442; 2000 Pa. Commw. LEXIS 534 | September 18, 2000 | Respondents filed objections to petitioners' complaint seeking declaratory relief as to the unconstitutionality of the Pennsylvania Election Code, 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. §§ 2600 -- 3591, and the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act, 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. §§ 961.101--961.5109, regarding felon voting rights. | Petitioner convicted felons were presently or had formerly been confined in state prison. Petitioner elector was currently registered to vote in respondent state. Petitioners filed a complaint against respondent state seeking declaratory relief challenging as unconstitutional, state election and voting laws that excluded confined felons from the definition of qualified absentee electors and that barred a felon who had been released | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011136

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | from a penal institution for less than five years from registering to vote. Respondents filed objections to petitioners' complaint. The court sustained respondents' objection that incarcerated felons were not unconstitutionally deprived of qualified absentee elector status because respondent state had broad power to determine the conditions under which suffrage could be exercised. However, petitioner elector had no standing |                              |             |                                       |

011137

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case       | Court                        | Citation  | Date            | Facts                              | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|------------------------------|-----------|-----------------|------------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |                              |           |                 |                                    | and the court overruled objection as to deprivation of ex--felon voting rights. The court sustained respondents' objection since incarcerated felons were not unconstitutionally deprived of qualified absentee elector status and petitioner elector had no standing, but objection that ex--incarcerated felons' voting rights were deprived was overruled since status penalized them. |                              |             |                                       |
| NAACP Philadelphia | United States District Court | 2000 U.S. | August 14, 2000 | Plaintiffs moved for a preliminary | Plaintiffs, ex--felon,  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011138

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case    | Court                                    | Citation          | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|-------------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Branch v. Ridge | for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania | Dist. LEXIS 11520 |      | injunction, which the parties agreed to consolidate with the merits determination for a permanent injunction, in plaintiffs' civil rights suit contending that the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act, offended the Equal Protection Clause of U.S. Const. amend. XIV. | unincorporated association, and others, filed a civil rights suit against defendant state and local officials, contending that the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act, violated the Equal Protection Clause by prohibiting some ex--felons from voting during the five year period following their release from prison, while permitting other ex--felons to vote. Plaintiffs conceded that one plaintiff lacked standing, and the court assumed the remaining |                              |             |                                       |

011139

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | plaintiffs had standing. The court found that all that all three of the special circumstances necessary to invoke the Pullman doctrine were present in the case, but found that abstention was not appropriate under the circumstances since it did not agree with plaintiffs' contention that the time constraints caused by the upcoming election meant that the option of pursuing their claims in state court did not offer plaintiffs an adequate remedy. |                              |             |                                       |

011140

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case       | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |   |                             |                  |  | Plaintiff's motion for permanent injunction denied; the court abstained from deciding merits of plaintiffs' claims under the Pullman doctrine because all three of the special circumstances necessary to invoke the doctrine were present in the case; all further proceedings stayed until further order. |                              |             |                                       |
| Farrakhan v. Locke | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Washington | 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22212 | December 1, 2000 | Plaintiffs, convicted felons who were also racial minorities, sued defendants for alleged violations of the Voting Rights Act. The parties filed cross-motions for | The felons alleged that Washington's felon disenfranchisement and restoration of civil rights schemes, premised upon Wash. Const. art. VI § 3, resulted in the denial of the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011141

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts             | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | summary judgment. | right to vote to racial minorities in violation of the VRA. They argued that race bias in, or the discriminatory effect of, the criminal justice system resulted in a disproportionate number of racial minorities being disenfranchised following felony convictions. The court concluded that Washington's felon disenfranchisement provision disenfranchised a disproportionate number of minorities; as a result, minorities were under--represented in |                              |             |                                       |

011142

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Washington's political process. The Rooker--Feldman doctrine barred the felons from bringing any as--applied challenges, and even if it did not bar such claims, there was no evidence that the felons' individual convictions were born of discrimination in the criminal justice system. However, the felons' facial challenge also failed. The remedy they sought would create a new constitutional problem, allowing disenfranchisement only of white |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case    | Court   | Citation  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|---|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |   |   |               |   | felons. Further, the felons did not establish a causal connection between the disenfranchisement provision and the prohibited result. The court granted defendants' motion and denied the felons' motion for summary judgment. |                              |             |                                       |
| Johnson v. Bush | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 214 F. Supp. 2d 1333; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14782 | July 18, 2002 | Plaintiff felons sued defendant state officials for alleged violations of their constitutional rights. The officials moved and the felons cross-moved for summary judgment. | The felons had all successfully completed their terms of incarceration and/or probation, but their civil rights to register and vote had not been restored. They alleged that Florida's disenfranchisement                     | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011144

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | law violated their rights under First, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Twenty--Fourth Amendments to the United States Constitution, as well as § 1983 and §§ 2 and 10 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Each of the felons' claims was fatally flawed. The felons' exclusion from voting did not violate the Equal Protection or Due Process Clauses of the United States Constitution. The First Amendment did not guarantee felons the right to vote. Although there was evidence |                              |             |                                       |

011145

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | that racial animus was a factor in the initial enactment of Florida's disenfranchisement law, there was no evidence that race played a part in the re--enactment of that provision. Although it appeared that there was a disparate impact on minorities, the cause was racially neutral. Finally, requiring the felons to pay their victim restitution before their rights would be restored did not constitute an improper poll tax or wealth qualification. The court granted the |                              |             |                                       |

011146

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case           | Court  | Citation                   | Date         | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|--|----------------------------|--------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |  |                            |              |   | officials' motion for summary judgment and implicitly denied the felons' motion. Thus, the court dismissed the lawsuit with prejudice.   |                              |             |                                       |
| King v. City of Boston | United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8421 | May 13, 2004 | Plaintiff inmate filed a motion for summary judgment in his action challenging the constitutionality of Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1, which excluded incarcerated felons from voting while they were imprisoned. | The inmate was convicted of a felony and incarcerated. His application for an absentee ballot was denied on the ground that he was not qualified to register and vote under Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1. The inmate argued that the statute was unconstitutional as it applied to him because it amounted to | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011147

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | additional punishment for crimes he committed before the statute's enactment and thus violated his due process rights and the prohibition against ex post facto laws and bills of attainder. The court held that the statute was regulatory and not punitive because rational choices were implicated in the statute's disenfranchisement of persons under guardianship, persons disqualified because of corrupt elections practices, persons under 18 |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | years of age, as well as incarcerated felons. Specifically, incarcerated felons were disqualified during the period of their imprisonment when it would be difficult to identify their address and ensure the accuracy of their ballots. Therefore, the court concluded that Mass. Gen. Laws ch. 51, § 1 did not violate the inmate's constitutional rights. The court found the statute at issue to be constitutional and denied the inmate's |                              |             |                                       |

011149

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case     | Court  | Citation                    | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|--|-----------------------------|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |  |                             |               |   | motion for summary judgment.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Hayden v. Pataki | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10863 | June 14, 2004 | In a 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action filed by plaintiffs, black and latino convicted felons, alleging that N.Y. Const. art. II, § 3 and N.Y. Elec. Law § 5--106(2) were unconstitutional, defendants, New York's governor and the chairperson of the board of elections, moved for judgment on the pleadings under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(c). | The felons sued defendants, alleging that N.Y. Const. art. II, § 3 and N.Y. Elec. Law § 5--106(2) unlawfully denied suffrage to incarcerated and paroled felons on account of their race. The court granted defendants' motion for judgment on the pleadings on the felons' claims under U.S. Const. amend. XIV, XV because their factual allegations were insufficient from which to draw an inference | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | that the challenged provisions or their predecessors were enacted with discriminatory intent, and because denying suffrage to those who received more severe punishments, such as a term of incarceration, and not to those who received a lesser punishment, such as probation, was not arbitrary. The felons' claims under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1973 were dismissed because § 1973 could not be used to challenge the legality of N.Y. Elec. Law § 5--106. Defendants' |                              |             |                                       |

011151

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | motion was granted as to the felons' claims under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1971 because § 1971 did not provide for a private right of action, and because the felons were not "otherwise qualified to vote." The court also granted defendants' motion on the felons' U.S. Const. amend. I claim because it did not guarantee a felon the right to vote. Defendants' motion for judgment on the pleadings was granted in the felons' § 1983 |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case            | Court   | Citation                                  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|---|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |   |   |               |   | action.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Farrakhan v. Washington | United States Court for Appeals for the Ninth Circuit | 338 F.3d 1009; 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS 14810 | July 25, 2003 | Plaintiff inmates sued defendant state officials, claiming that Washington state's felon disenfranchisement scheme constitutes improper race--based vote denial in violation of § 2 of the Voting Rights Act. The United States District Court for the Eastern District of Washington granted of summary judgment dismissing the inmates' claims. The inmates appealed. | Upon conviction of infamous crimes in the state, (that is, crimes punishable by death or imprisonment in a state correctional facility), the inmates were disenfranchised. The inmates claimed that the disenfranchisement scheme violated § 2 because the criminal justice system was biased against minorities, causing a disproportionate minority representation among those being disenfranchised. The appellate court held, inter alia, that | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the district court erred in failing to consider evidence of racial bias in the state's criminal justice system in determining whether the state's felon disenfranchisement laws resulted in denial of the right to vote on account of race. Instead of applying its novel "by itself" causation standard, the district court should have applied a totality of the circumstances test that included analysis of the inmates' compelling evidence of racial |                              |             |                                       |

011154

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | bias in Washington's criminal justice system. However, the inmates lacked standing to challenge the restoration scheme because they presented no evidence of their eligibility, much less even allege that they were eligible for restoration, and had not attempted to have their civil rights restored. The court affirmed as to the eligibility claim but reversed and remanded for further proceedings to the bias in the criminal justice system |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                     | Citation                                      | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|---------------------------|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                           |   |                  |  | claim.  |                              |             |                                       |
| In re Phillips | Supreme Court of Virginia | 265 Va. 81; 574 S.E.2d 270; 2003 Va. LEXIS 10 | January 10, 2003 | The circuit court, entered a judgment in which it declined to consider petitioner former felon's petition for approval of her request to seek restoration of her eligibility to register to vote. The former felon appealed. | More than five years earlier, the former felon was convicted of the felony of making a false written statement incident to a firearm purchase. She then petitioned the trial court asking it to approve her request to seek restoration of her eligibility to register to vote. Her request was based on Va. Code Ann. § 53.1--231.2, allowing persons convicted of non--violent felonies to petition a trial court for approval of a request to seek | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | restoration of voting rights. The trial court declined. It found that Va. Code Ann. § 53.1--231.2 violated constitutional separation of powers principles since it gave the trial court powers belonging to the governor. It also found that even if the statute was constitutional, it was fundamentally flawed for not providing notice to respondent Commonwealth regarding a petition. After the petition was denied, the state supreme court |                              |             |                                       |

011157

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court         | Citation | Date     | Facts     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------|----------|----------|-----------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |               |          |          |           | found the separation of powers principles were not violated since the statute only allowed the trial court to determine if an applicant met the requirements to have voting eligibility restored. It also found the statute was not fundamentally flawed since the Commonwealth was not an interested party entitled to notice. OUTCOME: The judgment was reversed and the case was remanded for further proceedings. |                              |             |                                       |
| Howard v.    | United States | 2000     | February | Appellant | Appellant was  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011158

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court                                   | Citation             | Date     | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|----------------------|----------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Gilmore      | Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit | U.S. App. LEXIS 2680 | 23, 2000 | challenged the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia's order summarily dismissing his complaint, related to his inability to vote as a convicted felon, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. | disenfranchised by the Commonwealth of Virginia following his felony conviction. He challenged that decision by suing the Commonwealth under the U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, XV, XIX, and XXIV, and under the Voting Rights Act of 1965. The lower court summarily dismissed his complaint under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim. Appellant challenged. The court found U.S. Const. amend. I |                              |             |                                       |

011159

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | created no private right of action for seeking reinstatement of previously canceled voting rights, U.S. Const. amends. XIV, XV, XIX, and the VRA required either gender or race discrimination, neither of which appellant asserted, and the U.S. Const. amend. XXIV, while prohibiting the imposition of poll taxes, did not prohibit the imposition of a $10 fee for reinstatement of appellant's civil rights, including the right to vote. Consequently, |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case                | Court   | Citation                            | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------|---|-------------------------------------|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                             |   |                                     |                   |   | appellant failed to state a claim. The court affirmed, finding that none of the constitutional provisions appellant relied on were properly pled because appellant failed to assert that either his race or gender were involved in the decisions to deny him the vote. Conditioning reestablishment of his civil rights on a $10 fee was not unconstitutional. |                              |             |                                       |
| Johnson v. Governor of Fla. | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 353 F.3d 1287; 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS | December 19, 2003 | Plaintiffs, ex--felon citizens of Florida, on their own right and on behalf of others, sought review of a | The citizens alleged that Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 (1968) was racially discriminatory and violated their   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011161

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | 25859    |      | decision of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida, which granted summary judgment to defendants, members of the Florida Clemency Board in their official capacity. The citizens challenged the validity of the Florida felon disenfranchisement laws. | constitutional rights. The citizens also alleged violations of the Voting Rights Act. The court initially examined the history of Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 (1968) and determined that the citizens had presented evidence that historically the disenfranchisement provisions were motivated by a discriminatory animus. The citizens had met their initial burden of showing that race was a substantial motivating factor. The state was then required to show |                              |             |                                       |

011162

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | that the current disenfranchisement provisions would have been enacted absent the impermissible discriminatory intent. Because the state had not met its burden, summary judgment should not have been granted. The court found that the claim under the Voting Rights Act, also needed to be remanded for further proceedings. Under a totality of the circumstances, the district court needed to analyze whether intentional racial discrimination was |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case   | Court    | Citation | Date      | Facts               | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|----------|----------|-----------|---------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |          |          |           |                     | behind the Florida disenfranchisement provisions, in violation of the Voting Rights Act. The court affirmed the district court's decision to grant summary judgment on the citizens' poll tax claim. The court reversed the district court's decision to grant summary judgment to the Board on the claims under the equal protection clause and for violation of federal voting laws and remanded the matter to the district court for further proceedings. |                              |             |                                       |
| State v. Black | Court of | 2002     | September | In 1997, petitioner | The appellate  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011164

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court                | Citation             | Date     | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|----------------------|----------------------|----------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Appeals of Tennessee | Tenn. App. LEXIS 696 | 26, 2002 | was convicted of forgery and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, but was immediately placed on probation. He subsequently petitioned the circuit court for restoration of citizenship. The trial court restored his citizenship rights. The State appealed. The appellate court issued its opinion, but granted the State's motions to supplement the record and to rehear its decision. | court's original opinion found that petitioner had not lost his right to hold public office because Tennessee law removed that right only from convicted felons who were "sentenced to the penitentiary." The trial court's amended judgment made it clear that petitioner was in fact sentenced to the penitentiary. Based upon this correction to the record, the appellate court found that petitioner's sentence to the penitentiary resulted in the |                              |             |                                       |

011165

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | forfeiture of his right to seek and hold public office by operation of Tenn. Code Ann. § 40-20--114. However, the appellate court concluded that this new information did not requires a different outcome on the merits of the issue of restoration of his citizenship rights, including the right to seek and hold public office. The appellate court adhered to its conclusion that the statutory presumption in favor of the restoration was not overcome by a |                              |             |                                       |

011166

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case                | Court   | Citation                                 | Date           | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------|---|--|----------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                             |   |  |                |  | showing, by a preponderance of the evidence, of good cause to deny the petition for restoration of citizenship rights. The appellate court affirmed the restoration of petitioner's right to vote and reversed the denial of his right to seek and hold public office. His full rights of citizenship were restored. |                              |             |                                       |
| Johnson v. Governor of Fla. | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 405 F.3d 1214; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 5945 | April 12, 2005 | Plaintiff individuals sued defendant members of Florida Clemency Board, arguing that Florida's felon disenfranchisement law, Fla. Const. | The individuals argued that the racial animus motivating the adoption of Florida's disenfranchisement laws in 1868 remained legally   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011167

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | art. VI, § 4 (1968), violated the Equal Protection Clause and 42 U.S.C.S. § 1973. The United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida granted the members summary judgment. A divided appellate panel reversed. The panel opinion was vacated and a rehearing en banc was granted. | operative despite the reenactment of Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4 in 1968. The subsequent reenactment eliminated any discriminatory taint from the law as originally enacted because the provision narrowed the class of disenfranchised individuals and was amended through a deliberative process. Moreover, there was no allegation of racial discrimination at the time of the reenactment. Thus, the disenfranchisement provision was not |                              |             |                                       |

011168

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | a violation of the Equal Protection Clause and the district court properly granted the members summary judgment on that claim. The argument that 42 U.S.C.S. § 1973 applied to Florida's disenfranchisement provision was rejected because it raised grave constitutional concerns, i.e., prohibiting a practice that the Fourteenth Amendment permitted the state to maintain. In addition, the legislative history indicated that Congress never |                              |             |                                       |

011169

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Felon Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | intended the Voting Rights Act to reach felon disenfranchisement provisions. Thus, the district court properly granted the members summary judgment on the Voting Rights Act claim. The motion for summary judgment in favor of the members was granted. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case                 | Court  | Citation                                 | Date            | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------------|--|--|-----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Jenkins v. Williamson-Butler | Court of Appeal of Louisiana, Fourth Circuit | 883 So. 2d 537; 2004 La. App. LEXIS 2433 | October 8, 2004 | Petitioner, a candidate for a parish juvenile court judgeship, failed to qualify for a runoff election. She filed suit against defendant, the clerk of criminal court for the parish seeking a new election, based on grounds of substantial irregularities. The district court ruled in favor of the candidate | The trial court found that the voting machines were not put into service until two, four, and, in many instances, eight hours after the statutorily mandated starting hour which constituted serious irregularities so as to deprive voters from freely expressing their will. It was impossible to determine the number of voters that were affected by the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011171

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation                                  | Date            | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|---|-----------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |   |                 | and ordered the holding of a restricted citywide election. The clerk appealed. | late start up or late arrival of voting machines, making it impossible to determine the result. The appellate court agreed that the irregularities were so serious that the trial court's voiding the election and calling a new election was the proper remedy. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Hester v. McKeithen | Court of Appeal of Louisiana, Fourth Circuit | 882 So. 2d 1291; 2004 La. App. LEXIS 2429 | October 8, 2004 | Petitioner, school board candidate, filed suit against defendants, Louisiana   | The candidate argued that the trial court erred in not setting aside the election, even after   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011172

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case  | Court                 | Citation   | Date           | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|-----------------------|--|----------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |                       |  |                | Secretary of State and district court clerk, contesting the school board election results. The trial court rendered judgment against the candidate, finding no basis for the election to be declared void. The candidate appealed. | acknowledging in its reasons for judgment numerous irregularities with the election process. The appellate court ruled that had the irregularities not occurred the outcome would have been exactly the same. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| In re Election Contest of Democratic Primary Election | Supreme Court of Ohio | 88 Ohio St. 3d 258; 2000 Ohio 325; 725 N.E.2d 271; 2000 Ohio | March 29, 2000 | Appellant sought review of the judgment of the court of common   | Appellant contended that an election irregularity occurred when the board failed   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case     | Court | Citation  | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|-------|-----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Held May 4, 1999 |       | LEXIS 607 |      | pleas denying his election contest challenging an opponent's nomination for election irregularity. | to meet and act by majority vote on another candidate's withdrawal, instead permitting its employees to make decisions. Appellant had to prove by clear and convincing evidence that one or more election irregularities occurred and it affected enough votes to change or make uncertain the result of the election. Judgment affirmed. The appellant did |                              |             |                                       |

011174

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                         | Citation                                       | Date         | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|-------------------------------|--|--------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |                               |  |              |   | not establish election irregularity by the board's actions on the candidate's withdrawal, the board acted diligently and exercised its discretion in keeping the candidate's name on the ballot and notifying electors of his withdrawal. |                              |             |                                       |
| In re Election Contest As to Watertown Special Referendum Election | Supreme Court of South Dakota | 2001 SD 62; 628 N.W.2d 336; 2001 S.D. LEXIS 66 | May 23, 2001 | Appellant sought review of the judgment of the circuit court declaring a local election valid and | The burden was on appellants to show not only that voting irregularities occurred, but also show that those irregularities  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011175

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case    | Court                    | Citation  | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--------------------------|---|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |                          |   |               | declining to order a new election.  | were so egregious that the will of the voters was suppressed. Appellants did not meet their burden, as mere inconvenience or delay in voting was not enough to overturn the election. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Jones v. Jessup | Supreme Court of Georgia | 279 Ga. 531; 615 S.E.2d 529; 2005 Ga. LEXIS 447 | June 30, 2005 | Defendant incumbent appealed a judgment by the trial court that invalidated an election for the position of sheriff and | After the candidate lost the sheriff's election to the incumbent, he contested the election, asserting that there were sufficient irregularities to  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | ordered that a new election be held based on plaintiff candidate's election contest. | place in doubt the election results. The state supreme court held that the candidate failed to prove substantial error in the votes cast by the witnesses adduced at the hearing who voted at the election. Although the candidate's evidence reflected the presence of some irregularities, not every irregularity invalidated the vote. The absentee ballots |                              |             |                                       |

011177

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were only to be rejected where the electors failed to furnish required information. Because the ballots cast by the witnesses substantially complied with all of the essential requirements of the form, the trial court erred by finding that they should not have been considered. The candidate failed to establish substantial error in the votes. Judgment reversed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case        | Court                     | Citation                                      | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|---------------------------|---|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Toliver v. Thompson | Supreme Court of Oklahoma | 2000 OK 98; 17 P.3d 464; 2000 Okla. LEXIS 101 | December 21, 2000 | Petitioner challenged an order of the district court denying his motion to compel a recount of votes from an election. | The court held a recount of votes cast in an election could occur when the ballots had been preserved in the manner prescribed by statute. The trial court noted when the ballots had not been preserved in such a manner, no recount would be conducted. The court further noted a petition alleging irregularities in an election could be based upon an allegation that | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | it was impossible to determine with mathematical certainty which candidate was entitled to be issued a certificate of election. The Oklahoma supreme court held petitioner failed to show that the actual votes counted in the election were tainted with irregularity, and similarly failed to show a statutory right to a new election based upon a failure to preserve the |                              |             |                                       |

011180

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case       | Court                      | Citation                           | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|----------------------------|------------------------------------|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |                            |                                    |                   |   | ballots.Judgment affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Adkins v. Huckabay | Supreme Court of Louisiana | 755 So. 2d 206; 2000 La. LEXIS 504 | February 25, 2000 | Plaintiff candidate challenged judgment of court of appeal, second circuit, which reversed the lower court's judgment and declared defendant candidate winner of a runoff election for sheriff. | The issue presented for the appellate court's determination was whether the absentee voting irregularities plaintiff candidate complained of rendered it impossible to determine the outcome of the election for sheriff. The Louisiana supreme court concluded that the lower court had applied the correct | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011181

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | standard, substantial compliance, to the election irregularities, but had erred in its application by concluding that the contested absentee ballots substantially complied with the statutory requirements. The supreme court found that in applying substantial compliance to five of the ballot irregularities, the trial court correctly vacated the general election |                              |             |                                       |

011182

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | and set it aside because those absentee ballots should have been disqualified. Because of the constitutional guarantee to secrecy of the ballot and the fact that the margin of victory in the runoff election was three votes, it was impossible to determine the result of the runoff election. Thus, the supreme court ordered a new general election. Judgment of the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case       | Court                       | Citation   | Date          | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|-----------------------------|--|---------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |                             |  |               |  | court of appeals reversed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| In re Gray--Sadler | Supreme Court of New Jersey | 164 N.J. 468; 753 A.2d 1101; 2000 N.J. LEXIS 668 | June 30, 2000 | Appellants, write--in candidates for the offices of mayor and borough council, appealed the judgment of the superior court, appellate division reversing the trial court's decision to set aside the election results for those offices due to irregularities related to the write--in | The New Jersey supreme court held that the votes that were rejected by election officials did not result from the voters' own errors, but from the election officials' noncompliance with statutory requirements. In other words, the voters were provided with patently inadequate instructions and defective voting machines. Moreover, | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case                                    | Court                                   | Citation                       | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--------------------------------|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |                                |                   | instructions and defective voting machines.                         | appellants met the statutory requirement for successfully contesting the election results by showing that enough qualified voters were denied the right to cast write--in votes as to affect the outcome of the election. Judgment reversed and the state trial court's decision reinstated. |                              |             |                                       |
| Goodwin v. St. Thomas-St. John Bd. of Elections | Territorial Court of the Virgin Islands | 43 V.I. 89; 2000 V.I. LEXIS 15 | December 13, 2000 | Plaintiff political candidate alleged that certain general election | Plaintiff alleged that defendants counted unlawful absentee ballots that lacked postmarks,   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011185

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | absentee ballots violated territorial - election law, and that the improper inclusion of such ballots by defendants, election board and supervisor, resulted in plaintiff's loss of the election. Plaintiff sued defendants seeking invalidation of the absentee ballots and certification of the | were not signed or notarized, were in unsealed and/or torn envelopes, and were in envelopes containing more than one ballot. Prior to tabulation of the absentee ballots, plaintiff was leading intervenor for the final senate position, but the absentee ballots entitled intervenor to the position. The territorial court held that plaintiff was not entitled to relief since he failed to |                              |             |                                       |

011186

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | election results tabulated without such ballots. | establish that the alleged absentee voting irregularities would require invalidation of a sufficient number of ballots to change the outcome of the election. While the unsealed ballots constituted a technical violation, the outer envelopes were sealed and thus substantially complied with election requirements. Further, while defendants improperly |                              |             |                                       |

011187

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | counted one ballot where a sealed ballot envelope and a loose ballot were in the same outer envelope, the one vote involved did not change the election result. Plaintiff's other allegations of irregularities were without merit since ballots without postmarks were valid, ballots without signatures were not counted, and ballots without notarized signatures were |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case             | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Johnson v. Lopez--Torres | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, Second Department | 2005 NY Slip Op 7825; 2005 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 11276 | October 21, 2005 | In a proceeding for a re-- canvass of certain affidavit ballots cast in the Democratic Party primary election for the public office of surrogate, the supreme court denied appellant candidate's petition requesting the same and declared appellee opponent the winner of | proper.Finding that the candidate had waived her right to challenge the affidavit ballots and had not sufficiently established her claim of irregularities to warrant a hearing, the trial court denied her petition and declared the opponent the winner of the primary. However, on appeal, the appellate division held that no waiver occurred. |                              |             |                                       |

011189

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts          | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|----------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | that election. | Moreover, because hundreds of apparently otherwise eligible voters failed to fill in their party enrollment and/or prior address, it could be reasonably inferred that these voters were misled thereby into omitting the required information. Finally, the candidate failed to make a sufficient showing of voting irregularities in |                              |             |                                       |

011130

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                    | Citation                            | Date            | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                          |                                     |                 |   | the machine vote to require a hearing on that issue. Judgment reversed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Ex parte Avery | Supreme Court of Alabama | 843 So. 2d 137; 2002 Ala. LEXIS 239 | August 23, 2002 | Petitioner probate judge moved for a writ of mandamus directing a circuit judge to vacate his order requiring the probate judge to transfer all election materials to the circuit clerk and holding him in contempt for failing to do so. The | The issuance of a writ of mandamus was appropriate. The district attorney had a right to the election materials because he was conducting a criminal investigation of the last election. Furthermore, the circuit judge had no jurisdiction or authority to issue an order | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011191

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case                                    | Court                        | Citation                             | Date           | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|------------------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |                              |                                      |                | probate judge also requested that said material be turned over to the district attorney, pursuant to an outstanding subpoena.     | directing that the election materials be given to the clerk. The district attorney received several claims of irregularities in the election, some of which could constitute voter fraud. Petition granted and writ issued. |                              |             |                                       |
| Harpole v. Kemper County Democratic Exec. Comm. | Supreme Court of Mississippi | 908 So. 2d 129; 2005 Miss. LEXIS 463 | August 4, 2005 | After his loss in a primary election for the office of sheriff, appellant candidate sued appellees, a political party's executive | The candidate alleged the sheriff had his deputies transport prisoners to the polls, felons voted, and the absentee voter law was breached. The committee   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011192

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | committee and the incumbent sheriff, alleging irregularities in the election. The circuit court dismissed the candidate's petition for judicial review with prejudice. He appealed. | agreed with the last contention and threw out the absentee ballots (seven percent of votes cast); after a recount, the sheriff still prevailed. The trial court dismissed the case due to alleged defects in the petition; in the alternative, it held that the candidate failed to sufficiently allege violations and irregularities in the election. The supreme court held that the petition was |                              |             |                                       |

011193

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | not defective. Disqualification of seven percent of the total votes was not substantial enough so as to cause the will of the voters to be impossible to discern and to warrant a special election, and there were not enough illegal votes cast for the sheriff to change the outcome. A blanket allegation implying that the sheriff had deputies transport prisoners to the |                              |             |                                       |

011194

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Election Irregularities Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | polls was not supported by credible evidence. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case         | Court                    | Citation            | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Townson v. Stonicher | Supreme Court of Alabama | 2005 Ala. LEXIS 214 | December 9, 2005 | The circuit court overturned the results of a mayoral election after reviewing the absentee ballots cast for said election, resulting in a loss for appellant incumbent based on the votes received from appellee voters. The incumbent appealed, and the voters cross--appealed. In the meantime, the trial court stayed enforcement of | The voters and the incumbent all challenged the judgment entered by the trial court arguing that it impermissibly included or excluded certain votes. The appeals court agreed with the voters that the trial court should have excluded the votes of those voters for the incumbent who included an improper form of identification with their absentee ballots. It was undisputed that | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | its judgment pending resolution of the appeal. | at least 30 absentee voters who voted for the incumbent provided with their absentee ballots a form of identification that was not proper under Alabama law. As a result, the court further agreed that the trial court erred in allowing those voters to somewhat "cure" that defect by providing a proper form of identification at the trial of the election contest, because, under those |                              |             |                                       |

011197

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | circumstances, it was difficult to conclude that those voters made an honest effort to comply with the law. Moreover, to count the votes of voters who failed to comply with the essential requirement of submitting proper identification with their absentee ballots had the effect of disenfranchising qualified electors who choose not to vote but rather than to make the effort to comply |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case     | Court         | Citation        | Date             | Facts                  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------|------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |               |                 |                  |                        | with the absentee--voting requirements. The judgment declaring the incumbent's opponent the winner was affirmed. The judgment counting the challenged votes in the final tally of votes was reversed, and said votes were subtracted from the incumbents total, and the stay was vacated. All other arguments were rendered moot as a result. |                              |             |                                       |
| ACLU of Minn. v. | United States | 2004 U.S. Dist. | October 29, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voters and | Plaintiffs argued that Minn. Stat.  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011199

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation    | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|-------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Kiffmeyer    | District Court for the District of Minnesota | LEXIS 22996 |      | associations, filed for a temporary restraining order pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65, against defendant, Minnesota Secretary of State, concerning voter registration. | § 201.061 was inconsistent with the Help America Vote Act because it did not authorize the voter to complete registration either by a "current and valid photo identification" or by use of a current utility bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck, or other government document that showed the name and address of the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | individual. The Secretary advised the court that there were less than 600 voters who attempted to register by mail but whose registrations were deemed incomplete. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on their claim that the authorization in Minn. Stat. § 201.061, sub. 3, violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Amendment of the United States Constitution insofar as it did not also authorize the use of a photographic tribal identification card by American Indians who do not reside on their tribal reservations. Also, the court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on their claims that Minn. R. 8200.5100, |                              |             |                                       |

011202

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case                        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |  |  |                  |   | violated the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution. A temporary restraining order was entered.  |                              |             |                                       |
| League of Women Voters v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 340 F. Supp. 2d 823; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20926 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations filed suit against defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, claiming that a directive issued by the Secretary contravened the provisions of the Help America Vote Act. The Secretary filed a motion to | The directive in question instructed election officials to issue provisional ballots to first-time voters who registered by mail but did not provide documentary identification at the polling place on election day. When submitting a provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts    | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|----------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | dismiss. | ballot, a first--time voter could identify himself by providing his driver's license number or the last four digits of his social security number. If he did not know either number, he could provide it before the polls closed. If he did not do so, his provisional ballot would not be counted. The court held that the directive did not contravene the HAVA and otherwise established reasonable |                              |             |                                       |

011204

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | requirements for confirming the identity of first-time voters who registered to vote by mail because: (1) the identification procedures were an important bulwark against voter misconduct and fraud; (2) the burden imposed on first-time voters to confirm their identity, and thus show that they were voting legitimately, was slight; and (3) the number of voters unable to meet the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter ID Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | burden of proving their identity was likely to be very small. Thus, the balance of interests favored the directive, even if the cost, in terms of uncounted ballots, was regrettable. The court granted the Secretary's motion to dismiss. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case               | Court  | Citation                                      | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| New York v. County of Del. | United States District Court for the Northern District of New York | 82 F. Supp. 2d 12; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1398 | February 8, 2000 | Plaintiffs brought a claim in the district court under the Americans With Disabilities Act and filed a motion for a preliminary injunction and motion for leave to amend their complaint, and defendants were ordered to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued. | In their complaint plaintiffs alleged that defendants violated the ADA by making the voting locations inaccessible to disabled persons and asked for a preliminary injunction requiring defendants to come into compliance before the next election. The court found that defendants were the correct parties, because | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | pursuant to New York election law defendants were responsible for the voting locations. The court further found that the class plaintiffs represented would suffer irreparable harm if they were not able to vote, because, if the voting locations were inaccessible, disabled persons would be denied the right to vote. Also, due to the alleged |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case                    | Court                  | Citation                | Date             | Facts                             | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                 |                        |                         |                  |                                   | facts, the court found plaintiffs would likely succeed on the merits. Consequently, the court granted plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction and granted plaintiffs' motion for leave to amend their complaint. |                              |             |                                       |
| New York v. County of Schoharie | United States District | 82 F. Supp. 2d 19; 2000 | February 8, 2000 | Plaintiffs brought a claim in the | In their complaint, plaintiffs  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011209

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court                                       | Citation              | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|-----------------------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Court for the Northern District of New York | U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1399 |      | district court under the Americans With Disabilities Act and filed a motion for a preliminary injunction and a motion for leave to amend their complaint, and defendants were ordered to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued. | alleged defendants violated the ADA by allowing voting locations to be inaccessible for disabled persons and asked for a preliminary injunction requiring defendants to come into compliance before the next election. The court found that defendants were the correct party, because pursuant to New York election law, |                              |             |                                       |

011210

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | defendants were responsible for the voting locations. The court further found that the class plaintiffs represented would suffer irreparable harm if they were not able to vote, because, if the voting locations were inaccessible, disabled persons would be denied the right to vote. Also, the court found that plaintiffs would likely succeed on the |                              |             |                                       |

011211

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | merits of their case. Consequently, the court granted plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction because plaintiffs showed irreparable harm and proved likely success on the merits and granted plaintiff's motion for leave to amend the complaint. |                              |             |                                       |

011212

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case  | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Westchester Disabled on the Move, Inc. v. County of Westchester | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York | 346 F. Supp. 2d 473; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24203 | October 22, 2004 | Plaintiffs sued defendant county, county board of elections, and election officials pursuant to 42 U.S.C.S. §§ 12131--12134, N.Y. Exec. Law § 296, and N.Y. Elec. Law § 4--1--4. Plaintiffs moved for a preliminary injunction, requesting (among other things) that the court order defendants to modify the polling places in the county so that they | The inability to vote at assigned locations on election day constituted irreparable harm. However, plaintiffs could not show a likelihood of success on the merits because the currently named defendants could not provide complete relief sought by plaintiffs. Although the county board of elections was empowered to | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011213

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | were accessible to disabled voters on election day. Defendants moved to dismiss. | select an alternative polling place should it determine that a polling place designated by a municipality was "unsuitable or unsafe," it was entirely unclear that its power to merely designate suitable polling places would be adequate to ensure that all polling places used in the upcoming election actually conformed |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Substantial changes and modifications to existing facilities would have to be made, and such changes would be difficult, if not impossible, to make without the cooperation of municipalities. Further, the court could order defendants to approve voting machines that conformed to |                              |             |                                       |

011215

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the ADA were they to be purchased and submitted for county approval, but the court could not order them to purchase them for the voting districts in the county. A judgment issued in the absence of the municipalities would be inadequate. Plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction was denied, and defendants' motion to dismiss was granted. |                              |             |                                       |

011216

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case                            | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|-----------------------------|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Nat'l Org. on Disability v. Tartaglione | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania | 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16731 | October 11, 2001 | Plaintiffs, disabled voters and special interest organizations, sued defendants, city commissioners, under the Americans with Disabilities Act and § 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and regulations under both statutes, regarding election practices. The commissioners moved to dismiss for failure (1) to | The voters were visually impaired or wheelchair bound. They challenged the commissioners' failure to provide talking voting machines and wheelchair accessible voting places. They claimed discrimination in the process of voting because they were not afforded the same opportunity to participate in the voting process as non-disabled | No                           | N/A         | Yes-see if the case was refiled       |

011217

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | state a cause of action and (2) to join an indispensable party. | voters, and assisted voting and voting by alternative ballot were substantially different from, more burdensome than, and more intrusive than the voting process utilized by non--disabled voters. The court found that the complaint stated causes of actions under the ADA, the Rehabilitation Act, and 28 C.F.R. §§ 35.151 and |                              |             |                                       |

011218

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 35.130. The court found that the voters and organizations had standing to raise their claims. The organizations had standing through the voters' standing or because they used significant resources challenging the commissioners' conduct. The plaintiffs failed to join the state official who would need to approve any talking voting machine as a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | party. As the court could not afford complete relief to the visually impaired voters in that party's absence, it granted the motion to dismiss under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(7) without prejudice. The court granted the commissioners' motion to dismiss in part, and denied it in part. The court granted the motion to dismiss the claims of the |                              |             |                                       |

011220

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case                                | Court                       | Citation   | Date         | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|-----------------------------|--|--------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |                             |  |              |  | visually impaired voters for failure to join an indispensable party, without prejudice, and with leave to amend the complaint.  |                              |             |                                       |
| TENNESSEE, Petitioner v. GEORGE LANE et al. | United States Supreme Court | 541 U.S. 509; 124 S. Ct. 1978; 158 L. Ed. 2d 820; 2004 U.S. LEXIS 3386 | May 17, 2004 | Respondent paraplegics sued petitioner State of Tennessee, alleging that the State failed to provide reasonable access to court facilities in violation of Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act | The state contended that the abrogation of state sovereign immunity in Title II of the ADA exceeded congressional authority under U.S. Const. amend XIV, § 5, to enforce substantive constitutional guarantees. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011221

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | of 1990. Upon the grant of a writ of certiorari, the State appealed the judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit which denied the State's claim of sovereign immunity. | The United States Supreme Court held, however, that Title II, as it applied to the class of cases implicating the fundamental right of access to the courts, constituted a valid exercise of Congress's authority. Title II was responsive to evidence of pervasive unequal treatment of persons with disabilities in the administration of state |                              |             |                                       |

011222

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | services and programs, and such disability discrimination was thus an appropriate subject for prophylactic legislation. Regardless of whether the State could be subjected to liability for failing to provide access to other facilities or services, the fundamental right of access to the courts warranted the limited requirement that the State reasonably |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Disability Access Cases 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | accommodate disabled persons to provide such access. Title II was thus a reasonable prophylactic measure, reasonably targeted to a legitimate end. The judgment denying the State's claim of sovereign immunity was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case         | Court                                       | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Hileman v. McGinness | Appellate Court of Illinois, Fifth District | 316 Ill. App. 3d 868; 739 N.E.2d 81; 2000 Ill. App. LEXIS 845 | October 25, 2000 | Appellant challenged the circuit court's declaration that that the result of a primary election for county circuit clerk was void. | In a primary election for county circuit clerk, the parties agreed that 681 absentee ballots were presumed invalid. The ballots had been commingled with the valid ballots. There were no markings or indications on the ballots which would have allowed them to be segregated from other ballots cast. Because the ballots could not have been | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | segregated, apportionment was the appropriate remedy if no fraud was involved. If fraud was involved, the election would have had to have been voided and a new election held. Because the trial court did not hold an evidentiary hearing on the fraud allegations, and did not determine whether fraud was in issue, the case was remanded for a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                           | Citation                   | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|---------------------------------|----------------------------|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                                 |                            |                   |   | determination as to whether fraud was evident in the electoral process. Judgment reversed and remanded.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Eason v. State | Court of Appeals of Mississippi | 2005 Miss. App. LEXIS 1017 | December 13, 2005 | Defendant appealed a decision of the circuit court convicting him of one count of conspiracy to commit voter fraud and eight counts of voter fraud. | Defendant was helping with his cousin's campaign in a run--off election for county supervisor. Together, they drove around town, picking up various people who were either at congregating spots or their homes. Defendant | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | would drive the voters to the clerk's office where they would vote by absentee ballot and defendant would give them beer or money. Defendant claimed he was entitled to a mistrial because the prosecutor advanced an impermissible "sending the message" argument. The court held that it was precluded from reviewing the entire context in which the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court    | Citation | Date   | Facts     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|----------|----------|--------|-----------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |          |          |        |           | argument arose because, while the prosecutor's closing argument was in the record, the defense counsel's closing argument was not. Also, because the prosecutor's statement was incomplete due to defense counsel's objection, the court could not say that the statement made it impossible for defendant to receive a fair trial. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Wilson v.    | Court of | 2000 Va. | May 2, | Defendant | At trial, the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court               | Citation       | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------------|----------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Commonwealth | Appeals of Virginia | App. LEXIS 322 | 2000 | appealed the judgment of the circuit court which convicted her of election fraud. | Commonwealth introduced substantial testimony and documentary evidence that defendant had continued to live at one residence in the 13th District, long after she stated on the voter registration form that she was living at a residence in the 51st House District. The evidence included records showing electricity and water usage, records from |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the Department of Motor Vehicles and school records. Thus, the evidence was sufficient to support the jury's verdict that defendant made "a false material statement" on the voter registration card required to be filed in order for her to be a candidate for office in the primary in question. Judgment affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |  |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |  |                              |             |                                       |

011231

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Mixed Vote Fraud Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---------|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |
|              |       |          |      |       |         |                              |             |                                       |

011232

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Miller v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the southern District of Ohio | 348 F. Supp. 2d 916; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24894 | October 27, 2004 | Plaintiffs, two voters and the Ohio Democratic Party, filed suit against defendants, the Ohio Secretary of State, several county boards of elections, and all of the boards' members, alleging claims under the National Voter Registration Act and § 1983. Plaintiffs also filed a motion for a temporary restraining order. Two individuals filed a motion to intervene as defendants. | Plaintiffs alleged that the timing and manner in which defendants intended to hold hearings regarding pre-election challenges to their voter registration violated both the Act and the Due Process Clause. The individuals, who filed pre-election voter eligibility challenges, filed a motion to intervene. The court held that it would grant the motion to intervene because the individuals had a substantial legal interest in | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the subject matter of the action and time constraints would not permit them to bring separate actions to protect their rights. The court further held that it would grant plaintiffs' motion for a TRO because plaintiffs made sufficient allegations in their complaint to establish standing and because all four factors to consider in issuing a TRO weighed heavily in favor of doing so. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | likelihood of success on the merits because they made a strong showing that defendants' intended actions regarding pre--election challenges to voter eligibility abridged plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote and violated the Due Process Clause. Thus, the other factors to consider in granting a TRO automatically weighed in plaintiffs' favor. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a TRO. The |                              |             |                                       |

011225

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case         | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                      |  |  |                  |   | court also granted the individuals' motion to intervene.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Spencer v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | 347 F. Supp. 2d 528; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22062 | November 1, 2004 | Plaintiff voters filed a motion for temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction seeking to restrain defendant election officials and intervenor State of Ohio from discriminating against black voters in Hamilton County on the basis of race. If necessary, they sought to restrain challengers from being allowed at the polls. | The voters alleged that defendants had combined to implement a voter challenge system at the polls that discriminated against African--American voters. Each precinct was run by its election judges but Ohio law also allowed challengers to be physically present in the polling places in order to challenge voters' eligibility to vote. The court held that the injury asserted, that | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | allowing challengers to challenge voters' eligibility would place an undue burden on voters and impede their right to vote, was not speculative and could be redressed by removing the challengers. The court held that in the absence of any statutory guidance whatsoever governing the procedures and limitations for challenging voters by challengers, and the questionable enforceability of the State's and |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | County's policies regarding good faith challenges and ejection of disruptive challengers from the polls, there existed an enormous risk of chaos, delay, intimidation, and pandemonium inside the polls and in the lines out the door. Furthermore, the law allowing private challengers was not narrowly tailored to serve Ohio's compelling interest in preventing voter fraud. Because the voters had shown a |                              |             |                                       |

011238

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | substantial likelihood of success on the merits on the ground that the application of Ohio's statute allowing challengers at polling places was unconstitutional and the other factors governing the issuance of an injunction weighed in their favor, the court enjoined all defendants from allowing any challengers other than election judges and other electors into the polling places throughout the |                              |             |                                       |

011239

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case                   | Court  | Citation                   | Date         | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------------|--|----------------------------|--------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                |  |                            |              |   | state on Election Day.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Charfauros v. Bd. of Elections | United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit | 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 15083 | May 10, 2001 | Defendants, board of elections and related individuals, appealed from an order of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands reversing a lower court's grant of summary judgment in favor of defendants on the ground of qualified immunity. | Plaintiffs, disqualified voters, claimed that individual members of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Board of Elections violated § 1983 by administering pre--election day voter challenge procedures which precluded a certain class of voters, including plaintiffs, from voting in a 1995 election. The CNMI Supreme Court reversed a lower court's grant of summary | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011240

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | judgment and defendants appealed. The court of appeals held that the Board's pre-election day procedures violated the plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote. The federal court reasoned that the right to vote was clearly established at the time of the election, and that a reasonable Board would have known that that treating voters differently based on their political party would violate the Equal |                              |             |                                       |

011241

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Protection Clause. Further the court added that the allegations of the complaint were sufficient to support liability of the Board members in their individual capacities. Finally, the composition of the CNMI Supreme Court's Special Judge panel did not violate the Board's right to due process of law. The decision of Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Supreme Court was affirmed |                              |             |                                       |

011242

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case  | Court   | Citation                                  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|               |   |   |                  |  | where defendants' pre--election day voter challenge procedures violated plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Wit v. Berman | United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit | 306 F.3d 1256; 2002 U.S. App. LEXIS 21301 | October 11, 2002 | Appellant voters who established residences in two separate cities sued appellees, state and city election officials, alleging that provisions of the New York State Election Law unconstitutionally prevented the voters from voting in local elections in both cities where they resided. The voters appealed the order of the | Under state election laws, the voters could only vote in districts in which they resided, and residence was limited to one place. The voters contended that, since they had two lawful residences, they were denied constitutional equal protection by the statutory restriction against voting in the local elections of both | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York which granted appellees' motion to dismiss the complaint. | of the places of their residences. The appellate court held, however, that no constitutional violation was shown since the provisions of the New York State Election Law imposed only reasonable, nondiscriminatory restrictions which advanced important state regulatory interests. While the voters may have interests in electoral outcomes in both cities, any rule permitting voting based on such interests would be |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | unmanageable and subject to potential abuse. Further, basing voter eligibility on domicile, which was always over--or under--inclusive, nonetheless had enormous practical advantages, and the voters offered no workable standard to replace the domicile test. Finally, allowing the voters to choose which of their residences was their domicile for voting purposes could not be deemed |                              |             |                                       |

011245

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |                  |  | discriminatory.Affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Curtis v. Smith | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas | 121 F. Supp. 2d 1054; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17987 | November 3, 2000 | Plaintiffs sought a preliminary injunction to prohibit defendant tax assessor-collector from mailing confirmation letters to approximately 9,000 persons who were registered voters in Polk County, Texas. | Plaintiffs sought to prohibit defendant from mailing confirmation letters to approximately 9,000 persons, self-styled "escapees" who traveled a major portion of each year in recreational vehicles, all of whom were registered to vote in Polk County, Texas. In accordance with Texas law, three resident voters filed affidavits challenging the escapees' | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011248

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | residency. These affidavits triggered defendant's action in sending confirmation notices to the escapees. The court determined, first, that because of the potential for discrimination, defendant's action required preclearance in accordance with § 5 of the Voting Rights Act and, second, that such preclearance had not been sought or obtained. Accordingly, the court issued a preliminary injunction |                              |             |                                       |

011247

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | prohibiting defendant from pursuing the confirmation of residency of the escapees, or any similarly situated group, under the Texas Election Code until the process had been submitted for preclearance in accordance with § 5. The action was taken to ensure that no discriminatory potential existed in the use of such process in the upcoming presidential election or future election. Motion for preliminary injunction was |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case                     | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------------------|---|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                  |   |  |                  |   | granted, and defendant was enjoined from pursuing confirmation of residency of the 9,000 "escapees," or any similarly situated group, under the Texas Election Code, until the process had been submitted for preclearance under § 5 of the Voting Rights Act. |                              |             |                                       |
| Peace & Freedom Party v. Shelley | Court of Appeal of California, Third Appellate District | 114 Cal. App. 4th 1237; 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 497; 2004 Cal. App. LEXIS 42 | January 15, 2004 | Plaintiff political party appealed a judgment from the superior court which denied the party's petition for writ of mandate to compel | The trial court ruled that inactive voters were excluded from the primary election. The court of appeals affirmed, observing that although the   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | defendant, the California Secretary of State, to include voters listed in the inactive file of registered voters in calculating whether the party qualified to participate in a primary election. | election had already taken place, the issue was likely to recur and was a matter of continuing public interest and importance; hence, a decision on the merits was proper, although the case was technically moot. The law clearly excluded inactive voters from the calculation. The statutory scheme did not violate the inactive voters' constitutional right of association because it was reasonably designed to |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ensure that all parties on the ballot had a significant modicum of support from eligible voters. Information in the inactive file was unreliable and often duplicative of information in the active file. Moreover, there was no violation of the National Voter Registration Act because voters listed as inactive were not prevented from voting. Although the Act prohibited removal of voters from the official voting list absent |                              |             |                                       |

011251

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |  |                  |   | certain conditions, inactive voters in California could correct the record and vote as provided the Act. The court affirmed the denial of a writ of mandate.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 235 F. Supp. 2d 772; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21753 | October 22, 2002 | Plaintiff voters sued defendants, a county board of elections, a state secretary of state, and the state's attorney general, for violations of the Motor Voter Act and equal protection of the laws. Defendants moved for summary judgment. The voters also | The board heard challenges to the voters' qualifications to vote in the county, based on the fact that the voters were transient (seasonal) rather than permanent residents of the county. The voters claimed that the board hearings did not | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011252

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                              | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|------------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | moved for summary judgment. | afford them the requisite degree of due process and contravened their rights of privacy by inquiring into personal matters. As to the MVA claim, the court held that residency within the precinct was a crucial qualification. One simply could not be an elector, much less a qualified elector entitled to vote, unless one resided in the precinct where he or she sought to vote. If one never lived within the precinct, one was |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | not and could not be an eligible voter, even if listed on the board's rolls as such. The MVA did not affect the state's ability to condition eligibility to vote on residence. Nor did it undertake to regulate challenges, such as the ones presented, to a registered voter's residency ab initio. The ability of the challengers to assert that the voters were not eligible and had not ever been eligible, and of the board to consider and |                              |             |                                       |

011254

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | resolve that challenge, did not contravene the MVA. Defendants' motions for summary judgment were granted as to all claims with prejudice, except the voters' state--law claim, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, without prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation                                 | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Charles H. Wesley Educ. Found., Inc. v. Cox | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 408 F.3d 1349; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 8320 | May 12, 2005 | Plaintiffs, a charitable foundation, four volunteers, and a registered voter, filed a suit against defendant state officials alleging violations of the National Voter Registration Act and the Voting Rights Act. The officials appealed after the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia issued a preliminary injunction enjoining them from rejecting voter registrations submitted by the | The foundation conducted a voter registration drive; it placed the completed applications in a single envelope and mailed them to the Georgia Secretary of State for processing. Included in the batch was the voter's change of address form. Plaintiffs filed the suit after they were notified that the applications had been rejected pursuant to Georgia law, which allegedly restricted who could collect voter registration | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011256

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts       | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | foundation. | forms. Plaintiffs contended that the officials had violated the NVRA, the VRA, and U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, XV. The officials argued that plaintiffs lacked standing and that the district court had erred in issuing the preliminary injunction. The court found no error. Plaintiffs had sufficiently alleged injuries under the NVRA, arising out of the rejection of the voter registration forms; the allegations in the |                              |             |                                       |

011257

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation | Date      | Facts     | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------|----------|-----------|-----------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |        |          |           |           | complaint sufficiently showed an injury--in--fact that was fairly traceable to the officials' conduct. The injunction was properly issued. There was a substantial likelihood that plaintiffs would prevail as to their claims; it served the public interest to protect plaintiffs' franchise--related rights. The court affirmed the preliminary injunction order entered by the district court. |                              |             |                                       |
| McKay v.     | United | 226 F.3d | September | Plaintiff | The trial court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011258

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation                        | Date     | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|---------------------------------|----------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Thompson     | States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 752; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 23387 | 18, 2000 | challenged order of United States District Court for Eastern District of Tennessee at Chattanooga, which granted defendant state election officials summary judgment on plaintiff's action seeking to stop the state practice of requiring its citizens to disclose their social security numbers as a precondition to voter registration. | had granted defendant state election officials summary judgment. The court declined to overrule defendants' administrative determination that state law required plaintiff to disclose his social security number because the interpretation appeared to be reasonable, did not conflict with previous case law, and could be challenged in state court. The requirement did not violate the Privacy Act of 1974, because it |                              |             |                                       |

011259

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | was grand fathered under the terms of the Act. The limitations in the National Voter Registration Act did not apply because the NVRA did not specifically prohibit the use of social security numbers and the Act contained a more specific provision regarding such use. The trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and |                              |             |                                       |

011260

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation | Date    | Facts               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------|----------|---------|---------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |        |          |         |                     | immunities, and due process claims. Order affirmed because requirement that voters disclose social security numbers as precondition to voter registration did not violate Privacy Act of 1974 or National Voter Registration Act and trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l        | United | 150 F.   | July 5, | Plaintiff, national | Defendants  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011261

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case   | Court   | Citation                                 | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|--|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Coalition for Students with Disabilities Educ. & Legal Def. Fund v. Scales | States District Court for the Southern District of Maryland | Supp. 2d 845; 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9528 | 2001 | organization for disabled students, brought an action against university president and university's director of office of disability support services to challenge the voter registration procedures established by the disability support services. Defendants moved to dismiss the first amended complaint, or in the alternative for summary judgment. | alleged that plaintiff lacked standing to represent its members, and that plaintiff had not satisfied the notice requirements of the National Voter Registration Act. Further, defendants maintained the facts, as alleged by plaintiff, did not give rise to a past, present, or future violation of the NVRA because (1) the plaintiff's members that requested voter registration services were not |                              |             |                                       |

011262

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | registered students at the university and (2) its current voter registration procedures complied with NVRA. As to plaintiff's § 1983 claim, the court held that while plaintiff had alleged sufficient facts to confer standing under the NVRA, such allegations were not sufficient to support standing on its own behalf on the § 1983 claim. As to the NVRA claim, the court found that the agency practice of only offering voter |                              |             |                                       |

011263

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | registration services at the initial intake interview and placing the burden on disabled students to obtain voter registration forms and assistance afterwards did not satisfy its statutory duties. Furthermore, most of the NVRA provisions applied to disabled applicants not registered at the university. Defendants' motion to dismiss first amended |                              |             |                                       |

011264

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case                               | Court  | Citation                   | Date              | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|--|----------------------------|-------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |  |                            |                   |   | complaint was granted as to the § 1983 claim and denied as to plaintiff's claims brought under the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. Defendants' alternative motion for summary judgment was denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Cunningham v. Chi. Bd. of Election Comm'rs | United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois | 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2528 | February 24, 2003 | Plaintiffs, who alleged that they were duly registered voters, six of whom had signed nominating petitions for one candidate and two of whom signed | Plaintiffs argued that objections to their signatures were improperly sustained by defendants, the city board of election commissioners. Plaintiff's argued that they were                                  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011265

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | nominating petitions for another candidate. They first asked for a preliminary injunction of the municipal election scheduled for the following Tuesday and suggested, alternatively, that the election for City Clerk and for 4th Ward Alderman be enjoined. | registered voters whose names appeared in an inactive file and whose signatures were therefore, and improperly, excluded. The court ruled that by characterizing the claim as plaintiffs did, they sought to enjoin an election because their signatures were not counted, even though their preferred candidates were otherwise precluded from appearing on the ballot. Without regard to their likelihood of |                              |             |                                       |

011266

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | obtaining any relief, plaintiffs failed to demonstrate that they would be irreparably harmed if an injunction did not issue; the threatened injury to defendants, responsible as they were for the conduct of the municipal election, far outweighed any threatened injury to plaintiffs; and the granting of a preliminary injunction would greatly disserve the public interest. Plaintiffs' petition for |                              |             |                                       |

011267

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |   |   |                  |  | preliminary relief was denied.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Diaz v. Hood | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1111; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21445 | October 26, 2004 | Plaintiffs, unions and individuals who had attempted to register to vote, sought a declaration of their rights to vote in the November 2, 2004 general election. They alleged that defendants, state and county election officials, refused to process their voter registrations for various failures to complete the registration forms. The election officials | The putative voters sought injunctive relief requiring the election officials to register them to vote. The court first noted that the unions lacked even representative standing, because they failed to show that one of their members could have brought the case in their own behalf. The individual putative voters raised separate issues: the first had failed to verify her mental | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011268

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | moved to dismiss the complaint for lack of standing and failure to state a claim. | capacity, the second failed to check a box indicating that he was not a felon, and the third did not provide the last four digits of her social security number on the form. They claimed the election officials violated federal and state law by refusing to register eligible voters because of nonmaterial errors or omissions in their voter registration applications, and by failing to provide any notice to voter |                              |             |                                       |

011269

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | applicants whose registration applications were deemed incomplete. In the first two cases, the election official had handled the errant application properly under Florida law, and the putative voter had effectively caused their own injury by failing to complete the registration. The third completed her form and was registered, so had suffered no injury. Standing failed against the secretary of state. Motion to dismiss without |                              |             |                                       |

011270

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |  |                  |   | prejudice granted.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 235 F. Supp. 2d 772; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21753 | October 22, 2002 | Plaintiff voters sued defendants, a county board of elections, a state secretary of state, and the state's attorney general, for violations of the Motor Voter Act and equal protection of the laws. Defendants moved for summary judgment. The voters also moved for summary judgment. | The board heard challenges to the voters' qualifications to vote in the county, based on the fact that the voters were transient (seasonal) rather than permanent residents of the county. The voters claimed that the board hearings did not afford them the requisite degree of due process and contravened their rights of privacy by inquiring into personal matters. As to the MVA | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011271

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | claim, the court held that residency within the precinct was a crucial qualification. One simply could not be an elector, much less a qualified elector entitled to vote, unless one resided in the precinct where he or she sought to vote. If one never lived within the precinct, one was not and could not be an eligible voter, even if listed on the board's rolls as such. The MVA did not affect the state's ability to |                              |             |                                       |

011272

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | condition eligibility to vote on residence. Nor did it undertake to regulate challenges, such as the ones presented, to a registered voter's residency ab initio. The ability of the challengers to assert that the voters were not eligible and had not ever been eligible, and of the board to consider and resolve that challenge, did not contravene the MVA. Defendants' motions for |                              |             |                                       |

011273

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation                                | Date           | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |                |   | summary judgment were granted as to all claims with prejudice, except the voters' state--law claim, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, without prejudice.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 367 F.3d 588; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 8330 | April 28, 2004 | Plaintiffs, registered voters, sued defendants, Ohio Board of Elections and Board members, alleging that Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 3509.19-3509.21 violated the National Voter Registration Act, and the Equal Protection Clause | The voters contested the challenges to their registration brought under Ohio Code Rev. Ann. § 3505.19 based on Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3503.02. Specifically, the voters asserted that § 3503.02---which stated that the place | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011274

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | of the Fourteenth Amendment. The United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio granted summary judgment in favor of defendants. The voters appealed. | where the family of a married man or woman resided was considered to be his or her place of residence---- violated the equal protection clause. The court of appeals found that the Board's procedures did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act because Congress did not intend to bar the removal of names from the official list of persons who were ineligible and improperly registered to vote |                              |             |                                       |

011275

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | in the first place. The National Voter Registration Act did not bar the Board's continuing consideration of a voter's residence, and encouraged the Board to maintain accurate and reliable voting rolls. Ohio was free to take reasonable steps to see that all applicants for registration to vote actually fulfilled the requirement of bona fide residence. Ohio Rev. Code Ann. |                              |             |                                       |

011276

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | § 3503.02(D) did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act. Because the Board did not raise an irrebuttable presumption in applying § 3502.02(D), the voters suffered no equal protection violation. The judgment was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

011277

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation                                | Date           | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|----------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Bell v. Marinko | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 367 F.3d 588; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 8330 | April 28, 2004 | Plaintiffs, registered voters, sued defendants, Ohio Board of Elections and Board members, alleging that Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 3509.19--3509.21 violated the National Voter Registration Act, and the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. The United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | The voters asserted that § 3503.02---- which stated that the place where the family of a married man or woman resided was considered to be his or her place of residence---- violated the equal protection clause. The court of appeals found that the Board's procedures did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act because Congress did | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011278

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | granted summary judgment in favor of defendants. The voters appealed. | not intend to bar the removal of names from the official list of persons who were ineligible and improperly registered to vote in the first place. The National Voter Registration Act did not bar the Board's continuing consideration of a voter's residence, and encouraged the Board to maintain accurate and reliable voting rolls. Ohio was free to take reasonable steps to see that |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | all applicants for registration to vote actually fulfilled the requirement of bona fide residence. Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3503.02(D) did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act. Because the Board did not raise an irrebuttable presumption in applying § 3502.02(D), the voters suffered no equal protection violation. The judgment was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case           | Court                        | Citation                | Date        | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Wilson v. Commonwealth | Court of Appeals of Virginia | 2000 Va. App. LEXIS 322 | May 2, 2000 | Defendant appealed the judgment of the circuit court which convicted her of election fraud. | On appeal, defendant argued that the evidence was insufficient to support her conviction because it failed to prove that she made a willfully false statement on her voter registration form and, even if the evidence did prove that she made such a statement, it did not prove that the voter registration form was the form required by Title 24.2. At trial, the Commonwealth | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011281

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | introduced substantial testimony and documentary evidence that defendant had continued to live at one residence in the 13th District, long after she stated on the voter registration form that she was living at a residence in the 51st House District. The evidence included records showing electricity and water usage, records from the Department |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | of Motor Vehicles and school records. Thus, the evidence was sufficient to support the jury's verdict that defendant made "a false material statement" on the voter registration card required to be filed by Title 24.2 in order for her to be a candidate for office in the primary in question. Judgment of conviction affirmed. Evidence, including |                              |             |                                       |

011283

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case     | Court         | Citation        | Date             | Facts                  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------|------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |               |                 |                  |                        | records showing electricity and water usage, records from the Department of Motor Vehicles and school records, was sufficient to support jury's verdict that defendant made "a false material statement" on the voter registration card required to be filed in order for her to be a candidate for office in the primary in question. |                              |             |                                       |
| ACLU of Minn. v. | United States | 2004 U.S. Dist. | October 29, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voters and | Plaintiffs argued that   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011284

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation    | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|-------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Kiffmeyer    | District Court for the District of Minnesota | LEXIS 22996 |      | associations, filed for a temporary restraining order pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65, against defendant, Minnesota Secretary of State, concerning voter registration. | Minn. Stat. § 201.061 was inconsistent with the Help America Vote Act because it did not authorize the voter to complete registration either by a "current and valid photo identification" or by use of a current utility bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck, or other government document that showed the name and |                              |             |                                       |

011285

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | address of the individual. The Secretary advised the court that there were less than 600 voters who attempted to register by mail but whose registrations were deemed incomplete. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on their claim that the authorization in Minn. Stat. § 201.061, sub. 3, violated the Equal |                              |             |                                       |

011286

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution insofar as it did not also authorize the use of a photographic tribal identification card by American Indians who do not reside on their tribal reservations. Also, the court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on |                              |             |                                       |

011287

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                 | Court  | Citation  | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------------|--|---|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                              |  |   |                   |  | their claims that Minn. R. 8200.5100, violated the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution. A temporary restraining order was entered.                       |                              |             |                                       |
| Kalsson v. United States FEC | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York | 356 F. Supp. 2d 371; 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2279 | February 16, 2005 | Defendant Federal Election Commission filed a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction plaintiff individual's action, which sought a declaration that | The individual claimed that his vote was diluted because the NVRA resulted in more people registering to vote than otherwise would have been the case. The court held that the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011288

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | the National Voter Registration Act was unconstitutional on the theories that its enactment was not within the enumerated powers of the federal government and that it violated Article II of the United States Constitution. | individual lacked standing to bring the action. Because New York was not obliged to adhere to the requirements of the NVRA, the individual did not allege any concrete harm. If New York simply adopted election day registration for elections for federal office, it would have been entirely free of the NVRA just as were five other states. Even if the individual's vote were diluted, and |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court      | Citation | Date        | Facts     | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|------------|----------|-------------|-----------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |            |          |             |           | even if such an injury in other circumstances might have sufficed for standing, any dilution that he suffered was the result of New York's decision to maintain a voter registration system that brought it under the NVRA, not the NVRA itself. The court granted the motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. |                              |             |                                       |
| Peace &      | California | 114 Cal. | January 15, | Plaintiff | The trial court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011290

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case             | Court                                     | Citation  | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------|---|---|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Freedom Party v. Shelley | Court of Appeal, Third Appellate District | App. 4th 1237; 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 497; 2004 Cal. App. LEXIS 42 | 2004 | political party appealed a judgment from the superior court which denied the party's petition for writ of mandate to compel defendant, the California Secretary of State, to include voters listed in the inactive file of registered voters in calculating whether the party qualified to participate in a primary election. | ruled that inactive voters were excluded from the primary election calculation. The court of appeals affirmed, observing that although the election had already taken place, the issue was likely to recur and was a matter of continuing public interest and importance; hence, a decision on the merits was proper, although the |                              |             |                                       |

011291

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | case was technically moot. The law clearly excluded inactive voters from the calculation. The statutory scheme did not violate the inactive voters' constitutional right of association because it was reasonably designed to ensure that all parties on the ballot had a significant modicum of support from eligible voters. Information in the inactive file |                              |             |                                       |

011292

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | was unreliable and often duplicative of information in the active file. Moreover, there was no violation of the National Voter Registration Act because voters listed as inactive were not prevented from voting. Although the Act prohibited removal of voters from the official voting list absent certain conditions, inactive voters in California could correct the record and |                              |             |                                       |

011293

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case      | Court  | Citation                                 | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|--|--|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                   |  |  |                    |  | vote. Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| McKay v. Thompson | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 226 F.3d 752; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 23387 | September 18, 2000 | Plaintiff challenged order of United States District Court for Eastern District of Tennessee at Chattanooga, which granted defendant state election officials summary judgment on plaintiff's action seeking to stop the state practice of requiring its citizens to disclose their social security numbers as a precondition to voter registration. | The trial court had granted defendant state election officials summary judgment. The court declined to overrule defendants' administrative determination that state law required plaintiff to disclose his social security number because the interpretation appeared to be reasonable, did not conflict with previous caselaw, and could be | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | challenged in state court. The requirement did not violate the Privacy Act because it was grand fathered under the terms of the Act. The limitations in the National Voter Registration Act did not apply because the NVRA did not specifically prohibit the use of social security numbers and the Act contained a more specific provision regarding such use. Plaintiff |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | could not enforce § 1971 as it was enforceable only by the United States Attorney General. The trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims. Although the trial court arguably erred in denying certification of the case to the USAG under |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 28 U.S.C.S. § 2403(a), plaintiff suffered no harm from the technical violation. Order affirmed because requirement that voters disclose social security numbers as precondition to voter registration did not violate Privacy Act of 1974 or National Voter Registration Act and trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental |                              |             |                                       |

011297

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                               | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |  |  |                  |  | right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Lucas County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 341 F. Supp. 2d 861; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21416 | October 21, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations brought an action challenging a memorandum issued by defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, in December 2003. The organizations claimed that the memorandum contravened provisions of the Help America Vote | The case involved a box on Ohio's voter registration form that required a prospective voter who registered in person to supply an Ohio driver's license number or the last four digits of their Social Security number. In his memorandum, the Secretary informed all | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011298

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Act and the National Voter Registration Act. The organizations moved for a preliminary injunction. | Ohio County Boards of Elections that, if a person left the box blank, the Boards were not to process the registration forms. The organizations did not file their suit until 18 days before the national election. The court found that there was not enough time before the election to develop the evidentiary record necessary to determine if the organizations |                              |             |                                       |

011299

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were likely to succeed on the merits of their claim. Denying the organizations' motion would have caused them to suffer no irreparable harm. There was no appropriate remedy available to the organizations at the time. The likelihood that the organizations could have shown irreparable harm was, in any event, slight in view of the fact that |                              |             |                                       |

011300

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                                   | Court                            | Citation                             | Date         | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|--------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |                                  |                                      |              |   | they waited so long before filing suit. Moreover, it would have been entirely improper for the court to order the Boards to re-open in-person registration until election day. The public interest would have been ill-served by an injunction. The motion for a preliminary injunction was denied sua sponte. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l Coalition for Students with Disabilities | United States District Court for | 150 F. Supp. 2d 845; 2001 U.S. Dist. | July 5, 2001 | Plaintiff, national organization for disabled | Defendants alleged that plaintiff lacked standing to  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011301

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court                    | Citation   | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------|------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Educ. & Legal Def. Fund v. Scales | the District of Maryland | LEXIS 9528 |      | students, brought an action against university president and university's director of office of disability support services to challenge the voter registration procedures established by the disability support services. Defendants moved to dismiss the first amended complaint, or in the alternative for summary judgment. | represent its members, and that plaintiff had not satisfied the notice requirements of the National Voter Registration Act. Further, defendants maintained the facts, as alleged by plaintiff, did not give rise to a past, present, or future violation of the NVRA because (1) the plaintiff's members that requested voter registration services were not registered |                              |             |                                       |

011302

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | students at the university and (2) its current voter registration procedures complied with NVRA. As to plaintiff's § 1983 claim, the court held that while plaintiff had alleged sufficient facts to confer standing under the NVRA, such allegations were not sufficient to support standing on its own behalf on the § 1983 claim. As to the NVRA claim, |                              |             |                                       |

011303

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the court found that the agency practice of only offering voter registration services at the initial intake interview and placing the burden on disabled students to obtain voter registration forms and assistance afterwards did not satisfy its statutory duties. Furthermore, most of the NVRA provisions applied to disabled applicants not registered at the |                              |             |                                       |

011304

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case       | Court                        | Citation                                 | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|------------------------------|--|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |                              |  |               |   | university.Defendants' motion to dismiss first amended complaint was granted as to the § 1983 claimant denied as to plaintiff's claims brought under the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. Defendants' alternative motion for summary judgment was denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| People v. Disimone | Court of Appeals of Michigan | 251 Mich. App. 605; 650 N.W.2d 436; 2002 | July 11, 2002 | Defendant was charged with attempting to vote more than once in the | Defendant was registered in the Colfax township for the 2000  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011305

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation             | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | Mich. App. LEXIS 826 |      | 2000 general election. The circuit court granted defendant's motion that the State had to prove specific intent. The State appealed. | general election. After presenting what appeared to be a valid voter's registration card, defendant proceeded to vote in the Grant township. Defendant had voted in the Colfax township earlier in the day. Defendant moved the court to issue an order that the State had to find that he had a specific intent to vote twice in order to be convicted. The appellate court |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | reversed the circuit court judgment and held that under the rules of statutory construction, the fact that the legislature had specifically omitted certain trigger words such as "knowingly," "willingly," "purposefully," or "intentionally" it was unlikely that the legislature had intended for this to be a specific intent crime. The court also rejected the |                              |             |                                       |

011307

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                  | Citation                   | Date             | Facts                                  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|------------------------|----------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |                        |                            |                  |  | defendant's argument that phrases such as "offer to vote" and "attempt to vote" should be construed as synonymous terms, as when words with similar meanings were used in the same statute, it was presumed that the legislature intended to distinguish between the terms. The order of the circuit court was reversed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Diaz v. Hood | United States District | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1111; 2004 | October 26, 2004 | Plaintiffs, unions and individuals who | The putative voters sought injunctive relief   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011308

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                                      | Citation               | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|------------------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Court for the Southern District of Florida | U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21445 |      | had attempted to register to vote, sought a declaration of their rights to vote in the November 2, 2004 general election. They alleged that defendants, state and county election officials, refused to process their voter registrations for various failures to complete the registration forms. The election officials moved to dismiss the complaint for lack of standing | requiring the election officials to register them to vote. The court first noted that the unions lacked even representative standing, because they failed to show that one of their members could have brought the case in their own behalf. The individual putative voters raised separate issues: the first had failed to verify her mental capacity, the second failed to check a box |                              |             |                                       |

011309

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                         | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | and failure to state a claim. | indicating that he was not a felon, and the third did not provide the last four digits of her social security number on the form. They claimed the election officials violated federal and state law by refusing to register eligible voters because of nonmaterial errors or omissions in their voter registration applications, and by failing to provide any notice to voter |                              |             |                                       |

011310

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | applicants whose registration applications were deemed incomplete. In the first two cases, the election official had handled the errant application properly under Florida law, and the putative voter had effectively caused their own injury by failing to complete the registration. The third completed her form and was registered, so had suffered no |                              |             |                                       |

011311

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |              |  | injury. Standing failed against the secretary of state. The motions to dismiss the complaint were granted without prejudice.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Charles H. Wesley Educ. Found., Inc. v. Cox | United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia | 324 F. Supp. 2d 1358; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12120 | July 1, 2004 | Plaintiffs, a voter, fraternity members, and an organization, sought an injunction ordering defendant, the Georgia Secretary of State, to process the voter registration application forms that they mailed in | The organization participated in numerous non-partisan voter registration drives primarily designed to increase the voting strength of African-Americans. Following one such drive, the fraternity members | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011312

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | following a voter registration drive. They contended that by refusing to process the forms defendants violated the National Voter Registration Act and U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, and XV. | mailed in over 60 registration forms, including one for the voter who had moved within state since the last election. The Georgia Secretary of State's office refused to process them because they were not mailed individually and neither a registrar, deputy registrar, or an otherwise authorized person had collected the applications as |                              |             |                                       |

011313

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | required under state law. The court held that plaintiffs had standing to bring the action. The court held that because the applications were received in accordance with the mandates of the NVRA, the State of Georgia was not free to reject them. The court found that: plaintiffs had a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits of their claim that |                              |             |                                       |

011314

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the applications were improperly rejected; plaintiffs would be irreparably injured absent an injunction; the potential harm to defendants was outweighed by plaintiffs' injuries; and an injunction was in the public interest. Plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction was granted. Defendants were ordered to process the applications received from |                              |             |                                       |

011315

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case     | Court         | Citation        | Date             | Facts                   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |               |                 |                  |                         | the organization to determine whether those registrants were qualified to vote. Furthermore, defendants were enjoined from rejecting any voter registration application on the grounds that it was mailed as part of a "bundle" or that it was collected by someone not authorized or any other reason contrary to the NVRA. |                              |             |                                       |
| Moseley v. Price | United States | 300 F. Supp. 2d | January 22, 2004 | Plaintiff alleged, that | The court concluded that  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011316

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation                       | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|--------------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia | 389; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 850 |      | defendants' actions in investigating his voter registration application constituted a change in voting procedures requiring § 5 preclearance under the Voting Rights Act, which preclearance was never sought or received. Plaintiff claimed he withdrew from the race for Commonwealth Attorney because of the investigation. | plaintiff's claim under the Voting Rights Act lacked merit. Plaintiff did not allege, as required, that any defendants implemented a new, uncleared voting qualification or prerequisite to voting, or standard, practice, or procedure with respect to voting. Here, the existing practice or procedure in effect in the event a mailed registration card was |                              |             |                                       |

011317

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                      | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Defendants moved to dismiss the complaint. | returned was to "resend the voter card, if address verified as correct." This was what precisely occurred. Plaintiff inferred, however, that the existing voting rule or practice was to resend the voter card "with no adverse consequences" and that the county's initiation of an investigation constituted the implementation of a change that had not been pre--cleared. |                              |             |                                       |

011318

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | The court found the inference wholly unwarranted because nothing in the written procedure invited or justified such an inference. The court opined that common sense and state law invited a different inference, namely that while a returned card had to be resent if the address was verified as correct, any allegation of |                              |             |                                       |

011319

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case       | Court  | Citation   | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|--|--|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |  |  |               |   | fraud could be investigated. Therefore, there was no new procedure for which preclearance was required. The court dismissed plaintiff's federal claims. The court dismissed the state law claims without prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |
| Thompson v. Karben | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, Second Department | 295 A.D.2d 438; 743 N.Y.S.2d 175; 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6101 | June 10, 2002 | Respondents filed a motion seeking the cancellation of appellant's voter registration and political party enrollment on the ground that | Respondents alleged that appellant was unlawfully registered to vote from an address at which he did not reside and that he should  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011320

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | appellant was unlawfully registered to vote in a particular district. The Supreme Court, Rockland County, New York, ordered the cancellation of appellant's voter registration and party enrollment. Appellant challenged the trial court's order. | have voted from the address that he claimed as his residence. The appellate court held that respondents adduced insufficient proof to support the conclusion that appellant did not reside at the subject address. On the other hand, appellant submitted copies of his 2002 vehicle registration, 2000 and 2001 federal income tax returns, 2002 property tax bill, a May |                              |             |                                       |

011321

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date      | Facts         | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--------|-----------|-----------|---------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |        |           |           |               | 2001 paycheck stub, and 2000 and 2001 retirement account statements all showing the subject address. Appellant also testified that he was a signatory on the mortgage of the subject address and that he kept personal belongings at that address. Respondents did not sustain their evidentiary burden. The judgment of the trial court was reversed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l Coalition | United | 2002 U.S. | August 2, | Plaintiffs, a | The court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011322

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation          | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|-------------------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| v. Taft      | States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | Dist. LEXIS 22376 | 2002 | nonprofit public interest group and certain individuals, sued defendants, certain state and university officials, alleging that they violated the National Voter Registration Act in failing to designate the disability services offices at state public colleges and universities as voter registration sites. The group and individuals moved for a | found that the disability services offices at issue were subject to the NVRA because the term "office" included a subdivision of a government department or institution and the disability offices at issue were places where citizens regularly went for service and assistance. Moreover, the Ohio Secretary of State had an obligation under the NVRA to designate the |                              |             |                                       |

011323

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | preliminary injunction. | disability services offices as voter registration sites because nothing in the law superceded the NVRA's requirement that the responsible state official designate disability services offices as voter registration sites. Moreover, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3501.05(R), the Secretary of State's duties expressly included |                              |             |                                       |

011324

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ensuring compliance with the NVRA. The case was not moot even though the Secretary of State had taken steps to ensure compliance with the NVRA given his position to his obligation under the law. The court granted declaratory judgment in favor of the nonprofit organization and the individuals. The motion for a preliminary |                              |             |                                       |

011325

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case            | Court                                  | Citation                           | Date        | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|--|------------------------------------|-------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |  |                                    |             |  | injunction was granted in part and the Secretary of State was ordered to notify disabled students who had used the designated disability services offices prior to the opening day of the upcoming semester or who had pre-registered for the upcoming semester as to voter registration availability. |                              |             |                                       |
| Lawson v. Shelby County | United States Court of Appeals for the | 211 F.3d 331; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS | May 3, 2000 | Plaintiffs who were denied the right to vote when they | Plaintiffs attempted to register to vote in October, and   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011326

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court         | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Sixth Circuit | 8634     |      | refused to disclose their social security numbers, appealed a judgment of the United States District Court for the Western District of Tennessee at Memphis dismissing their amended complaint for failure to state claims barred by U.S. Const. amend. XI. | to vote in November, but were denied because they refused to disclose their social security numbers. A year after the election date they filed suit alleging denial of constitutional rights, privileges and immunities, the Privacy Act of 1974 and § 1983. The district court dismissed, finding the claims were barred by U.S. Const. amend. XI, and the one |                              |             |                                       |

011327

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | year statute of limitations. The appeals court reversed, holding the district court erred in dismissing the suit because U.S. Const. amend. XI immunity did not apply to suits brought by a private party under the Ex Parte Young exception. Any damages claim not ancillary to injunctive relief was barred. The court also held the statute of limitations ran from the date plaintiffs |                              |             |                                       |

011328

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were denied the opportunity to vote, not register, and their claim was thus timely. Reversed and remanded to district court to order such relief as will allow plaintiffs to vote and other prospective injunctive relief against county and state officials; declaratory relief and attorneys' fees ancillary to the prospective injunctive relief, all permitted under |                              |             |                                       |

011329

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |              |  | the Young exception to sovereign immunity, to be fashioned.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Curtis v. Smith | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas | 145 F. Supp. 2d 814; 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8544 | June 4, 2001 | Plaintiffs, representatives of several thousand retired persons who called themselves the "Escapees," and who spent a large part of their lives traveling about the United States in recreational vehicles, but were registered to vote in the county, moved for preliminary injunction seeking to | Before a general election, three persons brought an action alleging the Escapees were not bona fide residents of the county, and sought to have their names expunged from the rolls of qualified voters. The plaintiffs brought suit in federal district court. The court issued a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011330

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | enjoin a Texas state court proceeding under the All Writs Act. | preliminary injunction forbidding county officials from attempting to purge the voting. Commissioner contested the results of the election, alleging Escapees' votes should be disallowed. Plaintiffs brought present case assertedly to prevent the same issue from being relitigated. The court held, however, the issues were different, since, |                              |             |                                       |

011331

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | unlike the case in the first proceeding, there was notice and an opportunity to be heard. Further, unlike the first proceeding, the plaintiff in the state court action did not seek to change the prerequisites for voting registration in the county, but instead challenged the actual residency of some members of the Escapees, and such challenge |                              |             |                                       |

011332

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case      | Court               | Citation           | Date              | Facts                | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---------------------|--------------------|-------------------|----------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                   |                     |                    |                   |                      | properly belonged in the state court. The court further held that an election contest under state law was the correct vehicle to contest the registration of Escapees. The court dissolved the temporary restraining order it had previously entered and denied plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction of the state court proceeding. |                              |             |                                       |
| Pepper v. Darnell | United States Court | 24 Fed. Appx. 460; | December 10, 2001 | Plaintiff individual | Individual argued on   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011333

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                            | Citation                   | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|----------------------------------|----------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 26618 |      | appealed from a judgment of the district court, in an action against defendant state officials seeking relief under § 1983 and the National Voter Registration Act, for their alleged refusal to permit individual to register to vote. Officials had moved for dismissal or for summary judgment, and the district court granted the motion. | appeal that the district court erred in finding that the registration forms used by the state did not violate the NVRA and in failing to certify a class represented by individual. Individual lived in his automobile and received mail at a rented box. Officials refused to validate individual's attempt to register to vote by mail. Tennessee state law forbade |                              |             |                                       |

011334

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | accepting a rented mail box as the address of the potential voter. Individual insisted that his automobile registration provided sufficient proof of residency under the NVRA. The court upheld the legality of state's requirement that one registering to vote provide a specific location as an address, regardless of the transient lifestyle of the |                              |             |                                       |

011335

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | potential voter, finding state's procedure faithfully mirrored the requirements of the NVRA as codified in the Code of Federal Regulations. The court also held that the refusal to certify individual as the representative of a class for purposes of this litigation was not an abuse of discretion; in this case, no representative party was available as the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |  |                  |   | indigent individual, acting in his own behalf, was clearly unable to represent fairly the class. The district court's judgment was affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Miller v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | 348 F. Supp. 2d 916; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24894 | October 27, 2004 | Plaintiffs, two voters and the Ohio Democratic Party, filed suit against defendants, the Ohio Secretary of State, several county boards of elections, and all of the boards' members, alleging claims under the | Plaintiffs alleged that the timing and manner in which defendants intended to hold hearings regarding pre-election challenges to their voter registration violated both the Act and the Due Process | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011337

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | National Voter Registration Act and § 1983. Plaintiffs also filed a motion for a temporary restraining order (TRO). Two individuals filed a motion to intervene as defendants. | Clause. The individuals, who filed pre-election voter eligibility challenges, filed a motion to intervene. The court held that it would grant the motion to intervene because the individuals had a substantial legal interest in the subject matter of the action and time constraints would not permit them to bring separate actions to protect their rights. The |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | court further held that it would grant plaintiffs' motion for a TRO because plaintiffs made sufficient allegations in their complaint to establish standing and because all four factors to consider in issuing a TRO weighed heavily in favor of doing so. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated a likelihood of success on the merits because they made a |                              |             |                                       |

011339

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | strong showing that defendants' intended actions regarding pre-election challenges to voter eligibility abridged plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote and violated the Due Process Clause. Thus, the other factors to consider in granting a TRO automatically weighed in plaintiffs' favor. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a TRO. The court |                              |             |                                       |

011340

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

---

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | also granted the individuals' motion to intervene. |                              |             |                                       |

011341

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Miller v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the southern District of Ohio | 348 F. Supp. 2d 916; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24894 | October 27, 2004 | Plaintiffs, two voters and the Ohio Democratic Party, filed suit against defendants, the Ohio Secretary of State, several county boards of elections, and all of the boards' members, alleging claims under the National Voter Registration Act and § 1983. Plaintiffs also filed a motion for a temporary restraining order. Two individuals filed a motion to intervene as defendants. | Plaintiffs alleged that the timing and manner in which defendants intended to hold hearings regarding pre-election challenges to their voter registration violated both the Act and the Due Process Clause. The individuals, who filed pre-election voter eligibility challenges, filed a motion to intervene. The court held that it would grant the motion to intervene because the individuals had a substantial legal interest in | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011342

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the subject matter of the action and time constraints would not permit them to bring separate actions to protect their rights. The court further held that it would grant plaintiffs' motion for a TRO because plaintiffs made sufficient allegations in their complaint to establish standing and because all four factors to consider in issuing a TRO weighed heavily in favor of doing so. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated a |                              |             |                                       |

011343

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | likelihood of success on the merits because they made a strong showing that defendants' intended actions regarding pre--election challenges to voter eligibility abridged plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote and violated the Due Process Clause. Thus, the other factors to consider in granting a TRO automatically weighed in plaintiffs' favor. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a TRO. The |                              |             |                                       |

011344

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case         | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                      |  |  |                  |   | court also granted the individuals' motion to intervene.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Spencer v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | 347 F. Supp. 2d 528; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22062 | November 1, 2004 | Plaintiff voters filed a motion for temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction seeking to restrain defendant election officials and intervenor State of Ohio from discriminating against black voters in Hamilton County on the basis of race. If necessary, they sought to restrain challengers from being allowed at the polls. | The voters alleged that defendants had combined to implement a voter challenge system at the polls that discriminated against African--American voters. Each precinct was run by its election judges but Ohio law also allowed challengers to be physically present in the polling places in order to challenge voters' eligibility to vote. The court held that the injury asserted, that | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011345

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | allowing challengers to challenge voters' eligibility would place an undue burden on voters and impede their right to vote, was not speculative and could be redressed by removing the challengers. The court held that in the absence of any statutory guidance whatsoever governing the procedures and limitations for challenging voters by challengers, and the questionable enforceability of the State's and |                              |             |                                       |

011346

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | County's policies regarding good faith challenges and ejection of disruptive challengers from the polls, there existed an enormous risk of chaos, delay, intimidation, and pandemonium inside the polls and in the lines out the door. Furthermore, the law allowing private challengers was not narrowly tailored to serve Ohio's compelling interest in preventing voter fraud. Because the voters had shown a |                              |             |                                       |

011347

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | substantial likelihood of success on the merits on the ground that the application of Ohio's statute allowing challengers at polling places was unconstitutional and the other factors governing the issuance of an injunction weighed in their favor, the court enjoined all defendants from allowing any challengers other than election judges and other electors into the polling places throughout the |                              |             |                                       |

011348

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case                   | Court  | Citation                   | Date         | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------------|--|----------------------------|--------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                |  |                            |              |   | state on Election Day.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Charfauros v. Bd. of Elections | United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit | 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 15083 | May 10, 2001 | Defendants, board of elections and related individuals, appealed from an order of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands reversing a lower court's grant of summary judgment in favor of defendants on the ground of qualified immunity. | Plaintiffs, disqualified voters, claimed that individual members of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Board of Elections violated § 1983 by administering pre--election day voter challenge procedures which precluded a certain class of voters, including plaintiffs, from voting in a 1995 election. The CNMI Supreme Court reversed a lower court's grant of summary | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011349

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | judgment and defendants appealed. The court of appeals held that the Board's pre-election day procedures violated the plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote. The federal court reasoned that the right to vote was clearly established at the time of the election, and that a reasonable Board would have known that that treating voters differently based on their political party would violate the Equal |                              |             |                                       |

011350

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Protection Clause. Further the court added that the allegations of the complaint were sufficient to support liability of the Board members in their individual capacities. Finally, the composition of the CNMI Supreme Court's Special Judge panel did not violate the Board's right to due process of law. The decision of Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Supreme Court was affirmed |                              |             |                                       |

011351

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case  | Court   | Citation                                  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|               |   |   |                  |  | where defendants' pre--election day voter challenge procedures violated plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Wit v. Berman | United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit | 306 F.3d 1256; 2002 U.S. App. LEXIS 21301 | October 11, 2002 | Appellant voters who established residences in two separate cities sued appellees, state and city election officials, alleging that provisions of the New York State Election Law unconstitutionally prevented the voters from voting in local elections in both cities where they resided. The voters appealed the order of the | Under state election laws, the voters could only vote in districts in which they resided, and residence was limited to one place. The voters contended that, since they had two lawful residences, they were denied constitutional equal protection by the statutory restriction against voting in the local elections of both | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011352

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York which granted appellees' motion to dismiss the complaint. | of the places of their residences. The appellate court held, however, that no constitutional violation was shown since the provisions of the New York State Election Law imposed only reasonable, nondiscriminatory restrictions which advanced important state regulatory interests. While the voters may have interests in electoral outcomes in both cities, any rule permitting voting based on such interests would be |                              |             |                                       |

011353

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | unmanageable and subject to potential abuse. Further, basing voter eligibility on domicile, which was always over--or under--inclusive, nonetheless had enormous practical advantages, and the voters offered no workable standard to replace the domicile test. Finally, allowing the voters to choose which of their residences was their domicile for voting purposes could not be deemed |                              |             |                                       |

011354

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |                  |  | discriminatory.Affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Curtis v. Smith | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas | 121 F. Supp. 2d 1054; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17987 | November 3, 2000 | Plaintiffs sought a preliminary injunction to prohibit defendant tax assessor-collector from mailing confirmation letters to approximately 9,000 persons who were registered voters in Polk County, Texas. | Plaintiffs sought to prohibit defendant from mailing confirmation letters to approximately 9,000 persons, self-styled "escapees" who traveled a major portion of each year in recreational vehicles, all of whom were registered to vote in Polk County, Texas. In accordance with Texas law, three resident voters filed affidavits challenging the escapees' | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011355

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | residency. These affidavits triggered defendant's action in sending confirmation notices to the escapees. The court determined, first, that because of the potential for discrimination, defendant's action required preclearance in accordance with § 5 of the Voting Rights Act and, second, that such preclearance had not been sought or obtained. Accordingly, the court issued a preliminary injunction |                              |             |                                       |

011356

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | prohibiting defendant from pursuing the confirmation of residency of the escapees, or any similarly situated group, under the Texas Election Code until the process had been submitted for preclearance in accordance with § 5. The action was taken to ensure that no discriminatory potential existed in the use of such process in the upcoming presidential election or future election. Motion for preliminary injunction was |                              |             |                                       |

011357

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case                     | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------------------|---|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                  |   |  |                  |   | granted, and defendant was enjoined from pursuing confirmation of residency of the 9,000 "escapees," or any similarly situated group, under the Texas Election Code, until the process had been submitted for preclearance under § 5 of the Voting Rights Act. |                              |             |                                       |
| Peace & Freedom Party v. Shelley | Court of Appeal of California, Third Appellate District | 114 Cal. App. 4th 1237; 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 497; 2004 Cal. App. LEXIS 42 | January 15, 2004 | Plaintiff political party appealed a judgment from the superior court which denied the party's petition for writ of mandate to compel | The trial court ruled that inactive voters were excluded from the primary election. The court of appeals affirmed, observing that although the   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011358

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | defendant, the California Secretary of State, to include voters listed in the inactive file of registered voters in calculating whether the party qualified to participate in a primary election. | election had already taken place, the issue was likely to recur and was a matter of continuing public interest and importance; hence, a decision on the merits was proper, although the case was technically moot. The law clearly excluded inactive voters from the calculation. The statutory scheme did not violate the inactive voters' constitutional right of association because it was reasonably designed to |                              |             |                                       |

011359

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ensure that all parties on the ballot had a significant modicum of support from eligible voters. Information in the inactive file was unreliable and often duplicative of information in the active file. Moreover, there was no violation of the National Voter Registration Act because voters listed as inactive were not prevented from voting. Although the Act prohibited removal of voters from the official voting list absent |                              |             |                                       |

011360

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |  |                  |   | certain conditions, inactive voters in California could correct the record and vote as provided the Act. The court affirmed the denial of a writ of mandate.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 235 F. Supp. 2d 772; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21753 | October 22, 2002 | Plaintiff voters sued defendants, a county board of elections, a state secretary of state, and the state's attorney general, for violations of the Motor Voter Act and equal protection of the laws. Defendants moved for summary judgment. The voters also | The board heard challenges to the voters' qualifications to vote in the county, based on the fact that the voters were transient (seasonal) rather than permanent residents of the county. The voters claimed that the board hearings did not | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011361

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                       | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-----------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | moved for summary judgment. | afford them the requisite degree of due process and contravened their rights of privacy by inquiring into personal matters. As to the MVA claim, the court held that residency within the precinct was a crucial qualification. One simply could not be an elector, much less a qualified elector entitled to vote, unless one resided in the precinct where he or she sought to vote. If one never lived within the precinct, one was |                              |             |                                       |

011362

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | not and could not be an eligible voter, even if listed on the board's rolls as such. The MVA did not affect the state's ability to condition eligibility to vote on residence. Nor did it undertake to regulate challenges, such as the ones presented, to a registered voter's residency ab initio. The ability of the challengers to assert that the voters were not eligible and had not ever been eligible, and of the board to consider and |                              |             |                                       |

011363

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Eligibility Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | resolve that challenge, did not contravene the MVA. Defendants' motions for summary judgment were granted as to all claims with prejudice, except the voters' state-law claim, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, without prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |

011364

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation                                 | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|--|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Charles H. Wesley Educ. Found., Inc. v. Cox | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 408 F.3d 1349; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 8320 | May 12, 2005 | Plaintiffs, a charitable foundation, four volunteers, and a registered voter, filed a suit against defendant state officials alleging violations of the National Voter Registration Act and the Voting Rights Act. The officials appealed after the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia issued a preliminary injunction enjoining them from rejecting voter registrations submitted by the | The foundation conducted a voter registration drive; it placed the completed applications in a single envelope and mailed them to the Georgia Secretary of State for processing. Included in the batch was the voter's change of address form. Plaintiffs filed the suit after they were notified that the applications had been rejected pursuant to Georgia law, which allegedly restricted who could collect voter registration | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011365

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts       | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | foundation. | forms. Plaintiffs contended that the officials had violated the NVRA, the VRA, and U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, XV. The officials argued that plaintiffs lacked standing and that the district court had erred in issuing the preliminary injunction. The court found no error. Plaintiffs had sufficiently alleged injuries under the NVRA, arising out of the rejection of the voter registration forms; the allegations in the |                              |             |                                       |

011366

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation | Date      | Facts     | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------|----------|-----------|-----------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |        |          |           |           | complaint sufficiently showed an injury--in--fact that was fairly traceable to the officials' conduct. The injunction was properly issued. There was a substantial likelihood that plaintiffs would prevail as to their claims; it served the public interest to protect plaintiffs' franchise--related rights. The court affirmed the preliminary injunction order entered by the district court. |                              |             |                                       |
| McKay v.     | United | 226 F.3d | September | Plaintiff | The trial court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011367

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation                        | Date     | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|---------------------------------|----------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Thompson     | States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 752; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 23387 | 18, 2000 | challenged order of United States District Court for Eastern District of Tennessee at Chattanooga, which granted defendant state election officials summary judgment on plaintiff's action seeking to stop the state practice of requiring its citizens to disclose their social security numbers as a precondition to voter registration. | had granted defendant state election officials summary judgment. The court declined to overrule defendants' administrative determination that state law required plaintiff to disclose his social security number because the interpretation appeared to be reasonable, did not conflict with previous case law, and could be challenged in state court. The requirement did not violate the Privacy Act of 1974, because it |                              |             |                                       |

011368

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | was grand fathered under the terms of the Act. The limitations in the National Voter Registration Act did not apply because the NVRA did not specifically prohibit the use of social security numbers and the Act contained a more specific provision regarding such use. The trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and |                              |             |                                       |

011369

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation | Date    | Facts               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------|----------|---------|---------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |        |          |         |                     | immunities, and due process claims. Order affirmed because requirement that voters disclose social security numbers as precondition to voter registration did not violate Privacy Act of 1974 or National Voter Registration Act and trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l        | United | 150 F.   | July 5, | Plaintiff, national | Defendants  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011370

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case   | Court   | Citation                                 | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|--|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Coalition for Students with Disabilities Educ. & Legal Def. Fund v. Scales | States District Court for the Southern District of Maryland | Supp. 2d 845; 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9528 | 2001 | organization for disabled students, brought an action against university president and university's director of office of disability support services to challenge the voter registration procedures established by the disability support services. Defendants moved to dismiss the first amended complaint, or in the alternative for summary judgment. | alleged that plaintiff lacked standing to represent its members, and that plaintiff had not satisfied the notice requirements of the National Voter Registration Act. Further, defendants maintained the facts, as alleged by plaintiff, did not give rise to a past, present, or future violation of the NVRA because (1) the plaintiff's members that requested voter registration services were not |                              |             |                                       |

011371

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | registered students at the university and (2) its current voter registration procedures complied with NVRA. As to plaintiff's § 1983 claim, the court held that while plaintiff had alleged sufficient facts to confer standing under the NVRA, such allegations were not sufficient to support standing on its own behalf on the § 1983 claim. As to the NVRA claim, the court found that the agency practice of only offering voter |                              |             |                                       |

011372

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | registration services at the initial intake interview and placing the burden on disabled students to obtain voter registration forms and assistance afterwards did not satisfy its statutory duties. Furthermore, most of the NVRA provisions applied to disabled applicants not registered at the university. Defendants' motion to dismiss first amended |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case                              | Court  | Citation                   | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|----------------------------|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |                            |                   |   | complaint was granted as to the § 1983 claim and denied as to plaintiff's claims brought under the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. Defendants' alternative motion for summary judgment was denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Cunningham v. Chi. Bd. of Election Comm's | United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois | 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2528 | February 24, 2003 | Plaintiffs, who alleged that they were duly registered voters, six of whom had signed nominating petitions for one candidate and two of whom signed | Plaintiffs argued that objections to their signatures were improperly sustained by defendants, the city board of election commissioners. Plaintiff's argued that they were   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011373

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | nominating petitions for another candidate. They first asked for a preliminary injunction of the municipal election scheduled for the following Tuesday and suggested, alternatively, that the election for City Clerk and for 4th Ward Alderman be enjoined. | registered voters whose names appeared in an inactive file and whose signatures were therefore, and improperly, excluded. The court ruled that by characterizing the claim as plaintiffs did, they sought to enjoin an election because their signatures were not counted, even though their preferred candidates were otherwise precluded from appearing on the ballot. Without regard to their likelihood of |                              |             |                                       |

011374

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | obtaining any relief, plaintiffs failed to demonstrate that they would be irreparably harmed if an injunction did not issue; the threatened injury to defendants, responsible as they were for the conduct of the municipal election, far outweighed any threatened injury to plaintiffs; and the granting of a preliminary injunction would greatly disserve the public interest. Plaintiffs' petition for |                              |             |                                       |

011375

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |   |   |                  |  | preliminary relief was denied.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Diaz v. Hood | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1111; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21445 | October 26, 2004 | Plaintiffs, unions and individuals who had attempted to register to vote, sought a declaration of their rights to vote in the November 2, 2004 general election. They alleged that defendants, state and county election officials, refused to process their voter registrations for various failures to complete the registration forms. The election officials | The putative voters sought injunctive relief requiring the election officials to register them to vote. The court first noted that the unions lacked even representative standing, because they failed to show that one of their members could have brought the case in their own behalf. The individual putative voters raised separate issues: the first had failed to verify her mental | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | moved to dismiss the complaint for lack of standing and failure to state a claim. | capacity, the second failed to check a box indicating that he was not a felon, and the third did not provide the last four digits of her social security number on the form. They claimed the election officials violated federal and state law by refusing to register eligible voters because of nonmaterial errors or omissions in their voter registration applications, and by failing to provide any notice to voter |                              |             |                                       |

011377

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | applicants whose registration applications were deemed incomplete. In the first two cases, the election official had handled the errant application properly under Florida law, and the putative voter had effectively caused their own injury by failing to complete the registration. The third completed her form and was registered, so had suffered no injury. Standing failed against the secretary of state. Motion to dismiss without |                              |             |                                       |

011378

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |  |                  |   | prejudice granted.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 235 F. Supp. 2d 772; 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21753 | October 22, 2002 | Plaintiff voters sued defendants, a county board of elections, a state secretary of state, and the state's attorney general, for violations of the Motor Voter Act and equal protection of the laws. Defendants moved for summary judgment. The voters also moved for summary judgment. | The board heard challenges to the voters' qualifications to vote in the county, based on the fact that the voters were transient (seasonal) rather than permanent residents of the county. The voters claimed that the board hearings did not afford them the requisite degree of due process and contravened their rights of privacy by inquiring into personal matters. As to the MVA | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011379

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | claim, the court held that residency within the precinct was a crucial qualification. One simply could not be an elector, much less a qualified elector entitled to vote, unless one resided in the precinct where he or she sought to vote. If one never lived within the precinct, one was not and could not be an eligible voter, even if listed on the board's rolls as such. The MVA did not affect the state's ability to |                              |             |                                       |

011380

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | condition eligibility to vote on residence. Nor did it undertake to regulate challenges, such as the ones presented, to a registered voter's residency ab initio. The ability of the challengers to assert that the voters were not eligible and had not ever been eligible, and of the board to consider and resolve that challenge, did not contravene the MVA. Defendants' motions for |                              |             |                                       |

011381

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation                                | Date           | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |                |   | summary judgment were granted as to all claims with prejudice, except the voters' state-law claim, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, without prejudice.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bell v. Marinko | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 367 F.3d 588; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 8330 | April 28, 2004 | Plaintiffs, registered voters, sued defendants, Ohio Board of Elections and Board members, alleging that Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 3509.19-3509.21 violated the National Voter Registration Act, and the Equal Protection Clause | The voters contested the challenges to their registration brought under Ohio Code Rev. Ann. § 3505.19 based on Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3503.02. Specifically, the voters asserted that § 3503.02---which stated that the place | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011382

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | of the Fourteenth Amendment. The United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio granted summary judgment in favor of defendants. The voters appealed. | where the family of a married man or woman resided was considered to be his or her place of residence---- violated the equal protection clause. The court of appeals found that the Board's procedures did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act because Congress did not intend to bar the removal of names from the official list of persons who were ineligible and improperly registered to vote |                              |             |                                       |

011383

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | in the first place. The National Voter Registration Act did not bar the Board's continuing consideration of a voter's residence, and encouraged the Board to maintain accurate and reliable voting rolls. Ohio was free to take reasonable steps to see that all applicants for registration to vote actually fulfilled the requirement of bona fide residence. Ohio Rev. Code Ann. |                              |             |                                       |

011384

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Voter Registration Rejection Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | § 3503.02(D) did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act. Because the Board did not raise an irrebuttable presumption in applying § 3502.02(D), the voters suffered no equal protection violation. The judgment was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

011385

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation                                | Date           | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|----------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Bell v. Marinko | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 367 F.3d 588; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 8330 | April 28, 2004 | Plaintiffs, registered voters, sued defendants, Ohio Board of Elections and Board members, alleging that Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 3509.19--3509.21 violated the National Voter Registration Act, and the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. The United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | The voters asserted that § 3503.02---- which stated that the place where the family of a married man or woman resided was considered to be his or her place of residence---- violated the equal protection clause. The court of appeals found that the Board's procedures did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act because Congress did | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011386

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | granted summary judgment in favor of defendants. The voters appealed. | not intend to bar the removal of names from the official list of persons who were ineligible and improperly registered to vote in the first place. The National Voter Registration Act did not bar the Board's continuing consideration of a voter's residence, and encouraged the Board to maintain accurate and reliable voting rolls. Ohio was free to take reasonable steps to see that |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | all applicants for registration to vote actually fulfilled the requirement of bona fide residence. Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3503.02(D) did not contravene the National Voter Registration Act. Because the Board did not raise an irrebuttable presumption in applying § 3502.02(D), the voters suffered no equal protection violation. The judgment was affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

011398

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case           | Court                        | Citation                | Date        | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Wilson v. Commonwealth | Court of Appeals of Virginia | 2000 Va. App. LEXIS 322 | May 2, 2000 | Defendant appealed the judgment of the circuit court which convicted her of election fraud. | On appeal, defendant argued that the evidence was insufficient to support her conviction because it failed to prove that she made a willfully false statement on her voter registration form and, even if the evidence did prove that she made such a statement, it did not prove that the voter registration form was the form required by Title 24.2. At trial, the Commonwealth | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011389

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | introduced substantial testimony and documentary evidence that defendant had continued to live at one residence in the 13th District, long after she stated on the voter registration form that she was living at a residence in the 51st House District. The evidence included records showing electricity and water usage, records from the Department |                              |             |                                       |

011390

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | of Motor Vehicles and school records. Thus, the evidence was sufficient to support the jury's verdict that defendant made "a false material statement" on the voter registration card required to be filed by Title 24.2 in order for her to be a candidate for office in the primary in question. Judgment of conviction affirmed. Evidence, including |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case     | Court         | Citation        | Date             | Facts                  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------|------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |               |                 |                  |                        | records showing electricity and water usage, records from the Department of Motor Vehicles and school records, was sufficient to support jury's verdict that defendant made "a false material statement" on the voter registration card required to be filed in order for her to be a candidate for office in the primary in question. |                              |             |                                       |
| ACLU of Minn. v. | United States | 2004 U.S. Dist. | October 29, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voters and | Plaintiffs argued that   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011392

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation    | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|-------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Kiffmeyer    | District Court for the District of Minnesota | LEXIS 22996 |      | associations, filed for a temporary restraining order pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65, against defendant, Minnesota Secretary of State, concerning voter registration. | Minn. Stat. § 201.061 was inconsistent with the Help America Vote Act because it did not authorize the voter to complete registration either by a "current and valid photo identification" or by use of a current utility bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck, or other government document that showed the name and |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | address of the individual. The Secretary advised the court that there were less than 600 voters who attempted to register by mail but whose registrations were deemed incomplete. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on their claim that the authorization in Minn. Stat. § 201.061, sub. 3, violated the Equal |                              |             |                                       |

011394

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution insofar as it did not also authorize the use of a photographic tribal identification card by American Indians who do not reside on their tribal reservations. Also, the court found that plaintiffs demonstrated that they were likely to succeed on |                              |             |                                       |

011395

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                 | Court  | Citation  | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------------|--|---|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                              |  |   |                   |  | their claims that Minn. R. 8200.5100, violated the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution. A temporary restraining order was entered.                       |                              |             |                                       |
| Kalsson v. United States FEC | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York | 356 F. Supp. 2d 371; 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2279 | February 16, 2005 | Defendant Federal Election Commission filed a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction plaintiff individual's action, which sought a declaration that | The individual claimed that his vote was diluted because the NVRA resulted in more people registering to vote than otherwise would have been the case. The court held that the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011396

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | the National Voter Registration Act was unconstitutional on the theories that its enactment was not within the enumerated powers of the federal government and that it violated Article II of the United States Constitution. | individual lacked standing to bring the action. Because New York was not obliged to adhere to the requirements of the NVRA, the individual did not allege any concrete harm. If New York simply adopted election day registration for elections for federal office, it would have been entirely free of the NVRA just as were five other states. Even if the individual's vote were diluted, and |                              |             |                                       |

011397

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court      | Citation | Date        | Facts     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|------------|----------|-------------|-----------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |            |          |             |           | even if such an injury in other circumstances might have sufficed for standing, any dilution that he suffered was the result of New York's decision to maintain a voter registration system that brought it under the NVRA, not the NVRA itself. The court granted the motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. |                              |             |                                       |
| Peace &      | California | 114 Cal. | January 15, | Plaintiff | The trial court  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011398

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case             | Court                                     | Citation  | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------|---|---|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Freedom Party v. Shelley | Court of Appeal, Third Appellate District | App. 4th 1237; 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 497; 2004 Cal. App. LEXIS 42 | 2004 | political party appealed a judgment from the superior court which denied the party's petition for writ of mandate to compel defendant, the California Secretary of State, to include voters listed in the inactive file of registered voters in calculating whether the party qualified to participate in a primary election. | ruled that inactive voters were excluded from the primary election calculation. The court of appeals affirmed, observing that although the election had already taken place, the issue was likely to recur and was a matter of continuing public interest and importance; hence, a decision on the merits was proper, although the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | case was technically moot. The law clearly excluded inactive voters from the calculation. The statutory scheme did not violate the inactive voters' constitutional right of association because it was reasonably designed to ensure that all parties on the ballot had a significant modicum of support from eligible voters. Information in the inactive file |                              |             |                                       |

011400

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | was unreliable and often duplicative of information in the active file. Moreover, there was no violation of the National Voter Registration Act because voters listed as inactive were not prevented from voting. Although the Act prohibited removal of voters from the official voting list absent certain conditions, inactive voters in California could correct the record and |                              |             |                                       |

10/11/01

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case      | Court  | Citation                                 | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|--|--|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                   |  |  |                    |  | vote. Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| McKay v. Thompson | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 226 F.3d 752; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 23387 | September 18, 2000 | Plaintiff challenged order of United States District Court for Eastern District of Tennessee at Chattanooga, which granted defendant state election officials summary judgment on plaintiff's action seeking to stop the state practice of requiring its citizens to disclose their social security numbers as a precondition to voter registration. | The trial court had granted defendant state election officials summary judgment. The court declined to overrule defendants' administrative determination that state law required plaintiff to disclose his social security number because the interpretation appeared to be reasonable, did not conflict with previous caselaw, and could be | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011402

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | challenged in state court. The requirement did not violate the Privacy Act because it was grand fathered under the terms of the Act. The limitations in the National Voter Registration Act did not apply because the NVRA did not specifically prohibit the use of social security numbers and the Act contained a more specific provision regarding such use. Plaintiff |                              |             |                                       |

011403

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | could not enforce § 1971 as it was enforceable only by the United States Attorney General. The trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims. Although the trial court arguably erred in denying certification of the case to the USAG under |                              |             |                                       |

011404

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 28 U.S.C.S. § 2403(a), plaintiff suffered no harm from the technical violation. Order affirmed because requirement that voters disclose social security numbers as precondition to voter registration did not violate Privacy Act of 1974 or National Voter Registration Act and trial court properly rejected plaintiff's fundamental |                              |             |                                       |

011405

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                               | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |  |  |                  |  | right to vote, free exercise of religion, privileges and immunities, and due process claims.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Lucas County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 341 F. Supp. 2d 861; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21416 | October 21, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations brought an action challenging a memorandum issued by defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, in December 2003. The organizations claimed that the memorandum contravened provisions of the Help America Vote | The case involved a box on Ohio's voter registration form that required a prospective voter who registered in person to supply an Ohio driver's license number or the last four digits of their Social Security number. In his memorandum, the Secretary informed all | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011406

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Act and the National Voter Registration Act. The organizations moved for a preliminary injunction. | Ohio County Boards of Elections that, if a person left the box blank, the Boards were not to process the registration forms. The organizations did not file their suit until 18 days before the national election. The court found that there was not enough time before the election to develop the evidentiary record necessary to determine if the organizations |                              |             |                                       |

011407

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were likely to succeed on the merits of their claim. Denying the organizations' motion would have caused them to suffer no irreparable harm. There was no appropriate remedy available to the organizations at the time. The likelihood that the organizations could have shown irreparable harm was, in any event, slight in view of the fact that |                              |             |                                       |

011408

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                                   | Court                            | Citation                             | Date         | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|--------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |                                  |                                      |              |   | they waited so long before filing suit. Moreover, it would have been entirely improper for the court to order the Boards to re-open in-person registration until election day. The public interest would have been ill-served by an injunction. The motion for a preliminary injunction was denied sua sponte. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l Coalition for Students with Disabilities | United States District Court for | 150 F. Supp. 2d 845; 2001 U.S. Dist. | July 5, 2001 | Plaintiff, national organization for disabled | Defendants alleged that plaintiff lacked standing to   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011409

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court                    | Citation   | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------|------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Educ. & Legal Def. Fund v. Scales | the District of Maryland | LEXIS 9528 |      | students, brought an action against university president and university's director of office of disability support services to challenge the voter registration procedures established by the disability support services. Defendants moved to dismiss the first amended complaint, or in the alternative for summary judgment. | represent its members, and that plaintiff had not satisfied the notice requirements of the National Voter Registration Act. Further, defendants maintained the facts, as alleged by plaintiff, did not give rise to a past, present, or future violation of the NVRA because (1) the plaintiff's members that requested voter registration services were not registered |                              |             |                                       |

011410

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | students at the university and (2) its current voter registration procedures complied with NVRA. As to plaintiff's § 1983 claim, the court held that while plaintiff had alleged sufficient facts to confer standing under the NVRA, such allegations were not sufficient to support standing on its own behalf on the § 1983 claim. As to the NVRA claim, |                              |             |                                       |

011411

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the court found that the agency practice of only offering voter registration services at the initial intake interview and placing the burden on disabled students to obtain voter registration forms and assistance afterwards did not satisfy its statutory duties. Furthermore, most of the NVRA provisions applied to disabled applicants not registered at the |                              |             |                                       |

011412

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case       | Court                        | Citation                                 | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|------------------------------|--|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |                              |  |               |   | university. Defendants' motion to dismiss first amended complaint was granted as to the § 1983 claimant denied as to plaintiff's claims brought under the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. Defendants' alternative motion for summary judgment was denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| People v. Disimone | Court of Appeals of Michigan | 251 Mich. App. 605; 650 N.W.2d 436; 2002 | July 11, 2002 | Defendant was charged with attempting to vote more than once in the | Defendant was registered in the Colfax township for the 2000  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011413

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation             | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | Mich. App. LEXIS 826 |      | 2000 general election. The circuit court granted defendant's motion that the State had to prove specific intent. The State appealed. | general election. After presenting what appeared to be a valid voter's registration card, defendant proceeded to vote in the Grant township. Defendant had voted in the Colfax township earlier in the day. Defendant moved the court to issue an order that the State had to find that he had a specific intent to vote twice in order to be convicted. The appellate court |                              |             |                                       |

011414

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | reversed the circuit court judgment and held that under the rules of statutory construction, the fact that the legislature had specifically omitted certain trigger words such as "knowingly," "willingly," "purposefully," or "intentionally" it was unlikely that the legislature had intended for this to be a specific intent crime. The court also rejected the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                  | Citation                   | Date             | Facts                                  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|------------------------|----------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |                        |                            |                  |  | defendant's argument that phrases such as "offer to vote" and "attempt to vote" should be construed as synonymous terms, as when words with similar meanings were used in the same statute, it was presumed that the legislature intended to distinguish between the terms. The order of the circuit court was reversed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Diaz v. Hood | United States District | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1111; 2004 | October 26, 2004 | Plaintiffs, unions and individuals who | The putative voters sought injunctive relief   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011416

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                                      | Citation               | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|------------------------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Court for the Southern District of Florida | U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21445 |      | had attempted to register to vote, sought a declaration of their rights to vote in the November 2, 2004 general election. They alleged that defendants, state and county election officials, refused to process their voter registrations for various failures to complete the registration forms. The election officials moved to dismiss the complaint for lack of standing | requiring the election officials to register them to vote. The court first noted that the unions lacked even representative standing, because they failed to show that one of their members could have brought the case in their own behalf. The individual putative voters raised separate issues: the first had failed to verify her mental capacity, the second failed to check a box |                              |             |                                       |

011417

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                         | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | and failure to state a claim. | indicating that he was not a felon, and the third did not provide the last four digits of her social security number on the form. They claimed the election officials violated federal and state law by refusing to register eligible voters because of nonmaterial errors or omissions in their voter registration applications, and by failing to provide any notice to voter |                              |             |                                       |

011418

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | applicants whose registration applications were deemed incomplete. In the first two cases, the election official had handled the errant application properly under Florida law, and the putative voter had effectively caused their own injury by failing to complete the registration. The third completed her form and was registered, so had suffered no |                              |             |                                       |

011219

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |              |  | injury. Standing failed against the secretary of state. The motions to dismiss the complaint were granted without prejudice.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Charles H. Wesley Educ. Found., Inc. v. Cox | United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia | 324 F. Supp. 2d 1358; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12120 | July 1, 2004 | Plaintiffs, a voter, fraternity members, and an organization, sought an injunction ordering defendant, the Georgia Secretary of State, to process the voter registration application forms that they mailed in | The organization participated in numerous non-partisan voter registration drives primarily designed to increase the voting strength of African-Americans. Following one such drive, the fraternity members | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | following a voter registration drive. They contended that by refusing to process the forms defendants violated the National Voter Registration Act and U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, and XV. | mailed in over 60 registration forms, including one for the voter who had moved within state since the last election. The Georgia Secretary of State's office refused to process them because they were not mailed individually and neither a registrar, deputy registrar, or an otherwise authorized person had collected the applications as |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | required under state law. The court held that plaintiffs had standing to bring the action. The court held that because the applications were received in accordance with the mandates of the NVRA, the State of Georgia was not free to reject them. The court found that: plaintiffs had a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits of their claim that |                              |             |                                       |

011422

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | the applications were improperly rejected; plaintiffs would be irreparably injured absent an injunction; the potential harm to defendants was outweighed by plaintiffs' injuries; and an injunction was in the public interest. Plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction was granted. Defendants were ordered to process the applications received from |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case     | Court         | Citation        | Date             | Facts                   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |               |                 |                  |                         | the organization to determine whether those registrants were qualified to vote. Furthermore, defendants were enjoined from rejecting any voter registration application on the grounds that it was mailed as part of a "bundle" or that it was collected by someone not authorized or any other reason contrary to the NVRA. |                              |             |                                       |
| Moseley v. Price | United States | 300 F. Supp. 2d | January 22, 2004 | Plaintiff alleged, that | The court concluded that  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011424

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation                       | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|--------------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia | 389; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 850 |      | defendants' actions in investigating his voter registration application constituted a change in voting procedures requiring § 5 preclearance under the Voting Rights Act, which preclearance was never sought or received. Plaintiff claimed he withdrew from the race for Commonwealth Attorney because of the investigation. | plaintiff's claim under the Voting Rights Act lacked merit. Plaintiff did not allege, as required, that any defendants implemented a new, uncleared voting qualification or prerequisite to voting, or standard, practice, or procedure with respect to voting. Here, the existing practice or procedure in effect in the event a mailed registration card was |                              |             |                                       |

011425

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                      | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Defendants moved to dismiss the complaint. | returned was to "resend the voter card, if address verified as correct." This was what precisely occurred. Plaintiff inferred, however, that the existing voting rule or practice was to resend the voter card "with no adverse consequences" and that the county's initiation of an investigation constituted the implementation of a change that had not been pre--cleared. |                              |             |                                       |

011428

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | The court found the inference wholly unwarranted because nothing in the written procedure invited or justified such an inference. The court opined that common sense and state law invited a different inference, namely that while a returned card had to be resent if the address was verified as correct, any allegation of |                              |             |                                       |

011427

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case       | Court  | Citation   | Date          | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------|--|--|---------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                    |  |  |               |   | fraud could be investigated. Therefore, there was no new procedure for which preclearance was required. The court dismissed plaintiff's federal claims. The court dismissed the state law claims without prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |
| Thompson v. Karben | Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, Second Department | 295 A.D.2d 438; 743 N.Y.S.2d 175; 2002 N.Y. App. Div. LEXIS 6101 | June 10, 2002 | Respondents filed a motion seeking the cancellation of appellant's voter registration and political party enrollment on the ground that | Respondents alleged that appellant was unlawfully registered to vote from an address at which he did not reside and that he should   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011428

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | appellant was unlawfully registered to vote in a particular district. The Supreme Court, Rockland County, New York, ordered the cancellation of appellant's voter registration and party enrollment. Appellant challenged the trial court's order. | have voted from the address that he claimed as his residence. The appellate court held that respondents adduced insufficient proof to support the conclusion that appellant did not reside at the subject address. On the other hand, appellant submitted copies of his 2002 vehicle registration, 2000 and 2001 federal income tax returns, 2002 property tax bill, a May |                              |             |                                       |

011429

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date      | Facts         | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--------|-----------|-----------|---------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |        |           |           |               | 2001 paycheck stub, and 2000 and 2001 retirement account statements all showing the subject address. Appellant also testified that he was a signatory on the mortgage of the subject address and that he kept personal belongings at that address. Respondents did not sustain their evidentiary burden. The judgment of the trial court was reversed. |                              |             |                                       |
| Nat'l Coalition | United | 2002 U.S. | August 2, | Plaintiffs, a | The court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011430

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation          | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---|-------------------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| v. Taft      | States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | Dist. LEXIS 22376 | 2002 | nonprofit public interest group and certain individuals, sued defendants, certain state and university officials, alleging that they violated the National Voter Registration Act in failing to designate the disability services offices at state public colleges and universities as voter registration sites. The group and individuals moved for a | found that the disability services offices at issue were subject to the NVRA because the term "office" included a subdivision of a government department or institution and the disability offices at issue were places where citizens regularly went for service and assistance. Moreover, the Ohio Secretary of State had an obligation under the NVRA to designate the |                              |             |                                       |

011431

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | preliminary injunction. | disability services offices as voter registration sites because nothing in the law superceded the NVRA's requirement that the responsible state official designate disability services offices as voter registration sites. Moreover, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3501.05(R), the Secretary of State's duties expressly included |                              |             |                                       |

011432

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ensuring compliance with the NVRA. The case was not moot even though the Secretary of State had taken steps to ensure compliance with the NVRA given his position to his obligation under the law. The court granted declaratory judgment in favor of the nonprofit organization and the individuals. The motion for a preliminary |                              |             |                                       |

011433

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case            | Court                                  | Citation                           | Date        | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|--|------------------------------------|-------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |  |                                    |             |  | injunction was granted in part and the Secretary of State was ordered to notify disabled students who had used the designated disability services offices prior to the opening day of the upcoming semester or who had pre-registered for the upcoming semester as to voter registration availability. |                              |             |                                       |
| Lawson v. Shelby County | United States Court of Appeals for the | 211 F.3d 331; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS | May 3, 2000 | Plaintiffs who were denied the right to vote when they | Plaintiffs attempted to register to vote in October, and   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011434

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court         | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Sixth Circuit | 8634     |      | refused to disclose their social security numbers, appealed a judgment of the United States District Court for the Western District of Tennessee at Memphis dismissing their amended complaint for failure to state claims barred by U.S. Const. amend. XI. | to vote in November, but were denied because they refused to disclose their social security numbers. A year after the election date they filed suit alleging denial of constitutional rights, privileges and immunities, the Privacy Act of 1974 and § 1983. The district court dismissed, finding the claims were barred by U.S. Const. amend. XI, and the one |                              |             |                                       |

011435

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | year statute of limitations. The appeals court reversed, holding the district court erred in dismissing the suit because U.S. Const. amend. XI immunity did not apply to suits brought by a private party under the Ex Parte Young exception. Any damages claim not ancillary to injunctive relief was barred. The court also held the statute of limitations ran from the date plaintiffs |                              |             |                                       |

011436

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | were denied the opportunity to vote, not register, and their claim was thus timely. Reversed and remanded to district court to order such relief as will allow plaintiffs to vote and other prospective injunctive relief against county and state officials; declaratory relief and attorneys' fees ancillary to the prospective injunctive relief, all permitted under |                              |             |                                       |

011437

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case    | Court  | Citation  | Date         | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------|--|---|--------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                 |  |   |              |  | the Young exception to sovereign immunity, to be fashioned.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Curtis v. Smith | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas | 145 F. Supp. 2d 814; 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8544 | June 4, 2001 | Plaintiffs, representatives of several thousand retired persons who called themselves the "Escapees," and who spent a large part of their lives traveling about the United States in recreational vehicles, but were registered to vote in the county, moved for preliminary injunction seeking to | Before a general election, three persons brought an action alleging the Escapees were not bona fide residents of the county, and sought to have their names expunged from the rolls of qualified voters. The plaintiffs brought suit in federal district court. The court issued a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011438

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | enjoin a Texas state court proceeding under the All Writs Act. | preliminary injunction forbidding county officials from attempting to purge the voting. Commissioner contested the results of the election, alleging Escapees' votes should be disallowed. Plaintiffs brought present case assertedly to prevent the same issue from being relitigated. The court held, however, the issues were different, since, |                              |             |                                       |

011739

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | unlike the case in the first proceeding, there was notice and an opportunity to be heard. Further, unlike the first proceeding, the plaintiff in the state court action did not seek to change the prerequisites for voting registration in the county, but instead challenged the actual residency of some members of the Escapees, and such challenge |                              |             |                                       |

0111480

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case      | Court               | Citation           | Date              | Facts                | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---------------------|--------------------|-------------------|----------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                   |                     |                    |                   |                      | properly belonged in the state court. The court further held that an election contest under state law was the correct vehicle to contest the registration of Escapees. The court dissolved the temporary restraining order it had previously entered and denied plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction of the state court proceeding. |                              |             |                                       |
| Pepper v. Darnell | United States Court | 24 Fed. Appx. 460; | December 10, 2001 | Plaintiff individual | Individual argued on   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011441

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court                            | Citation                   | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|----------------------------------|----------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 26618 |      | appealed from a judgment of the district court, in an action against defendant state officials seeking relief under § 1983 and the National Voter Registration Act, for their alleged refusal to permit individual to register to vote. Officials had moved for dismissal or for summary judgment, and the district court granted the motion. | appeal that the district court erred in finding that the registration forms used by the state did not violate the NVRA and in failing to certify a class represented by individual. Individual lived in his automobile and received mail at a rented box. Officials refused to validate individual's attempt to register to vote by mail. Tennessee state law forbade |                              |             |                                       |

011442

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | accepting a rented mail box as the address of the potential voter. Individual insisted that his automobile registration provided sufficient proof of residency under the NVRA. The court upheld the legality of state's requirement that one registering to vote provide a specific location as an address, regardless of the transient lifestyle of the |                              |             |                                       |

011443

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | potential voter, finding state's procedure faithfully mirrored the requirements of the NVRA as codified in the Code of Federal Regulations. The court also held that the refusal to certify individual as the representative of a class for purposes of this litigation was not an abuse of discretion; in this case, no representative party was available as the |                              |             |                                       |

011444

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|--|--|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                     |  |  |                  |   | indigent individual, acting in his own behalf, was clearly unable to represent fairly the class. The district court's judgment was affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Miller v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | 348 F. Supp. 2d 916; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24894 | October 27, 2004 | Plaintiffs, two voters and the Ohio Democratic Party, filed suit against defendants, the Ohio Secretary of State, several county boards of elections, and all of the boards' members, alleging claims under the | Plaintiffs alleged that the timing and manner in which defendants intended to hold hearings regarding pre-election challenges to their voter registration violated both the Act and the Due Process | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011745

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | National Voter Registration Act and § 1983. Plaintiffs also filed a motion for a temporary restraining order (TRO). Two individuals filed a motion to intervene as defendants. | Clause. The individuals, who filed pre-election voter eligibility challenges, filed a motion to intervene. The court held that it would grant the motion to intervene because the individuals had a substantial legal interest in the subject matter of the action and time constraints would not permit them to bring separate actions to protect their rights. The |                              |             |                                       |

011446

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | court further held that it would grant plaintiffs' motion for a TRO because plaintiffs made sufficient allegations in their complaint to establish standing and because all four factors to consider in issuing a TRO weighed heavily in favor of doing so. The court found that plaintiffs demonstrated a likelihood of success on the merits because they made a |                              |             |                                       |

011447

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | strong showing that defendants' intended actions regarding pre-election challenges to voter eligibility abridged plaintiffs' fundamental right to vote and violated the Due Process Clause. Thus, the other factors to consider in granting a TRO automatically weighed in plaintiffs' favor. The court granted plaintiffs' motion for a TRO. The court |                              |             |                                       |

011448

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Voter Registration Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | also granted the individuals' motion to intervene. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case      | Court                           | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---------------------------------|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| James v. Bartlett | Supreme Court of North Carolina | 359 N.C. 260; 607 S.E.2d 638; 2005 N.C. LEXIS 146 | February 4, 2005 | Appellant candidates challenged elections in the superior court through appeals of election protests before the North Carolina State Board of Elections and a declaratory judgment action in the superior court. The court entered an order granting summary judgment in favor of appellees, the Board, the Board's executive director, the Board's members, and the North Carolina Attorney General. The candidates appealed. | The case involved three separate election challenges. The central issue was whether a provisional ballot cast on election day at a precinct other than the voter's correct precinct of residence could be lawfully counted in final election tallies. The superior court held that it could be counted. On appeal, the supreme court determined that state law did not permit out--of--precinct provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | ballots to be counted in state and local elections. The candidates failure to challenge the counting of out-of-precinct provisional ballots before the election did not render their action untimely. Reversed and remanded. |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 387 F.3d 565; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 22320 | October 26, 2004 | Defendant state appealed from an order of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio which held that the Help America Vote Act required that voters be permitted to cast | The district court found that HAVA created an individual right to cast a provisional ballot, that this right is individually enforceable under 42  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011451

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | provisional ballots upon affirming their registration to vote in the county in which they desire to vote and that provisional ballots must be counted as valid ballots when cast in the correct county. | U.S.C.S. § 1983, and that plaintiffs unions and political parties had standing to bring a § 1983 action on behalf of Ohio voters. The court of appeals agreed that the political parties and unions had associational standing to challenge the state's provisional voting directive. Further, the court determined that HAVA was quintessentially about being able to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

011452

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballot but that the voter casts a provisional ballot at the peril of not being eligible to vote under state law; if the voter is not eligible, the vote will then not be counted. Accordingly, the court of appeals reversed the district court and held that "provisional" ballots cast in a precinct where a voter does not reside and which would be invalid under state law, are not required by the HAVA to be considered |                              |             |                                       |

011459

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court                 | Citation  | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|---|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                   |                       |   |                    |  | legal votes. Affirmed in part and reversed in part.  |                              |             |                                       |
| State ex rel. Mackey v. Blackwell | Supreme Court of Ohio | 106 Ohio St. 3d 261; 2005 Ohio 4789; 834 N.E.2d 346; 2005 Ohio LEXIS 2074 | September 28, 2005 | Appellants, a political group and county electors who voted by provisional ballot, sought review of a judgment from the court of appeals which dismissed appellants' complaint, seeking a writ of mandamus to prevent appellees, the Ohio Secretary of State, a county board of elections, and the board's director, from disenfranchisement of provisional ballot voters. | The Secretary of State issued a directive to all Ohio county boards of elections, which specified that a signed affirmation statement was necessary for the counting of a provisional ballot in a presidential election. During the election, over 24,400 provisional ballots were cast in one county. The electors' provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011454

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballots were not counted. They, together with a political activist group, brought the mandamus action to compel appellants to prohibit the invalidation of provisional ballots and to notify voters of reasons for ballot rejections. Assorted constitutional and statutory law was relied on in support of the complaint. The trial court dismissed the complaint, finding that no clear legal right was established |                              |             |                                       |

011455

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | under Ohio law and the federal claims could be adequately raised in an action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. On appeal, the Ohio Supreme Court held that dismissal was proper, as the complaint actually sought declaratory and injunctive relief, rather than mandamus relief. Further, election--contest actions were the exclusive remedy to challenge election results. An adequate remedy existed |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                  | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|---|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |   |   |                  |  | under § 1983 to raise the federal-law claims. Affirmed.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Fla. Democratic Party v. Hood | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1073; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21720 | October 21, 2004 | Plaintiff political party sought injunctive relief under the Help America Vote Act, claiming that the election system put in place by defendant election officials violated HAVA because it did not allow provisional voting other than in the voter's assigned precinct. The officials moved for judgment on the pleadings. | The political party asserted that a prospective voter in a federal election had the right to cast a provisional ballot at a given polling place, even if the local officials asserted that the voter was at the wrong polling place; second, that voter had the right to have that vote counted in the election, if the voter otherwise | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011457

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | met all requirements of state law. The court noted that the right to vote was clearly protectable as a civil right, and a primary purpose of the HAVA was to preserve the votes of persons who had incorrectly been removed from the voting rolls, and thus would not be listed as voters at what would otherwise have been the correct polling place. The irreparable injury to a voter was easily sufficient to |                              |             |                                       |

011458

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | outweigh any harm to the officials. Therefore, the court granted relief as to the first claim, allowing the unlisted voter to cast a provisional ballot, but denied relief as to the second claim, that the ballot at the wrong place must be counted if it was cast at the wrong place, because that result contradicted State law. The provisional ballot could only be counted if it |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |  |  |                  |  | was cast in the proper precinct under State law.  |                              |             |                                       |
| League of Women Voters v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 340 F. Supp. 2d 823; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20926 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations filed suit against defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, claiming that a directive issued by the Secretary contravened the provisions of the Help America Vote Act. The Secretary filed a motion to dismiss. | The directive in question instructed election officials to issue provisional ballots to first-time voters who registered by mail but did not provide documentary identification at the polling place on election day. When submitting a provisional ballot, a first-time voter could identify himself by providing his driver's license number or the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | last four digits of his social security number. If he did not know either number, he could provide it before the polls closed. If he did not do so, his provisional ballot would not be counted. The court held that the directive did not contravene the HAVA and otherwise established reasonable requirements for confirming the identity of first-time voters who registered to vote by mail because: (1) the |                              |             |                                       |

011461

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | identification procedures were an important bulwark against voter misconduct and fraud; (2) the burden imposed on first--time voters to confirm their identity, and thus show that they were voting legitimately, was slight; and (3) the number of voters unable to meet the burden of proving their identity was likely to be very small. Thus, the balance of interests favored the directive, |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | even if the cost, in terms of uncounted ballots, was regrettable.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 386 F.3d 815; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 28765 | October 23, 2004 | Defendant Ohio Secretary of State challenged an order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, which held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive 2004--33 violated the federal Help America Vote Act. In its order, the district court directed the Secretary to issue a revised directive that conformed to HAVA's requirements. | On appeal, the court held that the district court correctly ruled that the right to cast a provisional ballot in federal elections was enforceable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 and that at least one plaintiff had standing to enforce that right in the district court. The court also held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011463

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 2004--33 violated HAVA to the extent that it failed to ensure that any individual affirming that he or she was a registered voter in the jurisdiction in which he or she desired to vote and eligible to vote in a federal election was permitted to cast a provisional ballot. However, the district court erred in holding that HAVA required that a voter's provisional ballot be counted as a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case     | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |   |                             |                  |   | valid ballot if it was cast anywhere in the county in which the voter resided, even if it was cast outside the precinct in which the voter resided.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Hawkins v. Blunt | United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21512 | October 12, 2004 | In an action filed by plaintiffs, voters and a state political party, contending that the provisional voting requirements of Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430 conflicted with and was preempted by the Help America Vote Act, plaintiffs and defendants, the secretary of state and others, moved | The court held that the text of the HAVA, as well as its legislative history, proved that it could be read to include reasonable accommodations of state precinct voting practices in implementing provisional voting requirements. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011465

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                 | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-----------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | for summary judgment. | The court further held that Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430.2 was reasonable; to effectuate the HAVA's intent and to protect that interest, it could not be unreasonable to direct a voter to his correct voting place where a full ballot was likely to be cast. The court also held that plaintiffs' equal protection rights were not violated by the requirement that before a voter would be allowed to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

011466

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |  | ballot, the voter would first be directed to his proper polling place.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 340 F. Supp. 2d 802; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20551 | October 13, 2004 | Plaintiffs, state and county Democratic parties, filed an action against defendant, Michigan secretary of state and the Michigan director of elections, alleging that the state's intended procedure for casting and counting provisional ballots at the upcoming general election would violate the Help America Vote Act and state laws implementing the federal | The parties claimed that if the secretary's proposed procedure was allowed to occur, several voters who were members of the parties' respective organizations were likely to be disenfranchised. Defendants moved to transfer venue of the action to the Western District of Michigan claiming that the only proper | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | legislation. Defendants filed a motion to transfer venue. | venue for an action against a state official is the district that encompasses the state's seat of government. Alternatively, defendants sought transfer for the convenience of the parties and witnesses. The court found that defendants' arguments were not supported by the plain language of the current venue statutes. Federal actions against the Michigan secretary of state over rules and practices |                              |             |                                       |

011468

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | governing federal elections traditionally were brought in both the Eastern and Western Districts of Michigan. There was no rule that required such actions to be brought only in the district in which the state's seat of government was located, and no inconvenience resulting from litigating in the state's more populous district reasonably could be claimed by a state official who had a |                              |             |                                       |

011469

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |   | mandate to administer elections throughout the state and operated an office in each of its counties. Motion denied.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 347 F. Supp. 2d 404; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20872 | October 19, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voter organizations and political parties, filed actions against defendants, the Michigan Secretary of State and her director of elections, challenging directives issued to local election officials concerning the casting and tabulation of provisional ballots. Plaintiffs sought a | The court concluded that (1) plaintiffs had standing to assert their claims; (2) HAVA created individual rights enforceable through 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; (3) Congress had provided a scheme under HAVA in which a voter's right to have a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011470

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | preliminary injunction and contended that the directives violated their rights under the Help America Vote Act. | provisional ballot for federal offices tabulated was determined by state law governing eligibility, and defendants' directives for determining eligibility on the basis of precinct--based residency were inconsistent with state and federal election law; (4) Michigan election law defined voter qualifications in terms of the voter's home jurisdiction, and a person who cast a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | provisional ballot within his or her jurisdiction was entitled under federal law to have his or her votes for federal offices counted if eligibility to vote in that election could be verified; and (5) defendants' directives concerning proof of identity of first-time voters who registered by mail were consistent with federal and state law. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case      | Court                           | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------|---------------------------------|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| James v. Bartlett | Supreme Court of North Carolina | 359 N.C. 260; 607 S.E.2d 638; 2005 N.C. LEXIS 146 | February 4, 2005 | Appellant candidates challenged elections in the superior court through appeals of election protests before the North Carolina State Board of Elections and a declaratory judgment action in the superior court. The court entered an order granting summary judgment in favor of appellees, the Board, the Board's executive director, the Board's members, and the North Carolina Attorney General. The candidates appealed. | The case involved three separate election challenges. The central issue was whether a provisional ballot cast on election day at a precinct other than the voter's correct precinct of residence could be lawfully counted in final election tallies. The superior court held that it could be counted. On appeal, the supreme court determined that state law did not permit out--of--precinct provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | ballots to be counted in state and local elections. The candidates failure to challenge the counting of out--of--precinct provisional ballots before the election did not render their action untimely. Reversed and remanded. |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 387 F.3d 565; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 22320 | October 26, 2004 | Defendant state appealed from an order of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio which held that the Help America Vote Act required that voters be permitted to cast | The district court found that HAVA created an individual right to cast a provisional ballot, that this right is individually enforceable under 42  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | provisional ballots upon affirming their registration to vote in the county in which they desire to vote and that provisional ballots must be counted as valid ballots when cast in the correct county. | U.S.C.S. § 1983, and that plaintiffs unions and political parties had standing to bring a § 1983 action on behalf of Ohio voters. The court of appeals agreed that the political parties and unions had associational standing to challenge the state's provisional voting directive. Further, the court determined that HAVA was quintessentially about being able to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

011475

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballot but that the voter casts a provisional ballot at the peril of not being eligible to vote under state law; if the voter is not eligible, the vote will then not be counted. Accordingly, the court of appeals reversed the district court and held that "provisional" ballots cast in a precinct where a voter does not reside and which would be invalid under state law, are not required by the HAVA to be considered |                              |             |                                       |

011476

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                      | Court                 | Citation  | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|---|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                   |                       |   |                    |  | legal votes.Affirmed in part and reversed in part.   |                              |             |                                       |
| State ex rel. Mackey v. Blackwell | Supreme Court of Ohio | 106 Ohio St. 3d 261; 2005 Ohio 4789; 834 N.E.2d 346; 2005 Ohio LEXIS 2074 | September 28, 2005 | Appellants, a political group and county electors who voted by provisional ballot, sought review of a judgment from the court of appeals which dismissed appellants' complaint, seeking a writ of mandamus to prevent appellees, the Ohio Secretary of State, a county board of elections, and the board's director, from disenfranchisement of provisional ballot voters. | The Secretary of State issued a directive to all Ohio county boards of elections, which specified that a signed affirmation statement was necessary for the counting of a provisional ballot in a presidential election. During the election, over 24,400 provisional ballots were cast in one county. The electors' provisional | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballots were not counted. They, together with a political activist group, brought the mandamus action to compel appellants to prohibit the invalidation of provisional ballots and to notify voters of reasons for ballot rejections. Assorted constitutional and statutory law was relied on in support of the complaint. The trial court dismissed the complaint, finding that no clear legal right was established |                              |             |                                       |

011478

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | under Ohio law and the federal claims could be adequately raised in an action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. On appeal, the Ohio Supreme Court held that dismissal was proper, as the complaint actually sought declaratory and injunctive relief, rather than mandamus relief. Further, election--contest actions were the exclusive remedy to challenge election results. An adequate remedy existed |                              |             |                                       |

011479

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                  | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|---|---|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |   |   |                  |  | under § 1983 to raise the federal-law claims.Affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Fla. Democratic Party v. Hood | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1073; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21720 | October 21, 2004 | Plaintiff political party sought injunctive relief under the Help America Vote Act, claiming that the election system put in place by defendant election officials violated HAVA because it did not allow provisional voting other than in the voter's assigned precinct. The officials moved for judgment on the pleadings. | The political party asserted that a prospective voter in a federal election had the right to cast a provisional ballot at a given polling place, even if the local officials asserted that the voter was at the wrong polling place; second, that voter had the right to have that vote counted in the election, if the voter otherwise | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011480

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | met all requirements of state law. The court noted that the right to vote was clearly protectable as a civil right, and a primary purpose of the HAVA was to preserve the votes of persons who had incorrectly been removed from the voting rolls, and thus would not be listed as voters at what would otherwise have been the correct polling place. The irreparable injury to a voter was easily sufficient to |                              |             |                                       |

011481

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | outweigh any harm to the officials. Therefore, the court granted relief as to the first claim, allowing the unlisted voter to cast a provisional ballot, but denied relief as to the second claim, that the ballot at the wrong place must be counted if it was cast at the wrong place, because that result contradicted State law. The provisional ballot could only be counted if it |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |  |  |                  |  | was cast in the proper precinct under State law.  |                              |             |                                       |
| League of Women Voters v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio | 340 F. Supp. 2d 823; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20926 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff organizations filed suit against defendant, Ohio's Secretary of State, claiming that a directive issued by the Secretary contravened the provisions of the Help America Vote Act. The Secretary filed a motion to dismiss. | The directive in question instructed election officials to issue provisional ballots to first-time voters who registered by mail but did not provide documentary identification at the polling place on election day. When submitting a provisional ballot, a first-time voter could identify himself by providing his driver's license number or the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | last four digits of his social security number. If he did not know either number, he could provide it before the polls closed. If he did not do so, his provisional ballot would not be counted. The court held that the directive did not contravene the HAVA and otherwise established reasonable requirements for confirming the identity of first-time voters who registered to vote by mail because: (1) the |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | identification procedures were an important bulwark against voter misconduct and fraud; (2) the burden imposed on first--time voters to confirm their identity, and thus show that they were voting legitimately, was slight; and (3) the number of voters unable to meet the burden of proving their identity was likely to be very small. Thus, the balance of interests favored the directive, |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                                  | Court  | Citation                                 | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                  |   | even if the cost, in terms of uncounted ballots, was regrettable.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Sandusky County Democratic Party v. Blackwell | United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit | 386 F.3d 815; 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 28765 | October 23, 2004 | Defendant Ohio Secretary of State challenged an order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, which held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive 2004--33 violated the federal Help America Vote Act. In its order, the district court directed the Secretary to issue a revised directive that conformed to HAVA's requirements. | On appeal, the court held that the district court correctly ruled that the right to cast a provisional ballot in federal elections was enforceable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 and that at least one plaintiff had standing to enforce that right in the district court. The court also held that Ohio Secretary of State Directive | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 2004--33 violated HAVA to the extent that it failed to ensure that any individual affirming that he or she was a registered voter in the jurisdiction in which he or she desired to vote and eligible to vote in a federal election was permitted to cast a provisional ballot. However, the district court erred in holding that HAVA required that a voter's provisional ballot be counted as a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case     | Court   | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---|-----------------------------|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |   |                             |                  |   | valid ballot if it was cast anywhere in the county in which the voter resided, even if it was cast outside the precinct in which the voter resided.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Hawkins v. Blunt | United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21512 | October 12, 2004 | In an action filed by plaintiffs, voters and a state political party, contending that the provisional voting requirements of Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430 conflicted with and was preempted by the Help America Vote Act, plaintiffs and defendants, the secretary of state and others, moved | The court held that the text of the HAVA, as well as its legislative history, proved that it could be read to include reasonable accommodations of state precinct voting practices in implementing provisional voting requirements. | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011488

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                 | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-----------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | for summary judgment. | The court further held that Mo. Rev. Stat. § 115.430.2 was reasonable; to effectuate the HAVA's intent and to protect that interest, it could not be unreasonable to direct a voter to his correct voting place where a full ballot was likely to be cast. The court also held that plaintiffs' equal protection rights were not violated by the requirement that before a voter would be allowed to cast a provisional |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |  | ballot, the voter would first be directed to his proper polling place.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 340 F. Supp. 2d 802; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20551 | October 13, 2004 | Plaintiffs, state and county Democratic parties, filed an action against defendant, Michigan secretary of state and the Michigan director of elections, alleging that the state's intended procedure for casting and counting provisional ballots at the upcoming general election would violate the Help America Vote Act and state laws implementing the federal | The parties claimed that if the secretary's proposed procedure was allowed to occur, several voters who were members of the parties' respective organizations were likely to be disenfranchised. Defendants moved to transfer venue of the action to the Western District of Michigan claiming that the only proper | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011430

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | legislation. Defendants filed a motion to transfer venue. | venue for an action against a state official is the district that encompasses the state's seat of government. Alternatively, defendants sought transfer for the convenience of the parties and witnesses. The court found that defendants' arguments were not supported by the plain language of the current venue statutes. Federal actions against the Michigan secretary of state over rules and practices |                              |             |                                       |

011491

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | governing federal elections traditionally were brought in both the Eastern and Western Districts of Michigan. There was no rule that required such actions to be brought only in the district in which the state's seat of government was located, and no inconvenience resulting from litigating in the state's more populous district reasonably could be claimed by a state official who had a |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case                        | Court   | Citation   | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |   |  |                  |   | mandate to administer elections throughout the state and operated an office in each of its counties. Motion denied.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Bay County Democratic Party v. Land | United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | 347 F. Supp. 2d 404; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20872 | October 19, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voter organizations and political parties, filed actions against defendants, the Michigan Secretary of State and her director of elections, challenging directives issued to local election officials concerning the casting and tabulation of provisional ballots. Plaintiffs sought a | The court concluded that (1) plaintiffs had standing to assert their claims; (2) HAVA created individual rights enforceable through 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; (3) Congress had provided a scheme under HAVA in which a voter's right to have a | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | preliminary injunction and contended that the directives violated their rights under the Help America Vote Act. | provisional ballot for federal offices tabulated was determined by state law governing eligibility, and defendants' directives for determining eligibility on the basis of precinct--based residency were inconsistent with state and federal election law; (4) Michigan election law defined voter qualifications in terms of the voter's home jurisdiction, and a person who cast a |                              |             |                                       |

011494

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Provisional Ballot Cases - 2

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | provisional ballot within his or her jurisdiction was entitled under federal law to have his or her votes for federal offices counted if eligibility to vote in that election could be verified; and (5) defendants' directives concerning proof of identity of first-time voters who registered by mail were consistent with federal and state law. |                              |             |                                       |

011495

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case         | Court  | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Hileman v. McGinness | Court of Appeals of Illinois, Fifth District | 316 Ill. App. 3d 868; 739 N.E.2d 81; 2000 Ill. App. LEXIS 845 | October 25, 2000 | Appellant challenged the circuit court declaration that that the result of a primary election for county circuit clerk was void. | In a primary election for county circuit clerk, the parties agreed that 681 absentee ballots were presumed invalid. The ballots had been commingled with the valid ballots. There were no markings or indications on the ballots which would have allowed them to be segregated from other ballots cast. Because the ballots could not have been segregated, apportionment was the | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011496

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | appropriate remedy if no fraud was involved. If fraud was involved, the election would have had to have been voided and a new election held. Because the trial court did not hold an evidentiary hearing on the fraud allegations, and did not determine whether fraud was in issue, the case was remanded for a determination as to whether fraud was evident in |                              |             |                                       |

011497

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case             | Court                     | Citation   | Date         | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------------------|---------------------------|--|--------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                          |                           |  |              |  | the electoral process. The court reversed the declaration of the trial court, holding that a determination as to whether fraud was involved in the election was necessary to a determination of whether or not a new election was required. |                              |             |                                       |
| DeFabio v. Gummersheimer | Supreme Court of Illinois | 192 Ill. 2d 63; 733 N.E.2d 1241; 2000 Ill. LEXIS 993 | July 6, 2000 | Appellant challenged the judgment of the appellate court, which affirmed the trial court's decision granting appellee's summary judgment motion in action brought by | Appellee filed a petition for election contest, alleging that the official results of the Monroe County coroners election were invalid because none of the 524 ballots cast in  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | appellee to contest the results of the election for the position of county coroner in Monroe County. | Monroe County's second precinct were initialed by an election judge, in violation of Illinois law. The trial court granted appellee's motion for summary judgment, and the appellate court affirmed the judgment. The Illinois supreme court affirmed, noting that statutes requiring election judges to initial election ballots were mandatory, and uninitialed |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | ballots could not have been counted, even where the parties agreed that there was no knowledge of fraud or corruption. Thus, the supreme court held that the trial court properly invalidated all of the ballots cast in Monroe County's second precinct. The court reasoned that none of the ballots contained the requisite initialing, and neither party argued that any |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | of the uninitialed ballots could have been distinguished or identified as absentee ballots. The supreme court affirmed the judgment because the Illinois statute requiring election judges to initial election ballots was mandatory, and uninitialed ballots could not have been counted, even where the parties agreed that there was no knowledge of fraud or corruption. |                              |             |                                       |

011501

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case                                | Court   | Citation  | Date          | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|---------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |               |   | Additionally, none of the ballots in Monroe County's second precinct contained the requisite initialing.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Gilmore v. Amityville Union Free Sch. Dist. | United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York | 305 F. Supp. 2d 271; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3116 | March 2, 2004 | Plaintiffs, two school board candidates, filed a class action complaint against defendants, a school district, the board president, and other district agents or employees, challenging a school board election. Defendants moved to dismiss. | During the election, a voting machine malfunctioned, resulting in votes being cast on lines that were blank on the ballot. The board president devised a plan for counting the machine votes by moving each tally up one line. The two candidates, who were African | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | American, alleged that the president's plan eliminated any possibility that an African American would be elected. The court found that the candidates failed to state a claim under § 1983 because they could not show that defendants' actions were done or approved by a person with final policymaking authority, nor was there a showing of intentional or |                              |             |                                       |

011503

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | purposeful discrimination on defendants' part. The vote-counting method applied equally to all candidates. The candidates' claims under § 2000a and 2000c--8 failed because schools were not places of public accommodation, as required under § 2000a, and § 2000c--8 applied to school segregation. Their claim under § 1971 of deprivation of voting rights failed because § |                              |             |                                       |

011504

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court                 | Citation                       | Date               | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|--------------------------------|--------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                   |                       |                                |                    |  | 1971 did not provide for a private right of action. The court declined to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over various state law claims. Defendants' motion to dismiss was granted with respect to the candidates' federal claims; the state law claims were dismissed without prejudice. |                              |             |                                       |
| State ex rel. Mackey v. Blackwell | Supreme Court of Ohio | 106 Ohio St. 3d 261; 2005 Ohio | September 28, 2005 | Appellants, a political group and county electors who voted by provisional ballot, | The Secretary of State issued a directive to all Ohio county boards of   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011505

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation  | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|---|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       | 4789;834N.E.2d346;2005OhioLEXIS2074 |      | sought review of a judgment from the court of appeals, which dismissed appellants' complaint, seeking a writ of mandamus to prevent appellees, the Ohio Secretary of State, a county board of elections, and the board's director, from disenfranchisement of provisional ballot voters. | elections, which specified that a signed affirmation statement was necessary for the counting of a provisional ballot in a presidential election. During the election, over 24,400 provisional ballots were cast in one county. The electors' provisional ballots were not counted. They, together with a political activist group, brought the mandamus action to compel |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | appellants to prohibit the invalidation of provisional ballots and to notify voters of reasons for ballot rejections. Assorted constitutional and statutory law was relied on in support of the complaint. The court dismissed the complaint, finding that no clear legal right was established under Ohio law and the federal claims could be adequately raised in an action under § |                              |             |                                       |

011507

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | 1983. On appeal, the Ohio supreme court held that dismissal was proper, as the complaint actually sought declaratory and injunctive relief, rather than mandamus relief. Further, election--contest actions were the exclusive remedy to challenge election results. An adequate remedy existed under § 1983 to raise the federal--law claims. Affirmed. |                              |             |                                       |

011508

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case           | Court   | Citation  | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|---|---|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Touchston v. McDermott | United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida | 120 F. Supp. 2d 1055; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20091 | November 14, 2000 | In action in which plaintiffs, registered voters in Brevard County, Florida, filed suit against defendants, members of several County Canvassing Boards and the Secretary of the Florida Department of State, challenging the constitutionality of Fla. Stat. Ann. § 102.166(4) (2000), before the court was plaintiffs' emergency motion for temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunction. | In their complaint, plaintiffs challenged the constitutionality of § 102.166(4), asserting that the statute violated their rights under the Equal Protection and Due Process Clauses of U.S. Const. amend. XIV. Based on these claims, plaintiffs sought an order from the court stopping the manual recount of votes. The court found that plaintiffs had failed to set forth a valid | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011509

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | basis for intervention by federal courts. They had not alleged that the Florida law was discriminatory, that citizens were being deprived of the right to vote, or that there had been fraudulent interference with the vote. Moreover, plaintiffs had not established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claims. Plaintiffs' motion for temporary restraining order and/or |                              |             |                                       |

011510

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case     | Court   | Citation  | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---|---|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |   |   |                   |   | preliminary injunction denied; plaintiffs had not alleged that the Florida law was discriminatory, that citizens were being deprived of the right to vote, or that there had been fraudulent interference with the vote. |                              |             |                                       |
| Siegel v. LePore | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 120 F. Supp. 2d 1041; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16333 | November 13, 2000 | Plaintiffs, individual Florida voters and Republican Party presidential and vice-presidential candidates, moved for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction to | The court addressed who should consider plaintiffs' serious arguments that manual recounts would diminish the accuracy of vote counts due to ballot  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011511

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | enjoin defendants, canvassing board members from four Florida counties, from proceeding with manual recounts of election ballots. | degradation and the exercise of discretion in determining voter intent. The court ruled that intervention by a federal district court, particularly on a preliminary basis, was inappropriate. A federal court should not interfere except where there was an immediate need to correct a constitutional violation. Plaintiffs neither demonstrated a clear deprivation of a constitutional |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | injury or a fundamental unfairness in Florida's manual recount provision. The recount provision was reasonable and non--discriminatory on its face and resided within the state's broad control over presidential election procedures. Plaintiffs failed to show that manual recounts were so unreliable as to constitute a constitutional injury, that plaintiffs' |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case   | Court            | Citation        | Date              | Facts                               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|------------------|-----------------|-------------------|-------------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                  |                 |                   |                                     | alleged injuries were irreparable, or that they lacked an adequate state court remedy. Injunctive relief denied because plaintiffs demonstrated neither clear deprivation of constitutional injury or fundamental unfairness in Florida's manual recount provision to justify federal court interference in state election procedures. |                              |             |                                       |
| Gore v. Harris | Supreme Court of | 773 So. 2d 524; | December 22, 2000 | In a contest to results of the 2000 | The state supreme court   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011514

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court   | Citation             | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------|----------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Florida | 2000 Fla. LEXIS 2474 |      | presidential election in Florida, the United States Supreme Court reversed and remanded a Florida Supreme Court decision that had ordered a manual recount of certain ballots. | had ordered the trial court to conduct a manual recount of 9000 contested Miami--Dade County ballots, and also held that uncounted "undervotes" in all Florida counties were to be manually counted. The trial court was ordered to use the standard that a vote was "legal" if there was a clear indication of the intent of the voter. The United States Supreme Court released an |                              |             |                                       |

011515

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | opinion on December 12, 2000, which held that such a standard violated equal protection rights because it lacked specific standards to ensure equal application, and also mandated that any manual recount would have to have been completed by December 12, 2000. On remand, the state supreme court found that it was impossible under that time frame to adopt adequate |                              |             |                                       |

011516

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case   | Court       | Citation | Date     | Facts               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|-------------|----------|----------|---------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |             |          |          |                     | standards and make necessary evaluations of vote tabulation equipment. Also, development of a specific, uniform standard for manual recounts was best left to the legislature. Because adequate standards for a manual recount could not be developed by the deadline set by the United States Supreme Court, appellants were afforded no relief. |                              |             |                                       |
| Goodwin v. St. | Territorial | 43 V.I.  | December | Plaintiff political | Plaintiff alleged   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011517

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case                      | Court                       | Citation               | Date     | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------|------------------------|----------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Thomas--St. John Bd. of Elections | Court of the Virgin Islands | 89; 2000 V.I. LEXIS 15 | 13, 2000 | candidate alleged that certain general election absentee ballots violated territorial election law, and that the improper inclusion of such ballots by defendants, election board and supervisor, resulted in plaintiff's loss of the election. Plaintiff sued defendants seeking invalidation of the absentee ballots and certification of the election results tabulated without such ballots. | that defendants counted unlawful absentee ballots that lacked postmarks, were not signed or notarized, were in unsealed and/or torn envelopes, and were in envelopes containing more than one ballot. Prior to tabulation of the absentee ballots, plaintiff was leading intervenor for the final senate position, but the absentee ballots entitled intervenor to the position. The |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | court held that plaintiff was not entitled to relief since he failed to establish that the alleged absentee voting irregularities would require invalidation of a sufficient number of ballots to change the outcome of the election. While the unsealed ballots constituted a technical violation, the outer envelopes were sealed and thus substantially complied with election |                              |             |                                       |

011519

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | requirements. Further, while defendants improperly counted one ballot where a sealed ballot envelope and a loose ballot were in the same outer envelope, the one vote involved did not change the election result. Plaintiff's other allegations of irregularities were without merit since ballots without postmarks were valid, ballots without signatures were not counted, and |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation | Date       | Facts              | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------|----------|------------|--------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |        |          |            |                    | ballots without notarized signatures were proper. Plaintiffs request for declaratory and injunctive relief was denied. Invalidation of absentee ballots was not required since the irregularities asserted by plaintiff involved ballots which were in fact valid, were not tabulated by defendants, or were insufficient to change the outcome of the election. |                              |             |                                       |
| Shannon v.   | United | 394 F.3d | January 7, | Plaintiffs, voters | Local election   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011521

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court  | Citation                     | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|------------------------------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Jacobowitz   | States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit | 90; 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 259 | 2005 | and an incumbent candidate, sued defendants, a challenger candidate, a county board of election, and commissioners, pursuant to § 1983 alleging violation of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. The United States District Court for the Northern District of New York granted summary judgment in favor of plaintiffs. Defendants appealed. | inspectors noticed a problem with a voting machine. Plaintiffs asserted that their votes were not counted due to the machine malfunction. Rather than pursue the state remedy of quo warranto, by requesting that New York's Attorney General investigate the machine malfunction and challenge the election results in state court, plaintiffs filed their complaint in federal court. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | The court of appeals found that United States Supreme Court jurisprudence required intentional conduct by state actors as a prerequisite for a due process violation. Neither side alleged that local officials acted intentionally or in a discriminatory manner with regard to the vote miscount. Both sides conceded that the recorded results were |                              |             |                                       |

011523

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | likely due to an unforeseen malfunction with the voting machine. Because no conduct was alleged that would indicate an intentional deprivation of the right to vote, there was no cognizable federal due process claim. The proper remedy was to assert a quo warranto action to challenge the outcome of a general election based on an alleged voting machine malfunction. |                              |             |                                       |

011524

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                       | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|-----------------------------|--|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |                             |  |                  |  | The district court's grant of summary judgment was reversed and its injunctions were vacated. The case was remanded for further proceedings consistent with this opinion.                              |                              |             |                                       |
| GEORGE W. BUSH v. PALM BEACH COUNTY CANVASSING BOARD, ET AL. | United States Supreme Court | 531 U.S. 70; 121 S. Ct. 471; 148 L. Ed. 2d 366; 2000 U.S. LEXIS 8087 | December 4, 2000 | Appellant Republican presidential candidate's petition for writ of certiorari to the Florida supreme court was granted in a case involving interpretations of Fla. Stat. Ann. §§ 102.111, 102.112, in proceedings brought by | The Supreme Court vacated the state court's judgment, finding that the state court opinion could be read to indicate that it construed the Florida Election Code without regard to the extent to which | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | appellees Democratic presidential candidate, county canvassing boards, and Florida Democratic Party regarding authority of the boards and respondent Florida Secretary of State as to manual recounts of ballots and deadlines. | the Florida Constitution could, consistent with U.S. Const. art. II, § 1, cl. 2, circumscribe the legislative power. The judgment of the Florida Supreme Court was vacated and remanded for further proceedings. The court stated the judgment was unclear as to the extent to which the state court saw the Florida constitution as circumscribing the legislature's authority under |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case           | Court   | Citation                                  | Date              | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------------|---|---|-------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                        |   |   |                   |  | Article II of the United States Constitution, and as to the consideration given the federal statute regarding state electors.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Touchston v. McDermott | United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit | 234 F.3d 1130; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 29366 | November 17, 2000 | Plaintiff voters appealed from judgment of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida, which denied their emergency motion for an injunction pending appeal against defendant county election officials. Plaintiffs sought to enjoin defendants from conducting manual ballot recounts or | Plaintiff voters sought an emergency injunction pending appeal to enjoin defendant county election officials from conducting manual ballot recounts or to enjoin defendants from certifying the results of the Presidential election which | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011527

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | to enjoin defendants from certifying results of the presidential election that contained any manual recounts. | contained any manual recounts. The district court denied the emergency injunction and plaintiffs appealed. Upon review, the emergency motion for injunction pending appeal was denied without prejudice. Florida had adequate election dispute procedures, which had been invoked and were being implemented in the forms of administrative |                              |             |                                       |

011528

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | actions by state officials and actions in state court. Therefore, the state procedures were adequate to preserve for ultimate review in the United States Supreme Court any federal questions arising out of the state procedures. Moreover, plaintiffs failed to demonstrate a substantial threat of an irreparable injury that would warrant granting the extraordinary |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | remedy of an injunction pending appeal. Denial of plaintiff's petition for emergency injunction pending appeal was affirmed. The state procedures were adequate to preserve any federal issue for review, and plaintiffs failed to demonstrate a substantial threat of an irreparable injury that would have warranted granting the extraordinary remedy of the |                              |             |                                       |

011530

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                    | Citation                              | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|--------------------------|---------------------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                          |                                       |                  |  | injunction.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Gore v. Harris | Supreme Court of Florida | 772 So. 2d 1243; 2000 Fla. LEXIS 2373 | December 8, 2000 | The court of appeal certified as being of great public importance a trial court judgment that denied all relief requested by appellants, candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, in appellants' contest to certified election results. | Appellants contested the certification of their opponents as the winners of Florida's electoral votes. The Florida supreme court found no error in the trial court's holding that it was proper to certify election night returns from Nassau County rather than results of a machine recount. Nor did the trial court err in refusing to include votes that the Palm Beach County | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011531

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Canvassing Board found not to be legal votes during a manual recount. However, the trial court erred in excluding votes that were identified during the Palm Beach County manual recount and during a partial manual recount in Miami--Dade County. It was also error to refuse to examine Miami--Dade County ballots that registered as non--votes during the machine count. |                              |             |                                       |

011532

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | The trial court applied an improper standard to determine whether appellants had established that the result of the election was in doubt, and improperly concluded that there was no probability of a different result without examining the ballots that appellants claimed contained rejected legal votes. The judgment was reversed and remanded; the |                              |             |                                       |

011533

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Ballot Counting Violation Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | trial court was ordered to tabulate by hand Miami-Dade County ballots that the counting machine registered as non--votes, and was directed to order inclusion of votes that had already been identified during manual recounts. The trial court also was ordered to consider whether manual recounts in other counties were necessary. |                              |             |                                       |

011534

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case     | Court  | Citation                    | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|--|-----------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Reitz v. Rendell | United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21813 | October 29, 2004 | Plaintiff service members filed an action against defendant state officials under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act alleging that they and similarly situated service members would be disenfranchised because they did not receive their absentee ballots in time. The parties entered into a voluntary agreement and submitted it to the court for approval. | The court issued an order to assure that the service members and other similarly situated service members who were protected by the UOCAVA would not be disenfranchised. The court ordered the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take all reasonable steps necessary to direct the county boards of elections to accept as timely received absentee ballots cast by service members and other | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | overseas voters as defined by UOCAVA, so long as the ballots were received by November 10, 2004. The ballots were to be considered solely for purposes of the federal offices that were included on the ballots. The court held that the ballot needed to be cast no later than November 2, 2004 to be counted. The court did not make any findings of liability against the Governor or the Secretary. |                              |             |                                       |

011536

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                  | Court  | Citation                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|--|-----------------------------|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |  |                             |                  |   | The court entered an order, pursuant to a stipulation between the parties, that granted injunctive relief to the service members.   |                              |             |                                       |
| United States v. Pennsylvania | United States District Court for the Middle district of Pennsylvania | 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21167 | October 20, 2004 | Plaintiff United States sued defendant Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, governor, and state secretary, claiming that overseas voters would be disenfranchised if they used absentee ballots that included the names of two presidential candidates who | The testimony of the two witnesses offered by the United States did not support its contention that voters protected by the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act would be disenfranchised absent immediate injunctive relief because neither witness testified | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | had been removed from the final certified ballot and seeking injunctive relief to address the practical implications of the final certification of the slate of candidates so late in the election year. | that any absentee ballots issued to UOCAVA voters were legally incorrect or otherwise invalid. Moreover, there was no evidence that any UOCAVA voter had complained or otherwise expressed concern regarding their ability or right to vote. The fact that some UOCAVA voters received ballots including the names of two candidates who were not on the final certified ballot did not ipso facto support |                              |             |                                       |

011538

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | a finding that Pennsylvania was in violation of UOCAVA, especially since the United States failed to establish that the ballot defect undermined the right of UOCAVA voters to cast their ballots. Moreover, Pennsylvania had adduced substantial evidence that the requested injunctive relief, issuing new ballots, would have harmed the Pennsylvania election system and the public by |                              |             |                                       |

011539

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | undermining the integrity and efficiency of Pennsylvania's elections and increasing election costs. must consider the following four factors: (1) the likelihood that the applicant will prevail on the merits of the substantive claim; (2) the extent to which the moving party will be irreparably harmed in the absence of injunctive relief; (3) the extent to which the nonmoving party |                              |             |                                       |

011540

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                               | Court   | Citation  | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|---|---|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |   |   |      |   | will suffer irreparable harm if the court grants the requested injunctive relief; and (4) the public interest. District courts should only grant injunctive relief after consideration of each of these factors. Motion for injunctive relief denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Bush v. Hillsborough County Canvassing Bd. | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 123 F. Supp. 2d 1305; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19265 |      | The matter came before the court on plaintiffs' complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief alleging that defendant county canvassing boards rejected overseas absentee | Plaintiff presidential and vice--presidential candidates and state political party contended that defendant county canvassing boards rejected overseas absentee   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011541

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | state ballots and federal write--in ballots based on criteria inconsistent with federal law, and requesting that the ballots be declared valid and that they should be counted. | state ballots and federal write--in ballots based on criteria inconsistent with the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act. Because the state accepted overseas absentee state ballots and federal write--in ballots up to 10 days after the election, the State needed to access that the ballot in fact came from overseas. However, federal law provided the method to establish that fact by requiring the overseas absentee |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | voter to sign an oath that the ballot was mailed from outside the United States and requiring the state election officials to examine the voter's declarations. The court further noted that federal law required the user of a federal write--in ballot to timely apply for a regular state absentee ballot, not that the state receive the application, and that again federal law, by requiring the voter using a federal write--in ballot to swear that he or she had |                              |             |                                       |

011543

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | made timely application, had provided the proper method of proof. Plaintiffs withdrew as moot their request for injunctive relief and the court granted in part and denied in part plaintiffs' request for declaratory relief, and relief GRANTED in part and declared valid all federal write--in ballots that were signed pursuant to the oath provided therein but rejected solely because the ballot envelope did not have an APO, FPO, or foreign |                              |             |                                       |

011544

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                                  | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|---|---|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |   |   |                  |  | postmark, or solely because there was no record of an application for a state absentee ballot.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Harris v. Florida Elections Canvassing Comm'n | United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida | 122 F. Supp. 2d 1317; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17875 | December 9, 2000 | Plaintiffs challenged the counting of overseas absentee ballots received after 7 p.m. on election day, alleging the ballots violated Florida election law. | In two separate cases, plaintiff electors originally sued defendant state elections canvassing commission and state officials in Florida state circuit court, challenging the counting of overseas absentee ballots received after 7 p.m. on election day. Defendant governor removed one case | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | to federal court. The second case was also removed. The court in the second case denied plaintiff's motion for remand and granted a motion to transfer the case to the first federal court under the related case doctrine. Plaintiffs claimed that the overseas ballots violated Florida election law. Defendants argued the deadline was not absolute. The court found Congress did not intend 3 U.S.C.S. § 1 to impose |                              |             |                                       |

011546

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | irrational scheduling rules on state and local canvassing officials, and did not intend to disenfranchise overseas voters. The court held the state statute was required to yield to Florida Administrative Code, which required the 10-day extension in the receipt of overseas absentee ballots in federal elections because the rule was promulgated to satisfy a consent decree entered by the state in 1982. Judgment entered for defendants |                              |             |                                       |

011547

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case   | Court  | Citation   | Date              | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|--|--|-------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |  |  |                   |   | because a Florida administrative rule requiring a 10--day extension in the receipt of overseas absentee ballots in federal elections was enacted to bring the state into compliance with a federally ordered mandate; plaintiffs were not entitled to relief under any provision of state or federal law. |                              |             |                                       |
| Romeu v. Cohen | United States District Court for the Southern District of New York | 121 F. Supp. 2d 264; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12842 | September 7, 2000 | Plaintiff territorial resident and plaintiff--intervenor territorial governor moved for summary judgment and defendant federal, | Plaintiff argued that the laws denied him the right to receive a state absentee ballot in violation of the right to vote, the right to travel, the  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011548

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | state, and local officials moved to dismiss the complaint that alleged that the Voting Rights Amendments of 1970, the Uniform Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act, and New York election law were unconstitutional since they denied plaintiff's right to receive an absentee ballot for the upcoming presidential election. | Privileges and Immunities Clause, and the Equal Protection Clause. Plaintiff-intervenor territorial governor intervened on behalf of similarly situated Puerto Rican residents. Defendants' argued that: 1) plaintiff lacked standing; 2) a non-justiciable political question was raised; and 3) the laws were constitutional. The court held that: 1) plaintiff had standing because he made a substantial |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | showing that application for the benefit was futile; 2) whether or not the statutes violated plaintiff's rights presented a legal, not political, question, and there was no lack of judicially discoverable and manageable standards for resolving the matter; and 3) the laws were constitutional and only a constitutional amendment or grant of statehood would enable plaintiff to vote in a presidential election. The |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case   | Court   | Citation                                 | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|---|--|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |   |  |                   |   | court granted defendants' motion to dismiss because the laws that prohibited territorial residents from voting by state absentee ballot in presidential elections were constitutional.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Romeu v. Cohen | United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit | 265 F.3d 118; 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 19876 | September 6, 2001 | Plaintiff territorial resident sued defendants, state and federal officials, alleging that the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act unconstitutionally prevented the territorial resident from voting in his former state of | The territorial resident contended that the UOCAVA unconstitutionally distinguished between former state residents residing outside the United States, who were permitted to vote in their former states, and former state residents | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011551

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | residence. The resident appealed the judgment of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, which dismissed the complaint. | residing in a territory, who were not permitted to vote in their former states. The court of appeals first held that the UOCAVA did not violate the territorial resident's right to equal protection in view of the valid and not insubstantial considerations for the distinction. The territorial resident chose to reside in the territory and had the same voting rights as other territorial residents, even though such |                              |             |                                       |

011552

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | residency precluded voting for federal offices. Further, the resident had no constitutional right to vote in his former state after he terminated his residency in such state, and the consequences of the choice of residency did not constitute an unconstitutional interference with the right to travel. Finally, there was no denial of the privileges and immunities of state citizenship, since the territorial resident was treated |                              |             |                                       |

011553

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case                        | Court  | Citation   | Date          | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------------|--|--|---------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                                     |  |  |               |  | identically to other territorial residents. The judgment dismissing the territorial resident's complaint was affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Igartua de la Rosa v. United States | United States District Court for the District of Puerto Rico | 107 F. Supp. 2d 140; 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11146 | July 19, 2000 | Defendant United States moved to dismiss plaintiffs' action seeking a declaratory judgment allowing them to vote, as U.S. citizens residing in Puerto Rico, in the upcoming and all subsequent Presidential elections. Plaintiffs urged, among other claims, that their right to vote in | The court denied the motion of defendant United States to dismiss the action of plaintiffs, two groups of Puerto Ricans, seeking a declaratory judgment allowing them to vote in Presidential elections. One group always resided in Puerto Rico and the other became | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011554

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Presidential elections was guaranteed by the Constitution and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. | ineligible to vote in Presidential elections upon taking up residence in Puerto Rico. Plaintiffs contended that the Constitution and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, guaranteed their right to vote in Presidential elections and that the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act, was unconstitutional in disallowing Puerto Rican citizens to vote |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | by considering them to be within the United States. The court concluded that UOCAVA was constitutional under the rational basis test, and violation of the treaty did not give rise to privately enforceable rights. Nevertheless, the Constitution provided U.S. citizens residing in Puerto Rico the right to participate in Presidential elections. No constitutional amendment was needed. The |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | present political status of Puerto Rico was abhorrent to the Bill of Rights. The court denied defendant United States' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' action seeking a declaratory judgment allowing them to vote in Presidential elections as citizens of the United States and of Puerto Rico. The court held that the United States Constitution itself provided plaintiffs with the right to participate in |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
UOCAVA Ballot Cases

---

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding                 | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|-------------------------|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Presidential elections. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case         | Court  | Citation   | Date             | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--|--|------------------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Spencer v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio | 347 F. Supp. 2d 528; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22062 | November 1, 2004 | Plaintiff voters filed a motion for temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction seeking to restrain defendant election officials and intervenor State of Ohio from discriminating against black voters in Hamilton County on the basis of race. If necessary, they sought to restrain challengers from being allowed at the | The voters alleged that defendants had combined to implement a voter challenge system at the polls that discriminated against African--American voters. Each precinct was run by its election judges but Ohio law also allowed challengers to be physically present in the polling places in order to challenge voters' eligibility to vote. The court held that the injury asserted, that allowing | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011559

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | polls. | challengers to challenge voters' eligibility would place an undue burden on voters and impede their right to vote, was not speculative and could be redressed by removing the challengers. The court held that in the absence of any statutory guidance whatsoever governing the procedures and limitations for challenging voters by challengers, and the questionable enforceability of the State's and |                              |             |                                       |

011560

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | County's policies regarding good faith challenges and ejection of disruptive challengers from the polls, there existed an enormous risk of chaos, delay, intimidation, and pandemonium inside the polls and in the lines out the door. Furthermore, the law allowing private challengers was not narrowly tailored to serve Ohio's compelling interest in preventing voter fraud. The court enjoined all |                              |             |                                       |

011561

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case  | Court                       | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|-----------------------------|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |                             |   |                  |   | defendants from allowing any challengers other than election judges and other electors into the polling places throughout the state on Election Day.   |                              |             |                                       |
| MARIAN SPENCER, et al., Petitioners v. CLARA PUGH, et al. (No. 04A360) SUMMIT COUNTY DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL and EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, et al., Petitioners v. MATTHEW HEIDER, et al. (No. 04A364) | United States Supreme Court | 125 S. Ct. 305; 160 L. Ed. 2d 213; 2004 U.S. LEXIS 7400 | November 2, 2004 | In two separate actions, plaintiffs sued defendant members of a political party, alleging that the members planned to mount indiscriminate challenges in polling places which would disrupt voting. Plaintiffs applied to | Plaintiffs contended that the members planned to send numerous challengers to polling places in predominantly African--American neighborhoods to challenge votes in an imminent national election, which would allegedly cause | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011562

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | vacate orders entered by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit which entered emergency stays of injunctions restricting the members' activities. | voter intimidation and inordinate delays in voting. A district court ordered challengers to stay out of polling places, and another district court ordered challengers to remain in the polling places only as witnesses, but the appellate court stayed the orders. The United States Supreme Court, acting through a single Circuit Justice, declined to reinstate the injunctions for |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case            | Court         | Citation        | Date         | Facts                           | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------|---------------|-----------------|--------------|---------------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                         |               |                 |              |                                 | prudential reasons, despite the few hours left until the upcoming election. While the allegations of abuse were serious, it was not possible to determine with any certainty the ultimate validity of the plaintiffs' claims or for the full Supreme Court to review the relevant submissions, and voting officials would be available to enable proper voting by qualified voters. |                              |             |                                       |
| Charles H. Wesley Educ. | United States | 324 F. Supp. 2d | July 1, 2004 | Plaintiffs, a voter, fraternity | The organization participated in   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011564

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case        | Court   | Citation                          | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---------------------|---|-----------------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Found., Inc. v. Cox | District Court for the Northern District of Georgia | 1358; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12120 |      | members, and an organization, sought an injunction ordering defendant, the Georgia Secretary of State, to process the voter registration application forms that they mailed in following a voter registration drive. They contended that by refusing to process the forms defendants violated the National Voter | numerous non-partisan voter registration drives primarily designed to increase the voting strength of African-Americans. Following one such drive, the fraternity members mailed in over 60 registration forms, including one for the voter who had moved within state since the last election. The Georgia Secretary of State's office refused to process them because they |                              |             |                                       |

011565

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Registration Act and U.S. Const. amends. I, XIV, and XV. | were not mailed individually and neither a registrar, deputy registrar, or an otherwise authorized person had collected the applications as required under state law. The court held that plaintiffs had standing to bring the action. The court held that because the applications were received in accordance with the mandates of the NVRA, the State of Georgia was not free to reject them. The court found that: |                              |             |                                       |

011566

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case                                   | Court                            | Citation                        | Date             | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--|----------------------------------|---------------------------------|------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|  |                                  |                                 |                  |  | plaintiffs had a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits of their claim that the applications were improperly rejected; plaintiffs would be irreparably injured absent an injunction; the potential harm to defendants was outweighed by plaintiffs' injuries; and an injunction was in the public interest. Injunction granted. |                              |             |                                       |
| Jacksonville Coalition for Voter Prot. v. Hood | United States District Court for | 351 F. Supp. 2d 1326; 2004 U.S. | October 25, 2004 | Plaintiffs, voter protection coalition, union, and | The coalition, the union, and the voters based their claim on  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011567

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court                          | Citation          | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--------------------------------|-------------------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | the Middle District of Florida | Dist. LEXIS 26522 |      | voters, filed an emergency motion for a preliminary injunction and argued that African Americans in the county had less opportunity than other members of the state's electorate to vote in the upcoming election, and that defendants, elections officials', implementation of early voting procedures violated the Voting Rights | the fact that the county had the largest percentage of African--American registered voters of any major county in the state, and, yet, other similarly-sized counties with smaller African--American registered voter percentages had more early voting sites. Based on that, they argued that African--American voters in the county were disproportionately affected. The |                              |             |                                       |

011568

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--------------------------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Act and their constitutional rights. | court found that while it may have been true that having to drive to an early voting site and having to wait in line may cause people to be inconvenienced, inconvenience did not result in a denial of meaningful access to the political process. Thus, the coalition, the union, and the voters had not established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claim that the county's implementation |                              |             |                                       |

011569

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case   | Court                          | Citation                           | Date            | Facts                                     | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------|--------------------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                |                                |                                    |                 |   | of early voting procedures violated § 2 of the Voting Rights Act. Moreover, the coalition, the union, and the voters failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits of their § 1983 Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment claims, which required a higher proof of discriminatory purpose and effect. Injunction denied. |                              |             |                                       |
| Taylor v. Howe | United States Court of Appeals | 225 F.3d 993; 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS | August 31, 2000 | Plaintiffs, African American voters, poll | The court of appeals affirmed--in--part, reversed--  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011570

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court                  | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|------------------------|----------|------|--|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | for the Eighth Circuit | 22241    |      | watchers, and candidates appealed from a judgment of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas in favor of defendants, elections commissioners and related individuals, on their § 1983 voting rights claims and contended the district court made erroneous findings of fact and law and failed to appreciate evidence of | in--part, and remanded the district court's judgment. The court found that the district court's finding of a lack of intentional discrimination was appropriate as to many defendants. However, as to some of the individual voters' claims for damages, the court held "a definite and firm conviction" that the district court's findings were mistaken. The court noted that the argument that a |                              |             |                                       |

011571

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case         | Court                                | Citation                                   | Date              | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------|--|-------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                      |                                      |  |                   | discriminatory intent.                                  | voter's name was misspelled in the voter register, with a single incorrect letter, was a flimsy pretext and, accordingly, held that the district court's finding that defendant poll workers did not racially discriminate in denying the vote to this plaintiff was clearly erroneous. Affirmed in part and reversed in part. |                              |             |                                       |
| Stewart v. Blackwell | United States District Court for the | 356 F. Supp. 2d 791; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS | December 14, 2004 | Plaintiffs, including African--American voters, alleged | The primary thrust of the litigation was an attempt to federalize  | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011572

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court                     | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|---------------------------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Northern District of Ohio | 26897    |      | that use of punch card voting and "central--count" optical scanning devices by defendants, the Ohio Secretary of State et al., violated their rights under the Due Process Clause, the Equal Protection Clause, and (African--American plaintiffs) their rights under § 2 of the Voting Rights Act. | elections by judicial rule or fiat via the invitation to the court to declare a certain voting technology unconstitutional and then fashion a remedy. The court declined the invitation. The determination of the applicable voting process had always been focused in the legislative branch of the government. While it was true that the percentage of residual or non-voted ballots in the 2000 |                              |             |                                       |

011573

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | presidential election ran slightly higher in counties using punch card technology, that fact standing alone was insufficient to declare the use of the system unconstitutional. Moreover, the highest frequency in Ohio of residual voting bore a direct relationship to economic and educational factors, negating the Voting Rights Act claim. The court further stated that local variety |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case     | Court                  | Citation                  | Date               | Facts                               | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|------------------------|---------------------------|--------------------|-------------------------------------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |                        |                           |                    |                                     | in voting technology did not violate the Equal Protection Clause, even if the different technologies had different levels of effectiveness in recording voters' intentions, so long as there was some rational basis for the technology choice. It concluded that defendants' cost and security reasons for the use of punch card ballots were plausible. |                              |             |                                       |
| Taylor v. Currie | United States District | 386 F. Supp. 2d 929; 2005 | September 14, 2005 | Plaintiff brought an action against | This action involved issues pertaining to   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011575

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court                                      | Citation               | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|--|------------------------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              | Court for the Eastern District of Michigan | U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20257 |      | defendants, including a city elections commission, alleging defects in a city council primary election pertaining to absentee balloting. The case was removed to federal court by defendants. Pending before the court was a motion to remand, filed by plaintiff. | absentee ballots. Plaintiff alleged that defendants were not complying with state laws requiring certain eligibility checks before issuing absentee ballots. The state court issued an injunction preventing defendants from mailing absentee ballots. Defendants removed the action to federal court and plaintiff sought a remand. Defendants argued that not mailing the absentee ballots |                              |             |                                       |

011576

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | would violate the Voting Rights Act, because it would place a restriction only on the City of Detroit, which was predominately African--American. The court ordered the case remanded because it found no basis under 28 U.S.C.S. §§ 1441 or 1443 for federal jurisdiction. Defendants' mere reference to a federal law or federal right was not enough to confer subject matter |                              |             |                                       |

011577

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | jurisdiction where the complaint sought to assert only rights arising under state statutes against state officials in relation to a state election. The court stated that it would not allow defendants to take haven in federal court under the guise of providing equal protection for the citizens of Detroit but with a goal of perpetuating their violation of a non-discriminatory state law. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Racial Discrimination Challenge Cases

---

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding                   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---------------------------|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | Motion to remand granted. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case     | Court  | Citation                                  | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|--|---|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| Weber v. Shelley | United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit | 347 F.3d 1101; 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS 21979 | October 28, 2003 | Plaintiff voter brought an suit against defendants, the secretary of state and the county registrar of voters, claiming that the lack of a voter--verified paper trail in the county's newly installed touchscreen voting system violated her rights to equal protection and due process. The United States District Court for the Central District of California granted the | On review, the voter contended that use of paperless touch--screen voting systems was unconstitutional and that the trial court erred by ruling her expert testimony inadmissible. The trial court focused on whether the experts' declarations raised genuine issues of material fact about the relative accuracy of the voting systemat issue and | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | secretary and the registrar summary judgment. The voter appealed. | excluded references to news--paper articles and unidentified studies absent any indication that experts normally relied upon them. The appellate court found that the trial court's exclusions were not an abuse of discretion and agreed that the admissible opinions which were left did not tend to show that voters had a lesser chance of having their votes counted. It further found |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | that the use of touchscreen voting systems was not subject to strict scrutiny simply because this particular balloting system might make the possibility of some kinds of fraud more difficult to detect. California made a reasonable, politically neutral and non--discriminatory choice to certify touchscreen systems as an |                              |             |                                       |

011582

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case  | Court  | Citation   | Date                | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|---|--|--|---------------------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|   |  |  |                     |  | alternative to paper ballots, as did the county in deciding to use such a system. Nothing in the Constitution forbid this choice. The judgment was affirmed.  |                              |             |                                       |
| Am. Ass'n of People with Disabilities v. Shelley | United States District Court for the Central District of California | 324 F. Supp. 2d 1120; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12587 | July 6, 2004 | Plaintiffs, disabled voters and organizations representing those voters, sought to enjoin the directives of defendant California Secretary of State, which decertified and withdrew | The voters urged the invalidation of the Secretary's directives because, allegedly, their effect was to deprive the voters of the opportunity to vote using touch--screen technology. Although it was | No                    | N/A  | No                             |

011583

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | approval of the use of certain direct recording electronic (DRE) voting systems. One voter applied for a temporary restraining order, or, in the alternative, a preliminary injunction. of a preliminary injunction in a number of ways, including a four--part test that considers (1) likelihood of success on the merits; (2) the possibility of irreparable injury in the | not disputed that some disabled persons would be unable to vote independently and in private without the use of DREs, it was clear that they would not be deprived of their fundamental right to vote. The Americans with Disabilities Act, did not require accommodation that would enable disabled persons to vote in a manner that was |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts  | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | absence of an injunction; (3) a balancing of the harms; and (4) the public interest. | comparable in every way with the voting rights enjoyed by persons without disabilities. Rather, it mandated that voting programs be made accessible. Defendant's decision to suspend the use of DREs pending improvement in their reliability and security of the devices was a rational one, designed to protect the voting rights of the state's |                              |             |                                       |

011585

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | citizens. The evidence did not support the conclusion that the elimination of the DREs would have a discriminatory effect on the visually or manually impaired. Thus, the voters showed little likelihood of success on the merits. The individual's request for a temporary restraining order, or, in the alternative, a preliminary injunction, was denied. Ninth Circuit's tests |                              |             |                                       |

011586

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case                  | Court                                      | Citation                                    | Date             | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|-------------------------------|--|---|------------------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                               |  |   |                  |   | for a preliminary injunction, although phrased differently, require a court to inquire into whether there exists a likelihood of success on the merits, and the possibility of irreparable injury; a court is also required to balance the hardships. |                              |             |                                       |
| Fla. Democratic Party v. Hood | Court of Appeal of Florida, First District | 884 So. 2d 1148; 2004 Fla. App. LEXIS 16077 | October 28, 2004 | Petitioner, the Florida Democratic Party, sought review of an emergency rule adopted by the Florida | The Party argued that: (1) the Florida Administrative Code, recast language from the earlier invalidated rule   | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts   | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|---|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | Department of State, contending that the findings of immediate danger, necessity, and procedural fairness on which the rule was based were insufficient under Florida law, which required a showing of such circumstances, and Florida case law. This matter followed. | prohibiting a manual recount of overvotes and undervotes cast on a touchscreen machine; (2) the rule did not call for the manual recount of votes to determine voter intent; and (3) the rule created voters who were entitled to manual recounts in close elections and those who were not. The appeals court disagreed. The Department was clearly concerned with the fact that if |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | no rule were in place, the same confusion and inconsistency in divining a voter's intent that attended the 2000 presidential election in Florida, and the same constitutional problems the United States Supreme Court addressed then, might recur in 2004. It was not the court's responsibility to decide the validity of the rule or whether other means were more appropriate. |                              |             |                                       |

011589

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | But, the following question was certified to the Supreme Court: Whether under Fla. Stat. ch. 120.54(4), the Department of State set forth sufficient justification for an emergency rule establishing standards for conducting manual recounts of overvotes and undervotes as applied to touchscreen voting systems? The petition was denied, but a question was |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case     | Court   | Citation  | Date             | Facts   | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|------------------|---|---|------------------|---|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|                  |   |   |                  |   | certified to the supreme court as a matter of great public importance.   |                              |             |                                       |
| Wexler v. Lepore | United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida | 342 F. Supp. 2d 1097; 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21344 | October 25, 2004 | Plaintiffs, a congressman, state commissioners, and a registered voter, brought a § 1983 action against defendants, state officials, alleging that the manual recount procedures for the state's touchscreen paperless voting systems violated their rights under U.S. Const. | The officials claimed that the state had established an updated standard for manual recounts in counties using optical scan systems and touchscreen voting systems, therefore, alleviating equal protection concerns. The court held that the rules prescribing what | No                           | N/A         | No                                    |

011591

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts                                    | Holding  | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|--|--|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      | amends. V and XIV. A bench trial ensued. | constituted a clear indication on the ballot that the voter had made a definite choice, as well the rules prescribing additional recount procedures for each certified voting system promulgated pursuant to Florida law complied with equal protection requirements under U.S. Const. amends. V and XIV because the rules prescribed uniform, |                              |             |                                       |

011592

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | nondifferential standards for what constituted a legal vote under each certified voting system, as well as procedures for conducting a manual recount of overvotes and undervotes in the entire geographic jurisdiction. The court further held that the ballot images printed during a manual recount pursuant to Florida Administrative Code did not violate Florida |                              |             |                                       |

011593

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Touch Screen Voting Cases

| Name of Case | Court | Citation | Date | Facts | Holding   | Statutory Basis (if of Note) | Other Notes | Should the Case be Researched Further |
|--------------|-------|----------|------|-------|---|------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------|
|              |       |          |      |       | law because the manual recount scheme properly reflected a voter's choice. Judgment was entered for the officials. The claims of the congressman, commissioners, and voter were denied. |                              |             |                                       |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

| City/County    | State           | Date      | Type of Election                        | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Source 1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|----------------|-----------------|-----------|---|---|----------------------------|----------|----------|----------|
| Apache         | Arizona         | 31-Aug-04 | 2002 general                            | County Attorney alleges some Navajo Nation voters cast multiple ballots. The Election Director dismisses many of the allegations and questioned why the county attorney had waited more than a year and a half to make them.  | Arizona Republic           |          |          |          |
| Eureka Springs | Arkansas        | 29-Jun-01 | county judge                            | A special judge rules prosecutors must show the mayor intended to vote twice -- he says he got confused when he voted early for a city bond election and the voting clerk offered him a primary ballot at the same time. He then voted in the primary at his precinct on election day.  | AP                         |          |          |          |
| La Puente      | California      | 3-Aug-02  | municipal                               | Four family members of a councilman were charged with voting twice because they voted absentee and on election day.   | Los Angeles Times          |          |          |          |
| San Francisco  | California      | 1-Mar-04  | mayoral runoff                          | One of the candidates alleged that 400 people who are dead cast votes. The allegation was based on a computer program that cross-referenced voters and the social security death index using first and last names and date of birth. When the Chronicle also used middle initials and other identifying indicators, the list was whittled to five cases. Some were by absentee but a couple were in person. | San Francisco Chronicle    |          |          |          |
|                | Colorado        | 25-Mar-05 |   | 58 of 64 counties responded to a request by the Secretary of State to report on fraud investigations. Only 13 counties have referred cases to prosecutors. Those cases included 41 instances of citizens voting twice. Denver County officials said they had 81 instances of double voting.   | Denver Post                |          |          |          |
|                | Connecticut     | 22-Oct-02 | all                                     | Secretary of State says that RNC allegations that 54 Connecticut voters cast ballots in 2 different states have been investigated and found to be false. 15 voted only in CT, 29 voted only in another state, four names were wrong because they had different birth dates, and three were referred to the FBI and US Attorney because information from the other state could not be obtained               | New Haven Register         |          |          |          |
| Bridgeport     | Connecticut     | 23-Sep-03 | mayoral primary                         | Losing candidate alleges some voters were able to vote twice  | News 12                    |          |          |          |
|                | DC and Maryland | 31-Oct-02 | state primary and presidential election | Records indicate that 24 voters cast ballots in both DC and Maryland in the September 2002 primary and 90 voters did so in the 2000 election. Voters denied they had done so and election officials said it was possible for precinct workers to make mistakes when recording who voted.  | Washington Post            |          |          |          |
| Palm Beach     | Florida         | 5-Dec-02  | 2002 general                            | The County State Attorney will be investigating about a dozen people accused of voting twice. Each cast an absentee ballot and voted on Election Day. The Secretary of State says they may have forgotten they voted absentee. They all had to vote by provisional ballots so none of the second votes were counted. This is the first time the Secretary's office has found people who voted twice.        | Sun-Sentinel               |          |          |          |
| Indian River   | Florida         | 2-Nov-04  | presidential                            | One voter returned two absentee ballots -- the first one was counted and the second discarded. A woman voted by absentee and then during early voting. Her absentee ballot will be thrown out.  | Press Journal (Vero Beach) |          |          |          |

011595

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|                 |          |           |                |  |                              |  |  |  |
|-----------------|----------|-----------|----------------|--|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Palm Beach      | Florida  | 6-Nov-04  | presidential   | The Palm Beach Post reports that three voters cast absentee ballots and then filled out provisional ballots on Election Day. Local officials have asked the Attorney General to investigate. The Post reached two of the voters and they said they cast provisional ballots because when they tried to check on their absentee ballots they were unable to confirm they had been received.   | Florida Times Union          |  |  |  |
| Volusia         | Florida  | 6-Nov-04  | presidential   | Volusia officials said Friday they have identified 12 cases of suspected election fraud stemming from Tuesday's presidential election. All involved people trying to vote twice, said County Judge Steven deLaroche, a member of the county canvassing board. In one case, which occurred during early voting, a person was caught trying to feed an absentee ballot into a tabulating machine after casting a traditional ballot, deLaroche said. That person was stopped by a poll worker. In the other 11 cases, people who had voted by absentee ballot or at an early-voting site tried to vote a second time on Election Day, he said. In those cases, election workers discovered the attempts when computers showed those voters had already cast ballots. All the cases will be forwarded to the State Attorney's Office for prosecution. | Orlando Sentinel             |  |  |  |
| Duval           | Florida  | 31-Jul-05 | presidential   | Officials said in January that a review of records found more than 50 cases in which the same person had cast an absentee and in person ballot. An FBI investigation found that every one of those instances was due to a clerical error, such as someone signing the voter rolls before they were told they had to vote elsewhere.  | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Fulton          | Georgia  | 30-Sep-04 | primary        | A man who may be facing felony charges for voting twice says he voted during the early period and that when he went to his precinct on election day to make sure that vote had been recorded, he was told it was not. The poll worker told him he should vote again. Fulton County investigated and found no other advance voters had voted again on the day of the election. The registration chief acknowledged the county was late getting names of advance voters to the polls. The advance vote was tossed out after it was discovered.   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
| Marshall        | Illinois | 13-Nov-04 | 2002 and 2004  | A man has been charged for voting twice, in both Kane County and Marshall County   | South Bend Tribune           |  |  |  |
| Lake County     | Indiana  | 16-May-04 | county primary | A newspaper analysis shows that five votes cast were attributed to people who were dead well before the election.  | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Prairie Village | Kansas   | 8-Jan-05  | 2002 general   | A woman who voted twice pled guilty -- she had voted from her business address and cast an absentee ballot from a different location in the same election.   | Kansas City Star             |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|             |            |                   |               |   |  |  |  |  |  |
|-------------|------------|-------------------|---------------|---|--|--|--|--|--|
| Hancock     | Louisiana  | 3-Nov-04          | presidential  | A woman called a radio talk show Tuesday and admitted casting fraudulent votes in Hancock County.The woman said she voted once using her own name, but after realizing she was not required to show identification, she waited several hours and returned to the polls and used a friend's name .The county clerks said the incident seems to be isolated and her office has not received evidence of other fraudulent votes elsewhere in the county.   | The Sun Herald                             |  |  |  |  |
| Duluth      | Minnesota  | 3-Nov-04          | presidential  | A voter claims someone forged his signature to vote under his name. He reported the incident to City Hall   | Duluth News-Tribune                        |  |  |  |  |
| Minneapolis | Minnesota  | 23-Feb-05         | presidential  | A felony charge filed Tuesday in Hennepin County District Court accuses Darin Randall Johnson, 34, of registering to vote and casting ballots in three different places in the November election.The criminal complaint alleges he filled out same-day registration forms and voted once in Brooklyn Park and twice in Minneapolis.   | Saint Paul Pioneer Press                   |  |  |  |  |
| Kansas City | Missouri   | 28-Mar-05         | various       | Man pleads guilty to casting double votes in four elections by voting in both Kansas and Missouri   | Kansas City Star                           |  |  |  |  |
| Kansas City | Missouri   | September 6, 2004 | all           | Kansas City Star reports that their investigation shows there may be more than 300 voters voting twice in different counties. The exact number is impossible to determine because many counties have shredded their poll books and state computer files are rife with data errors. In fact, the number may be lower because the state computer files contain many errors that show people voting who did not actually vote. The study only flagged people registered in two places under exactly the same name and date of birth. | Kansas City Star, Belleville News-Democrat |  |  |  |  |
|             | New Jersey | 16-Sep-05         | presidential  | Republican Party claims 4,755 people who have died voted in the election and 4,397 people registered to vote in more than one county voted twice  | New York Times                             |  |  |  |  |
| Sandoval    | New Mexico | 9-Nov-02          | state house   | A comparison of names on absentee-ballot-request rosters and affidavits for the absentee-in-lieu-of-ballots made it appear that 5 people had voted twice absentee by mail and absentee-in-lieu-of at the polls.   | Albuquerque Journal                        |  |  |  |  |
| Sandoval    | New Mexico | 24-Nov-04         | presidential  | Bureau of Elections employees found a woman who voted on a provisional ballot at one precinct also had voted at the regular precinct where she is registered. The signatures at both precincts appeared to be the same, so elections officials sent the case to the district attorney.  | AP   |  |  |  |  |
| New York    | New York   | 23-Oct-02         | 2000 and 2001 | Former conservative party candidate for lieutenant governor is arraigned on an indictment for voting twice, from two different Manhattan addresses. He denies the charge  | Newsday                                    |  |  |  |  |

011597

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|        |                |           |               |   |                      |  |  |  |
|--------|----------------|-----------|---------------|---|----------------------|--|--|--|
|        | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 | 2000 and 2002 | The Observer found up to 180 people who were listed as having voted in both Carolinas in either the 2000 or 2002 elections. Reporters found no one who admitted to double voting and discovered plausible explanations for many of the duplications. In one case, an Army captain in North Carolina shared the same name as his father in South Carolina. The father was likely mistakenly recorded under his son's name when he cast his ballot.   | AP                   |  |  |  |
| Jones  | North Carolina | 30-Oct-04 | primary       | Four men were charged with voting by absentee and on election day. Three denied the allegations or said they misunderstood the process.   | AP                   |  |  |  |
| Gaston | North Carolina | 16-Dec-04 | presidential  | There are differences in most precincts between the number of ballots cast and the number of people recorded as voting. State investigators have concluded there is no way to rule out double-voting or missing votes because poll workers cannot explain the discrepancies.  | Charlotte Observer   |  |  |  |
|        | Ohio           | 2-Nov-04  | presidential  | Republican attorney cites a Plain Dealer report saying more than 27,000 people are registered to vote in both Ohio and Florida and that 100 people cast votes in both places four years ago. A Dispatch investigation of the allegations found little proof of duplicate voting after comparing the Ohio and Florida state databases and conducting further research. After culling the list through those methods, the Dispatch interviewed the people left in question. This failed to turn up anyone who had ever voted twice. Many had never been to Florida; some had never lived in Ohio. | Columbus Dispatch    |  |  |  |
| Summit | Ohio           | 8-Dec-04  | local         | The Director of the Board of Elections says the number of people under investigation for voting twice has decreased from 19 to 10. The board already determined that there were legitimate explanations for about half of the votes. In one case it appeared a man voted absentee and at the polling place but it turned out the absentee ballot had been cast by his son who has the same name.  | Akron Beacon Journal |  |  |  |
| London | Ohio           | 9-Dec-04  | presidential  | A couple who admitted voting twice were not indicted -- they voted by absentee ballot and then voted in person because they thought their absentee ballots had been lost  | AP                   |  |  |  |
| Logan  | Oklahoma       | 24-Feb-01 | primary       | A man is charged with voting twice, once by absentee and once on election day. Although election board officials said they haven't seen a case like this in twenty years, they won't dismiss the charge.  | Daily Oklahoman      |  |  |  |
|        | Oregon         | 11-Apr-02 | 2000 general  | The Secretary of State has referred five cases of possible double voting to the Attorney General (Oregon votes entirely by mail)  | AP                   |  |  |  |
|        | Oregon         | 16-May-04 | 2000          | Republicans claimed 1,200 Oregonians had registered in two counties and voted twice. But a state Elections Division investigation found that just a handful of voters were registered to vote in two counties and one had cast more than one ballot   | AP                   |  |  |  |

011598

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|                 |              |           |                   |   |                              |  |  |  |
|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
|                 | Oregon       | 1-Nov-04  | presidential      | The state Republican Chair claims in a news conference that he has uncovered six cases of people voting twice. The elections division immediately showed that five of the voters had only voted once, and the sixth case had immediately been caught by election workers.   | The Oregonian                |  |  |  |
| Pawtucket       | Rhode Island | 14-Jan-03 | General Assembly  | The Pawtucket Board of Canvassers determined there was no truth to the allegation that Louis C. Yip, owner of the China Inn restaurant and a well-known developer, had shepherded the same couple to two different polling places, getting them to vote twice. City Registrar of Voters Dawn M. McCormick said that when voting records were checked, it turned out that the couple that Yip was accused of getting to vote at Towers East and Kennedy Housing was actually two different couples, both elderly and Chinese.  | Providence Journal Bulletin  |  |  |  |
| Hamilton Courty | Tennessee    | 19-Dec-02 | county commission | The county election commissioner said she believed people were using other names to vote and that addresses were changed fraudulently. Voters sign fail-safe affidavits when they change their addresses and their voting records have not yet been updated. Oaths of identity are signed when voters have no other form of identification. The commissioner said she questioned the validity of 11 oaths of identity and 68 fail-safe affidavits in the District 4 election.   | Chattanooga Times Free Press |  |  |  |
|                 | Tennessee    | 14-Dec-05 | state senate      | A second dead voter cast a ballot in the September special election held to fill the seat vacated by former state senator John Ford. Like a similar case documented earlier this week, this one involves an elderly voter who died weeks before the Sept. 15 election, an investigation by The Commercial Appeal found. Both of the suspect votes occurred in Precinct 27-1, in the heart of heavily Democratic North Memphis. By law, health officials report deaths once a month to the state Election Commission, which then purges the dead from voter registration rolls. In that window of time - a month or so before the election - there's a good chance dead voters will remain on the rolls on Election Day. | Commercial Appeal            |  |  |  |
| Houston         | Texas        | 25-Nov-04 | state legislature | State legislator who lost by 32 votes alleges 32 people voted twice and 101 residents from other districts cast ballots   | Austin American Statesemen   |  |  |  |
| San Juan        | Texas        | 12-May-05 | city              | The county is investigating three voters suspected of voting early and on election day  | The Monitor                  |  |  |  |
| King            | Washington   | 22-Jun-05 | gubernatorial     | criminal charges filed against six voters for allegedly casting more than one ballot under a variety of circumstances: two for casting ballots in the names of recently deceased spouses; mother and daughter charged with casting a ballot in the name of recently deceased mother's dead husband; one for casting a ballot in the name of someone who had lived at the same address and died; one using someone else's name   | Seattle Times                |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|-----------|------------|-----------|---------------------------------|--|----------------------------|--|--|--|--|
| King      | Washington | 13-Oct-05 | gubernatorial                   | Republican officials release the names of 16 people they say voted twice. One person is found to be two people with the same name but different birthdates. Two names were referred to the prosecutors office, files were charged against one.                     | Seattle Times              |  |  |  |  |
| King      | Washington | 14-Oct-05 | gubernatorial and local primary | Woman on Republican list under investigation for double voting   | Seattle Times              |  |  |  |  |
| Appleton  | Wisconsin  | 12-Jan-05 | nonpartisan election            | student who voted by absentee ballot and in person at college sentenced to probation   | Post Crescent              |  |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin  | 22-Aug-05 | presidential                    | GOP claims there were nine cases where people voted in Milwaukee and another city. US Attorney says he found no fraud, but rather clerical errors.   | Journal Sentinel           |  |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin  | 21-Sep-05 | presidential                    | Man charged with voting twice said he filled out two on-site registration cards by mistake but voted only once   | Journal Sentinel           |  |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin  | 5-Dec-05  | presidential                    | Four people charged with double voting; none convicted   | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |  |
| Laramie   | Wyoming    | 2-Nov-04  |                                 | Laramie County Clerks says there has never been any intentional double registration or double voting   |                            |  |  |  |  |
| national  |            | 23-Oct-02 | presidential                    | RNC compiles a national database of 3,273 people who voted twice in 2000. In North Carolina, the first name on the list was the chair of the Assembly's election law committee, and the California Secretary of State says they will be able to refute the claims. | USA Today                  |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |
|           |            |           |                                 |  |                            |  |  |  |  |

011600

011601

2

011603

011604

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

| Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |

011605

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

011606

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|                        |                                       |  |
|------------------------|---------------------------------------|--|
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
| Two people are charged | Kansas City Star(January 8, 2005) |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |
|                        |                                       |  |

011607

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|  |                                    |  |
|--|------------------------------------|--|
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |
| The Board of Elections reviewed all of the allegations of double voting and found that of 18 cases, 11 did not vote twice and seven did but did not intend to. All of the double votes were caught by the board and not counted twice. The board forwarded only one case of alleged double voting to the sheriff for further investigation. | 2/24/2005, AkronBeacon |  |
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |
|  |                                    |  |

0116008

0116008

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|  |   |  |
|--|---|--|
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
| Most of the allegations seem to be cases of innocent mistakes that may have been technically illegal but not fraud | Houston Chronicle(January 16, 2005) |  |
|  |   |  |
| See Washington summary   |   |  |

011609

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - 'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

|                                 |  |  |
|---------------------------------|--|--|
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
| see larger summary of Milwaukee |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |
|                                 |  |  |

011610

011611

011612

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type:    | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation? | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination           | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County     | State       | Date      | Type of Election                        | Alleged instance of fraud:  | Original Source         | Resolution of incident / allegation: | Source of Resolution: 1 | Source of Resolution: 2 |
|----------|--------------------|----------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------|--|-----------------|-------------|-----------|---|---|-------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple |                    |                      | Yes                          |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      | BOE Dismissed                 |  | Apache          | Arizona     | 31-Aug-04 | 2002 general                            | County Attorney alleges some Navajo Nation voters cast multiple ballots. The Election Director dismisses many of the allegations and questioned why the county attorney had waited more than a year and a half to make them.  | Arizona Republic        |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          |                      |                              |                | DA                          | 1                     |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  | Eureka Springs  | Arkansas    | 29-Jun-01 | county judge                            | A special judge rules prosecutors must show the mayor intended to vote twice – he says he got confused when he voted early for a city bond election and the voting clerk offered him a primary ballot at the same time. He then voted in the primary at his precinct on election day.   | AP                      |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                      |                              |                |                             | 4                     |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  | La Puente       | California  | 3-Aug-02  | municipal                               | Four family members of a councilman were charged with voting twice because they voted absentee and on election day.   | Los Angeles Times       |                                      |                         |                         |
| Dead     | Both               | Yes                  |                              | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  | San Francisco   | California  | 1-Mar-04  | mayoral run-off                         | One of the candidates alleged that 400 people who are dead cast votes. The allegation was based on a computer program that cross-referenced voters and the social security death index using first and last names and date of birth. When the Chronicle also used middle initials and other identifying indicators, the list was whittled to five cases. Some were by absentee but a couple were in person. | San Francisco Chronicle |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                    |                      |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               |  |                 | Colorado    | 25-Mar-05 |   | 58 of 64 counties responded to a request by the Secretary of State to report on fraud investigations. Only 13 counties have referred cases to prosecutors. Those cases included 41 instances of citizens voting twice. Denver County officials said they had 81 instances of double voting.   | Denver Post             |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          | Yes                  |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Found Untrue                  | Yes  |                 | Connecticut | 22-Oct-02 | all                                     | Secretary of State says that RNC allegations that 54 Connecticut voters cast ballots in 2 different states have been investigated and found to be false. 15 voted only in CT, 29 voted only in another state, four names were wrong because they had different birth dates, and three were referred to the FBI and US Attorney because information from the other state could not be obtained               | New Haven Register      |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          | Yes                  |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               |  | Bridgport       | Connecticut | 23-Sep-03 | mayoral primary                         | Losing candidate alleges some voters were able to vote twice  | News 12                 |                                      |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          |                      |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Voters Deny/Possible mistakes |  | DC and Maryland |             | 31-Oct-02 | state primary and presidential election | Records indicate that 24 voters cast ballots in both DC and Maryland in the September 2002 primary and 90 voters did so in the 2000 election. Voters denied they had done so and election officials said it was possible for precinct workers to make mistakes when recording who voted.  | Washington Post         |                                      |                         |                         |

011615

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type     | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State   | Date     | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source            | Resolution of Incident/allegation | Source of Resolution #1 | Source of Resolution #2 |
|----------|--------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|---------|----------|------------------|--|----------------------------|-----------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Ballots not counted | Yes  | Palm Beach    | Florida | 5-Dec-02 | 2002 general     | The County State Attorney will be investigating about a dozen people accused of voting twice. Each cast an absentee ballot and voted on Election Day. The Secretary of State says they may have forgotten they voted absentee. They all had to vote by provisional ballots so none of the second votes were counted. This is the first time the Secretary's office has found people who voted twice.   | Sun-Sentinel               |                                   |                         |                         |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Ballots discarded   |  | Indian River  | Florida | 2-Nov-04 | presidential     | One voter returned two absentee ballots – the first one was counted and the second discarded. A woman voted by absentee and then during early voting. Her absentee ballot will be thrown out.  | Press Journal (Vero Beach) |                                   |                         |                         |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     | Press                       |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Palm Beach    | Florida | 6-Nov-04 | presidential     | The Palm Beach Post reports that three voters cast absentee ballots and then filled out provisional ballots on Election Day. Local officials have asked the Attorney General to investigate. The Post reached two of the voters and they said they cast provisional ballots because when they tried to check on their absentee ballots they were unable to confirm they had been received.   | Florida Times Union        |                                   |                         |                         |
| Multiple | Both               |                     |                             | State          |                             | 12                    |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Volusia       | Florida | 6-Nov-04 | presidential     | Volusia officials said Friday they have identified 12 cases of suspected election fraud stemming from Tuesday's presidential election. All involved people trying to vote twice, said County Judge Steven deLaroché, a member of the county canvassing board. In one case, which occurred during early voting, a person was caught trying to feed an absentee ballot into a tabulating machine after casting a traditional ballot, deLaroché said. That person was stopped by a poll worker. In the other 11 cases, people who had voted by absentee ballot or at an early-voting site tried to vote a second time on Election Day, he said. In those cases, election workers discovered the attempts when computers showed those voters had already cast ballots. All the cases will be forwarded to the State Attorney's Office for prosecution. | Orlando Sentinel           |                                   |                         |                         |

011616

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type     | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County   | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1. | Source of Resolution 2. |
|----------|--------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                               | Clerical Error      |  | Duval           | Florida   | 31-Jul-05 | presidential     | Officials said in January that a review of records found more than 50 cases in which the same person had cast an absentee and in person ballot. An FBI investigation found that every one of those instances was due to a clerical error, such as someone signing the voter rolls before they were told they had to vote elsewhere.  | AP                           |                                     |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          |                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                               | Ballot discarded    |  | Fulton          | Georgia   | 30-Sep-04 | primary          | A man who may be facing felony charges for voting twice says he voted during the early period and that when he went to his precinct on election day to make sure that vote had been recorded, he was told it was not. The poll worker told him he should vote again. Fulton County investigated and found no other advance voters had voted again on the day of the election. The registration chief acknowledged the county was late getting names of advance voters to the polls. The advance vote was tossed out after it was discovered. | Atlanta Journal Constitution |                                     |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Marshall        | Illinois  | 13-Nov-04 | 2002 and 2004    | A man has been charged for voting twice, in both Kane County and Marshall County   | South Bend Tribune           |                                     |                         |                         |
| Dead     |                    |                     |                             | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Lake County     | Indiana   | 16-May-04 | county primary   | A newspaper analysis shows that five votes cast were attributed to people who were dead well before the election.  | AP                           |                                     |                         |                         |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                             |                     |  | Prairie Village | Kansas    | 8-Jan-05  | 2002 general     | A woman who voted twice pled guilty -- she had voted from her business address and cast an absentee ballot from a different location in the same election.   | Kansas City Star             |                                     |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person          |                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                               |                     |  | Hancock         | Louisiana | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | A woman called a radio talk show Tuesday and admitted casting fraudulent votes in Hancock County. The woman said she voted once using her own name, but after realizing she was not required to show identification, she waited several hours and returned to the polls and used a friend's name. The county clerks said the incident seems to be isolated and her office has not received evidence of other fraudulent votes elsewhere in the county.   | The Sun Herald               |                                     |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |                     |  | Duluth          | Minnesota | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | A voter claims someone forged his signature to vote under his name. He reported the incident to City Hall  | Duluth News-Tribune          |                                     |                         |                         |

011617

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type:         | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State      | Date               | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source                            | Resolution of Incident/allegation | Source of Resolution #1            | Source of Resolution #2 |
|---------------|--------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|------------|--------------------|------------------|---|--|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple      | In person          |                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Minneapolis | Minnesota  | 23-Feb-05          | presidential     | A felony charge filed Tuesday in Hennepin County District Court accuses Darin Randall Johnson, 34, of registering to vote and casting ballots in three different places in the November election. The criminal complaint alleges he filled out same-day registration forms and voted once in Brooklyn Park and twice in Minneapolis.  | Saint Paul Pioneer Press                   |                                   |                                    |                         |
| Multiple      | In person          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                                    |                     |  | Kansas City | Missouri   | 28-Mar-05          | various          | Man pleads guilty to casting double votes in four elections by voting in both Kansas and Missouri   | Kansas City Star                           |                                   |                                    |                         |
| Multiple      |                    |                     |                              | Press          |                             | 2                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Kansas City | Missouri   | September 6, 2004  | all              | Kansas City Star reports that their investigation shows there may be more than 300 voters voting twice in different counties. The exact number is impossible to determine because many counties have shredded their poll books and state computer files are rife with data errors. In fact, the number may be lower because the state computer files contain many errors that show people voting who did not actually vote. The study only flagged people registered in two places under exactly the same name and date of birth. | Kansas City Star, Belleville News-Democrat | Two people are charged            | Kansas City Star (January 8, 2005) |                         |
| Dead/Multiple |                    | Yes                 |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  |             | New Jersey | 16-Sep-05          | presidential     | Republican Party claims 4,755 people who have died voted in the election and 4,397 people registered to vote in more than one county voted twice  | New York Times                             |                                   |                                    |                         |
| Multiple      | Absentee           |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Sandoval    | New Mexico | 9-Nov-02           | state house      | A comparison of names on absentee-ballot-request rosters and affidavits for the absentee-in-lieu-of-ballots made it appear that 5 people had voted twice absentee by mail and absentee-in-lieu-of at the polls.   | Albuquerque Journal                        |                                   |                                    |                         |
| Multiple      | In person          |                     |                              | DA             |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Sandoval    | New Mexico | 24-Nov-04          | presidential     | Bureau of Elections employees found a woman who voted on a provisional ballot at one precinct also had voted at the regular precinct where she is registered. The signatures at both precincts appeared to be the same, so elections officials sent the case to the district attorney.  | AP   |                                   |                                    |                         |
| Multiple      |                    |                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | New York    | New York   | 23-Oct-02 and 2001 |                  | Former conservative party candidate for lieutenant governor is arraigned on an indictment for voting twice, from two different Manhattan addresses. He denies the charge  | Newsday                                    |                                   |                                    |                         |

011618

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type     | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination                   | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County    | State          | Date               | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Resolution of Incident/ allegation  | Source of Resolution 1  | Source of Resolution 2 |
|----------|--------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|--|----------------|----------------|--------------------|------------------|---|----------------------|---|-------------------------|------------------------|
| Multiple |                    |                     |                              | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Many likely errors                    |  | North Carolina |                | 24-Oct-04 and 2002 |                  | The Observer found up to 180 people who were listed as having voted in both Carolinas in either the 2000 or 2002 elections. Reporters found no one who admitted to double voting and discovered plausible explanations for many of the duplications. In one case, an Army captain in North Carolina shared the same name as his father in South Carolina. The father was likely mistakenly recorded under his son's name when he cast his ballot.   | AP                   |   |                         |                        |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                              |                |                             | 4                     |                     |                                      | Yes                                   |  | Jones          | North Carolina | 30-Oct-04          | primary          | Four men were charged with voting by absentee and on election day. Three denied the allegations or said they misunderstood the process.   | AP                   |   |                         |                        |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                                       |  | Gaston         | North Carolina | 16-Dec-04          | presidential     | There are differences in most precincts between the number of ballots cast and the number of people recorded as voting. State investigators have concluded there is no way to rule out double-voting or missing votes because poll workers cannot explain the discrepancies.  | Charlotte Observer   |   |                         |                        |
| Multiple |                    | Yes                 |                              | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Turned out to be untrue               |  | Ohio           |                | 2-Nov-04           | presidential     | Republican attorney cites a Plain Dealer report saying more than 27,000 people are registered to vote in both Ohio and Florida and that 100 people cast votes in both places four years ago. A Dispatch investigation of the allegations found little proof of duplicate voting after comparing the Ohio and Florida state databases and conducting further research. After culling the list through those methods, the Dispatch interviewed the people left in question. This failed to turn up anyone who had ever voted twice. Many had never been to Florida; some had never lived in Ohio. | Columbus Dispatch    |   |                         |                        |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                              |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      | 1 of 18 found worthy of investigation | Yes  | Summit         | Ohio           | 8-Dec-04           | local            | The Director of the Board of Elections says the number of people under investigation for voting twice has decreased from 19 to 10. The board already determined that there were legitimate explanations for about half of the votes. In one case it appeared a man voted absentee and at the polling place but it turned out the absentee ballot had been cast by his son who has the same name.  | Akron Beacon Journal | The Board of Elections reviewed all of the allegations of double voting and found that of 18 cases, 11 did not vote twice and seven did but did not intend to. All of the double votes were caught by the board and not counted twice. The board forwarded only one case of alleged double voting to the sheriff for further investigation. | 2/24/2005, Akron Beacon |                        |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | No indictment                         |  | London         | Ohio           | 9-Dec-04           | presidential     | A couple who admitted voting twice were not indicted -- they voted by absentee ballot and then voted in person because they thought their absentee ballots had been lost  | AP                   |   |                         |                        |

011619

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type     | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals)   | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County     | State        | Date      | Type of Election  | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Resolution of incident/allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|----------|--------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|---------------------|--|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|--|------------------------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                              |                | BOE                         | 1                     |                     |  |                     | Yes  | Logan           | Oklahoma     | 24-Feb-01 | primary           | A man is charged with voting twice, once by absentee and once on election day. Although election board officials said they haven't seen a case like this in twenty years, they won't dismiss the charge.   | Daily Oklahoman              |                                   |                        |                        |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |  |                     | Yes  |                 | Oregon       | 11-Apr-02 | 2000 general      | The Secretary of State has referred five cases of possible double voting to the Attorney General (Oregon votes entirely by mail)   | AP                           |                                   |                        |                        |
| Multiple | In person          | Yes                 |                              | State BOE      |                             |                       |                     | 1 of 1200 accusations found legitimate |                     | Accusations  |                 | Oregon       | 16-May-04 | 2000              | Republicans claimed 1,200 Oregonians had registered in two counties and voted twice. But a state Elections Division investigation found that just a handful of voters were registered to vote in two counties and one had cast more than one ballot  | AP                           |                                   |                        |                        |
| Multiple | In person          | Yes                 |                              | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |  | Found Untrue        |  |                 | Oregon       | 1-Nov-04  | presidential      | The state Republican Chair claims in a news conference that he has uncovered six cases of people voting twice. The elections division immediately showed that five of the voters had only voted once, and the sixth case had immediately been caught by election workers.  | The Oregonian                |                                   |                        |                        |
| Multiple | In person          |                     |                              | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |  | Found Untrue        |  | Pawtucket       | Rhode Island | 14-Jan-03 | General Assembly  | The Pawtucket Board of Canvassers determined there was no truth to the allegation that Louis C. Yip, owner of the China Inn restaurant and a well-known developer, had shepherded the same couple to two different polling places, getting them to vote twice. City Registrar of Voters Dawn M. McCormick said that when voting records were checked, it turned out that the couple that Yip was accused of getting to vote at Towers East and Kennedy Housing was actually two different couples, both elderly and Chinese. | Providence Journal Bulletin  |                                   |                        |                        |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                              | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |  |                     |  | Hamilton County | Tennessee    | 19-Dec-02 | county commission | The county election commissioner said she believed people were using other names to vote and that addresses were changed fraudulently. Voters sign fail-safe affidavits when they change their addresses and their voting records have not yet been updated. Oaths of identity are signed when voters have no other form of identification. The commissioner said she questioned the validity of 11 oaths of identity and 68 fail-safe affidavits in the District 4 election.  | Chattanooga Times Free Press |                                   |                        |                        |

011620

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type     | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Other determination  | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State      | Date      | Type of Election                | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source           | Resolution of incident/allegation  | Source of Resolution 1               | Source of Resolution 2 |
|----------|--------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|------------|-----------|---------------------------------|---|---------------------------|--|--------------------------------------|------------------------|
| Dead     |                    |                     |                              | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  |             | Tennessee  | 14-Dec-05 | state senate                    | A second dead voter cast a ballot in the September special election held to fill the seat vacated by former state senator John Ford. Like a similar case documented earlier this week, this one involves an elderly voter who died weeks before the Sept. 15 election, an investigation by The Commercial Appeal found. Both of the suspect votes occurred in Precinct 27-1, in the heart of heavily Democratic North Memphis. By law, health officials report deaths once a month to the state Election Commission, which then purges the dead from voter registration rolls. In that window of time - a month or so before the election - there's a good chance dead voters will remain on the rolls on Election Day. | Commercial Appeal         |  |                                      |                        |
| Multiple |                    | Yes                 |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Found to be mistakes |  | Houston     | Texas      | 25-Nov-04 | state legislature               | State legislator who lost by 32 votes alleges 32 people voted twice and 101 residents from other districts cast ballots   | Austin American Statesman | Most of the allegations seem to be cases of innocent mistakes that may have been technically illegal but not fraud | Houston Chronicle (January 16, 2005) |                        |
| Multiple | In person          |                     |                              | County         |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | San Juan    | Texas      | 12-May-05 | city                            | The county is investigating three voters suspected of voting early and on election day  | The Monitor               |  |                                      |                        |
| Both     |                    |                     |                              |                |                             | 6                     |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | King        | Washington | 22-Jun-05 | gubernatorial                   | criminal charges filed against six voters for allegedly casting more than one ballot under a variety of circumstances: two for casting ballots in the names of recently deceased spouses; mother and daughter charged with casting a ballot in the name of recently deceased mother's dead husband; one for casting a ballot in the name of someone who had lived at the same address and died; one using someone else's name   | Seattle Times             | See Washington summary   |                                      |                        |
| Multiple |                    | Yes                 |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | King        | Washington | 13-Oct-05 | gubernatorial                   | Republican officials release the names of 16 people they say voted twice. One person is found to be two people with the same name but different birthdates. Two names were referred to the prosecutors office, files were charged against one.  | Seattle Times             |  |                                      |                        |
| Multiple |                    |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | King        | Washington | 14-Oct-05 | gubernatorial and local primary | Woman on Republican list under investigation for double voting  | Seattle Times             |  |                                      |                        |
| Multiple | Absentee           |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                                    |                      |  | Appleton    | Wisconsin  | 12-Jan-05 | nonpartisan election            | student who voted by absentee ballot and in person at college sentenced to probation  | Post Crescent             |  |                                      |                        |

011621

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type:    | Absentee/In person: | Partisan Allegation: | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals): | Acquitted/Dismissed: | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals): | Other determination: | Follow-up possible? (Open investigation and/or pending charges): | City/County: | State:    | Date:     | Type of Election: | Alleged Instance of fraud:   | Original Source:           | Resolution of incident/allegation: | Source of Resolution 1: | Source of Resolution 2: |
|----------|---------------------|----------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|------------------------|----------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------|--|--------------|-----------|-----------|-------------------|--|----------------------------|------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple |                     | Yes                  |                              |                | US Attorney                 |                        |                      |                                       | clerical errors      |  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 22-Aug-05 | presidential      | GOP claims there were nine cases where people voted in Milwaukee and another city. US Attorney says he found no fraud, but rather clerical errors.   | Journal Sentinel           |                                    |                         |                         |
| Multiple | In person           |                      |                              |                |                             | 1                      |                      |                                       |                      | Yes  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 21-Sep-05 | presidential      | Man charged with voting twice said he filled out two on-site registration cards by mistake but voted only once   | Journal Sentinel           |                                    |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                     |                      |                              |                |                             |                        | 4                    |                                       |                      |  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 5-Dec-05  | presidential      | Four people charged with double voting; none convicted   | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel | see larger summary of Milwaukee    |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                     |                      |                              |                |                             |                        |                      |                                       |                      |  | Laramie      | Wyoming   | 2-Nov-04  |                   | Laramie County Clerks says there has never been any intentional double registration or double voting   |                            |                                    |                         |                         |
| Multiple |                     | Yes                  |                              | State          |                             |                        |                      |                                       |                      | Yes  | national     |           | 23-Oct-02 | presidential      | RNC compiles a national database of 3,273 people who voted twice in 2000. In North Carolina, the first name on the list was the chair of the Assembly's election law committee, and the California Secretary of State says they will be able to refute the claims. | USA Today                  |                                    |                         |                         |

011622

'Dead' Voters and Multiple Voting

5/9/2007

| Type: | Absentee/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation ? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident/allegation | Source of Resolution #1 | Source of Resolution #2 |
|-------|--------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
|       |                    |                     |                             |                 |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                   |                         |                         |

011623

| Type: | Absente/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident/allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------|-------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|       |                   |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                   |                        |                        |

011624

| Type: | Absentee/ person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/ Dismissal | Convicted/ guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigation and/or pending charges) | City/ County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident/ allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------|------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|---------------------------------------|---------------------|---|--------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|       |                  |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                     |   |              |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                    |                        |                        |

011625

| Type: | Absent/In person | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissed | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident/allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------|------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|--------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|-------|------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|--------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|

011626

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type                 | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individual) | Acquittal/Dissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County              | State       | Date      | Type of Election                  | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|----------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|---------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|--|--------------------------|-------------|-----------|-----------------------------------|--|---------------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                     |                  |                                     |                      |  | Phillips                 | Arkansas    | 2-Nov-02  | primary                           | The sanitation director for Helena, the Phillips County seat, admitted in court to illegally casting more than 25 absentee ballots in the Democratic primary in May.   | Arkansas Democrat-Gazette |                                     |                        |                        |
|                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                     |                  |                                     |                      |  | South Gate               | California  | 28-Jan-03 | Treasurer and city council recall | Supporters of the recall, which is being led by the city's two police unions, say city employees have been illegally filling out absentee ballots against the recall.  | Los Angeles Times         |                                     |                        |                        |
| Forgery-Dead         |                     |                             |                |                             |                     |                  |                                     |                      |  | Bridgeport               | Connecticut | 6-Sep-02  |                                   | Election officials found an absentee ballot application for someone who is dead  | Connecticut Post          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                      |                     |                             | Federal        |                             | 2                   |                  |                                     |                      |  | Bridgeport and New Haven | Connecticut | 4-Nov-02  | probate judge                     | FBI is investigating potential absentee ballot fraud in Bridgeport Democratic primary and two men face absentee ballot charges involving 2 New Haven primaries   | Connecticut Post          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Coercion             |                     |                             |                |                             | 1                   |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Hartford                 | Connecticut | 12-Aug    | state legislature                 | former state representative is charged with seven counts of absentee ballot fraud for absentee ballot coercion in a particular apartment complex   | Hartford Courant          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Ineligible           |                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                     |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Bridgeport               | Connecticut | 3-Dec-03  | town committee                    | The elections commission wants four brothers to be charged with fraudulent voting for allegedly submitting illegal absentee ballots in the March 2002 Democratic Town Committee primary. The commission alleges that none of the brothers lived in Bridgeport when they voted in those city elections. | Connecticut Post          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Ineligible           |                     |                             |                |                             |                     |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Smyrna                   | Delaware    | 3-Aug-05  | town                              | A challenger to the mayor who lost by 2 votes is suing the mayor for personally delivering absentee ballots to minority residents, some of whom were not eligible to vote  | The News Journal          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Forgery-Unknown      |                     |                             |                |                             | 4                   |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Winter Garden            | Florida     | 5-Mar-02  | city commissioner                 | Four are charged with forging names on absentee ballots  | AP                        |                                     |                        |                        |
| Forgery-Other Voters |                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                     |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Volusia                  | Florida     | 3-Oct-03  | city                              | Elections officials inquire into 43 absentee ballot request forms with the wrong date of birth and 3 requests with forged signatures   | Orlando Sentinel          |                                     |                        |                        |
| Ineligible           |                     |                             |                |                             | 1                   |                  |                                     | Yes                  |  | Winter Haven             | Florida     | 6-Jan-04  | town                              | criminal complaint filed against woman for voting by absentee ballot when she did not live in the district   | Polk Online               |                                     |                        |                        |

011627

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquittal/Diagnosis | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination?                               | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County  | State    | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source        | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1          | Source of Resolution 2             |
|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|--|--|--------------|----------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------|--|---------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Coercion                 |                     |                             | County         |                             |                      |                     |                                | Special Prosecutor found no determination of fraud |  | Hialeah      | Florida  | 21-Mar-04 | city council     | Miami-Dade public corruption detectives fanned across Hialeah on Friday, questioning employees of the city's public housing agency, as well as friends and relatives of politicians aligned with Mayor Raul Martinez. Sources close to the investigation say those interviewed were asked about their alleged handling of absentee ballots gathered from voters - many of them elderly - in the city's public housing units. | Miami Herald           | A special state prosecutor said he found no evidence of election fraud after a yearlong investigation of absentee voting at the Hialeah Housing Authority during that city's 2003 elections  | Miami Herald, May 11, 2005      |                                    |
| Mishandling              |                     |                             | Grand Jury     |                             |                      |                     |                                |  |  | Orlando      | Florida  | 5-Mar-05  | mayoral          | A grand jury is investigating the possible mishandling of absentee ballots by a minority voting advocate who has worked for many campaigns   | Orlando Sentinel       | All charges are dropped. Democrats allege the whole case was politically motivated; Florida prosecutors dropped a case charging the mayor with paying a campaign worker to collect absentee ballots. Three others indicted on the same charge were also cleared. | April 21, 2005 Orlando Sentinel | April 21, 2005, The New York Times |
| Coercion                 |                     | Yes                         |                |                             |                      |                     |                                |  |  | Cook         | Illinois | 15-Mar-02 | state            | ACORN alleges that a man went to a senior citizen home and voted the seniors' absentee ballots   | Chicago Sun-Times      |  |                                 |                                    |
| Coercion                 |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                     |                                | Election thrown out                                |  | Calumet City | Illinois | 3-Sep-03  | mayoral          | A county judge threw out and reversed an election because of absentee coercion of disabled voters  | Chicago Tribune        |  |                                 |                                    |
| Other Voters             |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                      |                     |                                | Yes  |  | Marion       | Indiana  | 1-Nov-02  | county           | The county prosecutor is investigating absentee ballots in which signatures don't match, voter's names were misspelled, and correction fluid was used to change the address  | Indianapolis Star      |  |                                 |                                    |
|                          |                     |                             | State Police   |                             |                      |                     |                                | Yes  |  | Madison      | Indiana  | 29-Apr-03 | primary          | State police are investigating whether Democratic primary absentee ballots were delivered to nursing homes that traditionally vote Republican  | Herald Bulletin        |  |                                 |                                    |
| Forgery-Voters Who Moved |                     |                             | County         |                             |                      |                     |                                | Yes  |  | Lake         | Indiana  | 11-Jul-03 | town             | Allegations are made of absentee ballots from voters who moved and forged signatures by one person. Case will be heard by a county judge   | Northwest Indiana News |  |                                 |                                    |
| Ineligible               |                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                      |                     |                                | Yes  |  | Porter       | Indiana  | 31-Mar-04 | town             | Elections board investigates allegations that two ineligible voters voted by absentee ballots  | Northwest Indiana News |  |                                 |                                    |

011628

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type                   | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismitted | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State    | Date                           | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source        | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution 1  | Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|---------------|----------|--------------------------------|------------------|--|------------------------|---|---|------------------------|
| Forgery-Dead           |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | East Chicago  | Indiana  | 23-Jun-04                      | mayoral          | The Indiana Supreme Court is considering whether to order a special mayoral election. The losing candidate claims he would have won if not for hundreds of fraudulent absentee votes cast for his opponent, including some cast on behalf of dead voters   | AP                     |   |   |                        |
| Mishandling/Ineligible |                     |                             |                |                             | 3                     |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | Anderson      | Indiana  | 11-Dec-04                      | mayoral          | The longtime Democratic Party chairman in Madison County is accused of illegally delivering absentee ballots cast by two Anderson residents. Another man is accused of 17 Class D felony charges for allegedly registering absentee voters, then telling them how to vote and picking up their ballots. A woman is accused of completing an absentee ballot in September 2003 that listed an address where she did not live. | Indianapolis Star      |   |   |                        |
| Multiple               |                     |                             |                | Court                       | 4                     |                     | Court invalidates 155 ballots        |                      | Yes  | East Chicago  | Indiana  | August 6, 2003, August 8, 2003 | mayoral primary  | It is alleged that city workers were asked to vote absentee, acquire absentee applications, and given paid election day positions for bringing in absentee votes   | Northwest Indiana News | four people indicted, one for receiving absentee ballots for people ineligible to vote, one for failing to appear before the grand jury, and two for voter fraud and lying to the grand jury; county judges tosses out 155 absentee ballots but this does not change the election outcome; DOJ begins investigating | WISH TV, November 18, 2003; Northwest Indiana Times, January 21, 2004 |                        |
| Coercion               |                     |                             | Police         |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  |               | Maine    | 13-Feb-04                      | state house      | Police have begun investigating allegations that elderly voters were pressured into casting absentee ballots for a Green Independent candidate in Maine's special election. Chief Roger Beaupre said Thursday his department has received 10 complaints of voter intimidation from elderly voters who were told votes for candidates other than Green Independent candidate Dorothy Lafortune did not count.                 | AP                     |   |   |                        |
| Coercion               |                     |                             | State Police   |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  | River Rouge   | Michigan | 4-Apr-01                       | mayoral          | state police investigating absentee coercion in a senior apartment building  | Yahoo News             |   |   |                        |

011629

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type:                | Partisan Allegation: | Other Source for Allegation: | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individuals): | Acquittal/Dismittal: | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals): | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges): | City/County:   | State:      | Date:     | Type of Election:                  | Alleged Instance of fraud:  | Original Source:      | Resolution of Incident / allegation:  | Source of Resolution 1:   | Source of Resolution 2: |
|----------------------|----------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------|---|----------------|-------------|-----------|------------------------------------|---|-----------------------|---|---|-------------------------|
| Multiple             |                      |                              | Federal        | Court                       |                       |                      |                                       |                      | Yes   | Detroit        | Michigan    | 8-Nov-05  | mayoral                            | A lawsuit alleges the City Clerk's assistants have allowed voters to fill out ballots in group settings, didn't sign their names on ballot envelopes and advertised their services in nursing homes. She also sent 130,000 unsolicited absentee ballot applications defying a court order.  | Detroit Free Press    | County Circuit Court Judge ruled the Clerk violated the law; There is an election contest and a federal investigation involving irregularities with absentee ballots. | November 9, 2005 Detroit Free Press; November 24, 2005 Detroit Free Press |                         |
| Coercion             | Yes                  |                              |                |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                      | Yes   | Houston        | Mississippi | 10-Nov-05 | mayoral                            | Candidate files a complaint alleging 59 absentee ballots are questionable. He produced a letter from two elderly absentee voters saying they were given plates of food in exchange for allowing his opponent to fill out their ballots.   | AP                    |   |   |                         |
| N/A                  | Yes                  |                              |                |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                      |   | East St. Louis | Missouri    | 19-Sep-04 | gubernatorial                      | The state Democratic Party accused Republicans of coercion when they asked county clerks to send the names of people who had requested absentee ballots   | AP                    |   |   |                         |
|                      |                      |                              | State/Federal  |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                      | Yes   | East St. Louis | Missouri    | 5-Jan-05  | city                               | Investigations by the state attorney and the FBI into unspecified absentee ballot fraud   | Post Dispatch         |   |   |                         |
|                      |                      |                              | Federal        |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                      | Yes   | Tonopah        | Nevada      | 23-Oct-02 | local general and primary election | The FBI investigates questionable absentee ballot requests  | Pahrump Valley Times  |   |   |                         |
| Forgery-Other Voters |                      |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                      |                                       |                      | Yes   | Las Vegas      | Nevada      | 26-Apr-03 | assembly                           | Man is indicted because he voted other people's ballots using absentee voter forms for people who lived outside the district.   | AP                    |   |   |                         |
| Coercion             | Yes                  |                              |                |                             |                       |                      |                                       |                      |   | Atlantic City  | New Jersey  | 31-Oct-01 | Mayoral                            | Mayor Whelan's campaign has alleged that street operatives for the mayor's challenger, Councilman Lorenzo Langford, tricked voters into requesting absentee ballots and then went to their homes to bully them into filling the ballots out for Langford. The Whelan campaign has also alleged that Langford has stockpiled absentee ballots to fill out fraudulently. The Langford campaign yesterday denounced Whelan's actions as a means of suppressing voter rights and said it would file a federal civil-rights lawsuit this week. | Philadelphia Inquirer |   |   |                         |

011630

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type:                | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquittal/Damages | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination?   | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County    | State        | Date      | Type of Election   | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source             | Resolution of incident / allegation:   | Source of Resolution 1:     | Source of Resolution 2: |
|----------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|-------------------|--------------------------------|------------------------|--|----------------|--------------|-----------|--------------------|--|-----------------------------|--|-----------------------------|-------------------------|
| Multiple             |                     |                             | State          |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        | Yes  | Palisades Park | New Jersey   | 6-Nov-02  |                    | The Deputy Attorney General said in a court filing that the prosecutor is investigating four types of irregularities: "1) improprieties in the manner in which voters requested absentee ballots; 2) instances where the voter has stated that they received assistance in voting but that fact is not noted on the voter certification; 3) instances where the absentee ballot was delivered to the Board of Elections by a person other than the one to whom the voter gave the ballot; 4) instances where the voter gave an unmarked ballot to another person." | The Record                  | 276 absentee ballots from the 2002 election in Palisades Park are still impounded in the office of Patricia DiCostanzo, the Bergen County superintendent of elections. | October 4, 2004, The Record |                         |
| Forgery              |                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        | Yes  | Atlantic City  | New Jersey   | 9-Jul-03  | county primary     | Board of elections requests an inquiry into alleged forged absentee ballots  | Atlantic County News        |  |                             |                         |
| Coercion/Forgery     |                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        | Yes  | Passaic        | New Jersey   | 22-Sep-04 | county             | The FBI is investigating charges that voters targeted by a Democratic campaign had their signatures forged or had been pressured or misled into voting absentee  | Heral News (Passaic)        |  |                             |                         |
| Forgery-Other Voters |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        |  |                | New Jersey   | 4-Oct-04  |                    | In the city of Passaic, three dozen voters claimed they'd been victims of absentee ballot fraud in 2003.   | The Record                  |  |                             |                         |
| Coercion             |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                   |                                |                        | Yes  | Albany County  | New York     | 8-Mar-04  | special primaries  | 131 absentee ballots were delivered by a ward leader, leading to vague allegations of coercion. All absentee ballots and machines impounded under a court order  | Albany Times Union          |  |                             |                         |
|                      |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                   |                                | 140 ballots thrown out |  | Albany County  | New York     | 10-Mar-04 | county legislature | One person filled in more than 140 signed absentee ballot applications, and there were other administrative errors in absentee ballot distribution and return. The candidates made a deal before the judge ruled on the case to have a special election; the absentee ballots are not counted  | Albany Times Union          |  |                             |                         |
|                      |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        | Yes  | Haskell        | Oklahoma     | 7-Nov-02  | district attorney  | An absentee ballot scandal is being investigated in Haskell County, where one man allegedly admitted notarizing 42 absentee ballots without having the voters present while another man helped him, the District Attorney said.  | Daily Oklahoman             |  |                             |                         |
| Coercion             |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                   |                                |                        |  | Providence     | Rhode Island | 23-Aug-02 | mayoral            | Elderly woman says strangers coerced her into giving them her ballot   | Providence Journal-Bulletin |  |                             |                         |

011631

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type            | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dissal | Convicted/guilty please (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County        | State          | Date      | Type of Election     | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-----------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------|--|--------------------|----------------|-----------|----------------------|--|-----------------|---|------------------------|------------------------|
| Multiple        |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                  |                                       |                      |  | Senate District 30 | South Carolina | 27-Sep-04 | state senate primary | A person with connections to the Williams campaign nicknamed "The Voter Man" convinced elderly voters, some living in residential care facilities, to fill out absentee ballot registration forms. Some say they never received a ballot, even though records indicate a ballot was cast in their names.* At least one staff member at a Mullins care facility said non-communicative Alzheimer's patients were coaxed into casting absentee ballots.* Another person with ties to the Williams campaign turned in nearly 60 absentee ballots to election officials, many from elderly voters. While not technically illegal, the volume of absentee votes raised eyebrows within the Norwood campaign. As a result of suspected fraud the party ordered a new election and the cases are being criminally investigated. | The State       |   |                        |                        |
|                 |                     |                             | State Federal  |                             |                      | 1                |                                       |                      |  |                    | South Dakota   | 20-Oct-02 | state wide           | several counties forward questionable absentee ballot requests   | Angus Leader    | October 25, 2002: Red Earth Villeda, a former Democratic contractor is investigated; October 27, 2002: State and federal agents target 25 South Dakota counties; October 31, 2002: no illegally cast ballots are found (see South Dakota summary) | Argus Leader           |                        |
| Forgery-Unknown |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                      |                  |                                       |                      | Yes  | Shannon            | South Dakota   | 30-Oct-04 | presidential         | The prosecutor in Fall River County says he will investigate possible multiple voting by absentee ballot. The multiple ballots were cast by fewer than 10 people   | AP              |   |                        |                        |

011632

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type                 | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Diagnosed | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State        | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source          | Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1                      | Source of Resolution 2 |
|----------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|--------------|-----------|------------------|---|--------------------------|--|---|------------------------|
|                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 4                                    | 4                    |  | Sioux Falls | South Dakota | 2-Nov-04  | senatorial       | Three former Republican notary publics pled guilty to signing absentee ballots without witnessing the signatures. Three other former GOP workers are charged, as is one Daschle staff person accused of not being present for two notary applications. Officials say none of the incidents affected any votes | AP                       | A fourth former employee of the South Dakota Republican Party's get-out-the-vote operation has pleaded guilty to improperly notarizing absentee-ballot re-quests, and another who had pleaded not guilty will appear in court next week to change his plea. Six workers for the GOP Victory effort resigned last month after questions surfaced about some absentee-ballot applications collected at college campuses across the state. Charges were filed after officials said the workers notarized applications collected by other workers, violating a state law that requires notaries to witness documents being signed before they can give them their official seal. | November 4, 2004, Argus Leader              |                        |
| Coercion             | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  | Dallas      | Texas        | 10-May-01 | district council | Both candidates accuse the other of manipulating the absentee ballot votes of senior citizens   | Dallas Observer          |  |   |                        |
| Forgery-Other Voters |                     |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | Dallas      | Texas        | 16-May-01 | city council     | Several affidavits alleging mail-in voter fraud have been submitted to the Dallas County district attorney's office, according to election officials. But prosecutors have declined to comment about whether those allegations, or any others, would result in a criminal complaint.                          | Dallas Morning News      | A voter fraud investigation has resulted in the indictment of a Dallas woman who is accused of filling out a mail-in ballot in May without the voter's permission, a Dallas prosecutor said Tuesday.   | February 13, 2002, Fort-Worth Star Telegram |                        |
| Forgery              |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  | Dallas      | Texas        | 27-Jul-02 | district council | A candidate for the council alleged three campaign workers spent Friday reviewing mail-in ballots and applications for the ballots and found at least 69 that they believe might have forged signatures on either document.   | Fort Worth Star-Telegram |  |   |                        |
| Forgery-Unknown      |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | Dallas      | Texas        | 22-Apr-03 | city council     | A candidate submitted 12 absentee ballot applications with forged signatures. The DA is investigating.  | Dallas Morning News      |  |   |                        |

011633

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type                              | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State | Date      | Type of Election                             | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source          | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution 1   | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|---------------|-------|-----------|--|--|--------------------------|---|--------------------------|------------------------|
| Forgery-Other Voters              |                     |                             |                |                             | 17                    |                     | 5                                    |                      |  | Hearne        | Texas | 18-Oct-03 | municipal                                    | Man fined and sentenced to five years probation for voting in the names of three dozen other people by absentee ballot. He is the fifth person to plead guilty to similar charges brought by a grand jury in August.17 were indicted.  | Houston Chronicle        |   |                          |                        |
| Forgery-Unknown                   |                     |                             |                |                             | 30                    |                     |                                      | Yes                  |  | Heame         | Texas | 28-Dec-03 | mayoral                                      | 30 people were indicted for forged absentee ballot applications and sending in multiple absentee ballots   | Star Telegram            |   |                          |                        |
| Forgery-Unknown/Dead/Other Voters |                     |                             |                |                             | 5                     |                     |                                      |                      |  | El Paso       | Texas | 12-Feb-04 | water board                                  | Several mail in ballot requests appeared to be filled out by the same person and a few were in the names of dead people. A precinct chairwoman was charged with four counts of tampering with government records   | Assoc Press              | Five people have been charged with sending in absentee ballot applications in the names of other people | 2/13/2004, El Paso Times |                        |
| Multiple                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  | Hidalgo       | Texas | 3-Mar-04  | miscellaneous, from congress to judge's race | Complaints were made to the Board of Elections against workers for several campaigns of irregularities concerning absentee ballots, including coercion of elderly voters, a complaint that someone requested an absentee ballot for a dead voter; four people said their ballots were already sealed when they received them, and a voter whos absentee ballot that was sent elsewhere   | The Monitor              |   |                          |                        |
| Forgery-Dead                      |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                  |  | Bexar         | Texas | 25-Mar-04 | congressional                                | The names of 42 deceased people, most of whom lived on the South Side, appeared on applications for mail-in ballots that were submitted to election officials for the primaries. A computer at the Bexar County elections office flagged the applications and the district attorney's office is investigating. No ballots appear to have been sent to a dead person as a result of the applications, election officials have said. However, the applications were cited by Henry Cuellar - a Democratic candi-date for the District 28 congressional seat who lost by 145 votes - as one of several concerns that persuaded him to call for a recount this week. The list of applicants includes next-door neighbors, people who never voted when they were alive, and two who died in 1988. | San Antonio Express-News |   |                          |                        |

011634

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type         | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismitted | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County       | State | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source             | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|--------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------------|-------|-----------|------------------|--|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|              |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  |                   |       |           |                  | All but one bear the deceased's correct voter registration number. Each had the correct address and voting precinct, and all indicated the voter was older than 65, which is one of the reasons individuals may obtain a mail-in ballot. But whoever filled out many of the applications didn't alter his or her handwriting on the forms, all of which supposedly were done by the individual voters. Two batches of the falsified documents show clear similarities. |                             |                                     |                        |                        |
| Coercion     |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                      |  | South San Antonio | Texas | 23-May-04 |                  | Elderly voters complain of "vote brokering" whereby "coyotes" pressure them into voting by absentee ballot. Investigators have looked into this in the past, and there has only been one conviction of someone pressuring others to vote absentee.   | San Antonio Express-News    |                                     |                        |                        |
| Forgery-Dead |                     |                             | DA             |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                  |  | Robstown          | Texas | 27-May-04 | school district  | The District Attorney requested a recount of ballots because of many complaints of people filing mail-in ballots sent to homes of people who have died. One of the candidates says that in one instance a wife mailed in the ballot of her husband who just died, and another was a son's vote being mistaken for the father's because they had the same name.   | Corpus Christi Caller-Times |                                     |                        |                        |

011635

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type      | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismittal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State    | Date          | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source             | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1   | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-----------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|----------|---------------|------------------|---|-----------------------------|--|--------------------------|------------------------|
| Multiple  |                     |                             | Police         |                             | 5                    |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | Falfurrias  | Texas    | 11-Sep-04     | city             | After a May 26 recount, Jaime received 501 votes and Martinez wound up with 500 votes. In June, Martinez filed an election contest in district court claiming that "numerous co-conspirators" obtained votes by instructing the voters to cast their ballots for particular candidates. But a criminal investigation into voting violations started before voters cast the final ballots, according to a police report. So far, the criminal investigation has resulted in five felony and one misdemeanor indictments: Santiago Vela was indicted on a bribery charge; Armando Gonzalez, Vanessa Kiser and Roel Mireles were indicted on illegal voting charges; Magdalena Saenz was indicted on an unlawful delivery of a voting certificate charge. One woman, Mima Quintanilla, was indicted on a misdemeanor charge for allegedly filling out a mail-in ballot for a voter without permission. | Corpus Christi Caller-Times |  |                          |                        |
|           | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                      |                      |  | Houston     | Texas    | 11-Nov-05     | mayoral          | Candidate alleges that 64 of the 579 absentee ballots cast in the primary are questionable.   | AP                          |  |                          |                        |
| Tampering |                     |                             | Police         |                             |                      |                     |                                      |                      |  | Hidalgo     | Texas    | 004, March 6, | primary          | Texas Rangers investigate tampering with mail ballots by "politiqueras"   | The Monitor                 |  |                          |                        |
| Coercion  |                     |                             |                |                             | 1                    |                     |                                      |                      | Yes  | Gate City   | Virginia | 2-Aug-05      | mayor            | mayor is indicted on 37 felony counts of voter fraud for coercing choices on absentee ballots   | Roanoke Times               | The former mayor was arraigned in Scott County Circuit Court. He entered not guilty pleas to 18 charges of aiding and abetting in violating the absentee voting process, 17 charges of making a false statement on an absentee ballot application, and two charges of conspiracy. Authorities say he targeted elderly and unsophisticated voters, pressuring them to give false reasons for voting absentee and sometimes filling out their ballots himself. | 8/17/2005, Roanoke Times |                        |

011635

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type:                   | Partisan Allegation: | Other Source for Allegation: | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individuals): | Acquittal/Dissal: | Convicted/guilty (Individuals): | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County: | State:    | Date:     | Type of Election:   | Alleged instance of fraud:  | Original Source:           | Resolution of Incident / allegation: | Source of Resolution 1: | Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|----------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|-------------------|---------------------------------|----------------------|--|--------------|-----------|-----------|---------------------|---|----------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| Forgery-Voters/Coercion |                      |                              | DA             |                             |                       |                   |                                 |                      | Yes  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 5-Mar-03  | county board recall | A police handwriting expert labeled signatures on 60 absentee ballot envelopes suspicious and elections officials and the DA questioned 36 more. The 96 are among 162 that were distributed to 5th District voters by the African American Coalition for Empowerment. The group had residents agree to ask the city to send absentee ballots to their offices rather than directly to the voters. The group then went to the homes, witnessed the votes and returned the ballots. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |                                      |                         |                         |
| Forgery-Other Voter     |                      |                              |                |                             |                       |                   | 1                               |                      |  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 15-Jan-04 | county recall       | A voting rights activist was convicted of three felony counts stemming from his management of an absentee ballot campaign. Although evidence suggested forgery and other mischief, the case turned on one voter registration card. The voter had his signature forged by his girlfriend, and the activist had signed the form as a deputy registrar.  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |                                      |                         |                         |
| Forgery-Unknown         |                      |                              |                |                             |                       |                   | 1                               |                      |  | Milwaukee    | Wisconsin | 20-Feb-04 | county recall       | One person is convicted for forging absentee ballots  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |                                      |                         |                         |

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type: | Partisan Allegation: | Other Source for Allegation: | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal? | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1: | Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------|----------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
|       |                      |                              |                |                             |                      |                      |                                      |                      |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                         |                         |

011638

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charge (individuals) | Acquitted/Dismisssal | Convicted/guilty (individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|      |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                      |                                |                      |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                        |                        |

011639

Absentee

5/9/2007

| Type: | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involved? | Charge (Individuals) | Acquitted/Demission? | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|--|------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|       |                     |                             |                |                          |                      |                      |                                      |                      |  |      |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                        |                        |

011640

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Noncitizen Voting

| City / County   | State          | Date      | Type of Election       | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source          | Source1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|-----------------|----------------|-----------|------------------------|--|--------------------------|---------|----------|----------|
| Maricopa County | Arizona        | 5-Nov-05  |                        | 159 noncitizens were found on the voting rolls. The county recorder said all of the cases involved people who misunderstood voting requirements. The county attorney nonetheless has charged ten of the immigrants with felonies.  | LA Times                 |         |          |          |
| Compton         | California     | 12-Feb-02 | mayor and city council | After an electon legal challenge, two incumbents who originally lost were reinstated. In her ruling, the judge said numerous noncitizens voted illegally.  | Los Angeles Times        |         |          |          |
| Pontiac         | Michigan       | 11-Dec-01 | mayor                  | Losing candidate claims there was "suspect" noncitizen voting  | Detroit Free Press       |         |          |          |
|                 | Minnesota      | 23-Feb-05 | presidential           | Secretary of State Kiffmeyer said that she has asked several county attorneys across Minne-sota to investgate evidence her staff uncovered that suggests some noncitizens illegally registered to vote in the November election. "So far, at least, we have 32 people who have registered to vote and seem to be -- allegedly -- not U.S. citizens," Kiffmeyer said. Some of the 32 also voted in the election. Both registering and voting are illegal for noncitizens. Kiffmeyer said her staff discovered the possible crminal offenses by compar-ing voter registration cards to driver's license records, which now identify noncitizens visiting the United States on visas. | Saint Paul Pioneer Press |         |          |          |
|                 | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 |                        | A Washington-based advocacy group for tougher immigration laws recently said that it believes illegal immigrants may be registered to vote in North Carolina because they were able to sign up when obtaining driver's licenses without Social Security numbers.State elections and Division of Motor Vehicles officials say they've run two checks - one in 2002 and again this year - of people who received driver's li-censes without proof of citizenship and found only a handful who had registered to vote. Those cases are being investigated, they said.   | AP                       |         |          |          |
| Houston         | Texas          | 28-Jan-05 | state house            | Republican representative ousted narrowly by Democratic opponent alleges there was noncitizen voting in the election   | Dallas Morning News      |         |          |          |
|                 | Utah           | 30-Aug-05 |                        | The Attorney General will investigate allegations in a legislative audit that found evidence of fourteen people believed to be noncitizes who have voted in a past election. The auditors office has said that a follow up investigation found that 6 of the 14 were actually citizens, two were confirmed by immigration authorities as having prior deportation orders and the other 6 are still under review. Of the six that were citizens, three had their Social Security numbers mistyped in the database and three were naturalized citizens.  | Desert Morning News      |         |          |          |

011641

011642

011643

011644

011645

| Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |

011646

011647

011648

011649

011650

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

| City / County   | State     | Date      | Type of Election       | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source           | Source1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|-----------------|-----------|-----------|------------------------|---|---------------------------|---------|----------|----------|
| Phenix City     | Alabama   | 31-Aug    | municipal              | The Attorney General and DA are investigating allegations of buying of absentee ballot votes  | Columbus Ledger-Enquirer  |         |          |          |
| Pulaski         | Arkansas  | 29-Aug-02 | US House               | Candidate says opposing campaign's consultant was paying residents of black nursing homes to cast absentee ballots and trying to skew the vote of black voting precincts in some cases.   | Arkansas Democrat-Gazette |         |          |          |
| Washington Park | Illinois  | 17-May-01 | village                | Candidate alleges that one voter was paid not to vote after being paid to vote absentee and two other people, possibly noncitizens, were paid for absentee ballots.   | Belleville News-Democrat  |         |          |          |
| East St. Louis  | Illinois  | 30-Jun-05 | county                 | 5 convicted of conspiring to buy votes with cash, cigarettes and liquor   | Chicago Sun Times         |         |          |          |
| Berrien County  | Indiana   | 16-Apr-05 | city commission        | A Berrien County judge Friday overturned the recall of Glenn Yarbrough in a civil trial against the city of Benton Harbor and Clerk Jean Nesbitt. In his ruling, Judge Paul Maloney said the true will of the people was violated by gross voter fraud in February's recall election. He cited bought votes, forged ballots, and jobs promised in return for "yes" votes, crimes allegedly committed by someone other than Yarbrough. | South Bend Tribune        |         |          |          |
| Clay            | Kentucky  | 24-Oct-02 | county                 | federal prosecutors are investigating absentee vote buying  | Courier Journal           |         |          |          |
|                 | Kentucky  | 6-Nov-02  | primary                | In Knott County, there were nearly a dozen complaints in the primary alleging vote-selling for drugs, said assistant commonwealth's attorney Lori Daniel, but no one has admitted it. She said the attorney general's office has a pending investigation in Knott County. Reports of vote-buying also were reported in Magoffin, Pike and Floyd counties during the primary.  | Courier Journal           |         |          |          |
| London          | Kentucky  | 16-Sep-04 | 2002 Judicial          | Man found guilty of paying $10 each to a group in a church parking lot after voting  | AP                        |         |          |          |
| Winnfield       | Louisiana | 12-Apr-02 | police chief and mayor | Losing candidate accuses opponent of paying ten people to vote  | Daily Town Talk           |         |          |          |
| Marksville      | Louisiana | 15-May-02 | mayoral                | Two men accused of buying votes for small amounts of money  | AP                        |         |          |          |
| Iberville       | Louisiana | 13-Dec-02 | primary                | Iberville Parish Councilman Howard Oubre Jr. and three other Plaquemine residents were arrested Thursday for allegedly paying people to vote absentee in a recent election. Oubre went into the community and solicited people to vote absentee in the Oct. 5 primary election. Oubre allegedly paid these people between $3 and $10  | The Advocate              |         |          |          |
| River Rouge     | Michigan  | 4-Apr-04  | mayoral                | State police are looking into allegations that the mayor's supporters offered payments of up to $25 for absentee votes   | Yahoo News                |         |          |          |

011651

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|                |                |           |              |  |                         |  |  |  |
|----------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|--|-------------------------|--|--|--|
| Ingham         | Michigan       | 6-Oct-04  | presidential | The Michigan Republican Party accused Michael Moore of bribing students to vote in the presidential election. The party sent letter to prosecutors in four counties. As part of his tour, Moore tossed out packets of low-priced instant noodles and 12-packs of Hanes briefs to students who promised they would vote.  | Lansing State Journal   |  |  |  |
| Detroit        | Michigan       | 15-Dec-05 | mayoral      | Detroit's top elections official said Wednesday she is concerned that people may have sold votes on the eve of the city's Nov. 8 election, and said she may ask the Wayne County prosecutor to investigate.Gloria Williams, director of elections for City Clerk Jackie Currie, cited a Nov. 7 incident in which a Detroit man told police he thought he witnessed a scheme to pay people for votes as he stood in line to cast an absentee ballot.Detroit police took a report from the man but closed the case without further contact with the suspects or witnesses. A woman cited in the police report said nothing improper happened - political activists were coordinating with poll workers. Williams said the question is whether the people were required to vote a certain way in exchange for jobs handing out literature and promoting candidates at voting places the next day. | Detroit Free Press      |  |  |  |
| Tippah         | Mississippi    | 27-Mar-04 | sheriff      | Seven people have been charged for buying people's votes on absentee ballots   | AP                      |  |  |  |
| East St. Louis | Missouri       | 2-Jun-05  | mayoral      | A precinct committeeman and four others are on trial, accused of using money from the County Democrats to buy votes  | St. Louis Post-Dispatch |  |  |  |
| Lenoir         | North Carolina | 9-Mar-03  | sheriff      | For $ 10, $ 20 or $ 25, dozens of people -- perhaps more than 300 -- sold their votes in a race that saw a veteran Democratic sheriff turned out of office. The State Bureau of Investigation has been on the case for months, assigning as many as 10 agents to it. The U.S. Attorney's Office in Charlotte is also involved. So far, there have been no indictments.  | News and Observer       |  |  |  |

011652

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|                            |               |           |  |   |                              |  |  |  |
|----------------------------|---------------|-----------|--|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Rosebud Indian Reservation | South Dakota  | 23-Dec-02 | US Senate                              | Republicans investigating Election Day irregularities in South Dakota based allegations of vote buying on rumors discussed on the Rosebud Indian Reservation, says David Norcross, a New Jersey lawyer who presided over the search for fraud. Republicans collected statements on a wide range of events, including accusations of people offering multiple names to vote and improper use of polling places by Democratic workers. The most serious claims, however, were three affidavits signed by Native Americans from the Mission area who said they were offered $10 to vote by the driver of a van with a Tim Johnson for Senate sign in the window. Attorney General Mark Barnett has said that two of those statements were false and the third was suspect, but not before the allegations became the basis of reports in several national media outlets. | Argus Leader                 |  |  |  |
| Pine Ridge Reservation     | South Dakota  | 2-Nov-04  | presidential constitutional amendments | On the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, investigators are looking into Republican allegations of vote-buying. DA is investigating an employer for allegedly giving concert tickets to workers who cast early ballots  | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Gregg                      | Texas         | 9-Sep-03  | mayoral                                | Grand jury is investigating whether "politiqueras" tried to buy absentee ballots   | Tyler Morning Telegraph      |  |  |  |
| McAllen                    | Texas         | 20-Aug-05 | mayoral                                | Ten people were indicted on allegations of telling people who to vote for and unlawful solicitation of ballots for money.  | The Monitor                  |  |  |  |
| Hidalgo                    | Texas         | 22-Dec-05 | mayoral                                | Candidate alleges the opposing campaign bribed some voters with money, beer and cigarettes in exchange for their votes, according to his lawsuit contesting the election   | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Falfurrias                 | Texas         | 11-Sep-04 | city                                   | State police are looking at claims that supporters of a candidate offered food, cigarettes and liquor to residents in a public housing complex for letting the supporter fill out absentee ballots for them  | Corpus Christie Caller Times |  |  |  |
| Appalachia                 | Virginia      | 11-May-05 | council                                | County sheriff pleads guilty to conspiring to buy votes in elections he was running in   | The Post                     |  |  |  |
| Logan                      | West Virginia | 19-Jul-04 | federal primaries                      | 12 people are indicted for selling their votes for $20 or $40.   | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Lincoln                    | West Virginia | 31-May-05 | primary                                | Logan County Clerk plans to plead guilty to conspiring to bribe voters between 1992 and 2002. Prosecutors already have guilty pleas from the county sheriff and the police chief.  | AP                           |  |  |  |
| Logan                      | West Virginia | 29-Nov-05 | various                                | FBI operates a sting operation by putting up a phony candidate to catch a man engaging in buying votes. Man is being tried for conspiracy to buy votes   | Washington Post              |  |  |  |

011653

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|       |               |           |         |  |    |  |  |  |  |
|-------|---------------|-----------|---------|--|----|--|--|--|--|
|       | West Virginia | 1-Jan-06  |         | Thirteen people have been convicted of vote buying in the southern part of West Virginia over the last several years, including the 2004 primaries. However, the federal investigation is ongoing. In terms of cooperating witnesses, prosecutors may also continue to rely on Thomas Esposito. In an apparently unprecedented move, the FBI briefly planted the former longtime Logan mayor as a candidate in a 2004 legislative race. Evidence supplied by Esposito and his 75-day candidacy yielded December guilty pleas from two Logan County residents | AP |  |  |  |  |
| Hanna | Wyoming       | 27-Apr-01 | mayoral | State Division of Criminal Investigation said gratuities, such as alcoholic beverages, were allegedly offered in exchange for votes.   | AP |  |  |  |  |
|       |               |           |         |  |    |  |  |  |  |

011654

011655

011656

011657

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

| Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1   | Source of Resolution 2     |
|--|--|----------------------------|
|  |  |                            |
|  |  |                            |
|  |  |                            |
|  |  |                            |
| 1. August 2003 two acquitted of vote buying in the primary. In June 2003 another man in Lackey was found innocent of vote buying. Two indicted in Knott County pled guilty earlier in August 2003. 15 still under indictment 2. February 3, 2004: Knott County man sentenced to 20 months in prison for vote buying in the 1998 primary. The Knott County Judge-Executive and another man were convicted October 1 of vote buying | August 16, 2003,         Courier Journal   | AP February 3, 2004 |
|  |  |                            |
| 1. Both were convicted. 2. One of the accused had his conviction overturned by the 3rd circuit  | 1. Daily Town Talk,         September 21, 2002 2.         Daily Town Talk, April 3,         2003 |                            |
|  |  |                            |
|  |  |                            |

011658

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|  |   |  |
|--|---|--|
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
|  |   |  |
| 5 Democratic operatives were convicted, four pled guilty | Belleville News Democrat (July 3, 2005) |  |
|  |   |  |

011659

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|   |  |  |
|---|--|--|
| Republican attorneys fanned out across the state on Election Day to gather affidavits to show vote buying. The State Attorney General (a Republican) says that of the 50 affidavits only three alleged criminal activity, and two of those proved to be false. One person is being investigated. Two of the affidavits were found to have been forged or perjurious. Each affidavit states that the person allegedly signing it calimed to have been picked up by a van driver, offered 10 to vote, taken to the polling place and home again and again offered the 10. Most of the allegations focused on the Rosebud Reservation | 1/1/2003, Indian Country Today (Lakota Times) |  |
|   |  |  |
|   |  |  |
|   |  |  |
|   |  |  |
| A special prosecutor was named to oversee an investigation into al-legged vote buying and ballot theft in Appalachia   | Roanoke Times, September 24, 2004             |  |
|   |  |  |
|   |  |  |
|   |  |  |

011660

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Vote Buying

|  |  |                            |
|--|--|----------------------------|
|  |  |                            |
|  |  |                            |
| 1. August 2003 two acquitted of vote buying in the primary. In June 2003 another man in Lackey was found innocent of vote buying. Two indicted in Knott County pled guilty earlier in August 2003. 15 still under indictment 2. February 3, 2004: Knott County man sentenced to 20 months in prison for vote buying in the 1998 primary. The Knott County Judge-Executive and another man were convicted October 1 of vote buying | August 16, 2003,         Courier Journal | AP February 3, 2004 |

011661

011662

011663

011664

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigator? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State    | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|---------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|----------|-----------|------------------|--|---------------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|
| Challenges               | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |               |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Alabama  | 29-Aug-04 | city council     | About 50 challenged ballots in a Bayou La Batre City Council contest have stirred discrimination concerns because they were all demanded from Asian-American voters. Fred Marceaux of Coden, an advocate for the Asian community, called the challenged ballots "scare tactics." By all accounts, the voters were challenged to their faces as they walked into the polling place at the Bayou La Batre Community Center. Being publicly confronted on their first trip to the voting booth visibly up-set many of those who were challenged. Until this year, Asians here have seemed reluctant to step into local politics, preferring to live as a self-contained community for the most part.  | AP                        |                                     |                        |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          |                     | Pollworker/third-party      |               |                             |                       |                     | Yes                                  |                       | Arizona  | 1-Oct-04  | presidential     | A pollworker says that during the primary two men came in and said they were checking the polls to see if illegal aliens were voting. They said the name of their organization was Truth in Action. A voting rights advocate says the group was visiting many poll sites. The editor of the organization's website says he visited the polls wearing a black t-shirt with "US Constitutional Enforcement" on the back and the image of a badge on the front. He carried tools, a camera and a video recorder to "film all the conversations I had." He said that for the general election, if he sees "a busload of Hispanic individuals who didn't speak English and who voted," he plans to follow that bus to make sure they aren't voting more than once.  | The Progressive           |                                     |                        |
| Structural Barrier       |                          |                     |                             |               |                             |                       |                     | Yes                                  |                       | Arizona  | 6-Nov-05  |                  | In Phoenix (Maricopa County) more than 10,000 people trying to register have been rejected for being unable to prove their citizenship. Yvonne Reed, a spokesman for the recorder's office, said that most are probably U.S. citizens whose married names differ from the ones on their birth certificates or who have lost documentation. She hopes the number of rejected voters shrinks as election officials explain the new requirements. But, she said, "there will be an amount of people who we will not be able to get on the rolls because of not being able to find the right documents or just losing interest." In Tucson (Pima County) 60 percent of those who tried to register initially could not. Elections chief Chris Roads said that all appeared to be U.S. citizens, but many had moved to Arizona recently and couldn't access their birth certificates or passports. Many of those prospective voters have since been able to register, but Roads said about 1,000 citizens are still unable to vote in this week's election because of Proposition 200 requirements. | Los Angeles Times         |                                     |                        |
| Challenges               | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |               |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Arkansas | 31-Oct-02 |                  | Slate Democratic Party Chair accuses a Republican poll worker of focusing only on black and elderly voters during his challenges.  | Arkansas Democrat Gazette |                                     |                        |

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation?    | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State       | Date      | Type of Election                  | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source       | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|-------------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------------|-----------|-----------------------------------|---|-----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Polling Place Harassment | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Arkansas    | 6-Nov-02  |                                   | In Arkansas, where voters were allowed to cast their ballots up to two weeks early to lessen the pressure on election day, there were allegations of intimidation in the early voting. Democrats claimed that black voters were photographed as they arrived at polling booths and had their identities subjected to disproportionate scrutiny.         | The Guardian          |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Arkansas    | 30-Dec-02 |                                   | Democrats accused Republican poll watchers of driving away voters in predominantly black precincts by taking photos of them and demanding identification during early voting  | The American Prospect |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | Arkansas    | 17-Nov-04 | presidential                      | DNC Chair says black voters in Arkansas were harassed during early voting   | Ethnic News Watch     |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | California  | 14-Nov-01 | mayoral                           | The ousted mayor's attorney, in a legal challenge to the election, said he intends to show that Perrodin's supporters pulled guns on voters at precincts  | AP                    |                                     |                      |
| Police                   |                          | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | California  | 28-Jan-03 | treasurer and city council recall | The anti-recall camp accuses police officers of harassment and of "staring down" residents.   | Los Angeles Times     |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers              | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | California  | 5-Nov-03  | local                             | Latino community organizer tells city council panel that Latinos have experienced poll workers who intimidate Latinos by illegally asking them to show identification   | Union-Tribune         |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers/ID           | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | California  | 2-Feb-04  | mayoral                           | A group called the People of Color Caucus alleged that some Latinas wearing Gonzalez buttons were told they were not allowed to vote  | Los Angeles Times     |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               |                          | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Colorado    | 28-Oct-04 | presidential                      | Democrats fear what they believe to be a plan by Republicans to challenge new voters, especially students at the University of Colorado at Boulder who may seek to use student IDs as proof of identification at the polls. State GOP brass said they have no such plan.  | Denver Post           |                                     |                      |
| Police                   |                          |                     |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | Connecticut | 11-Nov-02 | congressional                     | U.S. Representative tells Republican registrars to request police supervision at the polls if they are concerned about fraud or disturbance   | The Day Online        |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers              | Yes                      |                     |                             | Federal Observers |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Florida     | 23-May-02 | 2001 special election             | Federal observers found pollworkers downright "hostile" to Hispanics, even insisting that voters must speak English to vote   | St. Petersburg Times  |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               |                          | Yes                 |                             |                   |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | Florida     | 1-Nov-02  |                                   | Citing fears of voter intimidation and a repeat by GOP operatives to "barrage polling places," local Democrats -- including former U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno and U.S. Rep. Carrie Meek -- are suing to block Miami-Dade County from allowing a Republican political action committee to put poll watchers inside the county's precincts Tuesday. | Miami Herald          |                                     |                      |

011665

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                                | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State   | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|---------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Purge                               | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 22-Jun-04 | presidential     | Harkening back to the 1960s, when Southern states used poll taxes and in-limidation to shut blacks out of elections, the Rev. Jesse Jackson on Monday accused Florida Gov. Jeb Bush of engaging in "disenfranchisement schemes" by asking counties to purge felons from voter rolls. "This is a typical South [tactic], denying the right to vote based on race and class," Jackson said. "You see classical voter disenfranchisement. These schemes to deny or suppress voters are not new schemes." | Miami Herald         |                                     |                      |
| Police                              | Yes                      |                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Florida | 19-Sep-04 | presidential     | The Justice Department is investigating accusations that Florida law enforcement officers intimidated elderly black voters during a probe of voting fraud in the Orlando mayoral election. Civil rights groups and Democrats contend that the agents presence and behavior, including allegedly displaying their guns, intimidated the minority voters they visited.  | AP                   |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers/ID                      |                          |                     | Third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 1-Oct-04  | presidential     | Representatives from People for the American Way saw poll workers turn back registered voters who did not have ID, although that is not required. A spokeswoman from Election Protection says that several voters report being asked if they are citizens during early voting.  | The Progressive      |                                     |                      |
| Challenges                          |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 16-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democratic election lawyer says Republican plans to challenge voters at the polls may intimidate voters.  | St. Petersburg Times |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment            |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 25-Oct-04 | presidential     | Two white men were filming voters as they entered the poll site in a presumed attempt at intimidation.  | Financial Times      |                                     |                      |
| Pollsite Intimidation (third-party) |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Florida | 26-Oct-04 | presidential     | The Republican Party distributed to the media affidavits from anonymous voters claiming to be harassed at polling sites in Miami, Pembroke Pines, Boca Raton, Plantation, St. Petersburg, Jacksonville Apopka and Tallahassee.  | Miami Herald         |                                     |                      |
| Multiple                            |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 27-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democratic National Committee (DNC) Chairman Terry McAuliffe has accused Republicans of engaging in "systematic efforts" to disenfranchise voters, imposing unlawful identification requirements on voters, throwing eligible voters off the rolls and depriving voters of their right to cast a provisional ballot.  | Washington Times     |                                     |                      |
| Challenges                          |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Florida | 29-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats have complained that GOP poll watchers will issue challenges in order to slow down the voting process and drive people away from the polls.   | Palm Beach Post      |                                     |                      |

011665

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual(s)) | Acquittal/Dismissal(s) | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual(s)) | Follow-up recommended | State   | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source      | Resolution of Incident / Allegation   | Source of Resolution 1       |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------|--|-----------------------|---------|-----------|------------------|--|----------------------|---|------------------------------|
| Challenges               | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |  |                       | Florida | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats fear Republicans will systematically challenge black and Hispanic voters and create long lines at the polls. The suspicions were fed by reports that Republicans had a list of 1,866 voters they were planning to challenge in predominantly black areas of Jacksonville.  | Orlando Sentinel     | In the Jacksonville area, Republicans say they have a list of 2,663 newly registered voters from mostly Democratic black communities whose registration could be fraudulent. Republicans have said that poll watchers will enforce a portion of Florida law allowing poll watchers to challenge a voter at the polls. The St. Petersburg Times on Thursday quoted Gov. Jeb Bush as saying he would not have a problem with Republican poll watchers challenging the eligibility of voters | The Ledger, October 31, 2004 |
| Challenges               | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                |                             |                         |                        |  | Yes                   | Florida | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | Based on a 1982 consent decree, The Advancement Project filed a lawsuit asking a federal district court in New Jersey to ban GOP poll watcher activities in heavily minority precincts in Florida. The suit contends that in New Jersey, Louisiana, and North Carolina, the RNC sent mass mailers to thousands of voters registered predominantly in black precincts. When thousands were returned because of incorrect addresses, those names went on lists for challenges. The GOP says it has just done a mass mailer to new voters.  | Tampa Tribune        |   |                              |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |  |                       | Florida | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | At one polling station, Republicans claimed that Democratic poll watchers were approaching Republican voters and shouting "There's a dirty Bush supporter!" as they waited on line.  | Ottawa Citizen       |   |                              |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |  |                       | Florida | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democratic poll workers say Republican poll workers are intimidating Kerry supporters, staring at them and refusing to move away if they decline to accept a Bush-Kerry sticker.   | The Boston Globe     |   |                              |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |  |                       | Florida | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | A Republican Party spokesman said elderly voters standing in line at early polling places who refuse to accept Kerry stickers have been harassed with shouts of "Hey, we've got a Bush voter here!" He says Republican poll watchers and volunteers have been "pretty much continually harassed and intimidated."  | The Boston Globe     |   |                              |
| Challenges               | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |  |                       | Florida | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats say Republicans are disproportionately putting poll watchers in predominantly minority precincts and said it could signal plans to intimidate or slow down voters. In Miami-Dade County, Democrats said 59% of predominantly black precincts have at least one Republican poll watcher, while 24% of predominantly white precincts have them. In Leon County, 64% of black precincts have at least one Republican poll watcher compared with 24% of majority white precincts. In Alachua, 71% of black precincts have a Republican poll watcher assigned, while 24% of white precincts do. | St. Petersburg Times |   |                              |

011667

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State   | Date     | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------------|---------|----------|------------------|--|------------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Polling Place Harassment | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                  |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       | Florida | 1-Nov-04 | presidential     | Election Protection reports that Haitian Americans complained that "thugs" had walked along the waiting lines at an early polling site and demanded to see identification, while telling voters they could be deported.  | Cox News Service             |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                              |                | Police Action               |                       |                     |  |                       | Florida | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | Four GOP poll watchers were ejected from the polls by police and another was "threatened by poll workers for telling them to assign voters provisional ballots. These are people without ids or even listed on the voter roll," according to a party statement.  | Boston Globe                 |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       | Florida | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | GOP challengers were monitoring the polls, armed with packets that included color mug shots of felons the party said were improperly included on the voting rolls. At the urging of the Bush campaign, some of the poll watchers were wearing buttons, hats or T-shirts that said "voting rights counselor."   | Washington Post              |                                     |                      |
| Police                   | Yes                      | Yes                 |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | Yes                                    |                       | Florida | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | At Midway Elementary School east of Sanford, a predominantly black voter pre-cinct, Democratic officials complained a large law-enforcement presence intimidated voters. A deputy sheriff assigned to the precinct moved his patrol car, with his police dog inside, after Democrats complained to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office about it being parked at the entrance to the parking lot, where they said there were as many as four deputies at a time. | Orlando Sentinel             |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          |                     |                              |                | Elections officials         |                       |                     |  |                       | Florida | 2-Mar-05 | presidential     | Shouting matches and rowdy behavior forced elections officials across the state to step in to keep the peace. Voters reported being harassed and intimidated at the polls.   | Orlando Sentinel             |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers              |                          |                     | Voters                       |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       | Georgia | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | Many voters said they were denied provisional ballots or had to argue with poll workers to get them.   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |                                     |                      |

011668

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type              | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State   | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|---------|-----------|------------------|--|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges        | Yes                      |                     |                              |                | Court                       |                       |                      |                                      | Yes                   | Georgia | 28-Oct-04 | presidential     | 95 people who make up more than three-quarters of a rural Georgia county's registered Hispanic voters were summoned to a courthouse Thursday to defend their right to vote after a complaint alleged a county commissioner attempted to register non-U.S. citizens. The Atkinson County Board of Registrars, however, dismissed most of the complaint at the beginning of the hearing, saying the case could open the county to charges of violating the Voting Rights Act. Remaining complaints against two voters were dropped when the complainants declined to present any evidence against them. The three men who filed the complaint had said they have evidence a county commissioner attempted to help non-U.S. citizens register so they could vote for him in the July 20 Democratic primary. Lawyers from the ACLU and the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund got involved because the men filed the challenges based on a list they had received from the Board of Registrars of all Hispanics registered in the south Georgia county. Linda Davis, chief registrar in Atkinson County, said she provided the men with a list of the 121 voters on the rolls who listed their race as Hispanic or Mexican. She said the men decided to challenge 95 of them. |                 |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression | Yes                      |                     |                              | Federal        |                             |                       |                      |                                      | Yes                   | Indiana | 21-Apr-04 | mayoral          | The Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund filed a federal law-suit last October alleging that election officials conspired to persuade Hispanics to vote by absentee ballot and limit their access to the polls in the 2003 Democratic primary. The U.S. Attorney's Office is investigating similar allegations. The lawsuit seeks to overturn the election of Mayor Robert Pastrick, who de-feated challenger George Pabey, who is of Puerto Rican descent.  | AP              |                                     |                      |

011669

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type        | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State    | Date      | Type of Election     | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source         | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------------|----------|-----------|----------------------|---|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Suppression | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       | Indiana  | 7-Oct-04  | presidential         | Persistent warnings about terrorism also have drawn skepticism from some Democratic election officials and civil rights advocates who have accused the Republican White House of creating a climate of fear that, among other things, could suppress voter turnout. Heavy voter turnout historically has favored Democrats in U.S. elections. Some local officials in Indiana accused Secretary of State Todd Rokita, a Republican, of trying to intimidate voters after he asked election clerks to develop responses to "an immediate and present danger." Engy Abdelkader, civil rights director for the Council on American-Islamic Relations, says that Arab-Americans and other minorities could choose to stay away from the polls if they believe that federal agents will be questioning people there. | USA Today               |                                     |                      |
| Challenges  |                          |                     |                             |                | Police Action               |                       |                     |  |                       | Kentucky | 29-May-02 | county clerk primary | A poll worker, Jeff Farmer, was stationed at Horse Creek Elementary School as a "challenger," someone who observes the process and can ask voters to prove identities or addresses. The sheriff said Farmer was warned after interfering with voters. "I told him to sit his ass down," Jordan said. When Farmer went outside about 10:30 a.m. and began "pulling voters out of line," according to Jordan, a sheriff's deputy told him to leave or face arrest. Farmer had a different version of events, saying he went out to smoke and wasn't allowed back in.  | Lexington Herald Leader |                                     |                      |
| Challenges  | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       | Kentucky | 31-Oct-03 | gubernatorial        | A flyer written and distributed by the Republican in charge of recruiting poll workers asserts that in three previous races the NAACP and the Philip Randolph Institute have targeted "poor, black voters" and encouraged them to "commit voter fraud." Civil rights leaders say this shows that the Republican plan to put challengers in predominantly African American poll sites is racially based. The Republican County chair had announced that Republicans would place challengers at 59 precincts that were either chosen at random or because there were too few election workers.   | The Courier-Journal     |                                     |                      |

011670

Intimidation and Suppression

6/9/2007

| Type           | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State     | Date     | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution                  |
|----------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------|----------|------------------|--|---------------------------|--|---------------------------------------|
| Challenges     | Yes                      |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Kentucky  | 2-Nov-03 | gubernatorial    | Black voters in Louisville sued Friday over a Republican plan to put vote "challengers" in dozens of black precincts   | AP                        | A judge turned down a request Monday to block Republican poll challengers from observing Tuesday's election in predominantly black neighborhoods of the city. Jefferson County Circuit Judge Thomas Wine denied a restraining order sought by the American Civil Liberties Union of Kentucky, which claimed the poll watchers could intimidate minority voters or slow voting. The ACLU also filed suit in federal court seeking to bar the poll challengers, but there has been no hearing.   | AP, November 4, 2003                  |
| Challenges     | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Kentucky  | 4-Nov-03 | gubernatorial    | Republicans plan to deploy "a small army" of challengers in Jefferson County. Critics say the mobilization of mostly white challengers in poorer minority districts is intended to intimidate. Black leaders held a rally decrying the Republican initiative.  | Christian Science Monitor | Precinct workers in western Louisville and Newburg reported no problems with Republican vote challengers and predicted a high voter turnout yesterday - in contrast to fears that the challengers would intimidate black voters and keep them from the polls. Even as the number of targeted precincts dropped to 18 because of staffing and training issues, the controversy drew national attention, with the Democratic National Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sending personnel to help organize a get-out-the-vote effort. The NAACP also stationed volunteers outside polling places to ensure that voters were treated fairly. | The Courier Journal, November 5, 2003 |
| Challenges     | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Kentucky  | 3-Aug-04 | presidential     | A group of Republicans called on the county party chair to resign because of plans to use voter challengers in the election. In 2003, the party used Republicans from across the county to watch voting in 18 predominantly Democratic districts - most of them with large numbers of black voters.  | Courier Journal           |  |                                       |
| Police         |                          |                     |                             | Police         |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Louisiana | 7-Oct-03 | sheriff          | Tangipahoa Parish Sheriff Ed Layrisson said Monday he has suspended two deputies while his office investigates allegations of public intimidation against them. The deputies were at a polling place Saturday and allegedly asked several people in a group how they planned to vote in the sheriff's race, authorities said. The deputies "have adamantly denied the allegation," Layrisson said. He said the deputies were not in uniform, but were carrying their badges and weapons. | The Advocate              |  |                                       |
| Pollworkers/ID |                          |                     | third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Louisiana | 2-Nov-04 | presidential     | Louisiana Election Protection says it received many complaints of voters being denied the right to vote if they did not have a drivers license.  | AP                        |  |                                       |

011671

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                          | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State         | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|---------------|-----------|------------------|---|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Police                        |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Maryland      | 5-Nov-02  | gubernatorial    | The Democratic National Committee filed a lawsuit seeking to prevent the Ehrlich campaign from using off-duty police officers as poll workers. The Democrats dropped the action when the campaign agreed the officers would not wear uniforms, badges or sidearms or identify themselves as police officers.  | Washington Post |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression             |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Maryland      | 6-Nov-02  | statewide        | In Maryland, David Paulson, the director of communications for the state Democratic Party, charged that signs saying voters needed photo identification to vote had been "illegally" or "extralegally" placed by the Board of Elections in Prince George's County, just outside of Washington. Photo identification has never been required for voters there, he said.  | UPI             |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment      | Yes                      |                     |                             |                | City                        |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Massachusetts | 12-Mar-05 |                  | In 2002, there were allegations that Russian and Chinese voters were being told how to vote by translators in a Brighton precinct that is home to the Jewish Community Housing for the Elderly complex on Wallingford Road. After those allegations, the city changed the rules at the polling place located there: Now, no resident of the building is allowed to work as an elections official there.   | Boston Globe    |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression/Pollworkers | Yes                      |                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     | Yes                                  |                       | Massachusetts | 30-Jul-05 |                  | In a lawsuit filed yesterday, the Justice Department alleges that the city and its poll workers interfered with voters' rights by "improperly influencing, coercing, or ignoring the ballot choices of limited English proficient Hispanic and Asian-American voters" and of generally "abridging" their voting rights by treating Hispanic and Asian voters disrespectfully at the polls and by failing to provide adequate translation services for them. | Boston Globe    |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers                   | Yes                      |                     |                             | Third-party    |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Massachusetts | 18-Aug-05 | presidential     | A survey by the Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund found 10 voters who had been turned away because their names were not on the rolls and who were not offered provisional ballots as required by law.   | Boston Globe    |                                     |                      |

011672

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type       | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State    | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source         | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|----------|-----------|------------------|--|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges | Yes                      |                     | Precinct Chair              |                | Police                      |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Michigan | 6-Nov-02  |                  | Trouble was reported at Bowen Recreation Center in Pontiac, where police were called after voters and election workers complained that a Republican Party volunteer was harassing people. Precinct chairwoman Linda Nichols said the woman, who identified herself as Teresa Sayer, came to the poll after leaving another location where voters had complained that she was questioning whether they were eligible to vote."She would be behind the shoulder of the poll worker telling them what they could and could not do," Nichols said. "She even got behind the voter when they were going into the voting booth, asking them if they had identification." State election officials say challengers are not allowed to talk directly to voters but can question the veracity of a voter with poll chairpersons. State Republican officials denied that the woman was intimidating voters at the polling place. The precinct, on Bagley near Orchard Lake, is heavily Democratic and black. | Detroit News            |                                     |                      |
| Other      | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Michigan | 18-Sep-04 | presidential     | Democrats were outraged when Republican state representative John Pappageorge was quoted in July as warning that "if we do not suppress the Detroit vote, we're going to have a tough time in this election." Detroit is 83% black.  | San Francisco Chronicle |                                     |                      |
| Challenges | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Michigan | 4-Nov-04  | presidential     | Reggie Turner, a Detroit lawyer with the Kerry campaign, complained of voter intimidation by GOP challengers at Detroit sites."The documented incidents of intimidation and harassment that we have in our files are right out of the stories regarding harassment and intimidation in the South in the 1950s and 1960s," Turner said GOP challengers harassed people in line to vote, requesting identification when they had no right to, and had lists of voters "they intended to challenge without any legal basis for such challenges."The GOP's Paolino said the lists were of newly registered Detroit voters to whom the GOP had sent mailings that came back from the post office as address unknown   | Detroit Free Press      |                                     |                      |

011673

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                                | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State     | Date     | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source        | Resolution of incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution                |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------|----------|------------------|--|------------------------|---|-------------------------------------|
| Challenges                          | Yes                      |                     | Third-party                 |                | Federal Court               |                      |                     |                                    |                       | Michigan  | 8-Nov-05 | mayoral          | The NAACP has received more than 100 complaints including ones involving intimidation at the polls. There were many fights between challengers and poll workers.   | Detroit Free Press     | A US District judge ordered all political parties to refrain from talking to voters at the polls. The ruling came in response to a suit filed by the Detroit NAACP which said it had received complaints from 19 polling places that state and national GOP poll monitors were harassing voters. Republicans disputed the claim. The suit charged GOP workers were harassing voters in violation of a state law that prohibits challengers from talking to voters. The suit also said the watchers challenged the eligibility of Detroit voters to cast ballots, prompting some to leave without voting. The Detroit NAACP president said it was an attempt to reduce the black vote in next years state and congressional elections. | November 9, 2003 Detroit Free Press |
| Challenges                          | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |                |                             |                      |                     | Yes                                |                       | Minnesota | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | Republicans systematically challenged a group of voters brought in by a nonprofit group and a group from a shelter. At another site, a minority group advocate accused a Republican challenger of intimidating American Indian and black voters.   | Duluth News-Tribune    |   |                                     |
| Pollsite Intimidation (third-party) |                          |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                     |                                    |                       | Minnesota | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | Secretary of State Kiffmeyer said her office received about 140 complaints about MoveOn. Minnesota Republican Party leaders tried and failed to get a restraining order against the MoveOn organization, which they accused of stationing activists too close to polling places Tuesday. But the judge disagreed. "The evidence has consisted almost entirely of hearsay," said Hennepin County District Judge Francis Connelly after a two-hour hearing Tuesday afternoon.        | St. Paul Pioneer Press |   |                                     |
| Challenges                          | Yes                      |                     | Local Officials             |                |                             |                      |                     | Yes                                |                       | Minnesota | 3-Nov-04 | presidential     | Officials in Beltrami County and throughout the Twin Cities reported seeing poll challengers increasingly focused on polling places with particularly heavy populations of specific groups. Examples of those specific groups were college students, Indians on reservations, minorities or the homeless. In one case, the chairman of a Minnesota Indian tribe accused Republican poll challengers of intimidating legitimate voters by aggressively challenging their residency. | Star Tribune           |   |                                     |

011674

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                                   | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquittals/Dismissals | Convicted / guilty pleas (individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source     | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|--|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|--|-----------------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|--|---------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges                             | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |                | Police Action               |                       |                       |  |                       | Minnesota | 22-Mar-05 | presidential     | A get out the vote activist and an election judge say that a Republican operative improperly challenged so many Indian voters at the reservation on Election Day that the challenger eventually was removed by tribal police. Director of Minnesota Election Protection 2004 said that most of the 46 complaints that her group forwarded to the national database had to do with "overzealous partisan challengers." The challenges were often based "on the way a person looked" or the fact that the person was not speaking English. | Star Tribune        |                                     |                      |
| Challenges                             | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                       |  |                       | Missouri  | 28-Oct-04 | presidential     | Civil rights groups accuse the Republican Party of hiring hundreds of poll challengers as part of an effort to suppress the black vote in St. Louis. The Republican Party strongly denies this.  | AP                  |                                     |                      |
| N/A                                    |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                       |  | Yes                   | national  | 15-Oct-04 | presidential     | The Justice Department is ill prepared to handle a large influx of complaints about voting rights violations in the Nov. 2 presidential election, according to a report released yesterday by the Government Accountability Office. The Justice Department "lacks a clear plan" to reliably document and track allegations in a manner that could allow monitors to swiftly pick up patterns of abuse and take corrective steps, according to the GAO. Congress's nonpartisan investigative arm.   | Washington Post     |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment (third-party) |                          | Yes                 |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                       |  | Yes                   | national  | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | Republicans filed complaints with courts about poll monitors from the liberal group Moveon.org "intimidating" voters in New Hampshire, Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado and Michigan - all close states. Moveon.org's Eli Pariser said the GOP charges were intended to "create a false and distorted record to assist them in any legal challenges."   | New York Daily News |                                     |                      |

011675

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type           | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State    | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Resolution of Incident / Allegation | Source of Resolution |
|----------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|----------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Pollworkers/ID | Yes                      |                     |                             | third-party    |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | national | 4-Nov-04  | presidential     | Racial slurs from election workers, missing bilingual ballots and unwarranted demands to check voter identification turned away Asian American voters across the nation, according to reports by the Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund. "There were racist remarks in New York City -- poll workers were blaming them for holding up the lines. One of them said, 'You Oriental guys are taking too long to vote,'" she said. Although the legal fund continues to tally its exiting poll surveys and has no firm estimate for the number of incidents, Fung said repeated requests from poll workers to check identification hindered the high turnout of Asian American voters. With their patience worn thin by the inadequacy of their voting site, many simply left without voting. In polling sites across Detroit, University of Michigan student volunteers monitoring the polling sites said they not only encountered deficient polling sites, but also challengers from the Republican Party deliberately aiming to drive voters away through tactics of intimidation.                         | University Wire      |                                     |                      |
| N/A            | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                       | national | 18-Jan-05 | presidential     | In his first high-profile address since conceding the presidential election, Senator John F. Kerry decried what he called the suppression of thousands of would-be voters last November. "Thousands of people were suppressed in their efforts to vote. Voting machines were distributed in uneven ways," he told an enthusiastic audience of 1,200. "In Democratic districts, it took people four, five, 11 hours to vote, while Republicans [went] through in 10 minutes. Same voting machines, same process, our America," Kerry said. Critics of the election process in Ohio say there were not enough voting machines in urban, Democrat-leaning precincts, leading to long lines that dissuaded many voters from casting ballots. In some cases, polls were held open after the announced closing time to allow everyone in line to vote, but some left without voting after standing in line for hours. Some blacks in particular have also charged that there were organized efforts to send voters to the wrong voting places, and troubling disparities in the way voting machines counted Democratic votes. | Boston Globe         |                                     |                      |
| Challenges     |                          |                     | third-party                 | DA             |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Nevada   | 23-Oct-02 | local            | A group called "Concerned Citizens for Fair Elections" filed 1,200 voter challenges, nearly 200 of which were duplicates or triplicates of the same challenge; 220 were improper; several of those who signed the challenges under penalty of perjury said they never inspected the residence they claimed was abandoned or not occupied by a registered voter. District Attorney investigates whether there was perjury  | Pahrump Valley Times |                                     |                      |

011676

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source     | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|------------|-----------|------------------|--|---------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|
| Challenges               |                          |                     | BOE                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Nevada     | 1-Oct-04  | presidential     | The registrar says an official of the Republican Party came to his office with a small group asking how to launch a "full scale program for challenging voters."   | The Progressive     |                                     |                        |
| Challenges               |                          | Yes                 |                             |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Nevada     | 29-Oct-04 | presidential     | An effort by a former Nevada GOP operative to question 17,000 Democratic voters in Las Vegas was rejected earlier this month by election officials there   | Washington Post     |                                     |                        |
| Pollworkers/Intimidation |                          |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Jersey | 26-Jun-01 | municipal        | A court appointed election monitor found that in the May 8 election violations included refusing to provide provisional ballots and intimidation of voters by candidates' representatives  | New York Times      |                                     |                        |
| Suppression              | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Jersey | 6-Nov-01  | US Senate        | Hispanic and black residents in the city of Passaic receive postcards in the mail warning of "armed law enforcement officers" at the polls and fines or prisons for anyone violating voting laws   | The Record          |                                     |                        |
| Suppression              | Yes                      |                     |                             |                | Federal Monitor             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Jersey | 4-Dec-01  | sheriff          | The federal monitor found that the weekend before Election Day, Passaic city voters received a mass mailed post card reminding them that "armed law enforcement officers" would be policing the polls. The cards inferred they were official and cited the name of the monitor. He said they seemed aimed at minority voters   | The Record          |                                     |                        |
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                             |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Jersey | 27-Oct-04 | presidential     | A resident files challenges of 56 county residents whose voter confirmation cards sent from the Board of Elections were returned undeliverable. He withdrew 47 of his challenges and the board denied the other eight. The county Republican chair said that the state Republican Party directed counties to challenge suspect voters such as those who have an address where voter confirmation cards could not be delivered.   | Newark Advocate     |                                     |                        |
| Challenges               |                          | Yes                 |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Jersey | 9-Nov-05  | statewide        | The state Democratic Party won an Injunction in the Superior Court in Passaic County, with the judge issuing a statewide order barring any challenger from disputing any voter's ability to vote based on the voter's signature. The Democrats said they heard numerous complaints about GOP challengers interfering in the signature comparison process.  | Star Ledger         |                                     |                        |
| State Suppression        |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | New Mexico | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | At a special meeting Tuesday, Sandoval County commissioners voted 3-1 against opening an additional early voting site in Rio Rancho. Commissioners cited a short time line and legal questions in voting against the poll. The commission called the meeting after Republican legislative candidates and the mayor of Rio Rancho complained that the lack of an early voting site in the city disenfranchised voters. "The combination of an incompetent county clerk and highly partisan Democrat commission has allowed disenfranchisement of the fourth largest city in New Mexico," said Whitney Cheshire, a spokeswoman for New Mexico Victory. | Albuquerque Journal |                                     |                        |

011677

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended? | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source        | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|---|------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Suppression              | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                        | New Mexico     | 25-Oct-04 | presidential     | In a mass mailing, the Republican National Committee is citing Hispanic voter registration campaigns as proof that "Democrats...will cheat in order to win." Hispanic advocates say this is designed to suppress Hispanic voting.   | Washington Post        |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          |                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                    | New Mexico     | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | In New Mexico, a Republican poll watcher videotaped a man as he left a polling station after casting a provisional ballot on Saturday, said Secretary of State Rebecca Vigil-Giron, a Democrat. Vigil-Giron said Republicans argued they wanted to record the voter's face for a possible legal challenge. Federal officials were investigating, she said.  | Chicago Tribune        |                                     |                      |
| Suppression              |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                        | New York       | 31-Oct-05 | mayoral          | Democratic candidate sends a letter to the Department of Justice complaining of Republican election day plans to man some polls with off-duty corrections officers, calling it a bid to intimidate voters.  | New York Daily News    |                                     |                      |
| Intimidation             | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     | Yes                    | North Carolina | 27-Oct-04 | presidential     | The head of the Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund says the sheriff gave a list of registered Hispanic voters to immigration authorities to check their status. The sheriff "also threatened to go door-to-door personally with his department to ensure that immigration status was checked and make sure there was no 'perception of fraud by Latinos'"  | Agence France Presse   |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers/ID           |                          |                     |                             |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                     |                        | North Carolina | 29-Oct-04 | presidential     | In southeast Charlotte, Elections Director Michael Dickerson told poll workers at the Morrison Regional Library to stop asking people waiting to cast early votes to get identification cards ready. Richard Friedman, an unaffiliated voter who is volunteering with the Kerry campaign, complained after elections staff told people standing in line to get their driver's license or voter registration card ready. Most N.C. voters are not required to show ID when they vote, and no one asked for it when voters got in to cast ballots, Friedman said. | Charlotte Observer     |                                     |                      |
| Police                   |                          |                     | Elections Officials         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                        | Ohio           | 6-Sep-04  | presidential     | Ohio polling sites plan to add security, which some election officials believe will intimidate voters and poll workers  | Columbus Dispatch      |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression        |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                        | Ohio           | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats believe the Secretary of State's order that people who appear to vote in the wrong precinct should not be allowed a provisional ballot and the unnecessary purging of voter rolls, and the Republicans' checking of new registrants are designed to intimidate voters into staying home.  | Columbus Dispatch      |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                     |                        | Ohio           | 23-Oct-04 | presidential     | Republicans filed a challenger list in 191 precincts -- many of them in largely black neighborhoods around Dayton. Republicans say it is to prevent vote fraud  | Cleveland Plain Dealer |                                     |                      |

011678

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Accusatorial/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of Fraud  | Original Source        | Resolution of Incident / Allegation  | Source of Resolution                |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|------------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------|--|-------------------------------------|
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                        |                                     |                       | Ohio  | 23-Oct-04 | presidential     | Republicans formally challenged the validity of 35,000 voter registrations across the state  | Cleveland Plain Dealer | After a court fight, scheduled hearings on the challenges were canceled, but voters still received mail notifying them they were being challenged.       | January 7, 2005, Columbus Dispatch  |
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                             |                | BOE                         |                      |                        |                                     |                       | Ohio  | 24-Oct-04 | presidential     | Dozens of Republican challenges to newly registered voters in Franklin County will be tossed out because they were not properly filed, a local elections official said yesterday. An initial review of 50 challenge forms filed by GOP activists shows 40 with an incorrect ward or precinct listed for the voter, said Michael Hackett, deputy director of the Franklin County Board of Elections. He said such mistakes will nullify requests to have people removed from the list of eligible voters. Voters whose eligibility is challenged need to prove Thursday that they're registered at their correct address. If they don't show up, elections board members can decide whether to keep them on the rolls. Franklin County Republican Chairman Doug Preisse said his party's challenges of voters' eligibility is not an attempt to deny legitimately registered people the right to cast a ballot. In Franklin County, beyond the challenges with incorrect information, it appears Republicans included some legitimately registered voters, including members of the military. | Columbus Dispatch      |  |                                     |
| Challenges               | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                        |                                     | Yes                   | Ohio  | 29-Oct-04 | presidential     | In a lawsuit, a voter and Democrats contend Republican challenges to voters around Cleveland and Columbus are designed to keep poor and minority voters from voting.   | AP                     |  |                                     |
| Challenges               | Yes                      |                     | third-party                 |                |                             |                      |                        |                                     |                       | Ohio  | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | Jeff Ganso of the ACLU said in Hamilton County, 250 of 251 precincts targeted by Republicans with challengers are majority African-American precincts.   | Toledo Blade           |  |                                     |
| Challenges               |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                        |                                     |                       | Ohio  | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats accuse Republicans of using challengers to suppress voter turnout. Republicans will not allow the press to attend training sessions.   | Cleveland Plain Dealer |  |                                     |
| Challenges               | Yes                      |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                        |                                     |                       | Ohio  | 1-Nov-04  | presidential     | In a lawsuit in Hamilton County, civil rights activists say GOP challenges are discriminatory because they were filed disproportionately in precincts with a majority of black voters. A civil rights group seeks to block challengers in Ohio by arguing they violate a 1981 national order prohibiting the Republican National Committee from trying to intimidate black voters.   | Columbus Dispatch      | District court judges blocked the challenges because they could cause delays, confusion and intimidation. 6th Circuit overturns the lower court rulings. | Columbus Dispatch, November 2, 2004 |
| Polling Place Harassment |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                        |                                     | Yes                   | Ohio  | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | In Lucas County, Ohio, Republicans asked a judge to bar poll monitors from wearing "Voter Protection Staff" and "Voting Rights Staff" armbands from polling spots.   | New York Daily News    |  |                                     |

011679

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type              | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State  | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source           | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|--------|-----------|------------------|---|---------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges        |                          |                     |                             | Federal        | BOE                         |                       |                      |                                      | Yes                   | Ohio   | 5-Nov-04  | presidential     | The Board of Elections threw out 976 of the challenges filed by the Republican Party without prejudice after a volunteer who brought the challenges revealed she did not have any personal information about the eligibility of the challenged voters. A member of the Board told the volunteer she could be indicted for signing a sworn challenge without personal knowledge of eligibility. The Board has indicated they plan to call the Department of Justice to conduct a criminal investigation of the challenges.   | Philadelphia Tribune      |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Ohio   | 11-Dec-04 | presidential     | Because blue-collar and lower-income workers tend to vote Democratic, the long lines in Akron and other urban areas fueled suspicion of a deliberate tactic to hold down the turnout -- especially in largely African-American precincts -- for presidential challenger John Kerry.   | Akron Beacon Journal      |                                     |                      |
| Multiple          | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Ohio   | 23-Jun-05 | presidential     | Blacks and young voters in Ohio faced widespread voter suppression - mostly because of long lines and improper identification checks - during last year's presidential election, according to a new Democratic Party report. DNC Chairman Howard Dean said that while it's unclear whether the suppression was intentional or whether it influenced the election results, the party's five-month, $250,000 investigation showed that 28 per-cent of Ohio voters - and twice as many black voters - reported facing challenges on Election Day. "You have a particular ethnic group that has to wait three times as long as other voters, then clearly there is something going on that is aimed at particular precincts," Dean said blacks waited an average of 52 minutes to vote while white voters waited about 18 minutes. It also found that 37 percent of Ohio voters reported being asked for identification. Ohio law requires only new voters to produce identification, and new registrants accounted for 7 percent of all voters. Blacks and voters under 30 were asked for ID's at higher rates than other voters. | The Cincinnati Enquirer   |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Ohio   | 23-Jun-05 | presidential     | Long lines were caused by the scarcity of voting machines in a number of precincts, particularly in minority areas, a report by the DNC on the election in Ohio says.   | Washington Post           |                                     |                      |
| Intimidation      |                          |                     | Election Officials          |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Oregon | 21-Oct-04 | presidential     | Officials are concerned about voter intimidation at ballot drop-off sites the evening of the Nov. 2 deadline. A Republican manual instructs GOP volunteers to take video cameras. Party officials say this is to make sure no ballots are collected after the 8 pm cutoff, but Democrats worry that it could frighten away some voters.   | Christian Science Monitor |                                     |                      |

011680

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                                  | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigator? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittals/Dismissals | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended? | State        | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source         | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|---------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|--|------------------------|--------------|-----------|------------------|--|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges                            |                          | Yes                 |                             |               |                             |                       |                       |  |                        | Pennsylvania | 6-Nov-02  | statewide        | Democrats in the state are concerned about Operation Swarm and Storm – the name they say was given to an effort by the George Gekas campaign to challenge voters based on old information. A pamphlet was allegedly prepared by the campaign, which instructed Republican poll workers to challenge voters who had recently moved to new districts. The laws had been changed, however, and such challenges could have been wrongly made. Voters in some districts were also challenged to produce identification, charged state Democratic Party spokeswoman Mia DeVane. Voters she said need only provide a matching signature to vote in the state.   | UPI                     |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harrassment/Pollworkers |                          |                     |                             | Police/local  | Court                       |                       |                       |  |                        | Pennsylvania | 5-Nov-03  | mayoral          | Complaints filed with the police, the district attorney's office, and the Committee of Seventy alleging physical violence, harassment and intimidation were the highest in modern history. The DA's office reported it had received at least 171 complaints, nearly quadruple the 41 complaints of four years ago. Most charged that voters and poll workers had been intimidated or interfered with. Inspector William Colarulo said the Police Department had received at least 110 complaints, most dealing with simple assaults, vandalism and disturbances. In the course of the day, Common Pleas Judge Benjamin Lerner signed two orders directing Republican workers at polling places in Germantown and North Philadelphia to stop demanding identification from people showing up to vote. | Philadelphia Daily News |                                     |                      |
| Challenges                            |                          |                     |                             |               |                             |                       |                       |  |                        | Pennsylvania | 26-Oct-04 | presidential     | Republican Representative John Perzel, speaker of the state house, told US News and World Report that "The Kerry campaign needs to come out with humongous numbers here in Philadelphia. Its important for me to keep that number down." At the same time, he said campaign workers are examining voting records for evidence of Democrats registering more than once or otherwise violating election rules. An aide to Perzel said challengers will have lists of questionable registrations at the polls.  | AP                      |                                     |                      |
| Pollsite Location                     | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |               |                             |                       |                       |  |                        | Pennsylvania | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | In Philadelphia, Republicans unsuccessfully sought last week to change locations of 63 polling places, contending that their placement in closed bars or in homes would intimidate voters. Democrats pointed out that most of those locations were in minority neighborhoods and branded the move an effort to suppress black votes.   | Philadelphia Inquirer   |                                     |                      |

011691

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type              | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individual(s)) | Acquittal/Dismissal(s) | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual(s)) | Follow-up recommended | State        | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source       | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------|--------------|-----------|------------------|--|-----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges        |                          |                     | BOE                         |                |                             |                         |                        |                                       |                       | Pennsylvania | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | Philadelphia's voter-registration administrator cried foul last night over a letter sent from the state GOP to judges of elections, the men and women who run the city's 1,681 polling places. He said the letter had wrongly instructed those poll workers to check and compare voters' various signatures "at will." He pointed to state law, which limits such checks to prevent long voting delays. State Republicans released additional details yesterday from their list of 10,000 letters to Philadelphia voters that they said were returned as undeliverable. They said they would use this list to challenge voters at the polls today. Counsel to the state Republican Party said there were multiple reports yesterday that elderly voters in Lancaster and York Counties in Central Pennsylvania - an area the Bush campaign has been heavily courting - got phone calls telling them they would not be allowed to vote and urging them not to show up at the polls. | Philadelphia Inquirer |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers       |                          |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                         |                        |                                       |                       | Pennsylvania | 3-Nov-04  | presidential     | While overwhelmed poll workers pushed provisional ballots on some voters who should not have been using them, other voters who could have used provisional ballots were being turned away. In Allentown, about 10 lawyers and community activists rushed to the Salvation Army building on North Eighth Street to challenge poll workers who were stopping about eight people whose names were not in the registration list.   | Morning Call          |                                     |                      |
| State Suppression |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |                                       |                       | Pennsylvania | 4-Nov-04  | presidential     | There were long lines throughout the state, leading voters to wait for several hours in order to vote. Some voters waited into the night in order to vote. Some reportedly left without voting.  | Philadelphia Inquirer |                                     |                      |
| Police            |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                         |                        |                                       |                       | Pennsylvania | 8-Dec-04  | presidential     | In Philadelphia, some voters were sent to police stations to cast provisional ballots, House Minority Whip Steny H. Hoyer (D-Md.) told a voting rights forum. "Clearly an intimidation," he said.  | Los Angeles Times     |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers       |                          |                     | Voters                      |                | BOE                         |                         |                        |                                       |                       | Pennsylvania | 24-Apr-05 | presidential     | The Board of Elections fired three elections officials because of charges they intimidated Democratic voters. One voter said a poll worker was aggressive in challenging his eligibility. Another said a worker yelled at her and then grabbed her arm and forced her out of the polling place because she was wearing a Kerry button.   | Lancaster Sunday News |                                     |                      |

011682

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type        | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges  | Yes                      |                     |                             |                | Court                       |                      |                     |                                     | Yes                   | South Carolina | 5-Nov-02  |                  | Voters in Beaufort County who only have rural route addresses or post office box numbers on their voter registration cards might face problems at the polls today, a federal lawsuit filed in Charleston late Monday alleges. The lawsuit said that poll workers could challenge these voters' ballots, and that if this happens, black voters would be disproportionately affected. The chair of the election commission said poll workers will ask these voters to identify exactly where they live, possibly by having them point out their homes on a map. He said the purpose of doing this is not to discourage or embarrass the voter, it's to ensure they get the correct ballot. He said if there is any confusion, voters will be given failsafe ballots that exclude district races but still allow voters to cast ballots in federal, state and countywide races. | The Post and Courier |                                     |                      |
| Police      | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       | South Carolina | 12-Aug-04 | county council   | Candidate says he plans to have observers at the polls and may call for sheriff's deputies to enforce voting laws when voters try for a third time to nominate a Republican County Council candidate. His opponent alleges he is trying to intimidate black voters from voting.   | Greenville News      |                                     |                      |
| Challenges  |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       | South Carolina | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | Dozens of voters, many students, were turned away from a precinct at Benedict College after Republican poll watchers contested the legality of their vote. Challenges slowed voting at the precinct causing waits as long as four hours. The Republican Party executive director said poll watchers were challenging people who did not have proper state identification, such as a drivers license. Alternate forms of identification permit student to vote provisional ballots.  | AP                   |                                     |                      |
| Suppression | Yes                      | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       | South Dakota   | 31-Oct-02 | US Senate        | Senator Daschle says Republicans have targeted Native American communities in making allegations of vote fraud and launching initiatives in order to suppress the Native American vote  | Washington Times     |                                     |                      |

011683

| Type                     | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended? | State        | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source                     | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|------------------------|--------------|-----------|------------------|--|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Other                    | Yes                      |                     |                              | State          |                             |                      |                     |                                    |                        | South Dakota | 1-Jan-03  | senate           | Republican attorneys fanned out across the state on Election Day to gather affidavits to show vote buying. The State Attorney General (a Republican) says that of the 50 affidavits only three alleged criminal activity, and two of those proved to be false. One person is being investigated. Two of the affidavits were found to have been forged or perjurious. Each affidavit states that the person allegedly signing it claimed to have been picked up by a van driver, offered 10 to vote, taken to the polling place and home again and again offered the 10. Most of the allegations focused on the Rosebud Reservation   | Indian Country Today (Lakota Times) |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers/ID           | Yes                      |                     |                              |                |                             |                      |                     |                                    |                        | South Dakota | 30-Jun-04 | special election | During the June 1 special election, several Native American voters were told they could not vote if they did not have ID and were not told about the affidavit option. Most of the complaints came from across the state, many from reservations and some from Rapid City, where there is a large American Indian population. A Republican poll watcher denied this was the case. He said Indian voting rights workers were intimidating poll workers.   | Indian Country Today (Lakota Times) |                                     |                      |
| Pollworkers/ID           | Yes                      |                     |                              |                |                             |                      |                     |                                    |                        | South Dakota | 26-Aug-04 | presidential     | Some American Indians were not allowed to vote in the primary because they did not have photo ID and some said they were not told they could instead sign an affidavit.  | Newsday                             |                                     |                      |
| Polling Place Harassment | Yes                      |                     |                              |                | Court                       |                      |                     |                                    |                        | South Dakota | 2-Nov-04  | senatorial       | On Election Day, a district court judge ruled Republican poll watchers in Charles Mix County had to stop following American Indian voters after they cast ballots. The GOP workers were also ordered to stop writing down those people's license plate numbers.  | AP                                  |                                     |                      |
| Challenges               |                          |                     |                              |                | State Election Director     |                      |                     |                                    |                        | Tennessee    | 5-Nov-02  |                  | A GOP memo to its poll watchers said, "There are problems" with the instructions [state election director]Thompson's office provided to local officials, and focuses on whether the would-be voters are legitimately qualified. "If the officers at the precinct are not screening voters for their qualifications to vote, including their citizenship, they should be challenged so that the election officials will carry out the law and make sure they are qualified to vote if they are first-time voters," the memo says Thompson said the U.S. Department of Justice, part of President Bush's administration, notified him of the GOP memo last week and expressed concerns about it. After conferring with the Justice Department and state Attorney General's office, Thompson sent a four-page memo to local election officials Friday that makes it clear that poll watchers are forbidden by law to question or challenge voters directly and that election officials are not to require would-be voters to provide proof of eligibility, as the GOP memo seeks. | Commercial Appeal                   |                                     |                      |

011684

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution: |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|--|-----------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|
|       |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       |       |      |                  | The state Democratic Chair said the challenges targeted African American voters. |                 |                                     |                       |

011685

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type              | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date      | Type of Election      | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution                |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|-----------|-----------------------|---|----------------------|---|-------------------------------------|
| State Suppression | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      | Yes                   | Texas | 6-Oct-04  |                       | Students at historically black college Prairie View A & M filed several lawsuits against a Texas district attorney for making comments that he would prosecute students that falsely declared the school as their place of residency. In 1979, the US Supreme Court ruled in favor of Prairie View A & M, upholding a student's right to vote.  | Los Angeles Sentinel |   |                                     |
| Challenges        | Yes                      |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Utah  | 18-Jun-04 | congressional primary | An immigration-issues group is mounting a last-minute bid to challenge hundreds of foreign-born voters in Utah's Republican primary Tuesday. The effort is the work of ProjectUSA, based in Washington, D.C. The Utah voter challenge would require those singled out in the state's 3rd Congressional District by ProjectUSA to confirm at the polls that they are U.S. citizens and registered voters. State elections director Amy Naccarato is concerned ProjectUSA might scare off some legitimate voters. | Deseret Morning News | The Washington-based immigration issues group ProjectUSA has backed down on its plan to challenge blocs of Utah voters in areas with high immigrant populations. Craig Nelsen, president of ProjectUSA, had said he intended to challenge the voters in Utah's 3rd Congressional District based on concerns that illegal immigrants would vote for Congressman Chris Cannon in Tuesday's primary. Nelsen said Friday that after analyzing voter registration rolls and U.S. Census Bureau data for Utah's 3rd Congressional District, his group "didn't find any (patterns) that would warrant a challenge." Election officials in Salt Lake and Utah counties echoed Naccarato's relief Friday afternoon that no challenge had been filed. Attorneys in both counties had been scrambling to review the legality of any such challenges. "Our biggest concern was the message it was sending to voters," said Utah County Clerk Jim Jackson. "It almost smacked of discrimination against a group. That's just not right." | Deseret Morning News, June 19, 2004 |
| Challenges        |                          |                     |                             |                | County Clerk                |                       |                      |                                      |                       | Utah  | 6-Nov-04  | congressional         | The Republican candidate challenged the legal registration of 1,495 residents of the Holladay-area neighborhoods in the days before the election. 1,494 were Democrats, and one was from the American Party. The County Clerk determined the claims were groundless and said he could be subject to a charge of voter intimidation.   | Salt Lake Tribune    |   |                                     |

011686

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type              | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source  | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution? |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|-----------------------|------------|-----------|------------------|---|------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| State Suppression |                          | Yes                 |                             |                | Court                       |                       |                     |                                |                       | Washington | 20-Dec-04 | gubernatorial    | Procedures for validating ballot signatures vary widely from county to county in Washington state, a fact that has become significant given the razor-thin margin of the governor's race. A survey by The Seattle Times showed that counties use different procedures for evaluating signatures, the newspaper reported Sunday. More than 3,400 absentee and provisional ballots in Washington were rejected in the November election because the signatures didn't match those on file with elections officials. The state Supreme Court last week rejected an argument by the Democratic Party that counties have disenfranchised voters by handling mismatched signatures so differently.  | AP               |                                     |                       |
| State Suppression |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                       | Washington | 20-Dec-04 | gubernatorial    | King County election workers were told as early as May that if an absentee ballot came in without a matching signature on file they were required to make a concerted effort to verify that the vote was valid. Before a special election in May, King County election workers routinely violated state law by counting such ballots without making any attempt to verify the signatures. In this November's general election, the county's absentee-ballot staff still didn't make the effort to find matching signatures. But instead of counting the ballots automatically, they rejected them.  | Seattle Times    |                                     |                       |
| Challenges        | Yes                      |                     |                             | Press          |                             |                       |                     |                                |                       | Washington | 31-Mar-05 |                  | A Soap Lake man is challenging the voting credentials of hundreds of Washington voters, saying he thinks they're illegal immigrants who registered and cast ballots illegally. But Martin Ringhofer may have a hard time proving the challenges he has filed in Spokane and 10 other Washington counties. For one thing, there's the methodology of his research. Ringhofer said he obtained a list of people who registered to vote when they obtained or renewed a driver's license, then culled the list for names "that appear to be from outside the United States," particularly those that appeared to be Hispanic or Asian. For another, there's the fact that many of the people on his list are citizens. In fact, The Spokesman-Review contacted a dozen of the 161 people on Ringhofer's Spokane County list, and all of them are citizens. | Spokesman Review |                                     |                       |

011687

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type                    | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State         | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution                         |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|---------------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------------|---|--|
| Challenges              |                          |                     | Voters                      |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Washin-gton   | 5-Nov-05  | county           | Elections officials said hundreds of angry voters called to complain about a Republican backed effort challenging their right to vote. Several voters said the GOP County Vice-Chair was wrong that their registrations did not have their legitimate address. Those voters challenged will have to either re-submit registration forms or when challenged, vote by provisional ballot. Democrats called it a voter intimidation and suppression effort.  | Seattle Post-Intelligencer | The GOP withdrew 140 of 1500 claims, admitting they were faulty. Democrats charged that Republicans' real aim was to discourage voters from voting. Voters whose registrations were challenged will have to vote by paper and the Canvassing Board will conduct hearings on whether the votes should count. Challenged voters may make their case at the hearings, at which the burden of proof is on the Republican challengers. | Seattle Post-Intelligencer, November 8, 2005 |
| Challenges              |                          | Yes                 |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                   | Washin-gton   | 10-Nov-05 | presiden-tial    | A county councilman asks the county prosecutor to investigate whether a Republican challenger committed perjury in filing some of the challenges without justification. The challenger was the head of the county GOP's Voter Registration Integrity Project" which challenged the registrations of 1,944 voters saying they were registered at private mailbox businesses and storage complexes. Many of the challenges turned out to be baseless. Others did not know it was illegal. Those voters had to file a challenge ballot. The validity of those ballots will be determined at a canvassing board hearing. County Democrats claim the challenges were an attempt to intimidate and disenfranchise voters. | Seattle Times              |   |  |
| Federal Agents          |                          |                     | Defendants in case          |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | West Virginia | 31-May-05 | primary          | Defendants in a vote buying case allege that federal agents intimidated voters by videotaping and photographing voters as they visited the polls  | AP                         |   |  |
| State Suppression       |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Wisconsin     | 13-Oct-04 | presiden-tial    | Milwaukee County Executive Scott Walker, citing vote-fraud concerns, is publicly balking at a City of Milwaukee request for almost 260,000 additional ballots in anticipation of high turnout for the Nov. 2 presidential election. Mayor Tom Barrett blasted Walker's stance, and Common Council President Willie Hines Jr. immediately joined in, saying it was an attempt to suppress the central-city vote.   | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |   |  |
| Third Party Suppression | Yes                      |                     |                             | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       | Wisconsin     | 27-Oct-04 | presiden-tial    | Federation for American Immigration Reform sent Michigan residents to Wisconsin voter registration stations set up by an immigrant rights groups to see whether an illegal immigrant was registering illegal voters. The group said it refused to register the Michigan voters and if they insisted they discarded their forms. Prosecutors will check to ensure the registrations were not mailed in.  | AP                         |   |  |

011688

| Type       | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source            | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution                         |
|------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|--|----------------------------|--|--|
| Challenges |                          |                     |                             |                | City Attorney/DA        | BOE -dismissed    |                     |                                      |                       | Wisconsin | 29-Oct-04 | presidential     | Although the Board of Elections refused a request by the state Republican Party to have 5,619 names and addresses removed from Milwaukee voting lists, the party plans to challenge anyone who tries to vote from those addresses at the polls. A Journal Sentinel review shows many of the names and addresses confirmed some of the problems cited by the GOP, as well as uncovered additional missing addresses. Some cited by the GOP may be explained by clerical errors, however. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel | Amid a renewed push Friday by Republicans to get some 5,600 names removed from Milwaukee voting lists, prosecutors began examining 500 new registrants that a city review indicated are from non-existent addresses. The same review by the city attorney's office, however, raised doubts about the quality of the GOP's original list, finding that hundreds of the addresses that the Republicans claim are invalid and want removed do, in fact, exist. Some others, according to City Attorney Grant Langley, can be explained by data entry errors, not attempted fraud. Late Friday, Langley outlined the review situation in a letter to Lisa Artison, head of the city Election Commission. The letter said the review by his staff and the district attorney's office found cases where the database used by the GOP was corrupted, dropping digits on some homes so otherwise valid addresses showed up as non-existent. In other cases, a check of the original handwritten registration cards showed digits had been transposed by clerks, something that can be corrected at the polls. Langley's letter says the review casts "doubt on the overall accuracy" of the GOP list and the way it was compiled. At least some of the addresses will be investigated for possible fraud, however. Republican and City of Milwaukee leaders reached an agreement Sunday ending a faceoff over thousands of registered voters with questionable addresses. 2) Under an agreement reached, a list of 5,512 prospective city voters whose addresses are questionable will be distributed to polling places. Those on the list who show up to vote will be asked to fill out a change of address card or registration form, and to show proof of residency — a driver's license, utility bill or some other document showing an address — before casting their ballot. Anyone without proof of residency at an address on the list will have to take an oath, and that person's ballot will be marked as being challenged by the poll worker. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, October 30, 2004 |

011689

| Type        | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Challenges  |                          | Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       | Wisconsin | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Citing a new list of more than 37,000 questionable addresses, the state Republican Party demanded that city officials require identification from all of those voters. If the city doesn't, the party says it is prepared to have volunteers challenge each individual -- including thousands who might be missing an apartment number on their registration -- at the polls. Democrats say this is a last minute effort to suppress turnout by creating long delays at the polls. This is in addition to the 5,619 bad addresses the party claimed. The state GOP chair said they had just focussed on Milwaukee because its voter list is a mess and cause for great alarm. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |                                     |                      |
| Suppression |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     | Yes                   | Wisconsin | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | The tires of 30 vans Republicans had rented to help get out the vote were slashed.  | AP                         |                                     |                      |
|             |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       |           |           |                  |   |                            |                                     |                      |
|             |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                     |                       |           |           |                  |   |                            |                                     |                      |

011690

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Resolution |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------|
|       |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                    |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |            |

011691

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation? | Source of Resolution |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------|

011692

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                      |                     |                                       |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011693

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involved? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittals/Dismissals | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution: |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|--|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                          |                       |                       |  |                        |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                       |

011694

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011695

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011696

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011697

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other: Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud? | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|----------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|       |                          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       |       |      |                  |                            |                 |                                     |                      |

011698

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011699

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011730

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquittals/Dismissals | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                       |                                      |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011701

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011702

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |  |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011703

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other: Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted / guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011704

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                        |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011705

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other, Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011706

| Type: | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution: |
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|
|-------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------|

011707

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|

011708

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involved? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individual) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident /allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                          |                      |                     |                                     |                        |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                    |                      |

011709

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individual) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution.1 |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|

011710

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty plea (Individual) | Follow-up recommended? | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of Incident /allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------|------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                    |                        |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                    |                      |

011711

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissals | Convicted / guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up records needed | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|--|--------------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                      |  |                          |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                        |

011712

Intimidation and Suppression

5/9/2007

50

| Type | Racial/Ethnic Allegation | Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquittal/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Follow-up recommended | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|      |                          |                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                       |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                                     |                      |

011713

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011714

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011716

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011717

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011718

|                        |
|------------------------|
| Source of Resolution 2 |
|                        |
|                        |

011719

|                        |
|------------------------|
| Source of Resolution 2 |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011720

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011721

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011722

|                           |
|---------------------------|
| Source ofResolution 2 |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |

011723

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011724

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011725

Source of Resolution 2:

011726

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011727

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011728

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011729

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011730

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011731

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011732

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011733

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011734

011735

|                        |
|------------------------|
| Source of Resolution 2 |
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011732

| Source of Resolution 2 |
|------------------------|
|                        |
|                        |
|                        |

011737

| Source of Resolution 2: |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011738

Source of
Resolution 2

Milwaukee
Journal
Sentinel,
November 1,
2004

011739

|                         |
|-------------------------|
|                         |
| Source of Resolution 2: |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |
|                         |

011740

011741

011742

011743

011744

011745

011746

011747

011748

011749

011750

011751

011752

011753

011754

011755

011756

011757

011758

011759

011760

011761

011762

011763

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Parisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty? (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County  | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source                    | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|--------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|---------------------------------|---------------------|--|--------------|------------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                    |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                 |                     | Yes  | Arkansas     | Arkansas   | 23-Oct-02 |                  | At least six dead people tried to register to vote, including one helped by a person also listed on campaign-spending reports as having received $100 from the state Democratic party, said Marty Ryall, Republican Party chairman. Michael Cook, executive director of the Arkansas Democratic Party, said a former staffer had hired two teenagers to register voters and that they took names directly from the phone book. He said the incident happened seven months ago and that party officials are cooperating with the U.S. Attorney's Office.                             | Washington Times                   |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                 |                     | Yes  | California   | California | 16-May-02 |                  | A Lafayette man has been charged with voter fraud after registering his toy poodle, Bamabas, to vote, a move he says was meant to show lax registration oversight. Donald Miller, 78, has been charged with misdemeanor voter fraud. The Contra Costa County district attorney's office found out about the stunt after reports about Bamabas being called for jury duty in March.   | AP                                 |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                 |                     |  | 18th CD      | California | 3-Jun-02  | congressional    | Several voters have said they were tricked into registering to vote as Republicans when they were told they were signing a petition to lower taxes or applying for a rebate from the power company or some other falsehood.  | Roll Call                          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                               |                     |  | Stockton     | California | 13-Jul-02 | congressional    | A Stockton man hired to register Republican voters pleaded guilty to forging someone's name on a voter registration card. The conviction is the first arising from a Republican funded voter registration drive that Democrats allege involved fraud.  | Modesto Bee                        |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             | 8                     |                     |                                 |                     | Yes  | Lynwood      | California | 16-Oct-03 | city council     | Eight family members of a councilman are charged with registering at nonexistent addresses   | Los Angeles Times                  |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                               |                     |  | Stockton     | California | 24-Mar-   | unclear          | paid worker pleads guilty to a misdemeanor charge of forging six registration cards in 2001  | Recordnet                          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                 |                     |  | Solano       | California | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | Solano County elections officers, suspecting fraud, have sent about 150 voter registration forms to the California Secretary of State's Office for examination. Officials say the questionable forms are the products of intense efforts by both Democrats and Republicans to register voters for the upcoming presidential election. That zeal, further fueled by cash given to so-called "bounty hunters" who sign up voters, may lead to intentional errors on voter forms, officials said - a misspelled name, a fabricated street address, a rearranged Social Security number. | Tri-Valley Herald (Pleasanton, CA) |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                    |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                 |                     | Yes  | Hayward City | California | 1-Nov-05  | school board     | Roger Treskunoff, 51, a former school board candidate and former Hayward City Councilman was charged with creating fictitious names and registering those names as voters with the Alameda County Registrar of Voters.   | Contra Costa Times                 |          |                                     |                        |                        |

011764

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State      | Date                      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|------------|---------------------------|------------------|--|------------------------------|----------|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | San Joaquin   | California | March 24, 2005; 6/16/2005 | state senate     | County says it is examining 1500 voter registration cards for fraud because of similar looking signatures.   | Recordnet                    |          | June 2005: Paid worker charged with five felony counts of forging voter registration cards (none resulted in fraudulent votes) He admittedly forged 35 voter registration cards in 2004 when he was being paid $5 for each voter he registered. | Modesto Bee            |                        |
|                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Denver        | Colorado   | 16-Oct-04                 | presidential     | A worker at the Election Commission found a registration form with her own name on it. When another form was cross-referenced with Vital Records, it was found to be from a dead person. Denver workers have forwarded 200 suspicious registrants to the DA. The voter outreach coordinator says the computer immediately flags names of voters who have registered more than once. Several other counties have found suspect voter registration forms.  | Rocky Mountain News          |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Yes            |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Colorado      | Colorado   | 17-Oct-04                 | presidential     | The Secretary of State accused the Attorney General of not doing enough to prosecute potential ballot crimes. The Secretary confirmed that 6,000 felons are registered to vote. A Denver woman told a TV station she had registered to vote 25 times and signed up several friends up to 40 times to help her boyfriend, a paid staffer for a community group registering voters   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Colorado      | Colorado   | 18-Oct-04                 | presidential     | With just two weeks before the Nov. 2 election, the state has been rocked by evidence that some voter-registration drives have submitted applications with forged signatures. In other cases, would-be voters have applied to vote as many as 40 times. At the same time, some registration drives have collected applications and then failed to submit them by the Oct. 4 deadline, prompting Secretary of State Donetta Davidson to announce the use of provisional ballots last week. At yesterday's meeting with county clerks and district attorneys, Mrs. Davidson announced procedures for accepting provisional ballots, which are issued to people who say they have registered but whose names fail to appear on the voter roll. Such ballots would be marked "VRD," for "Voter Registration Drive." The would-be voter would have to produce identification and tell when and where they registered. The ballot later would be checked against the state's voter data-bases. The clerks are referring cases that appear to be blatant fraud, such as forged signatures, to the county attorneys. Bill Ritter, the Denver | Washington Times             |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Local          |                             | 5                     |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Denver        | Colorado   | 28-Oct-04                 | presidential     | Denver prosecutors charged two people Wednesday with falsely filling out multiple voter forms to boost their pay in a paid registration drive. Criminal cases are pending against four people for questionable registrations in the metro area, and there may be more before investigations are completed.   | Rocky Mountain News          |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Orange        | Florida    | 31-Oct-02                 | state senate     | The State Attorney is investigating charges of illegal changes to party affiliations on voter registration cards for a primary. The scheme seems to have been targeted at Hispanics.   | Orlando Sentinel             |          |  |                        |                        |

011765

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissed | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Other determination           | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County   | State   | Date      | Type of Election         | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------|--|---------------|---------|-----------|--------------------------|---|----------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  |               | Florida | 23-Oct-04 | presidential             | Officials say that more than 4,200 students from many colleges and universities in the state had their party affiliation switched without them knowing and tricked into registering Republican when they were asked to sign an assortment of petitions and forms. Some students attributed the work to a company working for the Republican Party   | AP                         |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Local          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  | Duval         | Florida | 29-Oct-04 | presidential             | Elections officials asked prosecutors to investigate possible voter fraud involving 25 registration forms with apparently bogus addresses.  | Telegraph Herald (IA)      |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  |               | Florida | 31-Oct-04 | presidential             | Students at Florida State and Florida A&M universities, some of whom signed petitions to legalize medical marijuana or impose stiffer penalties for child molesters, unknowingly had their party registration switched to Republican and their addresses changed. Officials say students at the University of Florida in Alachua County have made similar complaints and that about 4,000 potential voters in all have been affected. Local papers have traced some of the problems to a group hired by the Florida Republican Party, which has denounced the shenanigans. Switching voters' party affiliations does not affect their ability to vote, but changing addresses does, because when voters shows up at their proper polling places, they will not be registered there.   | Washington Post            |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Charges dismissed as baseless |  |               | Florida | 15-Dec-05 | constitutional amendment | Fourteen months after a campaign to increase Florida's minimum wage drew allegations of voter fraud, a federal judge in South Florida has ruled at least some of those accusations against grass roots political group ACORN were so baseless they amount to defamation. Stuart alleged that ACORN improperly handled registration forms when it conducted voter registration drives, including not submitting Republican registrations to election officials. The judge upheld ACORN's counterclaim that Stuart's lack of evidence made his allegations libel and slander. An investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement also found no evidence of criminal activity at ACORN, department officials confirmed Wednesday.   | St. Petersburg Times       |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                               | Yes  | Fulton County | Georgia | 4-Nov-05  | presidential             | The U.S. attorney for Georgia's Northern District is investigating the circumstances surrounding more than 2,400 "entirely fraudulent" voter registration applications submitted to Fulton County prior to the November 2004 elections, county elections officials say. Most of those suspect applications were submitted to the Georgia Secretary of State in September 2004 by the Georgia Coalition for the Peoples' Agenda, according to Atlanta attorney Harry W. MacDougald, a member of the Fulton County Board of Registration and Elections. Details of the federal investigation surfaced as part of litigation that challenges as unconstitutional Georgia's new voter photo identification law. Common Cause v. Billups, No. 4:05CV201 (N.D. Ga.). MacDougald made the investigation public in an affidavit submitted on behalf of defendants in the case | Fulton County Daily Report |          |                                     |                        |                        |

011766

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination                               | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City            | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source         | Source 1                              | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1                       | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---|--|-----------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|--|-------------------------|---------------------------------------|--|--|------------------------|
|                     |                              | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Chicago         | Illinois  | 12-Mar-04 | primary          | Chicago election officials say as many as 2,000 fraudulent voter registrations have turned up in advance of Tuesday's primary election. Two suspects are under investigation, the Chicago Tribune said, both of whom gathered registrations on behalf of the Puerto Rico Federal Affairs Administration.   | UPI                     |                                       |  |  |                        |
| Yes                 |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Press investigation finds fraud allegations false |  | East St. Louis  | Illinois  | 30-Oct-04 | supreme court    | Illinois Republicans on Friday urged officials to look into "potential instances of massive voter fraud" in East St. Louis, showing pictures of an East St. Louis Democratic precinct committeemen's home that dozens of people registered to vote have listed as their address. But it turns out that that address and another called into question aren't single-family homes but are boarding houses or apartments that may house dozens of people. | St. Louis Post Dispatch |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Anderson        | Indiana   | 11-Mar-   | unclear          | Voter registered under the address of his rental property in another town faces perjury charges  | WishTV                  |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 5                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Jul-03 | city council     | 5 people are arraigned on charges of including false information on their voter registration cards   | Daily Advertiser        |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Dec-03 | city council     | City Councilwoman indicted for submitting false information to register to vote during her re-election campaign and persuaded three people not in the district to fill out registration forms; the voters were charged as well.  | 2 The Advocate          |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |   |  |                 | Maryland  | 17-Jun-01 |                  | An 82-year-old woman signed her dog's name on a voter registration card to test the system. No charges were filed.   | Washington Post         |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                              | Local          |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Lansing         | Michigan  | 28-Oct-04 | presidential     | Ingham County sheriff's detectives have turned over to prosecutors the findings of their investigation into hundreds of phony voter registration forms from a state advocacy group. It appeared that some PIRGIM workers went through a Lansing phone book and forged people's signatures on forms   | Lansing State Journal   | Detroit Free Press September 23, 2004 | An eight-month investigation of alleged voter registration fraud has resulted in misdemeanor charges against a Lansing man. Edward Pressley IV, who worked on a voter registration drive sponsored by the environmental group PIRGIM, is accused of submitting a phony registration form to the Ingham County clerk.   | Detroit Free Press August 1, 2005            |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 17                    | 14                  | 64                                   |   | Yes  | Coates          | Minnesota | 31-Oct-02 | all              | 94 voter registration forms had false addresses matching a strip club  | Washington Times        |                                       | The strip club's owner is facing facing felony criminal charges alleging conspiracy to procure unlawful voting and conspiracy to commit forgery. Of the original 94 defendants who filled out registration forms, 64 people accepted offers to plead guilty to misdemeanors, instead of facing trials on felony forgery charges. Another 17 criminal cases, including the charges against Jacobson, are pending, while 14 cases were dismissed | Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minn. June 10, 2005 |                        |

011767

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Official Involvement? | Charged? (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal? | Convicted/pleas (Individuals) | Other determination? | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City        | State     | Date      | Type of Election                                  | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source              | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1                  | Source of Resolution 2              |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------|------------------------|----------------------|-------------------------------|----------------------|--|-------------|-----------|-----------|---|---|------------------------------|----------|--|---|-------------------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                       | 1                      |                      |                               |                      | Yes  | Minneapolis | Minnesota | 17-Oct-04 | presidential                                      | A former ACORN official arrested for running a stop sign had 300 voter registration forms, some of them months old, in his trunk. State law requires they be submitted to the secretary of state within 10 days.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |   |                                     |
|                     |                              | Local          |                       | 9                      |                      |                               |                      | Yes  | St. Louis   | Missouri  | 7-Mar-01  | city  | St. Louis Prosecutor Jennifer Joyce convened a grand jury that is investigating 3,800 suspect voter registration cards, including several for dead aldermen. The cards were turned in Feb. 7, the deadline to register voters. Joyce said there have been no indictments.   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |          | Nine people are slated to be indicted today on charges of collecting or de-destroying 3,800 bogus voter registration cards that were submitted to the St. Louis Election Board on Feb. 7, 2001, the last day for registering to vote in the hotly contested mayoral primary in March. Nine people have been indicted for trying to register fraudulent voters and destroy the evidence. State registration forms now are numbered and a record is kept of which cards have gone to which groups for voter registration drives. The fake registrations are linked to four temporary workers who had been employed by ACORN. | 11/7/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch      | 11/11/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch |
|                     |                              | Federal        |                       | 3                      |                      |                               |                      | Yes  | St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Apr-01 | presidential general election and mayoral primary | FBI subpoenas election board records on all people who registered to vote, cast ballots, was turned away at the polls, or whose voter registration was rejected from October 1 [2000] through March 6 [2001]; Senator Bond calls for further investigations because his office learned from state election officials that 24,000 registered voters in the city and 33,000 voters in the county were registered to vote somewhere else | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |          | Three workers are charged with turning in fraudulent voter registration applications a few weeks before the mayoral primary  | St. Louis Post-Dispatch (March 5, 2002) |                                     |
|                     |                              |                |                       |                        |                      | 6                             |                      |  | St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Dec-04 | mayoral   | Six plead guilty to dozens of crimes involving falsifying voter registration forms ("6 plead guilty in vote fraud case")  | St. Louis Post Dispatch      |          | Prosecutor says all the cards were caught and no one voted illegally   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch                 |                                     |
| Yes                 |                              | Federal        |                       |                        |                      |                               |                      | Yes  |             | Nevada    | 17-Oct-04 | presidential                                      | Democrats said Voters Outreach of America, a Republican funded registration group run by Sprouls & Associates, destroyed Democratic voter registration forms. A former employee of the group told a Nevada TV station that registrations collected from Democrats had been destroyed instead of filed with the elections office. The head of the company denied the accusations   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |   |                                     |

011768

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County  | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source   | Source 1             | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution | Source of Resolution |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------|--|--------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|---|---|----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|----------------------|
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     | Yes  | Clark County | Nevada         | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Voting Registrar Lomax said he found that canvassers returned stacks of 1,000 completed registration forms that often contained 30 to 50 applications filled out in the same handwriting. Lomax had no total figure for such fraudulent registrations. He also found that canvassers registered the same individuals several times over the span of a week. Some legitimately registered voters called to ask why they were getting registration forms--with their party affiliation changed, Lomax said. Apparently some canvassers went through the phone book and reregistered people without their consent, listing their parties incorrectly, Lomax said. Though registration drive organizers told Lomax's office that canvassers were paid by the hour, many canvassers told his staff and even provided pay stubs that showed they were paid $2 for every completed registration form they collected in malls, stores and neighborhoods, Lomax said."They were on both sides. It wasn't just Democrats, it wasn't just Republicans," Lomax said. "The money was clearly the root of all evil here. They were paying people to register the voters. And the people doing this were way down the economic scale, and they wanted their money and they were just filling in forms." | Chicago Tribune   |                      |                                     |                      |                      |
|                     |                             | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | New Mexico   |                | 10-Sep-04 |                  | US Attorney forms a task force after finding two teenagers registered to vote   | Albuquerque Journal   |                      |                                     |                      |                      |
| Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 | Bernalillo County  | New Mexico   |                | 15-Sep-04 | presidential     | Three Republican candidates want to examine all voter registration forms sub-mitted by a woman who, while working for a group that signs up new voters, registered a 13-year-old New Mexico boy.  | AP  |                      |                                     |                      |                      |
|                     |                             | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |                                | BOE finding         | Yes  |              | New York       |           | 19-Sep-02        | gubernatorial   | Dead voters were among the thousands of flawed voter registrations submitted by campaign workers of Governor Pataki during an enrollment drive, New York City officials determined  | Poughkeepsie Journal |                                     |                      |                      |
|                     |                             | Local          |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 | Bronx  | New York     |                | 23-Jun-03 | gubernatorial    | Bronx DA and a grand jury investigate whether Rikers Island supervisors filled out registration cards in the names of inmates (such inmates are eligible to vote)   | Newsday   |                      |                                     |                      |                      |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     |  | Queens       | New York       |           | 15-Sep-04        | state assembly  | About 100 people in the Flushing area gave commercial addresses on voter registration forms, raising suspicion at polling sites yesterday that may cast a shadow over the assembly race.  | Newsday              |                                     |                      |                      |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     |  | Greenboro    | North Carolina |           | 6-Dec-01         |   | Imtiaz Ahmed Siddiqui pleaded guilty Thursday to voter fraud in a brief federal court hearing that included no mention of the allegation that he may be acquainted with terrorists. Siddiqui, 31, answering questions in halting English, admitted he signed a voter registration form that identified him as a U.S. citizen when he got a driver's license in Durham in August. He is a citizen of Pakistan. | AP                   |                                     |                      |                      |

011769

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination                                    | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County        | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source     | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|--|--|--------------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|--|---------------------|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                         | Slate          |                             |                       |                     |                                |  | Yes  | Charlotte          | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 | presidential     | Officials are investigating ACORN because an ACORN organizer found that one of its workers had faked about 70 registrations. The worker was fired and the information turned over to the state board. A similar problem with a consumer interest group in Wake County has also been turned over to state officials   | Charlotte Observer  |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                | BOE and DMV find small # of questionable registrations |  |                    | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 |                  | The Charlotte Observer found more than 60,000 people who appear to be registered in both Carolinas. Alamance County Sheriff says illegal immigrants are registering to vote using false documents at drivers license offices. North Carolina is investigating two groups that may have falsely registered new voters. Some are worried that noncitizens could vote because in North Carolina one can get a drivers license without a social security number. The Elections division and the DMV ran two checks of people who received drivers licenses without proof of citizenship and found only a handful who had registered to vote. | AP                  |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |  | Yes  | Mecklenburg County | North Carolina | 28-Sep-05 |                  | Mecklenburg County commissioner Bill James and Libertarian Lewis Guignard formally challenged the registration of more than 400 homeless voters Tuesday, saying they had improperly registered using commercial addresses. James and Guignard said the 464 voters challenged in their complaint incorrectly used the addresses of the Urban Ministries at 945 N. College St., the Charlotte Rescue Mission at 907 W. First St. or the Salvation Army at 534 Spratt St. to register, even though those are commercial addresses where the voters could not permanently live.  | Charlotte Observer  |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |  | Yes  | Cincinnati         | Ohio           | 20-Aug-03 | city council     | More than 70 people have claimed a Walnut Hills tailoring shop as their home address while registering to vote, leading the Hamilton County Board of Elections to subpoena the tailor, who is a candidate for Cincinnati City Council.   | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |  | Yes  | Franklin           | Ohio           | 8-Sep-04  | presidential     | A part-time worker for ACORN was indicted for falsely filling out and signing a voter registration card  | Columbus Dispatch   |  |                        |                        |
|                     | BOE/Slate               |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |  | Yes  |                    | Ohio           | 15-Oct-04 | presidential     | In Hamilton County, the Board of Elections has subpoenaed 19 registered voters who elections officials don't believe exist. The Summit County Board of Elections in Akron has asked Ohio Attorney General Jim Petro to investigate 803 allegedly fraudulent voter-registration cards, many of which appeared to be in the same handwriting. In Lake County, east of Cleveland, several voter-registration cards seem to have forged signatures, elections officials say.   | Cincinnati Enquirer | An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005              | Akron Beacon Journal   |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Other Official involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State  | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|--------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------------|----------|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                              |                             |                       | 1                   |                                      |                     | Yes  | Ohio        |        | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | State GOP Chair says that the party tried to contact 231,834 new registrants in the five largest counties and had 5.7% returned as undeliverable.  | Columbus Dispatch            |          | An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 8-Nov-05               | Akron Beacon Journal   |
|                     |                              |                             |                       | 1                   |                                      |                     | Yes  | Defiance    | Ohio   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | The sheriff arrested a man for submitting 130 phony registration forms with such names as Mary Poppins and Dick Tracy. Authorities say he confessed to being paid in crack cocaine by an NAACP volunteer.  | Dallas Morning News          |          |  | 11/8/2005              | Akron Beacon Journal   |
|                     |                              | Unknown                     |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Parma       | Ohio   | 9-Jan-05  | presidential     | Three police officers are being investigated on accusations that they listed police headquarters as their home addresses when registering for the Nov. 2 election, officials said.   | AP                           |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | State                       |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Oregon      | Oregon | 17-Oct-04 | presidential     | The Secretary of State announced an investigation into allegations that a paid canvasser with Sproul & Associates had been told to register only Republicans. The head of the organization denied the accusations.   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Oregon      | Oregon | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | In interviews, students at Mt. Hood and Chemeketa community colleges, Western Oregon University and the University of Oregon all told similar stories: They were approached on campus and asked to sign a petition, often urging lower auto-mobile insurance rates for students, and then asked to sign or initial a second document, which turned out to be a voter registration card.Many of the students were urged to mark Republican as their party affiliation; others were told to leave the party affiliation section blank but to put their initials next to Republican on that part of the form. Many of the students already were registered voters. Some students didn't realize they were registering to vote, or that their party affiliation was about to change. Nathan Sproul, whose company conducted the registration drive, did not respond to calls seeking comment. His firm has been accused of using similar tactics involving bogus petitions at colleges in Pennsylvania, according to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.In an earlier interview with The Oregonian, Sproul confirmed that his canvassers are paid a "bounty" of extra money for registering Republicans but said he did not think that was a problem. | Newhouse News Service        |          |  |                        |                        |

011770

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/pleas (individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County     | State        | Date      | Type of Election  | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Source 1 | Resolution of Incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|--|---------------------------|----------|---|------------------------|------------------------|
| Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |                     |  | Pennsylvania    |              | 25-Oct-04 | presidential      | Republicans mailed letters to 130,000 people who had registered to vote in the last 6 months. 10,000 came back as undeliverable. The legal counsel to the state party said Republicans had looked at a sample of the letters and found 15 of 100 of the registrants were dead. The director of a nonpartisan organization says in a transient city many people may have moved over a six month period, and many letters might not have reached people living in shelters or substandard housing. | Philadelphia Inquirer     |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Pennsylvania    |              | 28-Oct-04 | presidential      | County investigators have launched an investigation into a scam in which University of Pittsburgh and Community College of Allegheny County students believed they were signing petitions to legalize marijuana for medical use, only to find themselves registered as Republicans.  | Pittsburgh Tribune Review |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 4                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | East Providence | Rhode Island | 20-Aug-05 | town primary      | Four people charged with using business addresses to register to vote  | Pawtucket Times           |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             | 7                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | East Providence | Rhode Island | 2-Dec-05  | municipal         | Nine people are accused of registering at business addresses. Charges against two are dropped because they did not sign the registration cards. Three other defendants have been invited to apply to the adult diversion program. Arraignments were postponed for four others. October 30, 2004: As many as 287 people were originally suspected.  | Providence Journal        |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Rapid City      | South Dakota | 19-Oct-02 | unclear           | forged registration applications by a worker being paid by the application   | Argus Leader              |          | one indictment on five counts of forgery  | Argus Leader           |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  |                 | South Dakota | 21-Oct-02 | statewide         | Several counties, almost all of them adjoining an American Indian reservation, submit questionable registration forms to law enforcement   | Argus Leader              |          | Red Earth Villeda, a contractor for the Democratic Party, is investigated. SEE SOUTH DAKOTA SUMMARY | Argus Leader           |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                             |                     |  | Rapid City      | South Dakota | 12-Jul-03 | unclear           | Individual reaches plea agreement for falsifying registration cards  | Midwest News              |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                             |                     |  |                 | South Dakota | 28-Jul-04 |                   | A Phoenix man accused of forging voter registration forms in Codrington County has been sentenced to prison. Howard L. Brewer, 44, pleaded guilty last month to three counts of forgery. He was charged after the county auditor's office received an envelope in April that contained 20 voter registrations. Eight to 10 of the forms were suspicious.   | AP                        |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Harris          | Texas        | 5-Feb-05  | state legislature | County Tax Assessor-Collector alleges 157 registered had false addresses. County officials are investigating   | Houston Chronicle         |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                             |                     |  | Prince William  | Virginia     | 5-May-05  | state legislature | Candidate charged with lying on a registration card and voting in a district where he did not reside.  | Washington Times          |          |   |                        |                        |

011771

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Source 1 | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
| Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |                     |  | Milwaukee     | Wisconsin | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Citing a new list of more than 37,000 questionable addresses, the state Republican Party demanded that city officials require identification from all of those voters. If the city doesn't, the party says it is prepared to have volunteers challenge each individual -- including thousands who might be missing an apartment number on their registration -- at the polls. Democrats say this is a last minute effort to suppress turnout by creating long delays at the polls. This is in addition to the 5,619 bad addresses the party claimed. The state GOP chair said they had just focussed on Milwaukee because its voter list is a mess and cause for great alarm. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Madison       | Wisconsin | 10-May-05 | presidential     | The vast majority of voters alleged to have been phantoms because their verification forms were returned as undeliverable really exist and their cards were returned because of innocent mistakes in filling out voter registration forms. Of 1,194 verification cards returned, 16 are still be examined   | Wisconsin State Journal    |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 2                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Milwaukee     | Wisconsin | 11-May-05 | presidential     | Arrest warrants issued and felony charges filed against two workers for Project Vote who admitted to filling out multiple registration cards using fictitious information to earn money   | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 2                     |                     |                               |                     |  | Milwaukee     | Wisconsin | 6-Dec-05  | presidential     | County DA charges two people affiliated with ACORN for filing false voter registrations   | AP                         |          |                                     |                        |                        |

011772

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal (Individuals) | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open Investigation and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Source 1 | Resolution of incident /allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|---|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|----------|------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                                   |                                      |                     |   |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |          |                                    |                        |                        |

011773

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud | Original Source | Source of Resolution | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|----------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     |  |               |       |      |                  |                           |                 |                      |                                     |                      |

011774

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution: 1 | Source of Resolution: 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|----------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |          |                                     |                         |                         |

011775

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Wrongful Removal from Registration Lists

| City / County | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Source1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|---------------|------------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------|---------|----------|----------|
| Pulaski       | Arkansas   | 16-Apr-04 |                  | The US Department of Justice says county officials have violated election law and proposed a consent decree with the county regarding ballot gathering and counting. The Department investigated registration practices that may have disenfranchised numerous voters, including sending voters to multiple poll sites and voters wrongly missing from the registration list. Under the agreement, the county will fix the problems in the database and DOJ lawyers will monitor polling places and the clerk's office  | AP                   |         |          |          |
|               | Colorado   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats are complaining about an attempt to remove up to 6,000 convicted felons from the electoral roll, at the behest of the state's Republican secretary of state, Donetta Davidson, despite a US federal law that prohibits eliminating a voter's rights within 90 days of an election to give time for the voter to protest.  | The Observer         |         |          |          |
|               | Florida    | 29-Sep-04 | presidential     | Secretary of State Hood tried to revive the discredited 2000 statewide purge list of suspected felons and ex-felons for 2004. That list disproportionately removed black voters from the rolls. The state tried to keep the list secret until forced to release it by court order. When it was released, it was found to contain a disproportionate number of black voters, including 2,000 who had had their rights restored and included several people who could show they had not criminal record at all. In addition, the list of 48,000 contained only 61 Hispanic names, way out of line with the strength of both the general Hispanic population and prison population. Hood was forced to drop the list | The Independent (UK) |         |          |          |
| Newark        | New Jersey | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | More than 200 voters sought court orders because they were turned away from a polling place, mostly because their names were not on voter lists. In 95% of the cases the judges ruled they could cast ballots.  | AP                   |         |          |          |
| Albany        | New York   | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | Students at SUNY Albany found their names no longer on the voter registration rolls, even though they had voted at the same location in the past  | AP                   |         |          |          |

011776

011777

011778

011779

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Wrongful Removal from Registration Lists

| Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |

011781

011782

011783

011784

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

| City/County  | State      | Date                       | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source                    | Source 1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|--------------|------------|----------------------------|------------------|--|------------------------------------|----------|----------|----------|
|              | Arkansas   | 23-Oct-02                  |                  | At least six dead people tried to register to vote, including one helped by a person also listed on campaign-spending reports as having received $100 from the state Democratic party, said Marty Ryall, Republican Party chairman. Michael Cook, executive director of the Arkansas Democratic Party, said a former staffer had hired two teenagers to register voters and that they took names directly from the phone book. He said the incident happened seven months ago and that party officials are cooperating with the U.S. Attorney's Office.                             | Washington Times                   |          |          |          |
| 0            | California | 16-May-02                  |                  | A Lafayette man has been charged with voter fraud after registering his toy poodle, Barnabas, to vote, a move he says was meant to show lax registration oversight. Donald Miller, 78, has been charged with misdemeanor voter fraud. The Contra Costa County district attorney's office found out about the stunt after reports about Barnabas being called for jury duty in March.   | AP                                 |          |          |          |
| 18th CD      | California | 3-Jun-02                   | congressional    | Several voters have said they were tricked into registering to vote as Republicans when they were told they were signing a petition to lower taxes or applying for a rebate from the power company or some other falsehood.  | Roll Call                          |          |          |          |
| Stockton     | California | 13-Jul-02                  | congressional    | A Stockton man hired to register Republican voters pleaded guilty to forging someone's name on a voter registration card. The conviction is the first arising from a Republican funded voter registration drive that Democrats allege involved fraud.  | Modesto Bee                        |          |          |          |
| Lynwood      | California | 16-Oct-03                  | city council     | Eight family members of a councilman are charged with registering at nonexistent addresses   | Los Angeles Times                  |          |          |          |
| Stockton     | California | 24-Mar-04                  | unclear          | paid worker pleads guilty to a misdemeanor charge of forging six registration cards in 2001  | Recordnet                          |          |          |          |
| Solano       | California | 20-Oct-04                  | presidential     | Solano County elections officers, suspecting fraud, have sent about 150 voter registration forms to the California Secretary of State's Office for examination. Officials say the questionable forms are the products of intense efforts by both Democrats and Republicans to register voters for the upcoming presidential election. That zeal, further fueled by cash given to so-called "bounty hunters" who sign up voters, may lead to intentional errors on voter forms, officials said - a misspelled name, a fabricated street address, a rearranged Social Security number. | Tri-Valley Herald (Pleasanton, CA) |          |          |          |
| Hayward City | California | 1-Nov-05                   | school board     | Roger Treskunoff, 51, a former school board candidate and former Hayward City Councilman was charged with creating fictitious names and registering those names as voters with the Alameda County Registrar of Voters.   | Contra Costa Times                 |          |          |          |
| San Joaquin  | California | March 24, 200; 4/6/16/2005 | state senate     | County says it is examining 1500 voter registration cards for fraud because of similar looking signatures.   | Recordnet                          |          |          |          |

011785

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|        |          |           |              |  |                              |  |  |  |
|--------|----------|-----------|--------------|--|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Denver | Colorado | 16-Oct-04 | presidential | A worker at the Election Commission found a registration form with her own name on it. When another form was cross-referenced with Vital Records, it was found to be from a dead person. Denver workers have forwarded 200 suspicious registrants to the DA. The voter outreach coordinator says the computer immediately flags names of voters who have registered more than once. Several other counties have found suspect voter registration forms.  | Rocky Mountain News          |  |  |  |
|        | Colorado | 17-Oct-04 | presidential | The Secretary of State accused the Attorney General of not doing enough to prosecute potential ballot crimes. The Secretary confirmed that 6,000 felons are registered to vote. A Denver woman told a TV station she had registered to vote 25 times and signed up several friends up to 40 times to help her boyfriend, a paid staffer for a community group registering voters   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
|        | Colorado | 18-Oct-04 | presidential | With just two weeks before the Nov. 2 election, the state has been rocked by evidence that some voter-registration drives have submitted applications with forged signatures. In other cases, would-be voters have applied to vote as many as 40 times.At the same time, some registration drives have collected applications and then failed to submit them by the Oct. 4 deadline, prompting Secretary of State Donetta Davidson to announce the use of provisional ballots last week.At yesterday's meeting with county clerks and district attorneys, Mrs. David-son announced procedures for accepting provisional ballots, which are issued to people who say they have registered but whose names fail to appear on the voter roll. Such ballots would be marked "VRD," for "Voter Registration Drive." The would-be voter would have to produce identification and tell when and where they registered. The ballot later would be checked against the state's voter data-bases. The clerks are referring cases that appear to be blatant fraud, such as forged signatures, to the county attorneys. Bill Ritter, the Denver district at-tBut he said he saw no pattern of a conspiracy to co | Washington Times             |  |  |  |
| Denver | Colorado | 28-Oct-04 | presidential | Denver prosecutors charged two people Wednesday with falsely filling out mul-tiple voter forms to boost their pay in a paid registration drive. Criminal cases are pending against four people for questionable registrations in the metro area, and there may be more before investigations are completed.  | Rocky Mountain News          |  |  |  |
| Orange | Florida  | 31-Oct-02 | state senate | The State Attorney is investigating charges of illegal changes to party affiliations on voter registration cards for a primary. The scheme seems to have been targetted at Hispanics.  | Orlando Sentinel             |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|       |         |           |                          |   |                       |  |  |  |
|-------|---------|-----------|--------------------------|---|-----------------------|--|--|--|
|       | Florida | 23-Oct-04 | presidential             | Officials say that more than 4,200 students from many colleges and universities in the state had their party affiliation switched without them knowing and tricked into registering Republican when they were asked to sign an assortment of petitions and forms. Some students attributed the work to a company working for the Republican Party   | AP                    |  |  |  |
| Duval | Florida | 29-Oct-04 | presidential             | Elections officials asked prosecutors to investigate possible voter fraud involving 25 registration forms with apparently bogus addresses.  | Telegraph Herald (IA) |  |  |  |
|       | Florida | 31-Oct-04 | presidential             | Students at Florida State and Florida A&M universities, some of whom signed petitions to legalize medical marijuana or impose stiffer penalties for child molesters, unknowingly had their party registration switched to Republican and their addresses changed. Officials say students at the University of Florida in Alachua County have made similar complaints and that about 4,000 potential voters in all have been affected. Local papers have traced some of the problems to a group hired by the Florida Republican Party, which has denounced the shenanigans. Switching voters' party affiliations does not affect their ability to vote, but changing addresses does, because when voters shows up at their proper polling places, they will not be registered there. | Washington Post       |  |  |  |
|       | Florida | 15-Dec-05 | constitutional amendment | Fourteen months after a campaign to increase Florida's minimum wage drew allegations of voter fraud, a federal judge in South Florida has ruled at least some of those accusations against grass roots political group ACORN were so baseless they amount to defamation. Stuart alleged that ACORN improperly handled registration forms when it conducted voter registration drives, including not submitting Republican registrations to election officials. The judge upheld ACORN's counterclaim that Stuart's lack of evidence made his allegations libel and slander. An investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement also found no evidence of criminal activity at ACORN, department officials confirmed Wednesday.   | St. Petersburg Times  |  |  |  |

011786

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|                 |           |           |               |   |                            |  |  |  |
|-----------------|-----------|-----------|---------------|---|----------------------------|--|--|--|
| Fulton County   | Georgia   | 4-Nov-05  | presidential  | The U.S. attorney for Georgia's Northern District is investigating the circumstances surrounding more than 2,400 "entirely fraudulent" voter registration applications submitted to Fulton County prior to the November 2004 elections, county elections officials say. Most of those suspect applications were submitted to the Georgia Secretary of State in September 2004 by the Georgia Coalition for the Peoples' Agenda, according to Atlanta attorney Harry W. MacDougald, a member of the Fulton County Board of Registration and Elections. Details of the federal investigation surfaced as part of litigation that challenges as unconstitutional Georgia's new voter photo identification law. Common Cause v. Billups. No. 4:05CV201 (N.D. Ga.). MacDougald made the investigation public in an affidavit submitted on behalf of defendants in the case | Fulton County Daily Report |  |  |  |
| Chicago         | Illinois  | 12-Mar-04 | primary       | Chicago election officials say as many as 2,000 fraudulent voter registrations have turned up in advance of Tuesday's primary election. Two suspects are under investigation, the Chicago Tribune said, both of whom gathered registrations on behalf of the Puerto Rico Federal Affairs Administration.  | UPI                        |  |  |  |
| East St. Louis  | Illinois  | 30-Oct-04 | supreme court | Illinois Republicans on Friday urged officials to look into "potential instances of massive voter fraud" in East St. Louis, showing pictures of an East St. Louis Democratic precinct committeemen's home that dozens of people registered to vote have listed as their address. But it turns out that that address and another called into question aren't single-family homes but are boarding houses or apartments that may house dozens of people.  | St. Louis Post Dispatch    |  |  |  |
| Anderson        | Indiana   | 11-Mar-04 | unclear       | Voter registered under the address of his rental property in another town faces perjury charges   | WishTV                     |  |  |  |
| St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Jul-03 | city council  | 5 people are arraigned on charges of including false information on their voter registration cards  | Daily Advertiser           |  |  |  |
| St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Dec-03 | city council  | City Councilwoman indicted for submitting false information to register to vote during her re-election campaign and persuaded three people not in the district to fill out registration forms; the voters were charged as well  | 2 The Advocate             |  |  |  |
|                 | Maryland  | 17-Jun-01 |               | An 82-year-old woman signed her dog's name on a voter registration card to test the system. No charges were filed.  | Washington Post            |  |  |  |
| Lansing         | Michigan  | 28-Oct-04 | presidential  | Ingham County sheriff's detectives have turned over to prosecutors the findings of their investigation into hundreds of phony voter registration forms from a state advocacy group. It appeared that some PIRGIM workers went through a Lansing phone book and forged people's signatures on forms  | Lansing State Journal      |  |  |  |
| Coates          | Minnesota | 31-Oct-02 | all           | 94 voter registration forms had false addresses matching a strip club   | Washington Times           |  |  |  |

01777

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|             |           |           |  |   |                              |  |  |  |
|-------------|-----------|-----------|--|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Minneapolis | Minnesota | 17-Oct-04 | presidential   | A former ACORN official arrested for running a stop sign had 300 voter registration forms, some of them months old, in his trunk. State law requires they be submitted to the secretary of state within 10 days.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 7-Mar-01  | city   | St. Louis Prosecutor Jennifer Joyce convened a grand jury that is investigating 3,800 suspect voter registration cards, including several for dead aldermen. The cards were turned in Feb. 7, the deadline to register voters. Joyce said there have been no indictments.   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Apr-01 | presidentialgeneral electionand mayoralprimary | FBI subpoenas election board records on all people who registered to vote, cast ballots, was turned away at the polls, or whose voter registration was rejected from October 1 [2000] through March 6 [2001]; Senator Bond calls for further investigations because his office learned from state election officials that 24,000 registered voters in the city and 33,000 voters in the county were registered to vote somewhere else | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Dec-04 | mayoral  | Six plead guilty to dozens of crimes involving falsifying voter registration forms  | St. Louis Post Dispatch      |  |  |  |
|             | Nevada    | 17-Oct-04 | presidential   | Democrats said Voters Outreach of America, a Republican funded registration group run by Sprouls & Associates, destroyed Democratic voter registration forms. A former employee of the group told a Nevada TV station that registrations collected from Democrats had been destroyed instead of filed with the elections office. The head of the company denied the accusations   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |

011788

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|                   |                |           |                |   |                      |  |  |  |
|-------------------|----------------|-----------|----------------|---|----------------------|--|--|--|
|                   |                |           |                | Voting Registrar Lomax said he found that canvassers returned stacks of 1,000 completed registration forms that often contained 30 to 50 applications filled out in the same handwriting. Lomax had no total figure for such fraudulent registrations. He also found that canvassers registered the same individuals several times over the span of a week. Some legitimately registered voters called to ask why they were getting registration forms—with their party affiliation changed, Lomax said. Apparently some canvassers went through the phone book and reregistered people without their consent, listing their parties incorrectly, Lomax said. Though registration drive organizers told Lomax's office that canvassers were paid by the hour, many canvassers told his staff and even provided pay stubs that showed they were paid $2 for every completed registration form they collected in malls, stores and neighborhoods, Lomax said. "They were on both sides. It wasn't just Democrats, it wasn't just Republicans," Lomax said. "The money was clearly the root of all evil here. They were paying people to register the vote." |                      |  |  |  |
| Clark County      | Nevada         | 31-Oct-04 | presidential   |   | Chicago Tribune      |  |  |  |
|                   | New Mexico     | 10-Sep-04 |                | US Attorney forms a task force after finding two teenagers registered to vote   | Albuquerque Journal  |  |  |  |
| Bernalillo County | New Mexico     | 15-Sep-04 | presidential   | Three Republican candidates want to examine all voter registration forms sub-mitted by a woman who, while working for a group that signs up new voters, reg-istered a 13-year-old New Mexico boy.   | AP                   |  |  |  |
|                   | New York       | 19-Sep-02 | gubernatorial  | Dead voters were among the thousands of flawed voter registrations submitted by campaign workers of Governor Pataki during an enrollment drive, New York City officials determined  | Poughkeepsie Journal |  |  |  |
| Bronx             | New York       | 23-Jun-03 | gubernatorial  | Bronx DA and a grand jury investigate whether Rikers Island supervisors filled out registration cards in the names of inmates (such inmates are eligible to vote)   | Newsday              |  |  |  |
| Queens            | New York       | 15-Sep-04 | state assembly | About 100 people in the Flushing area gave commercial addresses on voter registration forms, raising suspicion at polling sites yesterday that may cast a shadow over the assembly race.  | Newsday              |  |  |  |
| Greensboro        | North Carolina | 6-Dec-01  |                | Imtiaz Ahmed Siddiqui pleaded guilty Thursday to voter fraud in a brief fed-eral court hearing that included no mention of the allegation that he may be ac-quainted with terrorists. Siddiqui, 31, answering questions in halting English, admitted he signed a voter registration form that identified him as a U.S. citizen when he got a driver's license in Durham in August. He is a citizen of Pakistan.   | AP                   |  |  |  |

011739

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|                    |                |           |              |  |                     |  |  |  |
|--------------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|--|---------------------|--|--|--|
| Charlotte          | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 | presidential | Officials are investigating ACORN because an ACORN organizer found that one of its workers had faked about 70 registrations. The worker was fired and the information turned over to the state board. A similar problem with a consumer interest group in Wake County has also been turned over to state officials   | Charlotte Observer  |  |  |  |
|                    | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 |              | The Charlotte Observer found more than 60,000 people who appear to be registered in both Carolinas. Alamance County Sheriff says illegal immigrants are registering to vote using false documents at drivers license offices. North Carolina is investigating two groups that may have falsely registered new voters. Some are worried that noncitizens could vote because in North Carolina one can get a drivers license without a social security number. The Elections division and the DMV ran two checks of people who received drivers licenses without proof of citizenship and found only a handful who had resgitered to vote. | AP                  |  |  |  |
| Mecklenburg County | North Carolina | 28-Sep-05 |              | Mecklenburg County commissioner Bill James and Libertarian Lewis Guignard formally challenged the registration of more than 400 homeless voters Tuesday, saying they had improperly registered using commercial addresses. James and Guignard said the 464 voters challenged in their complaint incorrectly used the addresses of the Urban Ministries at 945 N. College St., the Charlotte Rescue Mission at 907 W. First St. or the Salvation Army at 534 Spratt St. to register, even though those are commercial addresses where the voters could not permanently live.  | Charlotte Observer  |  |  |  |
| Cincinnati         | Ohio           | 20-Aug-03 | city council | More than 70 people have claimed a Walnut Hills tailoring shop as their home address while registering to vote, leading the Hamilton County Board of Elections to subpoena the tailor, who is a candidate for Cincinnati City Council.   | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |  |  |
| Franklin           | Ohio           | 8-Sep-04  | presidential | A part-time worker for ACORN was indicted for falsely filling out and signing a voter registration card  | Columbus Dispatch   |  |  |  |
|                    | Ohio           | 15-Oct-04 | presidential | In Hamilton County, the Board of Elections has subpoenaed 19 registered voters who elections officials don't believe exist. The Summit County Board of Elections in Akron has asked Ohio Attorney General Jim Petro to investigate 803 allegedly fraudulent voter-registration cards, many of which appeared to be in the same handwriting. In Lake County, east of Cleveland, several voter-registration cards seem to have forged signatures, elections officials say.   | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |  |  |

011790

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|          |        |           |              |   |                              |  |  |  |
|----------|--------|-----------|--------------|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
|          | Ohio   | 20-Oct-04 | presidential | State GOP Chair says that the party tried to contact 231,834 new registrants in the five largest counties and had 5.7% returned as undeliverable.   | Columbus Dispatch            |  |  |  |
| Defiance | Ohio   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential | The sheriff arrested a man for submitting 130 phony registration forms with such names as Mary Poppins and Dick Tracy. Authorities say he confessed to being paid in crack cocaine by an NAACP volunteer.   | Dallas Morning News          |  |  |  |
| Parma    | Ohio   | 9-Jan-05  | presidential | Three police officers are being investigated on accusations that they listed police headquarters as their home addresses when registering for the Nov. 2 election, officials said.  | AP                           |  |  |  |
|          | Oregon | 17-Oct-04 | presidential | The Secretary of State announced an investigation into allegations that a paid canvasser with Sproul & Associates had been told to register only Republicans. The head of the organization denied the accusations.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
|          | Oregon | 30-Oct-04 | presidential | Chemeketa community colleges, Western Oregon University and the University of Oregon all told similar stories: They were approached on campus and asked to sign a petition, often urging lower auto-mobile insurance rates for students, and then asked to sign or initial a second document, which turned out to be a voter registration card. Many of the students were urged to mark Republican as their party affiliation; others were told to leave the party affiliation section blank but to put their initials next to Republican on that part of the form. Many of the students already were registered voters. Some students didn't realize they were registering to vote, or that their party affiliation was about to change. Nathan Sproul, whose company conducted the registration drive, did not respond to calls seeking comment. His firm has been accused of using similar tactics involving bogus petitions at colleges in Pennsylvania, according to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. In an earlier interview with The Oregonian, Sproul confirmed that his canvassers are paid a "bounty" | Newhouse News Service        |  |  |  |

011791

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011792

|                 |              |           |                   |  |                           |  |  |  |
|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|--|---------------------------|--|--|--|
|                 | Pennsylvania | 25-Oct-04 | presidential      | Republicans mailed letters to 130,000 people who had registered to vote in the last 6 months. 10,000 came back as undeliverable. The legal counsel to the state party said Republicans had looked at a sample of the letters and found 15 of 100 of the registrants were dead. The director of a nonpartisan organization says in a transient city many people may have moved over a six month period, and many letters might not have reached people living in shelters or substandard housing. | Philadelphia Inquirer     |  |  |  |
| Allegheny       | Pennsylvania | 28-Oct-04 | presidential      | County investigators have launched an investigation into a scam in which University of Pittsburgh and Community College of Allegheny County students believed they were signing petitions to legalize marijuana for medical use, only to find themselves registered as Republicans.  | Pittsburgh Tribune Review |  |  |  |
| East Providence | Rhode Island | 20-Aug-05 | town primary      | Four people charged with using business addresses to register to vote  | Pawtucket Times           |  |  |  |
| East Providence | Rhode Island | 2-Dec-05  | municipal         | Nine people are accused of registering at business addresses. Charges against two are dropped because they did not sign the registration cards. Three other defendants have been invited to apply to the adult diversion program. Arraignments were postponed for four others. October 30, 2004: As many as 287 people were originally suspected.  | Providence Journal        |  |  |  |
| Rapid City      | South Dakota | 19-Oct-02 | unclear           | forged registration applications by a worker being paid by the application   | Argus Leader              |  |  |  |
|                 | South Dakota | 21-Oct-02 | statewide         | Several counties, almost all of them adjoining an American Indian reservation, submit questionable registration forms to law enforcement   | Argus Leader              |  |  |  |
| Rapid City      | South Dakota | 12-Jul-03 | unclear           | individual reaches plea agreement for falsifying registration cards  | Midwest News              |  |  |  |
| Codington       | South Dakota | 28-Jul-04 |                   | A Phoenix man accused of forging voter registration forms in Codington County has been sentenced to prison. Howard L. Brewer, 44, pleaded guilty last month to three counts of forgery. He was charged after the county auditor's office received an envelope in April that contained 20 voter registrations. Eight to 10 of the forms were suspicious.  | AP                        |  |  |  |
| Harris          | Texas        | 5-Feb-05  | state legislature | County Tax Assessor-Collector alleges 157 registered had false addresses. County officials are investigating   | Houston Chronicle         |  |  |  |
| Prince William  | Virginia     | 5-May-05  | state legislature | Candidate charged with lying on a registration card and voting in a district where he did not reside.  | Washington Times          |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011793

|           |           |           |              |  |                            |  |  |  |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|--------------|--|----------------------------|--|--|--|
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 31-Oct-04 | presidential | Citing a new list of more than 37,000 questionable addresses, the state Republican Party demanded that city officials require identification from all of those voters. If the city doesn't, the party says it is prepared to have volunteers challenge each individual -- including thousands who might be missing an apartment number on their registration - at the polls. Democrats say this is a last minute effort to suppress turnout by creating long delays at the polls. This is in addition to the 5,619 bad addresses the party claimed. The state GOP chair said they had just focussed on Milwaukee because its voter list is a mess and cause for great alarm. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |
| Madison   | Wisconsin | 10-May-05 | presidential | The vast majority of voters alleged to have been phantoms because their verification forms were returned as undeliverable really exist and their cards were returned because of innocent mistakes in filling out voter registration forms. Of 1,194 verification cards returned, 16 are still be examined  | Wisconsin State Journal    |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 11-May-05 | presidential | Arrest warrants issued and felony charges filed against two workers for Project Vote who admitted to filling out multiple registration cards using fictitious information to earn money  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 6-Dec-05  | presidential | County DA charges two people affiliated with ACORN for filing false voter registrations  | AP                         |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011797

| Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
| June 2005: Paid worker charged with five felony counts of forging voter registration cards (none resulted in fraudulent votes) | Modesto Bee            |                        |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|   |  |  |
|---|--|--|
|   |  |  |
| Nine people are slated to be indicted today on charges of collecting or de-stroying 3,800 bogus voter registration cards that were submitted to the St. Louis Election Board on Feb. 7, 2001, the last day for registering to vote in the hotly contested mayoral primary in March Nine people have been indicted for trying to register fraudulent voters and destroy the evidence. State registration forms now are numbered and a record is kept of which cards have gone to which groups for voter registration drives. The fake registrations are linked to four temporary workers who had been employed by ACORN. | 11/7/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch      | 11/11/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch |
| Three workers are charged with turning in fraudulent voter registration applications a few weeks before the mayoral primary  | St. Louis Post-Dispatch (March 5, 2002) |  |
| Prosecutor says all the cards were caught and no one voted illegally   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch                 |  |
|   |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011802

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |           |                      |
|--|-----------|----------------------|
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005 | Akron Beacon Journal |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

21
 011804

|   |                  |                             |
|---|------------------|-----------------------------|
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 8-Nov-05  | Akron Beacon Journal |
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005 | Akron Beacon Journal |
|   |                  |                             |
|   |                  |                             |
|   |                  |                             |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|   |              |  |
|---|--------------|--|
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
| one indictment on five counts of forgery  | Argus Leader |  |
| Red Earth Villeda, a contractor for the Democratic Party, is investigated. SEE SOUTH DAKOTA SUMMARY | Argus Leader |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011810

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissed | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source                    | Source 1 | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|------------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                              | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Arkansas      |            | 23-Oct-02 |                  | At least six dead people tried to register to vote, including one helped by a person also listed on campaign-spending reports as having received $100 from the state Democratic party, said Marty Ryall, Republican Party chairman. Michael Cook, executive director of the Arkansas Democratic Party, said a former staffer had hired two teenagers to register voters and that they took names directly from the phone book. He said the incident happened seven months ago and that party officials are cooperating with the U.S. Attorney's Office.                             | Washington Times                   |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | California    |            | 16-May-02 |                  | A Lafayette man has been charged with voter fraud after registering his toy poodle, Barnabas, to vote, a move he says was meant to show lax registration oversight. Donald Miller, 78, has been charged with misdemeanor voter fraud. The Contra Costa County district attorney's office found out about the stunt after reports about Barnabas being called for jury duty in March.   | AP                                 |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | 18th CD       | California | 3-Jun-02  | congressional    | Several voters have said they were tricked into registering to vote as Republicans when they were told they were signing a petition to lower taxes or applying for a rebate from the power company or some other falsehood.  | Roll Call                          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                                    |                     |  | Stockton      | California | 13-Jul-02 | congressional    | A Stockton man hired to register Republican voters pleaded guilty to forging someone's name on a voter registration card. The conviction is the first arising from a Republican funded voter registration drive that Democrats allege involved fraud.  | Modesto Bee                        |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 8                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Lynwood       | California | 16-Oct-03 | city council     | Eight family members of a councilman are charged with registering at nonexistent addresses   | Los Angeles Times                  |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                                    |                     |  | Stockton      | California | 24-Mar-   | unclear          | paid worker pleads guilty to a misdemeanor charge of forging six registration cards in 2001  | Recordnet                          |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Solano        | California | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | Solano County elections officers, suspecting fraud, have sent about 150 voter registration forms to the California Secretary of State's Office for examination. Officials say the questionable forms are the products of intense efforts by both Democrats and Republicans to register voters for the upcoming presidential election. That zeal, further fueled by cash given to so-called "bounty hunters" who sign up voters, may lead to intentional errors on voter forms, officials said - a misspelled name, a fabricated street address, a rearranged Social Security number. | Tri-Valley Herald (Pleasanton, CA) |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Hayward City  | California | 1-Nov-05  | school board     | Roger Treskunoff, 51, a former school board candidate and former Hayward City Councilman was charged with creating fictitious names and registering those names as voters with the Alameda County Registrar of Voters.   | Contra Costa Times                 |          |                                     |                        |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011811

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State      | Date                      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|------------|---------------------------|------------------|--|------------------------------|----------|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                                    |                     |  | San Joaquin | California | March 24, 2005; 6/16/2005 | state senate     | County says it is examining 1500 voter registration cards for fraud because of similar looking signatures.   | Recordnet                    |          | June 2005: Paid worker charged with five felony counts of forging voter registration cards (none resulted in fraudulent votes) He admittedly forged 35 voter registration cards in 2004 when he was being paid $5 for each voter he registered. | Modesto Bee            |                        |
|                     |                              | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Denver      | Colorado   | 16-Oct-04                 | presidential     | A worker at the Election Commission found a registration form with her own name on it. When another form was cross-referenced with Vital Records, it was found to be from a dead person. Denver workers have forwarded 200 suspicious registrants to the DA. The voter outreach coordinator says the computer immediately flags names of voters who have registered more than once. Several other counties have found suspect voter registration forms.  | Rocky Mountain News          |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | Yes            |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |             | Colorado   | 17-Oct-04                 | presidential     | The Secretary of State accused the Attorney General of not doing enough to prosecute potential ballot crimes. The Secretary confirmed that 6,000 felons are registered to vote. A Denver woman told a TV station she had registered to vote 25 times and signed up several friends up to 40 times to help her boyfriend, a paid staffer for a community group registering voters   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  |             | Colorado   | 18-Oct-04                 | presidential     | With just two weeks before the Nov. 2 election, the state has been rocked by evidence that some voter-registration drives have submitted applications with forged signatures. In other cases, would-be voters have applied to vote as many as 40 times. At the same time, some registration drives have collected applications and then failed to submit them by the Oct. 4 deadline, prompting Secretary of State Donetta Davidson to announce the use of provisional ballots last week. At yesterday's meeting with county clerks and district attorneys, Mrs. Davidson announced procedures for accepting provisional ballots, which are issued to people who say they have registered but whose names fail to appear on the voter roll. Such ballots would be marked "VRD," for "Voter Registration Drive." The would-be voter would have to produce identification and tell when and where they registered. The ballot later would be checked against the state's voter data-bases. The clerks are referring cases that appear to be blatant fraud, such as forged signatures, to the county attorneys. Bill Ritter, the Denver | Washington Times             |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | Local          |                             | 6                     |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Denver      | Colorado   | 28-Oct-04                 | presidential     | Denver prosecutors charged two people Wednesday with falsely filling out multiple voter forms to boost their pay in a paid registration drive. Criminal cases are pending against four people for questionable registrations in the metro area, and there may be more before investigations are completed.   | Rocky Mountain News          |          |  |                        |                        |
|                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Yes                 |  | Orange      | Florida    | 31-Oct-02                 | state senate     | The State Attorney is investigating charges of illegal changes to party affiliations on voter registration cards for a primary. The scheme seems to have been targeted at Hispanics.   | Orlando Sentinel             |          |  |                        |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011812

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Accounted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other Determinations          | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County   | State   | Date      | Type of Election         | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|--|---------------|---------|-----------|--------------------------|---|----------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                               | Yes  |               | Florida | 23-Oct-04 | presidential             | Officials say that more than 4,200 students from many colleges and universities in the state had their party affiliation switched without them knowing and tricked into registering Republican when they were asked to sign an assortment of petitions and forms. Some students attributed the work to a company working for the Republican Party   | AP                         |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Local          |                             |                       |                     |                                |                               | Yes  | Duval         | Florida | 29-Oct-04 | presidential             | Elections officials asked prosecutors to investigate possible voter fraud involving 25 registration forms with apparently bogus addresses.  | Telegraph Herald (IA)      |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                               | Yes  |               | Florida | 31-Oct-04 | presidential             | Students at Florida State and Florida A&M universities, some of whom signed petitions to legalize medical marijuana or impose stiffer penalties for child molesters, unknowingly had their party registration switched to Republican and their addresses changed. Officials say students at the University of Florida in Alachua County have made similar complaints and that about 4,000 potential voters in all have been affected. Local papers have traced some of the problems to a group hired by the Florida Republican Party, which has denounced the shenanigans. Switching voters' party affiliations does not affect their ability to vote, but changing addresses does, because when voters shows up at their proper polling places, they will not be registered there.   | Washington Post            |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                | Charges dismissed as baseless |  |               | Florida | 15-Dec-05 | constitutional amendment | Fourteen months after a campaign to increase Florida's minimum wage drew allegations of voter fraud, a federal judge in South Florida has ruled at least some of those accusations against grass roots political group ACORN were so baseless they amount to defamation. Stuart alleged that ACORN improperly handled registration forms when it conducted voter registration drives, including not submitting Republican registrations to election officials. The judge upheld ACORN's counterclaim that Stuart's lack of evidence made his allegations libel and slander. An investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement also found no evidence of criminal activity at ACORN, department officials confirmed Wednesday.   | St. Petersburg Times       |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     | Federal                     |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                               | Yes  | Fulton County | Georgia | 4-Nov-05  | presidential             | The U.S. attorney for Georgia's Northern District is investigating the circumstances surrounding more than 2,400 "entirely fraudulent" voter registration applications submitted to Fulton County prior to the November 2004 elections, county elections officials say. Most of those suspect applications were submitted to the Georgia Secretary of State in September 2004 by the Georgia Coalition for the Peoples' Agenda, according to Atlanta attorney Harry W. MacDougald, a member of the Fulton County Board of Registration and Elections. Details of the federal investigation surfaced as part of litigation that challenges as unconstitutional Georgia's new voter photo identification law. Common Cause v. Billups. No. 4:05CV201 (N.D. Ga.). MacDougald made the investigation public in an affidavit submitted on behalf of defendants in the case | Fulton County Daily Report |          |                                     |                        |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011813

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination                               | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County      | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source         | Source 1                              | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1                       | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---|--|------------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|--|-------------------------|---------------------------------------|--|--|------------------------|
|                     |                         | BOE            |                             |                       |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Chicago          | Illinois  | 12-Mar-04 | primary          | Chicago election officials say as many as 2,000 fraudulent voter registrations have turned up in advance of Tuesday's primary election. Two suspects are under investigation, the Chicago Tribune said, both of whom gathered registrations on behalf of the Puerto Rico Federal Affairs Administration.   | UPI                     |                                       |  |  |                        |
| Yes                 |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      | Press investigation finds fraud allegations false |  | East St. Louis   | Illinois  | 30-Oct-04 | supreme court    | Illinois Republicans on Friday urged officials to look into "potential instances of massive voter fraud" in East St. Louis, showing pictures of an East St. Louis Democratic precinct committeemen's home that dozens of people registered to vote have listed as their address. But it turns out that that address and another called into question aren't single-family homes but are boarding houses or apartments that may house dozens of people. | St. Louis Post Dispatch |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Ander son        | Indiana   | 11-Mar-   | unclea r         | Voter registered under the address of his rental property in another town faces perjury charges  | WishTV                  |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             | 5                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | St. Martin ville | Louisiana | 17-Jul-03 | city council     | 5 people are arraigned on charges of including false information on their voter registration cards   | Daily Advertiser        |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | St. Martin ville | Louisiana | 17-Dec-03 | city council     | City Councilwoman indicted for submitting false information to register to vote during her re-election campaign and persuaded three people not in the district to fill out registration forms; the voters were charged as well.  | 2 The Advocate          |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |   |  |                  | Maryland  | 17-Jun-01 |                  | An 82-year-old woman signed her dog's name on a voter registration card to test the system. No charges were filed.   | Washington Post         |                                       |  |  |                        |
|                     | Local                   |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                      |   | Yes  | Lansing          | Michigan  | 28-Oct-04 | presidential     | Ingham County sheriff's detectives have turned over to prosecutors the findings of their investigation into hundreds of phony voter registration forms from a state advocacy group. It appeared that some PIRGIM workers went through a Lansing phone book and forged people's signatures on forms   | Lansing State Journal   | Detroit Free Press September 23, 2004 | An eight-month investigation of alleged voter registration fraud has resulted in misdemeanor charges against a Lansing man. Edward Pressley IV, who worked on a voter registration drive sponsored by the environmental group PIRGIM, is accused of submitting a phony registration form to the Ingham County clerk.   | Detroit Free Press August 1, 2005            |                        |
|                     |                         |                |                             | 17                    | 14                  | 64                                   |   | Yes  | Coates           | Minnesota | 31-Oct-02 | all              | 94 voter registration forms had false addresses matching a strip club  | Washington Times        |                                       | The strip club's owner is facing facing felony criminal charges alleging conspiracy to procure unlawful voting and conspiracy to commit forgery. Of the original 94 defendants who filled out registration forms, 64 people accepted offers to plead guilty to misdemeanors, instead of facing trials on felony forgery charges. Another 17 criminal cases, including the charges against Jacobson, are pending, while 14 cases were dismissed | Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minn. June 10, 2005 |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011814

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigation and/or pending charges) | City / County | State     | Date      | Type of Election                                  | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source              | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution: 1                 | Source of Resolution: 2             |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------|---|---------------|-----------|-----------|---|---|------------------------------|----------|--|---|-------------------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |                     | Yes   | Minneapolis   | Minnesota | 17-Oct-04 | presidential                                      | A former ACORN official arrested for running a stop sign had 300 voter registration forms, some of them months old, in his trunk. State law requires they be submitted to the secretary of state within 10 days.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |   |                                     |
|                     |                              | Local          |                             | 9                     |                     |                                |                     | Yes   | St. Louis     | Missouri  | 7-Mar-01  | city  | St. Louis Prosecutor Jennifer Joyce convened a grand jury that is investigating 3,800 suspect voter registration cards, including several for dead aldermen. The cards were turned in Feb. 7, the deadline to register voters. Joyce said there have been no indictments.   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |          | Nine people are slated to be indicted today on charges of collecting or de-stroying 3,800 bogus voter registration cards that were submitted to the St. Louis Election Board on Feb. 7, 2001, the last day for registering to vote in the hotly contested mayoral primary in March. Nine people have been indicted for trying to register fraudulent voters and destroy the evidence. State registration forms now are numbered and a record is kept of which cards have gone to which groups for voter registration drives. The fake registrations are linked to four temporary workers who had been employed by ACORN. | 11/7/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch      | 11/11/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch |
|                     |                              | Federal        |                             | 3                     |                     |                                |                     | Yes   | St. Louis     | Missouri  | 17-Apr-01 | presidential general election and mayoral primary | FBI subpoenas election board records on all people who registered to vote, cast ballots, was turned away at the polls, or whose voter registration was rejected from October 1 [2000] through March 6 [2001]; Senator Bond calls for further investigations because his office learned from state election officials that 24,000 registered voters in the city and 33,000 voters in the county were registered to vote somewhere else | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |          | Three workers are charged with turning in fraudulent voter registration applications a few weeks before the mayoral primary  | St. Louis Post-Dispatch (March 5, 2002) |                                     |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     | 6                              |                     |   | St. Louis     | Missouri  | 17-Dec-04 | mayoral   | Six plead guilty to dozens of crimes involving falsifying voter registration forms ("6 plead guilty in vote fraud case")  | St. Louis Post Dispatch      |          | Prosecutor says all the cards were caught and no one voted illegally   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch                 |                                     |
| Yes                 |                              | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     | Yes   | Nevada        |           | 17-Oct-04 | presidential                                      | Democrats said Voters Outreach of America, a Republican funded registration group run by Sprouls & Associates, destroyed Democratic voter registration forms. A former employee of the group told a Nevada TV station that registrations collected from Democrats had been destroyed instead of filed with the elections office. The head of the company denied the accusations   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |          |  |   |                                     |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011815

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismisled | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County       | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source      | Source of Resolution |
|---------------------|-------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|--|----------------------|----------------------|
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Clark County      | Nevada         | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Voting Registrar Lomax said he found that canvassers returned stacks of 1,000 completed registration forms that often contained 30 to 50 applications filled out in the same handwriting. Lomax had no total figure for such fraudulent registrations. He also found that canvassers registered the same individuals several times over the span of a week. Some legitimately registered voters called to ask why they were getting registration forms--with their party affiliation changed, Lomax said. Apparently some canvassers went through the phone book and reregistered people without their consent, listing their parties incorrectly, Lomax said. Though registration drive organizers told Lomax's office that canvassers were paid by the hour, many canvassers told his staff and even provided pay stubs that showed they were paid $2 for every completed registration form they collected in malls, stores and neighborhoods, Lomax said."They were on both sides. It wasn't just Democrats, it wasn't just Republicans," Lomax said. "The money was clearly the root of all evil here. They were paying people to register the voters. And the people doing this were way down the economic scale, and they wanted their money and they were just filling in forms. | Chicago Tribune      |                      |
|                     |                         | Federal        |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  |                   | New Mexico     | 10-Sep-04 |                  | US Attorney forms a task force after finding two teenagers registered to vote  | Albuquerque Journal  |                      |
| Yes                 |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Bernalillo County | New Mexico     | 15-Sep-04 | presidential     | Three Republican candidates want to examine all voter registration forms submitted by a woman who, while working for a group that signs up new voters, registered a 13-year-old New Mexico boy.  | AP                   |                      |
|                     |                         |                | BOE                         |                       |                     |                                      | BOE finding         | Yes  |                   | New York       | 19-Sep-02 | gubernatorial    | Dead voters were among the thousands of flawed voter registrations submitted by campaign workers of Governor Palaki during an enrollment drive, New York City officials determined   | Poughkeepsie Journal |                      |
|                     |                         | Local          |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     | Yes  | Bronx             | New York       | 23-Jun-03 | gubernatorial    | Bronx DA and a grand jury investigate whether Rikers Island supervisors filled out registration cards in the names of inmates (such inmates are eligible to vote)  | Newsday              |                      |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Queens            | New York       | 15-Sep-04 | state assembly   | About 100 people in the Flushing area gave commercial addresses on voter registration forms, raising suspicion at polling sites yesterday that may cast a shadow over the assembly race.   | Newsday              |                      |
|                     |                         |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  | Greenboro         | North Carolina | 6-Dec-01  |                  | Imtiaz Ahmed Siddiqui pleaded guilty Thursday to voter fraud in a brief federal court hearing that included no mention of the allegation that he may be acquainted with terrorists. Siddiqui, 31, answering questions in halting English, admitted he signed a voter registration form that identified him as a U.S. citizen when he got a driver's license in Durham in August. He is a citizen of Pakistan.  | AP                   |                      |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

7

011816

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/pleas (Individuals) | Other determination                                    | Follow-up Possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County        | State          | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source     | Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution: 1 | Source of Resolution: 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|--|--|--------------------|----------------|-----------|------------------|--|---------------------|--|-------------------------|-------------------------|
|                     |                              | State          |                             |                       |                     |                               |  | Yes  | Charlotte          | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 | presidential     | Officials are investigating ACORN because an ACORN organizer found that one of its workers had faked about 70 registrations. The worker was fired and the information turned over to the state board. A similar problem with a consumer interest group in Wake County has also been turned over to state officials   | Charlotte Observer  |  |                         |                         |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                               | BOE and DMV find small # of questionable registrations |  |                    | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 |                  | The Charlotte Observer found more than 60,000 people who appear to be registered in both Carolinas. Alamance County Sheriff says illegal immigrants are registering to vote using false documents at drivers license offices. North Carolina is investigating two groups that may have falsely registered new voters. Some are worried that noncitizens could vote because in North Carolina one can get a drivers license without a social security number. The Elections division and the DMV ran two checks of people who received drivers licenses without proof of citizenship and found only a handful who had registered to vote. | AP                  |  |                         |                         |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |  | Yes  | Mecklenburg County | North Carolina | 28-Sep-05 |                  | Mecklenburg County commissioner Bill James and Libertarian Lewis Guignard formally challenged the registration of more than 400 homeless voters Tuesday, saying they had improperly registered using commercial addresses. James and Guignard said the 464 voters challenged in their complaint incorrectly used the addresses of the Urban Ministries at 945 N. College St., the Charlotte Rescue Mission at 907 W. First St. or the Salvation Army at 534 Spratt St. to register, even though those are commercial addresses where the voters could not permanently live.  | Charlotte Observer  |  |                         |                         |
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |  | Yes  | Cincinnati         | Ohio           | 20-Aug-03 | city council     | More than 70 people have claimed a Walnut Hills tailoring shop as their home address while registering to vote, leading the Hamilton County Board of Elections to subpoena the tailor, who is a candidate for Cincinnati City Council.   | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |                         |                         |
|                     |                              |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                               |  | Yes  | Franklin           | Ohio           | 8-Sep-04  | presidential     | A part-time worker for ACORN was indicted for falsely filling out and signing a voter registration card  | Columbus Dispatch   |  |                         |                         |
|                     | BOE/State                    |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                               |  | Yes  |                    | Ohio           | 15-Oct-04 | presidential     | In Hamilton County, the Board of Elections has subpoenaed 19 registered voters who elections officials don't believe exist. The Summit County Board of Elections in Akron has asked Ohio Attorney General Jim Petro to investigate 803 allegedly fraudulent voter-registration cards, many of which appeared to be in the same handwriting. In Lake County, east of Cleveland, several voter-registration cards seem to have forged signatures, elections officials say.   | Cincinnati Enquirer | An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005               | Akron Beacon Journal    |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011817

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation?      | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State  | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source              | Source of Resolution | Resolution of incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution |                      |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|--------|-----------|------------------|--|------------------------------|----------------------|--|----------------------|----------------------|
|                     |                             | Joint State/federal |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |                     | Yes  |             | Ohio   | 20-Oct-04 | presidential     | State GOP Chair says that the party tried to contact 231,834 new registrants in the five largest counties and had 5.7% returned as undeliverable.  | Columbus Dispatch            |                      | An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 8-Nov-05             | Akron Beacon Journal |
|                     |                             |                     |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |                     | Yes  | Defiance    | Ohio   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | The sheriff arrested a man for submitting 130 phony registration forms with such names as Mary Poppins and Dick Tracy. Authorities say he confessed to being paid in crack cocaine by an NAACP volunteer.  | Dallas Morning News          |                      |  | 11/8/2005            | Akron Beacon Journal |
|                     |                             | Unknown             |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     | Yes  | Parma       | Ohio   | 9-Jan-05  | presidential     | Three police officers are being investigated on accusations that they listed police headquarters as their home addresses when registering for the Nov. 2 election, officials said.   | AP                           |                      |  |                      |                      |
|                     |                             | State               |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     | Yes  |             | Oregon | 17-Oct-04 | presidential     | The Secretary of State announced an investigation into allegations that a paid canvasser with Sproul & Associates had been told to register only Republicans. The head of the organization denied the accusations.   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |                      |  |                      |                      |
|                     |                             |                     |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     |  |             | Oregon | 30-Oct-04 | presidential     | In interviews, students at Mt. Hood and Chemeketa community colleges, Western Oregon University and the University of Oregon all told similar stories: They were approached on campus and asked to sign a petition, often urging lower auto-mobile insurance rates for students, and then asked to sign or initial a second document, which turned out to be a voter registration card.Many of the students were urged to mark Republican as their party affiliation; others were told to leave the party affiliation section blank but to put their initials next to Republican on that part of the form. Many of the students already were registered voters. Some students didn't realize they were registering to vote, or that their party affiliation was about to change. Nathan Sproul, whose company conducted the registration drive, did not respond to calls seeking comment. His firm has been accused of using similar tactics involving bogus petitions at colleges in Pennsylvania, according to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.In an earlier interview with The Oregonian, Sproul confirmed that his canvassers are paid a "bounty" of extra money for registering Republicans but said he did not think that was a problem. | Newhouse News Service        |                      |  |                      |                      |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011818

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County     | State        | Date      | Type of Election  | Alleged instance of fraud  | Original Source           | Source 1 | Resolution of incident / allegation   | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------|--|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|--|---------------------------|----------|---|------------------------|------------------------|
| Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                                |                     |  |                 | Pennsylvania | 25-Oct-04 | presidential      | Republicans mailed letters to 130,000 people who had registered to vote in the last 6 months. 10,000 came back as undeliverable. The legal counsel to the state party said Republicans had looked at a sample of the letters and found 15 of 100 of the registrants were dead. The director of a nonpartisan organization says in a transient city many people may have moved over a six month period, and many letters might not have reached people living in shelters or substandard housing. | Philadelphia Inquirer     |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | Allegheny       | Pennsylvania | 28-Oct-04 | presidential      | County investigators have launched an investigation into a scam in which University of Pittsburgh and Community College of Allegheny County students believed they were signing petitions to legalize marijuana for medical use, only to find themselves registered as Republicans.  | Pittsburgh Tribune Review |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 4                     |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | East Providence | Rhode Island | 20-Aug-05 | town primary      | Four people charged with using business addresses to register to vote  | Pawtucket Times           |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             | 7                     |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | East Providence | Rhode Island | 2-Dec-05  | municipal         | Nine people are accused of registering at business addresses. Charges against two are dropped because they did not sign the registration cards. Three other defendants have been invited to apply to the adult diversion program. Arraignments were postponed for four others. October 30, 2004: As many as 287 people were originally suspected.  | Providence Journal        |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | Rapid City      | South Dakota | 19-Oct-02 | unclear           | forged registration applications by a worker being paid by the application   | Argus Leader              |          | one indictment on five counts of forgery  | Argus Leader           |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | South Dakota    | South Dakota | 21-Oct-02 | statewide         | Several counties, almost all of them adjoining an American Indian reservation, submit questionable registration forms to law enforcement   | Argus Leader              |          | Red Earth Villeda, a contractor for the Democratic Party, is investigated. SEE SOUTH DAKOTA SUMMARY | Argus Leader           |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                              |                     |  | Rapid City      | South Dakota | 12-Jul-03 | unclear           | Individual reaches plea agreement for falsifying registration cards  | Midwest News              |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             |                       |                     | 1                              |                     |  | Codington       | South Dakota | 28-Jul-04 |                   | A Phoenix man accused of forging voter registration forms in Codington County has been sentenced to prison. Howard L. Brewer, 44, pleaded guilty last month to three counts of forgery. He was charged after the county auditor's office received an envelope in April that contained 20 voter registrations. Eight to 10 of the forms were suspicious.  | AP                        |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | County         |                             |                       |                     |                                | Yes                 |  | Harris          | Texas        | 5-Feb-05  | state legislature | County Tax Assessor-Collector alleges 157 registered had false addresses. County officials are investigating   | Houston Chronicle         |          |   |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 1                     |                     |                                |                     |  | Prince William  | Virginia     | 5-May-05  | state legislature | Candidate charged with lying on a registration card and voting in a district where he did not reside.  | Washington Times          |          |   |                        |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

011819

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State     | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud   | Original Source            | Source 1 | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|-----------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
| Yes                 |                             |                |                             |                       |                     |                               |                     |  | Milwaukee   | Wisconsin | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Citing a new list of more than 37,000 questionable addresses, the state Republican Party demanded that city officials require identification from all of those voters. If the city doesn't, the party says it is prepared to have volunteers challenge each individual -- including thousands who might be missing an apartment number on their registration -- at the polls. Democrats say this is a last minute effort to suppress turnout by creating long delays at the polls. This is in addition to the 5,619 bad addresses the party claimed. The state GOP chair said they had just focussed on Milwaukee because its voter list is a mess and cause for great alarm. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             | Unknown        |                             |                       |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Madison     | Wisconsin | 10-May-05 | presidential     | The vast majority of voters alleged to have been phantoms because their verification forms were returned as undeliverable really exist and their cards were returned because of innocent mistakes in filling out voter registration forms. Of 1,194 verification cards returned, 16 are still be examined   | Wisconsin State Journal    |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 2                     |                     |                               | Yes                 |  | Milwaukee   | Wisconsin | 11-May-05 | presidential     | Arrest warrants issued and felony charges filed against two workers for Project Vote who admitted to filling out multiple registration cards using fictitious information to earn money   | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |          |                                     |                        |                        |
|                     |                             |                |                             | 2                     |                     |                               |                     |  | Milwaukee   | Wisconsin | 6-Dec-05  | presidential     | County DA charges two people affiliated with ACORN for filing false voter registrations   | AP                         |          |                                     |                        |                        |

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City / County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Source 1 | Resolution of Incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|--------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|---------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                          |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |               |       |      |                  |                           |                 |          |                                     |                        |                        |

011821

Voter Registration Fraud

5/9/2007

| Partisan Allegation | Other Source for Allegation? | Investigation? | Other Official Involvement? | Charged (Individuals) | Acquitted/Dismissal | Convicted/guilty pleas (Individuals) | Other determination | Follow-up possible? (Open investigations and/or pending charges) | City/County | State | Date | Type of Election | Alleged instance of fraud | Original Source | Source1 | Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution | Source of Resolution 2 |
|---------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-----------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|--|-------------|-------|------|------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|---------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|------------------------|
|                     |                              |                |                             |                       |                     |                                      |                     |  |             |       |      |                  |                           |                 |         |                                     |                      |                        |

011822

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Wrongful Removal from Registration Lists

011823

| City / County | State      | Date      | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud   | Original Source      | Source1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|---------------|------------|-----------|------------------|---|----------------------|---------|----------|----------|
| Pulaski       | Arkansas   | 16-Apr-04 |                  | The US Department of Justice says county officials have violated election law and proposed a consent decree with the county regarding ballot gathering and counting. The Department investigated registration practices that may have disenfranchised numerous voters, including sending voters to multiple poll sites and voters wrongly missing from the registration list. Under the agreement, the county will fix the problems in the database and DOJ lawyers will monitor polling places and the clerk's office  | AP                   |         |          |          |
|               | Colorado   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential     | Democrats are complaining about an attempt to remove up to 8,000 convicted felons from the electoral roll, at the behest of the state's Republican secretary of state, Donetta Davidson, despite a US federal law that prohibits eliminating a voter's rights within 90 days of an election to give time for the voter to protest.  | The Observer         |         |          |          |
|               | Florida    | 29-Sep-04 | presidential     | Secretary of State Hood tried to revive the discredited 2000 statewide purge list of suspected felons and ex-felons for 2004. That list disproportionately removed black voters from the rolls. The state tried to keep the list secret until forced to release it by court order. When it was released, it was found to contain a disproportionate number of black voters, including 2,000 who had had their rights restored and included several people who could show they had not criminal record at all. In addition, the list of 48,000 contained only 81 Hispanic names, way out of line with the strength of both the general Hispanic population and prison population. Hood was forced to drop the list | The Independent (UK) |         |          |          |
| Newark        | New Jersey | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | More than 200 voters sought court orders because they were turned away from a polling place, mostly because their names were not on voter lists. In 95% of the cases the judges ruled they could cast ballots.  | AP                   |         |          |          |
| Albany        | New York   | 2-Nov-04  | presidential     | Students at SUNY Albany found their names no longer on the voter registration rolls, even though they had voted at the same location in the past  | AP                   |         |          |          |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Wrongful Removal from Registration Lists

6
011828

| Resolution of incident / allegation | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |
|                                     |                        |                        |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

1
 01833

| City/County  | State      | Date                       | Type of Election | Alleged Instance of fraud  | Original Source                    | Source 1 | Source 2 | Source 3 |
|--------------|------------|----------------------------|------------------|--|------------------------------------|----------|----------|----------|
|              | Arkansas   | 23-Oct-02                  |                  | At least six dead people tried to register to vote, including one helped by a person also listed on campaign-spending reports as having received $100 from the state Democratic party, said Marty Ryall, Republican Party chairman. Michael Cook, executive director of the Arkansas Democratic Party, said a former staffer had hired two teenagers to register voters and that they took names directly from the phone book. He said the incident happened seven months ago and that party officials are cooperating with the U.S. Attorney's Office.                             | Washington Times                   |          |          |          |
| 0            | California | 16-May-02                  |                  | A Lafayette man has been charged with voter fraud after registering his toy poodle, Barnabas, to vote, a move he says was meant to show lax registration oversight. Donald Miller, 78, has been charged with misdemeanor voter fraud. The Contra Costa County district attorney's office found out about the stunt after reports about Barnabas being called for jury duty in March.   | AP                                 |          |          |          |
| 18th CD      | California | 3-Jun-02                   | congressional    | Several voters have said they were tricked into registering to vote as Republicans when they were told they were signing a petition to lower taxes or applying for a rebate from the power company or some other falsehood.  | Roll Call                          |          |          |          |
| Stockton     | California | 13-Jul-02                  | congressional    | A Stockton man hired to register Republican voters pleaded guilty to forging someone's name on a voter registration card. The conviction is the first arising from a Republican funded voter registration drive that Democrats allege involved fraud.  | Modesto Bee                        |          |          |          |
| Lynwood      | California | 16-Oct-03                  | city council     | Eight family members of a councilman are charged with registering at nonexistent addresses   | Los Angeles Times                  |          |          |          |
| Stockton     | California | 24-Mar-04                  | unclear          | paid worker pleads guilty to a misdemeanor charge of forging six registration cards in 2001  | Recordnet                          |          |          |          |
| Solano       | California | 20-Oct-04                  | presidential     | Solano County elections officers, suspecting fraud, have sent about 150 voter registration forms to the California Secretary of State's Office for examination. Officials say the questionable forms are the products of intense efforts by both Democrats and Republicans to register voters for the upcoming presidential election. That zeal, further fueled by cash given to so-called "bounty hunters" who sign up voters, may lead to intentional errors on voter forms, officials said - a misspelled name, a fabricated street address, a rearranged Social Security number. | Tri-Valley Herald (Pleasanton, CA) |          |          |          |
| Hayward City | California | 1-Nov-05                   | school board     | Roger Treskunoff, 51, a former school board candidate and former Hayward City Councilman was charged with creating fictitious names and registering those names as voters with the Alameda County Registrar of Voters.   | Contra Costa Times                 |          |          |          |
| San Joaquin  | California | March 24, 200; 4/6/16/2005 | state senate     | County says it is examining 1500 voter registration cards for fraud because of similar looking signatures.   | Recordnet                          |          |          |          |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

2
 011824

|        |          |           |              |   |                              |  |  |  |
|--------|----------|-----------|--------------|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Denver | Colorado | 16-Oct-04 | presidential | A worker at the Election Commission found a registration form with her own name on it. When another form was cross-referenced with Vital Records, it was found to be from a dead person. Denver workers have forwarded 200 suspicious registrants to the DA. The voter outreach coordinator says the computer immediately flags names of voters who have registered more than once. Several other counties have found suspect voter registration forms.   | Rocky Mountain News          |  |  |  |
|        | Colorado | 17-Oct-04 | presidential | The Secretary of State accused the Attorney General of not doing enough to prosecute potential ballot crimes. The Secretary confirmed that 6,000 felons are registered to vote. A Denver woman told a TV station she had registered to vote 25 times and signed up several friends up to 40 times to help her boyfriend, a paid staffer for a community group registering voters  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
|        | Colorado | 18-Oct-04 | presidential | With just two weeks before the Nov. 2 election, the state has been rocked by evidence that some voter-registration drives have submitted applications with forged signatures. In other cases, would-be voters have applied to vote as many as 40 times.At the same time, some registration drives have collected applications and then failed to submit them by the Oct. 4 deadline, prompting Secretary of State Donetta Davidson to announce the use of provisional ballots last week.At yesterday's meeting with county clerks and district attorneys, Mrs. Davidson announced procedures for accepting provisional ballots, which are issued to people who say they have registered but whose names fail to appear on the voter roll. Such ballots would be marked "VRD," for "Voter Registration Drive." The would-be voter would have to produce identification and tell when and where they registered. The ballot later would be checked against the state's voter data-bases. The clerks are referring cases that appear to be blatant fraud, such as forged signatures, to the county attorneys. Bill Ritter, the Denver district attorney, said he saw no pattern of a conspiracy to cheat.But he said he saw no pattern of a conspiracy to cheat. | Washington Times             |  |  |  |
| Denver | Colorado | 28-Oct-04 | presidential | Denver prosecutors charged two people Wednesday with falsely filling out multiple voter forms to boost their pay in a paid registration drive. Criminal cases are pending against four people for questionable registrations in the metro area, and there may be more before investigations are completed.  | Rocky Mountain News          |  |  |  |
| Orange | Florida  | 31-Oct-02 | state senate | The State Attorney is investigating charges of illegal changes to party affiliations on voter registration cards for a primary. The scheme seems to have been targetted at Hispanics.   | Orlando Sentinel             |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|       |         |           |                          |   |                       |  |  |  |
|-------|---------|-----------|--------------------------|---|-----------------------|--|--|--|
|       | Florida | 23-Oct-04 | presidential             | Officials say that more than 4,200 students from many colleges and universities in the state had their party affiliation switched without them knowing and tricked into registering Republican when they were asked to sign an assortment of petitions and forms. Some students attributed the work to a company working for the Republican Party   | AP                    |  |  |  |
| Duval | Florida | 29-Oct-04 | presidential             | Elections officials asked prosecutors to investigate possible voter fraud involving 25 registration forms with apparently bogus addresses.  | Telegraph Herald (IA) |  |  |  |
|       | Florida | 31-Oct-04 | presidential             | Students at Florida State and Florida A&M universities, some of whom signed petitions to legalize medical marijuana or impose stiffer penalties for child molesters, unknowingly had their party registration switched to Republican and their addresses changed. Officials say students at the University of Florida in Alachua County have made similar complaints and that about 4,000 potential voters in all have been affected. Local papers have traced some of the problems to a group hired by the Florida Republican Party, which has denounced the shenanigans. Switching voters' party affiliations does not affect their ability to vote, but changing addresses does, because when voters shows up at their proper polling places, they will not be registered there. | Washington Post       |  |  |  |
|       | Florida | 15-Dec-05 | constitutional amendment | Fourteen months after a campaign to increase Florida's minimum wage drew allegations of voter fraud, a federal judge in South Florida has ruled at least some of those accusations against grass roots political group ACORN were so baseless they amount to defamation. Stuart alleged that ACORN improperly handled registration forms when it conducted voter registration drives, including not submitting Republican registrations to election officials. The judge upheld ACORN's counterclaim that Stuart's lack of evidence made his allegations libel and slander. An investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement also found no evidence of criminal activity at ACORN, department officials confirmed Wednesday.   | St. Petersburg Times  |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

4
 011836

|                 |           |           |               |   |                            |  |  |  |
|-----------------|-----------|-----------|---------------|---|----------------------------|--|--|--|
| Fulton County   | Georgia   | 4-Nov-05  | presidential  | The U.S. attorney for Georgia's Northern District is investigating the circumstances surrounding more than 2,400 "entirely fraudulent" voter registration applications submitted to Fulton County prior to the November 2004 elections, county elections officials say. Most of those suspect applications were submitted to the Georgia Secretary of State in September 2004 by the Georgia Coalition for the Peoples' Agenda, according to Atlanta attorney Harry W. MacDougald, a member of the Fulton County Board of Registration and Elections. Details of the federal investigation surfaced as part of litigation that challenges as unconstitutional Georgia's new voter photo identification law. Common Cause v. Billups. No. 4:05CV201 (N.D. Ga.). MacDougald made the investigation public in an affidavit submitted on behalf of defendants in the case | Fulton County Daily Report |  |  |  |
| Chicago         | Illinois  | 12-Mar-04 | primary       | Chicago election officials say as many as 2,000 fraudulent voter registrations have turned up in advance of Tuesday's primary election. Two suspects are under investigation, the Chicago Tribune said, both of whom gathered registrations on behalf of the Puerto Rico Federal Affairs Administration.  | UPI                        |  |  |  |
| East St. Louis  | Illinois  | 30-Oct-04 | supreme court | Illinois Republicans on Friday urged officials to look into "potential instances of massive voter fraud" in East St. Louis, showing pictures of an East St. Louis Democratic precinct committeemen's home that dozens of people registered to vote have listed as their address. But it turns out that that address and another called into question aren't single-family homes but are boarding houses or apartments that may house dozens of people.  | St. Louis Post Dispatch    |  |  |  |
| Anderson        | Indiana   | 11-Mar-04 | unclear       | Voter registered under the address of his rental property in another town faces perjury charges   | WishTV                     |  |  |  |
| St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Jul-03 | city council  | 5 people are arraigned on charges of including false information on their voter registration cards  | Daily Advertiser           |  |  |  |
| St. Martinville | Louisiana | 17-Dec-03 | city council  | City Councilwoman indicted for submitting false information to register to vote during her reelection campaign and persuaded three people not in the district to fill out registration forms; the voters were charged as well   | 2 The Advocate             |  |  |  |
|                 | Maryland  | 17-Jun-01 |               | An 82-year-old woman signed her dog's name on a voter registration card to test the system. No charges were filed.  | Washington Post            |  |  |  |
| Lansing         | Michigan  | 28-Oct-04 | presidential  | Ingham County sheriff's detectives have turned over to prosecutors the findings of their investigation into hundreds of phony voter registration forms from a state advocacy group. It appeared that some PIRGIM workers went through a Lansing phone book and forged people's signatures on forms  | Lansing State Journal      |  |  |  |
| Coates          | Minnesota | 31-Oct-02 | all           | 94 voter registration forms had false addresses matching a strip club   | Washington Times           |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011837

|             |           |           |  |   |                              |  |  |  |
|-------------|-----------|-----------|--|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
| Minneapolis | Minnesota | 17-Oct-04 | presidential   | A former ACORN official arrested for running a stop sign had 300 voter registration forms, some of them months old, in his trunk. State law requires they be submitted to the secretary of state within 10 days.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 7-Mar-01  | city   | St. Louis Prosecutor Jennifer Joyce convened a grand jury that is investigating 3,800 suspect voter registration cards, including several for dead aldermen. The cards were turned in Feb. 7, the deadline to register voters. Joyce said there have been no indictments.   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Apr-01 | presidentialgeneral electionand mayoralprimary | FBI subpoenas election board records on all people who registered to vote, cast ballots, was turned away at the polls, or whose voter registration was rejected from October 1 [2000] through March 6 [2001]; Senator Bond calls for further investigations because his office learned from state election officials that 24,000 registered voters in the city and 33,000 voters in the county were registered to vote somewhere else | St. Louis Post-Dispatch      |  |  |  |
| St. Louis   | Missouri  | 17-Dec-04 | mayoral  | Six plead guilty to dozens of crimes involving falsifying voter registration forms  | St. Louis Post Dispatch      |  |  |  |
|             | Nevada    | 17-Oct-04 | presidential   | Democrats said Voters Outreach of America, a Republican funded registration group run by Sprouls & Associates, destroyed Democratic voter registration forms. A former employee of the group told a Nevada TV station that registrations collected from Democrats had been destroyed instead of filed with the elections office. The head of the company denied the accusations   | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

6
 011838

|                   |                |           |                |   |                      |  |  |  |
|-------------------|----------------|-----------|----------------|---|----------------------|--|--|--|
| Clark County      | Nevada         | 31-Oct-04 | presidential   | Voting Registrar Lomax said he found that canvassers returned stacks of 1,000 completed registration forms that often contained 30 to 50 applications filled out in the same handwriting. Lomax had no total figure for such fraudulent registrations. He also found that canvassers registered the same individuals several times over the span of a week. Some legitimately registered voters called to ask why they were getting registration forms--with their party affiliation changed, Lomax said. Apparently some canvassers went through the phone book and reregistered people without their consent, listing their parties incorrectly, Lomax said. Though registration drive organizers told Lomax's office that canvassers were paid by the hour, many canvassers told his staff and even provided pay stubs that showed they were paid $2 for every completed registration form they collected in malls, stores and neighborhoods, Lomax said. "They were on both sides. It wasn't just Democrats, it wasn't just Republicans," Lomax said. "The money was clearly the root of all evil here. They were paying people to register the voter." | Chicago Tribune      |  |  |  |
|                   | New Mexico     | 10-Sep-04 |                | US Attorney forms a task force after finding two teenagers registered to vote   | Albuquerque Journal  |  |  |  |
| Bernalillo County | New Mexico     | 15-Sep-04 | presidential   | Three Republican candidates want to examine all voter registration forms sub-mitted by a woman who, while working for a group that signs up new voters, reg-istered a 13-year-old New Mexico boy.   | AP                   |  |  |  |
|                   | New York       | 19-Sep-02 | gubernatorial  | Dead voters were among the thousands of flawed voter registrations submitted by campaign workers of Governor Pataki during an enrollment drive, New York City officials determined  | Poughkeepsie Journal |  |  |  |
| Bronx             | New York       | 23-Jun-03 | gubernatorial  | Bronx DA and a grand jury investigate whether Rikers Island supervisors filled out registration cards in the names of inmates (such inmates are eligible to vote)   | Newsday              |  |  |  |
| Queens            | New York       | 15-Sep-04 | state assembly | About 100 people in the Flushing area gave commercial addresses on voter registration forms, raising suspicion at polling sites yesterday that may cast a shadow over the assembly race.  | Newsday              |  |  |  |
| Greensboro        | North Carolina | 6-Dec-01  |                | Imtiaz Ahmed Siddiqui pleaded guilty Thursday to voter fraud in a brief fed-eral court hearing that included no mention of the allegation that he may be ac-quainted with terrorists. Siddiqui, 31, answering questions in halting English, admitted he signed a voter registration form that identified him as a U.S. citizen when he got a driver's license in Durham in August. He is a citizen of Pakistan.   | AP                   |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|                    |                |           |              |   |                     |  |  |  |
|--------------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|---|---------------------|--|--|--|
| Charlotte          | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 | presidential | Officials are investigating ACORN because an ACORN organizer found that one of its workers had faked about 70 registrations. The worker was fired and the information turned over to the state board. A similar problem with a consumer interest group in Wake County has also been turned over to state officials  | Charlotte Observer  |  |  |  |
|                    | North Carolina | 24-Oct-04 |              | The Charlotte Observer found more than 60,000 people who appear to be registered in both Carolinas. Alamance County Sheriff says illegal immigrants are registering to vote using false documents at drivers license offices. North Carolina is investigating two groups that may have falsely registered new voters. Some are worried that noncitizens could vote because in North Carolina one can get a drivers license without a social security number. The Elections division and the DMV ran two checks of people who received drivers licenses without proof of citizenship and found only a handful who had resgistered to vote. | AP                  |  |  |  |
| Mecklenburg County | North Carolina | 28-Sep-05 |              | Mecklenburg County commissioner Bill James and Libertarian Lewis Guignard formally challenged the registration of more than 400 homeless voters Tuesday, saying they had improperly registered using commercial addresses. James and Guignard said the 464 voters challenged in their complaint incorrectly used the addresses of the Urban Ministries at 945 N. College St., the Charlotte Rescue Mission at 907 W. First St. or the Salvation Army at 534 Spratt St. to register, even though those are commercial addresses where the voters could not permanently live.   | Charlotte Observer  |  |  |  |
| Cincinnati         | Ohio           | 20-Aug-03 | city council | More than 70 people have claimed a Walnut Hills tailoring shop as their home address while registering to vote, leading the Hamilton County Board of Elections to subpoena the tailor, who is a candidate for Cincinnati City Council.  | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |  |  |
| Franklin           | Ohio           | 8-Sep-04  | presidential | A part-time worker for ACORN was indicted for falsely filling out and signing a voter registration card   | Columbus Dispatch   |  |  |  |
|                    | Ohio           | 15-Oct-04 | presidential | In Hamilton County, the Board of Elections has subpoenaed 19 registered voters who elections officials don't believe exist. The Summit County Board of Elections in Akron has asked Ohio Attorney General Jim Petro to investigate 803 allegedly fraudulent voter-registration cards, many of which appeared to be in the same handwriting. In Lake County, east of Cleveland, several voter-registration cards seem to have forged signatures, elections officials say.  | Cincinnati Enquirer |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011840

|          |        |           |              |   |                              |  |  |  |
|----------|--------|-----------|--------------|---|------------------------------|--|--|--|
|          | Ohio   | 20-Oct-04 | presidential | State GOP Chair says that the party tried to contact 231,834 new registrants in the five largest counties and had 5.7% returned as undeliverable.   | Columbus Dispatch            |  |  |  |
| Defiance | Ohio   | 31-Oct-04 | presidential | The sheriff arrested a man for submitting 130 phony registration forms with such names as Mary Poppins and Dick Tracy. Authorities say he confessed to being paid in crack cocaine by an NAACP volunteer.   | Dallas Morning News          |  |  |  |
| Parma    | Ohio   | 9-Jan-05  | presidential | Three police officers are being investigated on accusations that they listed police headquarters as their home addresses when registering for the Nov. 2 election, officials said.  | AP                           |  |  |  |
|          | Oregon | 17-Oct-04 | presidential | The Secretary of State announced an investigation into allegations that a paid canvasser with Sproul & Associates had been told to register only Republicans. The head of the organization denied the accusations.  | Atlanta Journal Constitution |  |  |  |
|          | Oregon | 30-Oct-04 | presidential | Chemeketa community colleges, Western Oregon University and the University of Oregon all told similar stories: They were approached on campus and asked to sign a petition, often urging lower auto-mobile insurance rates for students, and then asked to sign or initial a second document, which turned out to be a voter registration card. Many of the students were urged to mark Republican as their party affiliation; others were told to leave the party affiliation section blank but to put their initials next to Republican on that part of the form. Many of the students already were registered voters. Some students didn't realize they were registering to vote, or that their party affiliation was about to change. Nathan Sproul, whose company conducted the registration drive, did not respond to calls seeking comment. His firm has been accused of using similar tactics involving bogus petitions at colleges in Pennsylvania, according to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. In an earlier interview with The Oregonian, Sproul confirmed that his canvassers are paid a "bounty" | Newhouse News Service        |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|                 |              |           |                   |  |                           |  |  |  |  |
|-----------------|--------------|-----------|-------------------|--|---------------------------|--|--|--|--|
|                 | Pennsylvania | 25-Oct-04 | presidential      | Republicans mailed letters to 130,000 people who had registered to vote in the last 6 months. 10,000 came back as undeliverable. The legal counsel to the state party said Republicans had looked at a sample of the letters and found 15 of 100 of the registrants were dead. The director of a nonpartisan organization says in a transient city many people may have moved over a six month period, and many letters might not have reached people living in shelters or substandard housing. | Philadelphia Inquirer     |  |  |  |  |
| Allegheny       | Pennsylvania | 28-Oct-04 | presidential      | County investigators have launched an investigation into a scam in which University of Pittsburgh and Community College of Allegheny County students believed they were signing petitions to legalize marijuana for medical use, only to find themselves registered as Republicans.  | Pittsburgh Tribune Review |  |  |  |  |
| East Providence | Rhode Island | 20-Aug-05 | town primary      | Four people charged with using business addresses to register to vote  | Pawtucket Times           |  |  |  |  |
| East Providence | Rhode Island | 2-Dec-05  | municipal         | Nine people are accused of registering at business addresses. Charges against two are dropped because they did not sign the registration cards. Three other defendants have been invited to apply to the adult diversion program. Arraignments were postponed for four others. October 30, 2004: As many as 287 people were originally suspected.  | Providence Journal        |  |  |  |  |
| Rapid City      | South Dakota | 19-Oct-02 | unclear           | forged registration applications by a worker being paid by the application   | Argus Leader              |  |  |  |  |
|                 | South Dakota | 21-Oct-02 | statewide         | Several counties, almost all of them adjoining an American Indian reservation, submit questionable registration forms to law enforcement   | Argus Leader              |  |  |  |  |
| Rapid City      | South Dakota | 12-Jul-03 | unclear           | Individual reaches plea agreement for falsifying registration cards  | Midwest News              |  |  |  |  |
| Codington       | South Dakota | 28-Jul-04 |                   | A Phoenix man accused of forging voter registration forms in Codington County has been sentenced to prison. Howard L. Brewer, 44, pleaded guilty last month to three counts of forgery. He was charged after the county auditor's office received an envelope in April that contained 20 voter registrations. Eight to 10 of the forms were suspicious.  | AP                        |  |  |  |  |
| Harris          | Texas        | 5-Feb-05  | state legislature | County Tax Assessor-Collector alleges 157 registered had false addresses. County officials are investigating   | Houston Chronicle         |  |  |  |  |
| Prince William  | Virginia     | 5-May-05  | state legislature | Candidate charged with lying on a registration card and voting in a district where he did not reside.  | Washington Times          |  |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|           |           |           |              |  |                            |  |  |  |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|--------------|--|----------------------------|--|--|--|
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 31-Oct-04 | presidential | Citing a new list of more than 37,000 questionable addresses, the state Republican Party demanded that city officials require identification from all of those voters. If the city doesn't, the party says it is prepared to have volunteers challenge each individual -- including thousands who might be missing an apartment number on their registration - at the polls. Democrats say this is a last minute effort to suppress turnout by creating long delays at the polls. This is in addition to the 5,619 bad addresses the party claimed. The state GOP chair said they had just focussed on Milwaukee because its voter list is a mess and cause for great alarm. | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |
| Madison   | Wisconsin | 10-May-05 | presidential | The vast majority of voters alleged to have been phantoms because their verification forms were returned as undeliverable really exist and their cards were returned because of innocent mistakes in filling out voter registration forms. Of 1,194 verification cards returned, 16 are still be examined  | Wisconsin State Journal    |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 11-May-05 | presidential | Arrest warrants issued and felony charges filed against two workers for Project Vote who admitted to filling out multiple registration cards using fictitious information to earn money  | Milwaukee Journal Sentinel |  |  |  |
| Milwaukee | Wisconsin | 6-Dec-05  | presidential | County DA charges two people affiliated with ACORN for filing false voter registrations  | AP                         |  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
 Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011846

| Resolution of Incident / allegation  | Source of Resolution 1 | Source of Resolution 2 |
|--|------------------------|------------------------|
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
|  |                        |                        |
| June 2005: Paid worker charged with five felony counts of forging voter registration cards (none resulted in fraudulent votes) | Modesto Bee            |                        |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011849

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011849

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

18
011850

|   |  |  |
|---|--|--|
|   |  |  |
| Nine people are slated to be indicted today on charges of collecting or de-destroying 3,800 bogus voter registration cards that were submitted to the St. Louis Election Board on Feb. 7, 2001, the last day for registering to vote in the hotly contested mayoral primary in March. Nine people have been indicted for trying to register fraudulent voters and destroy the evidence. State registration forms now are numbered and a record is kept of which cards have gone to which groups for voter registration drives. The fake registrations are linked to four temporary workers who had been employed by ACORN. | 11/7/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch      | 11/11/2003, St. Louis Post Dispatch |
| Three workers are charged with turning in fraudulent voter registration applications a few weeks before the mayoral primary.   | St. Louis Post-Dispatch (March 5, 2002) |  |
| Prosecutor says all the cards were caught and no one voted illegally.  | St. Louis Post-Dispatch                 |  |
|   |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011851

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011852

|  |           |                      |
|--|-----------|----------------------|
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
|  |           |                      |
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005 | Akron Beacon Journal |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011853

|   |                  |                             |
|---|------------------|-----------------------------|
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 8-Nov-05  | Akron Beacon Journal |
| An Akron woman was charged with filling out false registration cards. She may be the only person to face criminal charges after a yearlong state and federal investigation. A task force of state, federal and local investigators was launched last year after hundreds of fake registrations were apparently filed throughout Ohio. The investigation resulted in no federal indictments. The two fake registration cards traced to the woman were turned in by Project Vote and not submitted to the Board because the organization thought they were suspicious. | 11/8/2005 | Akron Beacon Journal |
|   |                  |                             |
|   |                  |                             |
|   |                  |                             |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

011854

|   |              |  |
|---|--------------|--|
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
| one indictment on five counts of forgery  | Argus Leader |  |
| Red Eart h Viliteda, a contractor for the Democratic Party, is investigated. SEE SOUTH DAKOTA SUMMARY | Argus Leader |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |
|   |              |  |

EAC Voting Fraud-Voter Intimidation Preliminary Research
Nexis Articles - Voter Registration Fraud

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

23
011855

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011859

Wade Henderson, Executive Director, Leadership Conference for Civil Rights

Data Collection

Mr. Henderson had several recommendations as to how to better gather additional information and data on election fraud and intimidation in recent years. He suggested interviewing the following individuals who have been actively involved in Election Protection and other similar efforts:

- Jon Greenbaum, Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights
- Tanya Clay, People for the American Way
- Melanie, Campbell, National Coalition for Black Political Participation
- Larry Gonzalez, National Association of Latino Election Officers
- Jacqueline Johnson, National Congress of American Indians
- Chellie Pingree, Common Cause
- Jim Dickson, disability rights advocate
- Mary Berry, former Chair of the US Commission on Civil Rights, currently at the University of Pennsylvania
- Judith Browne and Eddie Hailes, Advancement Project (former counsel to the US Commission on Civil Rights)
- Robert Rubin, Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights – San Francisco Office
- Former Senator Tom Daschle (currently a fellow at The Center for American Progress)

He also recommended we review the following documents and reports:

- The 2004 litigation brought by the Advancement Project and SEIU under the 1981 New Jersey Consent Decree
- Forthcoming LCCR state-by-state report on violations of the Voting Rights Act
- Forthcoming Lawyers Committee report on violations of the Voting Rights Act (February 21)

Types of Fraud and Intimidation Occurring

Mr. Henderson said he believed that the kinds of voter intimidation and suppression tactics employed over the last five years are ones that have evolved over many years. They are sometimes racially based, sometimes based on partisan motives. He believes the following types of activity have actually occurred, and are not just a matter of anecdote and innuendo, and rise to the level of either voter intimidation or vote suppression:

- Flyers with intentional misinformation, such as ones claiming that if you do not have identification, you cannot vote, and providing false dates for the election
- Observers with cameras, which people associate with potential political retribution or even violence
- Intimidating police presence at the polls
- Especially in jurisdictions that authorize challenges, the use of challenge lists and challengers goes beyond partisanship to racial suppression and intimidation
- Unequal deployment of voting equipment, such as occurred in Ohio. Also, he has seen situations in which historically Black colleges will have one voting machine while other schools will have more.

Mr. Henderson believes that these matters are not pursued formally because often they involve activities that current law does not reach. For example, there is no law prohibiting a Secretary of State from being the head of a political campaign, and then deploying voting machines in an uneven manner. There is no way to pursue that. Also, once the election is over, civil litigation becomes moot. Finally, sometimes upon reflection after the campaign, some of the activities are not as sinister as believed at the time.

Mr. Henderson believes government does not engage in a sustained investigation of these matters or pursue any kind of resolution to them. LCCR has filed a FOIA request with both the Civil Rights Division and the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice to examine this issue.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

01860

Election Protection activities will be intensified for the 2006 elections, although the focus may shift somewhat given the implementation of new HAVA requirements.

Recommendations for Reform

There was tremendous concern after the 2004 election about conflicts of interest – the “Blackwell problem” – whereby a campaign chair is also in charge of the voting system. We need to get away from that.

He also supports Senator Barak Obama’s bill regarding deceptive practices, and is opposed to the voter identification laws passing many state legislatures.

- States should adopt election-day registration, in order to boost turnout as well as to allow eligible voters to immediately rectify erroneous or improperly purged registration records
- Expansion of early voting & no-excuse absentee voting, to boost turnout and reduce the strain on election-day resources.
- Provisional ballot reforms:
  - Should be counted statewide – if cast in the wrong polling place, votes should still be counted in races for which the voter was eligible to vote (governor, etc.)
  - Provisional ballots should also function as voter registration applications, to increase the likelihood that voters will be properly registered in future elections
- Voter ID requirements: states should allow voters to use signature attestation to establish their identity
- The Department of Justice should increase enforcement of Americans with Disabilities Act and the accessibility requirements of the Help America Vote Act
- Statewide registration databases should be linked to social service agency databases
- Prohibit chief state election officials from simultaneously participating in partisan electoral campaigns within their states
- Create and enforce strong penalties for deceptive or misleading voting practices

Wendy Weiser, Deputy Director, Democracy Program, The Brennan Center

Brennan Center findings on fraud

The Brennan Center's primary work on fraud is their report for the Carter Baker Commission with commissioner Spencer Overton, written in response to the Commission's ID recommendations. Brennan reviewed all existing reports and election contests related to voter fraud. They believe the contests serve as an especially good record of whether or not fraud exists, as the parties involved in contested elections have a large incentive to root out fraudulent voters. Yet despite this, the incidence of voter impersonation fraud discovered is extremely low—something on the order 1/10000th of a percentage of voters. See also the brief Brennan filed on 11th circuit in Georgia photo ID case which cites sources in Carter Baker report and argues the incidence of voter fraud too low to justify countermeasures.

Among types of fraud, they found impersonation, or polling place fraud, is probably the least frequent type, although other types, such as absentee ballot fraud are also very infrequent. Weiser believes this is because impersonation fraud is more likely to be caught and is therefore not worth the risk. Unlike in an absentee situation, actual poll workers are present to disrupt impersonation fraud, for instance, by catching the same individual voting twice. She believes perhaps one half to one quarter of the time the person will be caught. Also, there is a chance the pollworker will have personal knowledge of the person. Georgia Secretary of State Cathy Cox has mentioned that there are many opportunities for discovery of in person fraud as well. For example, if one votes in the name of another voter, and that voter shows up at the polls, the fraud will be discovered.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011861

Weiser believes court proceedings in election contests are especially useful. Some are very extensive, with hundreds of voters brought up by each side and litigated. In both pre-election challenges and post-election contests, parties have devoted extraordinary resources into 'smoking out' fraudulent voters. Justin Leavitt at Brennan scoured such proceedings for the Carter Baker report, which includes these citations. Contact him for answers to particular questions.

Countermeasures/statewide databases

Brennan has also considered what states are doing to combat impersonation fraud besides photo ID laws, although again, it seems to be the rarest kind of fraud, beyond statistically insignificant. In the brief Brennan filed in the Georgia case, the Center detailed what states are already doing to effectively address fraud. In another on the web site includes measures that can be taken that no states have adopted yet. Weiser adds that an effort to look at strategies states have to prevent fraud, state variations, effectiveness, ease of enforcement would be very useful.

Weiser believes the best defense against fraud will be better voter lists—she argues the fraud debate is actually premature because states have yet to fully implement the HAVA database requirement. This should eliminate a great deal of 'deadwood' on voter rolls and undermine the common argument that fraud is made possible by this deadwood. This was the experience for Michigan, which was able to remove 600,000 names initially, and later removed almost 1 million names from their rolls. It is fairly easy to cull deadwood from lists due to consolidation at the state level—most deadwood is due to individuals moving within the state and poor communication between jurisdictions. (Also discuss with Chris Thomas, who masterminded the Michigan database for more information and a historical perspective.)

Regarding the question of whether the effect of this maintenance on fraud in Michigan can be quantified, Weiser would caution against drawing direct lines between list problems and fraud. Brennan has found various groups abusing the existence of list deadwood to make claims about fraudulent voting. This is analyzed in greater detail in the Brennan Center's critique of a purge list produced by the NJ Republican party, and was illustrated by the purge list produced by the state of Florida. When compiling such lists and doing comparisons, sound statistical methods must be utilized, and often are not.

The NJ GOP created a list and asked NJ election officials to purge names of ineligible voters on it. Their list assumed that people appearing on the list twice had voted twice. Brennan found their assumptions shoddy and based on incorrect statistical practices, such as treating individuals with the same name and birthdays as duplicates, although this is highly unlikely according to proper statistical methods. Simply running algorithms on voter lists creates a number of false positives, does not provide an accurate basis for purging, and should not be taken as an indicator of fraud.

Regarding the Florida purge list, faulty assumptions caused the list to systematically exclude Hispanics while overestimating African Americans. Matching protocols required that race fields match exactly, despite inconsistent fields across databases.

The kinds of list comparisons that are frequently done to allege fraud are unreliable. Moreover, even if someone is on a voter list twice, that does not mean that voter has voted twice. That, in fact, is almost never the case.

Ultimately, even matching protocols without faulty assumptions will have a 4 percent to 35 percent error rate —that's simply the nature of database work. Private industry has been working on improving this for years. Now that HAVA has introduced a matching requirement, even greater skepticism is called for in judging the accuracy of list maintenance.

Intimidation and Suppression

Brennan does not have a specific focus here, although they do come across it and have provided assistance on bills to prevent suppression and intimidation. They happen to have an extensive paper file of intimidating fliers and related stories from before the 2004 election. (They can supply copies after this week).

Challengers

Brennan has analyzed cases where challenger laws have been beneficial and where they have been abused. See the decision and record

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011862

from the 1982 NJ vs. RNC case for some of the history of these laws. Brennan is currently working on developing a model challenger law. Weiser believes challenge laws with no requirement that the challenger have any specific basis for the challenge or showing of ineligibility are an invitation to blanket harassing challenges and have a range of pitfalls. State laws are vague and broad and often involve arcane processes such as where voters are required to meet a challenge within 5 days. There are incentives for political abuse, potential for delaying votes and disrupting the polls, and they are not necessarily directed toward the best result. Furthermore, when a voter receives a mailer alleging vote fraud with no basis, even the mere fact of a challenge can be chilling. A voter does not want to have to go through a quasi-court proceeding in order to vote.

Brennan recommends challenge processes that get results before election, minimize the burden for voters, and are restricted at polling place to challenges by poll workers and election officials, not voters. They believe limitless challenges can lead to pandemonium—that once the floodgates are open they won't stop.

Recommendations

- Intimidation— Weiser believes Sen. Barak Obama's bill is a good one for combating voter harassment and deceptive practices. Many jurisdictions do not currently have laws prohibiting voter harassment and deceptive practices.
- Fraud— Current state and federal codes seem sufficient for prosecuting fraud. Weiser doesn't consider them under-enforced, and sees no need for additional laws.
- Voter lists— New legislation or regulations are needed to provide clear guidance and standards for generating voter lists and purging voters, otherwise states could wrongfully disenfranchise eligible voters.
- Challengers—Challenge laws need to be reformed, especially ones that allow for pre-election mass challenges with no real basis. There is no one size fits all model for challenger legislation, but some bad models involving hurdles for voters lead to abuse and should be reformed. There should be room for poll workers to challenge fraudulent voters, but not for abuse.

Also useful would be recommendations for prosecutors investigating fraudulent activity, How should they approach these cases? How should they approach cases of large scale fraud/intimidation? While there is sufficient legislative cover to get at any election fraud activity, questions remain about what proper approaches and enforcement strategies should be.

William Groth, attorney for the plaintiffs in the Indiana voter identification litigation

Fraud in Indiana

Indiana has never charged or prosecuted anyone for polling place fraud. Nor has any empirical evidence of voter impersonation fraud or dead voter fraud been presented. In addition, there is no record of any credible complaint about voter impersonation fraud in Indiana. State legislators signed an affidavit that said there had never been impostor voting in Indiana. At the same time, the Indiana Supreme Court has not necessarily required evidence of voter fraud before approving legislative attempts to address fraud.

The state attorney general has conceded that there is no concrete fraud in Indiana, but has instead referred to instances of fraud in other states. Groth filed a detailed motion to strike evidence such as John Fund's book relating to other states, arguing that none of that evidence was presented to the legislature and that it should have been in the form of sworn affidavits, so that it would have some indicia of verifiability.

Photo ID law

By imposing restrictive ID measures, Groth contends you will discourage 1,000 times more legitimate voters than illegitimate voters you might protect against. He feels the implementation of a REAL ID requirement is an inadequate justification for the law, as it will not affect the upcoming 2006 election where thousands of registered voters will be left without proper ID. In addition, he questions whether REAL ID will be implemented as planned in 2008 considering the backlash against the law so far. He also feels ID laws are unconstitutional because of inconsistent application.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011863

Statewide database as remedy

Groth believes many problems will be addressed by the statewide database required under HAVA. To the extent that the rolls in Indiana are bloated, it is because state officials have not complied with NVRA list maintenance requirements. Thus, it is somewhat disingenuous for them to use bloated voter rolls as a reason for imposing additional measures such as the photo ID law. Furthermore, the state has ceded to the counties the obligation to do maintenance programs, which results in a hit or miss process (see discussion in reply brief, p 26 through p. 28).

Absentee fraud

To the extent that there has been an incidence of fraud, these have all been confined to absentee balloting. Most notably the East Chicago mayoral election case where courts found absentee voting fraud had occurred. See: Pabey vs. Pastrick 816 NE 2nd 1138 Decision by the Indiana Supreme Court in 2004.

Intimidation and vote suppression

Groth is only aware of anecdotal evidence supporting intimidation and suppression activities. While he considers the sources of this evidence credible, it is still decidedly anecdotal. Instances he is aware of include police cars parked in front of African American polling places. However, most incidents of suppression which are discussed occurred well in the past. Trevor Davidson claims a fairly large scale intimidation program in Louisville.

Challengers

There was widespread information that the state Republican Party had planned a large scale challenger operation in Democratic precincts for 2004, but abandoned the plan at the last minute.

Last year the legislature made a crucial change to election laws which will allow partisan challengers to be physically inside the polling area next to members of the precinct board. Previously, challengers at the polling place have been restricted to the 'chute,' which provides a buffer zone between voting and people engaging in political activity. That change will make it much easier to challenge voters. As there is no recorded legislative history in Indiana, it is difficult to determine the justification behind this change. As both chambers and the governorship are under single-party control, the challenger statute was passed under the radar screen.

Photo ID and Challengers

Observers are especially concerned about how this change will work in conjunction with the photo ID provision. Under the law, there are at least two reasons why a member of the precinct board or a challenger can raise object to an ID: whether a presented ID conforms to ID standards, and whether the photo on an ID is actually a picture of the voter presenting it. The law does not require bipartisan agreement that a challenge is valid. All it takes is one challenge to raise a challenge to that voter, and that will lead to the voter voting by provisional ballot.

Provisional ballot voting means that voter must make a second trip to the election board (located at the county seat) within 13 days to produce the conforming ID or to swear out an affidavit that they are who they claim to be. This may pose a considerable burden to voters. For example, Indianapolis and Marion County are coterminous—anyone challenged under the law will be required to make second trip to seat of government in downtown Indianapolis. If the voter in question did not have a driver's license in the first place, they will likely need to arrange transportation. Furthermore, in most cases the election result will already be known.

The law is vague about acceptable cause for challenging a voter's ID. Some requirements for valid photo ID include being issued by state or fed gov't, w/ expiration date, and the names must conform exactly. The League of Women Voters is concerned about voters with hyphenated names, as the Indiana DMV fails to put hyphens on driver's licenses potentially leading to a basis for challenge. Misspelling of names would also be a problem. The other primary mode of challenge is saying the photo doesn't look like the voter, which could be happen in a range of instances. Essentially, the law gives unbridled discretion to challengers to decide what conforms and what does not.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Furthermore, there is no way to determine whether a challenge is in good or bad faith, and there is little penalty for making a bad faith challenge. The fact that there are no checks on the challenges at the precinct level, or even a requirement of concurrence from an opposing party challenger leads to the concern that challenge process will be abused. The voter on the other hand, will need to get majority approval of county election board members to defeat the challenge.

Groth suggests the political situation in Indianapolis also presents a temptation to abuse this process, as electoral margins are growing increasingly close due to shifting political calculus.

Other cases

Groth's other election law work has included a redistricting dispute, a dispute over ballot format, NVRA issues, and a case related to improper list purging, but nothing else related to fraud or intimidation. The purging case involved the election board attempting to refine its voter list by sending registration postcards to everyone on the list. When postcards didn't come back they wanted to purge those voters. Groth blames this error more on incompetence, than malevolence, however, as the county board is bipartisan. (The Indiana Election Commission and the Indiana election division are both bipartisan, but the 92 county election boards which will be administering photo id are controlled by one political party or the other—they are always an odd number, with the partisan majority determined by who controls the clerk of circuit court office.)

Recommendations

- Supports nonpartisan administration of elections.
- Indiana specific recommendations including a longer voting day, time off for workers to vote, and an extended registration period.
- He views the central problem of the Indiana photo ID law is that the list of acceptable forms of ID is too narrow and provides no fallback to voters without ID. At the least, he believes the state needs to expand the list so that most people will have at least one. If not, they should be allowed to swear an affidavit regarding their identity, under penalty of perjury/felony prosecution. This would provide sufficient deterrence for anyone considering impersonation fraud. He believes absentee ballot fraud should be addressed by requiring those voters to produce ID as well, as under HAVA.
- His personal preference would be signature comparison. Indiana has never encountered an instance of someone trying to forge a name in the poll book, and while this leaves open the prospect of dead voters, that danger will be substantially diminished by the statewide database. But if we are going to have some form of ID, he believes we should apply it to everyone and avoid disenfranchisement, provided they swear an affidavit.

Lori Minnite, Barnard College, Columbia University

Securing the Vote

In Securing the Vote, Ms. Minnite found very little evidence of voter fraud because the historical conditions giving rise to fraud have weakened over the past twenty years. She stated that for fraud to take root a conspiracy was needed with a strong local political party and a complicit voter administration system. Since parties have weakened and there has been much improvement in the administration of elections and voting technology, the conditions no longer exist for large scale incidents of polling place fraud.

Ms. Minnite concentrates on fraud committed by voters not fraud committed by voting officials. She has looked at this issue on the national level and also concentrated on analyzing certain specific states. Ms. Minnite stressed that it is important to keep clear who the perpetrators of the fraud are and where the fraud occurs because that effects what the remedy should be. Often, voters are punished for fraud committed by voting officials.

Other Fraud Issues

Ms. Minnite found no evidence that NVRA was leading to more voter fraud. She supports non-partisan election administration. Ms.

011864

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Minnite has found evidence that there is absentee ballot fraud. She can't establish that there is a certain amount of absentee ballot fraud or that it is the major kind of voter fraud.

Recommendations

- Assure there are accurate voter records and centralize voter databases
- Reduce partisanship in electoral administration.

Neil Bradley, ACLU Voting Rights Project

Voter Impersonation Cases (issue the Georgia ID litigation revolves around)

Mr. Bradley asserted that Georgia Secretary of State Cox stated in the case at issue: that she clearly would know if there had been any instances of voter impersonation at the polls; that she works very closely with the county and local officials and she would have heard about voter impersonation from them if she did not learn about it directly; and that she said that she had not heard of "any incident"---which includes acts that did not rise to the level of an official investigation or charges.

Mr. Bradley said that it is also possible to establish if someone has impersonated another voter at the polls. Officials must check off the type of voter identification the voter used. Voters without ID may vote by affidavit ballot. One could conduct a survey of those voters to see if they in fact voted or not.

The type of voter fraud that involves impersonating someone else is very unlikely to occur. If someone wants to steal an election, it is much more effective to do so using absentee ballots. In order to change an election outcome, one must steal many votes. Therefore, one would have to have lots of people involved in the enterprise, meaning there would be many people who know you committed a felony. It's simply not an efficient way to steal an election.

Mr. Bradley is not aware of any instance of voter impersonation anywhere in the country except in local races. He does not believe it occurs in statewide elections.

Voter fraud and intimidation in Georgia

Georgia's process for preventing ineligible ex-felons from casting ballots has been improved since the Secretary of State now has the power to create the felon purge list. When this was the responsibility of the counties, there were many difficulties in purging felons because local officials did not want to have to call someone and ask if he or she was a criminal.

The State Board of Elections has a docket of irregularity complaints. The most common involve an ineligible person mailing in absentee ballots on behalf of another voter.

In general, Mr. Bradley does not think voter fraud and intimidation is a huge problem in Georgia and that people have confidence in the vote. The biggest problems are the new ID law; misinformation put out by elections officials; and advertisements that remind people that vote fraud is a felony, which are really meant to be intimidating. Most fraud that does occur involves an insider, and that's where you find the most prosecutions. Any large scale fraud involves someone who knows the system or is in the courthouse.

Prosecution of Fraud and Intimidation

Mr. Bradley stated that fraud and intimidation are hard to prosecute. However, Mr. Bradley made contradictory statements. When asked whether the decision to prosecute on the county level was politically motivated, he first said "no." Later, Mr. Bradley reversed himself stating the opposite.

Mr. Bradley also stated that with respect to US Attorneys, the message to them from the top is that this is not a priority. The Georgia ACLU has turned over information about violations of the Voting Rights Act that were felonies, and the US Attorney has done nothing with the information. The Department of Justice has never been very aggressive in pursuing cases of vote suppression, intimidation

011865

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

and fraud. But, the Georgia ACLU has not contacted Craig Donsanto in DC with information of voter fraud. Mr. Bradley believes that voter fraud and intimidation is difficult to prove. It is very hard to collect the necessary factual evidence to make a case, and doing so is very labor-intensive.

Recommendations

In Georgia, the Secretary of State puts a lot of work into training local officials and poll workers, and much of her budget is put into that work. Increased and improved training of poll workers, including training on how to respectfully treat voters, is the most important reform that could be made. Mr. Bradley also suggested that increased election monitoring would be helpful.

Nina Perales, Counsel, Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund

Ms. Perales did not seem to have a sense of the overall electoral issues in her working region (the southwest) effecting Hispanic voters and did not seem to want to offer her individual experiences and work activities as necessarily a perfect reflection of the challenges Hispanic voters face.

Largest Election Problems Since 2000

- Santa Anna County, New Mexico-2004-intimidated voters by video taping them.
- San Antonio-One African American voter subjected to a racial slur.
- San Antonio-Relocated polling places at the last minute without Section 5 pre-clearance.
- San Antonio-Closed polls while voters were still in line.
- San Antonio-2003-only left open early voting polls in predominantly white districts.
- San Antonio-2005-racially contested mayoral run-off election switched from touch screen voting to paper ballots.

Voter Fraud and Intimidation

In Texas, the counties are refusing to open their records with respect to Section 203 compliance (bilingual voting assistance), and those that did respond to MALDEF's request submitted incomplete information. Ms. Perales believes this in itself is a form of voter intimidation.

Ms. Perales said it is hard to say if the obstacles minorities confront in voting are a result of intentional acts or not because the county commission is totally incompetent. There have continuously been problems with too few ballots, causing long lines, especially in places that had historically lower turnout. There is no formula in Texas for allocating ballots – each county makes these determinations.

When there is not enough language assistance at the polls, forcing a non-English speaker to rely on a family member to vote, that can suppress voter turnout.

Ms. Perales is not aware of deceptive practices or dirty tricks targeted at the Latino community.

There have been no allegations of illegal noncitizen voting in Texas. Indeed, the sponsor of a bill that would require proof of citizenship to vote could not provide any documentation of noncitizen voting in support of the bill. The bill was defeated in part because of the racist comments of the sponsor. In Arizona, such a measure was passed. Ms. Perales was only aware of one case of noncitizen voting in Arizona, involving a man of limited mental capacity who said he was told he was allowed to register and vote. Ms. Perales believes proof of citizenship requirements discriminate against Latinos.

Recommendations

Ms. Perales feels the laws are adequate, but that her organization does not have enough staff to do the monitoring necessary. This could be done by the federal government. However, even though the Department of Justice is focusing on Section 203 cases now, they have not even begun to scratch the surface. Moreover, the choices DOJ has made with respect to where they have brought claims do not seem to be based on any systematic analysis of where the biggest problems are. This may be because the administration is so ideological and partisan.

011866

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Ms. Perales does not believe making election administration nonpartisan would have a big impact. In Texas, administrators are appointed in a nonpartisan manner, but they still do not always have a nonpartisan approach. Each administrator tends to promote his or her personal view regardless of party.

Pat Rogers, attorney, New Mexico

Major issues in NM w/ regard to vote fraud

Registration fraud seems to be the major issue, and while the legislature has taken some steps, Rogers is skeptical of the effect they will have, considering the history of unequal application of election laws. He also believes there are holes in the 3rd party registration requirement deadlines.

Rogers views a national law requiring ID as the best solution to registration problems. Rather than imposing a burden he contends it will enhance public confidence in the simplest way possible.

Registration Fraud in 2004 election

It came to light that ACORN had registered a 13 year old. The father was an APD officer and received the confirmation, but it was sent to the next door address, a vacant house. They traced this to an ACORN employee and it was established that this employee had been registering others under 18.

Two weeks later, in a crack cocaine bust of Cuban nationals, one of those raided said his job was registering voters for ACORN, and the police found signatures in his possession for fictitious persons.

In a suspicious break-in at an entity that advertised itself as nonpartisan, only GOP registrations were stolen.

In another instance, a college student was allegedly fired for registering too many Republicans.

Rogers said he believed these workers were paid by the registration rather than hourly.

There have been no prosecution or convictions related to these incidents. In fact, there have been no prosecutions for election fraud in New Mexico in recent history. However, Rogers is skeptical that much action can be expected considering the positions of Attorney General, Governor, and Secretary of State are all held by Democrats. Nor has there been any interest from the U.S. attorney—Rogers heard that U.S. attorneys were given instruction to hold off until after the election in 2004 because it would seem too political.

As part of the case against the Secretary of State regarding the identification requirement, the parties also sued ACORN. At a hearing, the head of ACORN, and others aligned with the Democratic Party called as witnesses, took the 5th on the stand as to their registration practices.

Other incidents

Very recently, there have been reports of vote buying in the town of Espanola. Originally reported by the Rio Grande Sun, a resident of a low-income housing project is quoted as saying it has been going on for 10-12 years. The Albuquerque Journal is now reporting this as well. So far the investigation has been extremely limited.

In 1996, there were some prosecutions in Espanola, where a state district judge found registration fraud.

In 1991, the chair of Democratic Party of Bertolino County was convicted on fraud. Yet she was pardoned by Clinton on same day as Marc Rich.

Intimidation/Suppression

Rogers believes the most notable example of intimidation in the 2004 election was the discovery of a DNC Handbook from Colorado advising Democratic operatives to widely report intimidation regardless of confirmation in order to gain media attention.

In-person polling place fraud

There have only been isolated instances of people reporting that someone had voted in their name, and Rogers doesn't believe there is any large scale conspiracy. Yet he contends that perspective misses the larger point of voter confidence. Although there has been a large public outcry for voter ID in New Mexico, it has been deflected and avoided by Democrats.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

In 2004, there were more Democratic lawyers at the polls than there are lawyers in New Mexico. Rogers believes these lawyers had a positive impact because they deterred people from committing bad acts.

Counting Procedures

The Secretary of State has also taken the position that canvassing of the vote should be done in private. In NM, they have a 'county canvas' where they review and certify, after which all materials—machine tapes, etc.—are centralized with the Secretary of State who does a final canvass for final certification. Conducting this in private is a serious issue, especially considering the margin in the 2000 presidential vote in New Mexico was only 366 votes. They wouldn't be changing machine numbers, but paper numbers are vulnerable.

On a related note, NM has adopted state procedures that will ensure their reports are slower and very late, considering the 2000 late discovery of ballots. In a close race, potential for fraud and mischief goes up astronomically in the period between poll closing and reporting. Rogers believes these changes are going to cause national embarrassment in the future.

Rogers attributes other harmful effects to what he terms the Secretary of State's incompetence and inability to discern a nonpartisan application of the law. In the 2004 election, no standards were issued for counting provisional ballots. Furthermore, the Secretary of State spent over $1 million of HAVA money for 'voter education' in blatant self-promotional ads.

Recommendations

- Rogers believes it would be unfeasible to have nonpartisan election administration and favors transparency instead. To make sure people have confidence in the election, there must be transparency in the whole process. Then you don't have the 1960 vote coming down to Illinois, or the Espanola ballot or Dona Anna County (ballots found there in the 2000 election). HAVA funds should also be restricted when you have an incompetent, partisan Secretary of State.
- There should be national standards for reporting voting results so there is less opportunity for fraud in a close race. Although he is not generally an advocate of national laws, he does agree there should be more national uniformity into how votes are counted and recorded.

Rebecca Vigil-Giron, Secretary of State, New Mexico

Complaints of election fraud and intimidation are filed with the SOS office. She then decides whether to refer it to the local district attorney or the attorney general. Because the complaints are few and far between, the office does not keep a log of complaints; however, they do have all of the written complaints on file in the office.

Incidents of Fraud and Intimidation

During the 2004 election, there were a couple of complaints of polling place observers telling people outside the polling place who had just voted, and then the people outside were following the voters to their cars and videotaping them. This happened in areas that are mostly second and third generation Latinos. The Secretary sent out the sheriff in one instance of this. The perpetrators moved to a different polling place. This was the only incident of fraud or intimidation Vigil-Giron was aware of in New Mexico.

There have not been many problems on Native reservations because, unlike in many other states, in New Mexico the polling place is on the reservation and is run by local Native Americans. Vigil-Giron said that it does not make sense to have non-Natives running those polls because it is necessary to have people there who can translate. Because most of the languages are unwritten, the HAVA requirement of accessibility through an audio device will be very helpful in this regard. Vigil-Giron said she was surprised to learn while testifying at the Voting Rights Act commission hearings of the lack of sensitivity to these issues and the common failure to provide assistance in language minority areas.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

In 2004 the U.S. Attorney, a Republican, suddenly announced he was launching an investigation into voter fraud without consulting the Secretary of State's office. After all of that, there was maybe one prosecution. Even the allegations involving third party groups and voter registration are often misleading. People doing voter registration drives encourage voters to register if they are unsure if they are already registered, and the voter does not even realize that his or her name will then appear on the voter list twice. The bigger problem is where registrations do not get forwarded to election administrators and the voter does not end up on the voting list on Election Day. This is voter intimidation in itself, Vigil-Giron believes. It is very discouraging for that voter and she wonders whether he or she will try again.

Under the bill passed in 2004, third parties are required to turn around voter registration forms very quickly between the time they get them and when they must be returned. If they fail to return them within 48 hours of getting them, they are penalized. This, Vigil-Giron believes, is unfair. She has tried to get the Legislature to look at this issue again.

Regarding allegations of vote buying in Espanola, Vigil-Giron said that the Attorney General is investigating. The problem in that area of New Mexico is that they are still using rural routes, so they have not been able to properly district. There has, as a result, been manipulation of where people vote. Now they seem to have pushed the envelope too far on this. The investigation is not just about vote buying, however. There have also been allegations of voters being denied translators as well as assistance at the polls.

Vigil-Giron believes there was voter suppression in Ohio in 2004. County officials knew thirty days out how many people had registered to vote, they knew how many voters there would be. Administrators are supposed to use a formula for allocation of voting machines based on registered voters. Administrators in Ohio ignored this. As a result, people were turned away at the polls or left because of the huge lines. This, she believes, was a case of intentional vote suppression.

A few years ago, Vigil-Giron heard that there may have been people voting in New Mexico and a bordering town in Colorado. She exchanged information with Colorado administrators and it turned out that there were no cases of double voting.

Recommendations

- Vigil-Giron believes that linking voter registration databases across states may be a way to see if people who are registered twice are in fact voting twice.
- The key to improving the process is better trained poll workers, who are certified, and know what to look for on Election Day. These poll workers should then work with law enforcement to ensure there are no transgressions.
- There should be stronger teeth in the voter fraud laws. For example, it should be more than a fourth degree felony, as is currently the case.

Sarah Ball Johnson, Executive Director of the State Board of Elections, Kentucky

Procedures for Handling Fraud

Fraud complaints are directed first to the state Board of Elections. Unlike boards in other states, Kentucky's has no investigative powers. Instead, they work closely with both the Attorney General and the U.S. Attorney. Especially since the current administration took office, they have found the U.S. Attorney an excellent partner in pursuing fraud cases, and have seen many prosecutions in the last six years. She believes that there has been no increase in the incidence of fraud, but rather the increase in prosecutions is related to increased scrutiny and more resources.

Major Types of Fraud and Intimidation

Johnson says that vote buying and voter intimidation go hand in hand in Kentucky. While historically fraud activity focused on election day, in the last 20 years it has moved into absentee voting. In part, this is because new voting machines aren't easy to manipulate in the way that paper ballots were open to manipulation in the past, especially in distant rural counties. For this reason, she is troubled by the proliferation of states with early voting, but notes that there is a difference between absentee ballot and early voting on machines, which is far more difficult to manipulate.

011869

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Among the cases of absentee ballot fraud they have seen, common practice involves a group of candidates conspiring together to elect their specific slate. Nursing homes are an especially frequent target. Elderly residents request absentee ballots, and then workers show up and 'help' them vote their ballots. Though there have been some cases in the Eastern district of election day fraud, most have been absentee.

Johnson argues that it is hard to distinguish between intimidation and vote buying. They have also seen instances where civic groups and church groups intimidate members to vote in a specific manner, not for reward, but under threat of being ostracized or even telling them they will go to hell.

While she is aware of allegations of intimidation by the parties regarding minority precincts in Louisville, the board hasn't received calls about it and there haven't been any prosecutions.

Challengers

Challengers are permitted at the polls in Kentucky. Each party is allowed two per location, and they must file proper paperwork. There is a set list of defined reasons for which they can challenge a voter, such as residency, and the challengers must also fill out paperwork to conduct a challenge.

As for allegations of challengers engaging in intimidation in minority districts, Johnson notes that challengers did indeed register in Jefferson County, and filed the proper paperwork, although they ultimately did not show up on election day.

She finds that relatively few challengers end up being officially registered, and that the practice has grown less common in recent years. This is due more to a change of fashion than anything. And after all, those wishing to affect election outcomes have little need for challengers in the precinct when they can target absentee voting instead.

In the event that intimidation is taking place, Kentucky has provisions to remove disruptive challengers, but this hasn't been used to her knowledge.

Prosecutions

Election fraud prosecutions in Kentucky have only involved vote buying. This may be because that it is easier to investigate, by virtue of a cash and paper trail which investigators can follow. It is difficult to quantify any average numbers about the practice from this, due in part to the five year statute of limitations on vote buying charges. However, she does not believe that vote-buying is pervasive across the state, but rather confined to certain pockets.

Vote-hauling Legislation

Vote hauling is a common form of vote buying by another name. Individuals are legally paid to drive others to the polls, and then divide that cash in order to purchase votes. Prosecutions have confirmed that vote hauling is used for this purpose. While the Secretary of State has been committed to legislation which would ban the practice, it has failed to pass in the past two sessions.

Paying Voter Registration Workers Legislation

A law forbidding people to pay workers by the voter registration card or for obtaining cards with registrations for a specific party was passed this session. Individuals working as part of a registration campaign may still be paid by hour. Kentucky's experience in the last presidential election illustrates the problems arising from paying individuals by the card. That contest included a constitutional amendment to ban gay marriage on the ballot, which naturally attracted the attention of many national groups. One group paying people by the card resulted in the registrar being inundated with cards, including many duplicates in the same bundle, variants on names, and variants on addresses. As this practice threatens to overwhelm the voter registration process, Kentucky views it as constituting malicious fraud.

Deceptive practices

011870

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Other than general reports in the news, Johnson hasn't received any separate confirmation or reports of deceptive practices, i.e., false and misleading information being distributed to confuse voters.

Effect of Kentucky's Database

Johnson believes Kentucky's widely praised voter registration database is a key reason why the state doesn't have as much fraud as it might, especially the types alleged elsewhere like double and felon voting. While no database is going to be perfect, the connections with other state databases such as the DMV and vital statistics have been invaluable in allowing them to aggressively purge dead weight and create a cleaner list. When parties use their database list they are notably more successful. Johnson wonders how other states are able to conduct elections without a similar system.

Some factors have made especially important to their success.

- When the database was instituted in 1973, they were able to make everyone in the state re-register and thus start with a clean database. However, it is unlikely any state could get away with this today.
- She is also a big supporter of a full Social Security number standard, as practiced in Kentucky. The full Social Security, which is compared to date of birth and letters in the first and last name, automatically makes matching far more accurate. The huge benefits Kentucky has reaped make Johnson skeptical of privacy concerns arguing for an abbreviated Social Security number. Individuals are willing to submit their Social Security number for many lesser purposes, so why not voting? And in any event, they don't require a Social Security number to register (unlike others such as Georgia). Less than a percent of voters in Kentucky are registered under unique identifiers, which the Board of Elections then works to fill in the number through cross referencing with the DMV.

Recommendations

- Johnson believes the backbone of effective elections administration must be standardized procedures, strong record keeping, and detailed statutes. In Kentucky, all counties use the same database and the same pre election day forms. Rather than seeing that as oppressive, county officials report that the uniformity makes their jobs easier.
- This philosophy extends to the provisional ballot question. While they did not have a standard in place like HAVA's at the time of enactment, they worked quickly to put a uniform standard in place.
- They have also modified forms and procedures based on feedback from prosecutors. Johnson believes a key to enforcing voting laws is working with investigators and prosecutors and ensuring that they have the information they need to mount cases.
- She also believes public education is important, and that the media could do more to provide information about what is legal and what is illegal. Kentucky tries to fulfill this role by information in polling places, press releases, and high profile press conferences before elections. She notes that they deliberately use language focusing on fraud and intimidation.
- Johnson is somewhat pessimistic about reducing absentee ballot fraud. Absentee ballots do have a useful function for the military and others who cannot get to the polling place, and motivated individuals will always find a way to abuse the system if possible. At a minimum, however, she recommends that absentee ballots should require an excuse. She believes this has helped reduce abuse in Kentucky, and is wary of no-excuse practices in other states.

Stephen Ansolobhere, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Chandler Davidson, Rice University

Methodology suggestions

In analyzing instances of alleged fraud and intimidation, we should look to criminology as a model. In criminology, experts use two sources:

011871

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

the Uniform Crime Reports, which are all reports made to the police, and the Victimization Survey, which asks the general public whether a particular incident has happened to them. After surveying what the most common allegations are, we should conduct a survey of the general public that asks whether they have committed certain acts or been subjected to any incidents of fraud or intimidation. This would require using a very large sample, and we would need to employ the services of an expert in survey data collection. Mr. Ansolobohere recommended Jonathan Krosnick, Doug Rivers, and Paul Sniderman at Stanford; Donald Kinder and Arthur Lupia at Michigan; Edward Carmines at Indiana; and Phil Tetlock at Berkeley. In the alternative, Mr. Ansolobohere suggested that the EAC might work with the Census Bureau to have them ask different, additional questions in their Voter Population Surveys.

Mr. Chandler further suggested it is important to talk to private election lawyers, such as Randall Wood, who represented Ciro Rodriguez in his congressional election in Texas. Mr. Ansolobohere also recommended looking at experiments conducted by the British Election Commission.

Incidents of Fraud and Intimidation

Mr. Davidson's study for the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights on the Voting Rights Act documented evidence of widespread difficulty in the voting process. However, he did not attempt to quantify whether this was due to intentional, malevolent acts. In his 2005 report on ballot security programs, he found that there were many allegations of fraud made, but not very many prosecutions or convictions. He saw many cases that did go to trial and the prosecutors lost on the merits.

In terms of voter intimidation and vote suppression, Mr. Davidson said he believes the following types of activities do occur:

- videotaping of voters' license plates;
- poll workers asking intimidating questions;
- groups of officious-looking poll watchers at the poll sites who seem to be some sort of authority looking for wrongdoing;
- spreading of false information, such as phone calls, flyers, and radio ads that intentionally mislead as to voting procedures.

Mr. Ansolobohere believes the biggest problem is absentee ballot fraud. However, many of these cases involve people who do not realize what they are doing is illegal, for example, telling someone else how to vote. Sometimes there is real illegality occurring however. For example:

- vote selling involving absentee ballots,
- the filling out of absentee ballots en masse,
- people at nursing homes filling out the ballots of residents, and
- there are stories about union leaders getting members to vote a certain way by absentee ballot.

This problem will only get bigger as more states liberalize their absentee ballot rules. Mr. Chandler agreed that absentee ballot fraud was a major problem.

Recommendations

- Go back to "for cause" absentee ballot rules, because it is truly impossible to ever ensure the security of a mail ballot. Even in Oregon, there was a study showing fraud in their vote by mail system.
- False information campaigns should be combated with greater voter education. Los Angeles County's voter education program should be used as a model.

Tracey Campbell, author, Deliver the Vote

While less blatant than in previous eras, fraud certainly still occurs, and he mentions some examples in his book. The major trend of the past 60-70 years has been that these tactics have grown more subtle.

011872

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

While he hasn't conducted any scientific study of the current state of fraud, his sense as a historian is that it seems naive, after generations of watching the same patterns and practices influence elections, to view suspect election results today as merely attributable to simple error.

Vote-buying and absentee fraud

Campbell sees fraud by absentee ballot and vote buying as the greatest threats to fair elections today. He says vote fraud is like real estate: location, location, location—the closer you can keep the ballots to the courthouse the better. Absentee ballots create a much easier target for vote brokers who can manage voting away from the polling place, or even mark a ballot directly, in exchange for, say, $50— or even more if an individual can bring their entire family. He has noted some small counties where absentee ballots outnumber in-person ballots.

However, few people engaged in this activity would call it 'purchasing' a vote. Instead, it is candidate Jones' way of 'thanking' you for a vote you would have cast in any event. The issue is what happens if candidate Smith offers you more. Likewise, the politicians who engage in vote fraud don't see it as a threat to the republic but rather as a game they have to play in order to get elected.

Regional patterns

Campbell suggests such practices are more prevalent in the South than the Northern states, and even more so compared to the West. The South has long been characterized as particularly dangerous in intimidation and suppression practices—throughout history, one can find routine stories of deaths at the polls each year. While he maintains that fraud seems less likely in the Western states, he sees the explosion of mail in and absentee ballots there as asking for trouble.

Poll site closings as a means to suppress votes

Campbell points to a long historical record of moving poll sites in order to suppress votes. Polling places in the 1800s were frequently set-up on rail cars and moved further down the line to suppress black votes. He would include door-to-door canvassing practices here, as well as voting in homes, which was in use in Kentucky until only a few years ago. All of these practices have been justified as making polling places 'more accessible' while their real purpose has been to suppress votes.

Purge lists

Purge lists are, of course, needed in theory, yet Campbell believes the authority to mark names off the voter rolls presents extensive opportunity for abuse. For this reason, purging must be done in a manner that uses the best databases, and looks at only the most relevant information. When voters discover their names aren't on the list when they go to vote, for example, because they are "dead," it has a considerable demoralizing effect. Wrongful purging takes place both because of incompetence and as a tool to intentionally disenfranchise.

Campbell believes transparency is the real issue here. An hour after the polls close, we tend to just throw up our hands and look the other way, denying voters the chance to see that discrepancies are being rectified. He believes the cost in not immediately knowing election outcomes is a small price to pay for getting results rights and showing the public a transparent process.

Deceptive practices

Today's deceptive practices have are solidly rooted in Reconstruction-era practices—i.e. phony ballots, the Texas 'elimination' ballot. The ability to confuse voters is a powerful tool for those looking to sway elections.

Language minorities

Campbell argues there is a fine line between offering help to non-English speakers and using that help against them. A related issue, particularly in the South, is taking advantage of the illiterate.

Current intimidation

Another tactic Campbell considers an issue today is polling place layout: the further vote suppressers can keep people away from the

011873

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

polls, the better. Practices such as photographing people leaving a polling place may also tie into vote-buying, where photos are used to intimidate and validate purchased votes. A good way to combat such practices is by keeping electioneering as far from the polls as possible.

Recommendations

- Specific voting administration recommendations Campbell advocates would include reducing the use of absentee ballots and improving the protective zone around polling places.
- Campbell would also like to see enforcement against fraud stepped up and stiffer penalties enacted, as current penalties make the risk of committing fraud relatively low. He compares the risk in election fraud similar to steroid use in professional sports—the potential value of the outcome is far higher than the risk of being caught or penalized for the infraction, so it is hard to prevent people from doing it. People need to believe they will pay a price for engaging in fraud or intimidation. Moreover, we need to have the will to kick people out of office if necessary.
- He is skeptical of the feasibility of nonpartisan election administration, as he believes it would be difficult to find people who care about politics yet won't lean one way or the other—such an attempt would be unlikely to get very far before accusations of partisanship emerged. He considers the judiciary the only legitimate check on election fraud.

Douglas Webber, Assistant Attorney General, Indiana, (defendant in the Indiana voter identification litigation)

Litigation

Status of litigation in Indiana: On January 12 the briefing was completed. The parties are waiting for a decision from the U.S. district judge. The judge understood that one of the parties would seek a stay from the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals. The parties anticipate a decision in late March or early April. Mr. Webber did the discovery and depositions for the litigation. Mr. Webber feared the plaintiffs were going to state in their reply brief that HAVA's statewide database requirement would resolve the problems alleged by the state. However, the plaintiffs failed to do so, relying on a Motor Voter Act argument instead. Mr. Webber believes that the voter ID at issue will make the system much more user-friendly for the poll workers. The Legislature passed the ID legislation, and the state is defending it, on the basis of the problem of the perception of fraud.

Incidents of fraud and intimidation

Mr. Webber thinks that no one can put his or her thumb on whether there has been voter fraud in Indiana. For instance, if someone votes in place of another, no one knows about it. There have been no prosecuted cases of polling place fraud in Indiana. There is no recorded history of documented cases, but it does happen. In the litigation, he used articles from around the country about instances of voter fraud, but even in those examples there were ultimately no prosecutions, for example the case of Milwaukee. He also stated in the litigation that there are all kinds of examples of dead people voting---totaling in the hundreds of thousands of votes across the country.

One interesting example of actual fraud in Indiana occurred when a poll worker, in a poll using punch cards, glued the chads back and then punched out other chads for his candidate. But this would not be something that would be addressed by an ID requirement. He also believes that the perception that the polls are loose can be addressed by the legislature. The legislature does not need to wait to see if the statewide database solves the problems and therefore affect the determination of whether an ID requirement is necessary. When he took the deposition of the Republican Co-Director, he said he thought Indiana was getting ahead of the curve. That is, there have been problems around the country, and confidence in elections is low. Therefore Indiana is now in front of getting that confidence back.

Mr. Webber stated that the largest vote problem in Indiana is absentee ballots. Absentee ballot fraud and vote buying are the most documented cases. It used to be the law that applications for absentee ballots could be sent anywhere. In one case absentee votes were exchanged for “a job on election day”---meaning one vote for a certain price. The election was contested and the trial judge found that although there was vote fraud, the incidents of such were less than the margin of victory and so he refused to overturn the election. Mr. Webber appealed the case for the state and argued the judge used the wrong statute. The Indiana Supreme Court agreed and reversed. Several people were prosecuted as a result – those cases are still pending.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Process

In Indiana, voter complaints first come to the attorney for the county election board who can recommend that a hearing be held. If criminal activity was found, the case could be referred to the county prosecutor or in certain instances to the Indiana Attorney General's Office. In practice, the Attorney General almost never handles such cases.

Mr. Webber has had experience training county of election boards in preserving the integrity and security of the polling place from political or party officials. Mr. Webber stated that the Indiana voter rolls need to be culled. He also stated that in Southern Indiana a large problem was vote buying while in Northern Indiana a large problem was based on government workers feeling compelled to vote for the party that gave them their jobs.

Recommendations

- Mr. Webber believes that all election fraud and intimidation complaints should be referred to the Attorney General's Office to circumvent the problem of local political prosecutions. The Attorney General should take more responsibility for complaints of fraud because at the local level, politics interferes. At the local level, everyone knows each other, making it harder prosecute.
- Indiana currently votes 6 am to 6 pm on a weekday. Government workers and retirees are the only people who are available to work the polls. Mr. Webber suggested that the biggest change should be to move elections to weekends. This would involve more people acting as poll workers who would be much more careful about what was going on.
- Early voting at the clerk's office is good because the people there know what they are doing. People would be unlikely to commit fraud at the clerk's office. This should be expanded to other polling places in addition to that of the county clerk.
- Finally, Mr. Webber believes polling places should be open longer, run more professionally but that there needs to be fewer of them so that they are staffed by only the best, most professional people.

Heather Dawn Thompson, Director of Government Relations, National Congress of American Indians

Recent trends

Native election protection operations have intensified recently for several reasons. While election protection efforts in Native areas have been ongoing, leaders realized that they were failing to develop internal infrastructure or cultivate locally any of the knowledge and expertise which would arrive and leave with external protection groups.

Moreover, in recent years partisan groups have become more aware of the power of the native vote, and have become more active in native communities. This has partly resulted in an extreme increase in voter intimidation tactics. As native communities are easy to identify, easy to target, and generally dominated by a single party, they are especially vulnerable to such tactics.

Initially, reports of intimidation were only passed along by word of mouth. But it became such a problem in the past 5 to 6 years that tribal leaders decided to raise the issue to the national level. Thompson points to the Cantwell election in 2000 and the Johnson election in South Dakota in 2002 as tipping points where many began to realize the Indian vote could matter in Senate and national elections.

Thompson stressed that Native Vote places a great deal of importance on being nonpartisan. While a majority of native communities vote Democratic, there are notable exceptions, including communities in Oklahoma and Alaska, and they have both parties engaging in aggressive tactics. However, she believes the most recent increase in suppression and intimidation tactics have come from Republican Party organizations.

Nature of Suppression/Intimidation of Native Voters

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Thompson categorizes suppression into judge related and poll-watcher related incidents, both of which may be purposeful or inadvertent, as well as longstanding legal-structural constraints.

Structural problems

One example of inadvertent suppression built into the system stems from the fact that many Indian communities also include significant numbers of non-Indians due to allotment. Non-Indians tend to be most active in the state and local government while Indians tend to be more involved in the tribal government. Thus, the individuals running elections end up being non-Indian. Having Indians vote at polling places staffed by non-Indians often results in incidents of disrespect towards Native voters (Thompson emphasized the considerable racism which persists against Indians in these areas). Also, judges aren't familiar with Indian last names and are more dismissive of solving discrepancies with native voters.

Structural problems also arise from laws which mandate that the tribal government cannot run state or local elections. In places like South Dakota, political leaders used to make it intentionally difficult for Native Americans to participate in elections. For example, state, local and federal elections could not be held in the same location as tribal elections, leading to confusion when tribal and other elections are held in different locations. Also, it is common to have native communities with few suitable sites, meaning that a state election held in a secondary location can suddenly impose transportation obstacles.

Photo ID Issues

Thompson believes both state level and HAVA photo ID requirements have a considerable negative impact. For a number of reasons, many Indian voters don't have photo ID. Poor health care and poverty on reservations means that many children are born at home, leading to a lack of birth certificates necessary to obtain ID. Also, election workers and others may assume they are Hispanic, causing additional skepticism due to citizenship questions. There is a cultural issue as well—historically, whenever Indians register with the federal government it has been associated with a taking of land or removal of children. Thus many Indians avoid registering for anything with the government, even for tribal ID.

Thompson also offered examples of how the impact of ID requirements had been worsened by certain rules and the discriminatory way they have been carried out. In the South Dakota special election of 2003, poll workers told Native American voters that if they did not have ID with them and they lived within sixty miles of the precinct, the voter had to come back with ID. The poll workers did not tell the voters that they could vote by affidavit ballot and not need to return, as required by law. This was exacerbated by the fact that the poll workers didn't know the voters—as would be the case with non-Indian poll workers and Indian voters. Many left the poll site without voting and did not return.

In Minnesota, the state tried to prohibit the use of tribal ID's for voting outside of a reservation, even though Minnesota has a large urban Native population. Thompson believes this move was very purposeful, and despite any reasonable arguments from the Secretary of State, they had to file a lawsuit to stop the rule. They were very surprised to find national party representatives in the courtroom when they went to deal with lawsuit, representatives who could only have been alerted through a discussion with the Secretary of State.

Partisan Poll-Monitoring

Thompson believes the most purposeful suppression has been perpetrated by the party structures on an individual basis, of which South Dakota is a great example.

Some negative instances of poll monitoring are not purposeful. Both parties send in non-Indian, non-Western lawyers, largely from the East Coast, which can lead to uncomfortable cultural clashes. These efforts display a keen lack of understanding of these communities and the best way to negotiate within in them. But while it may be intimidating, it is not purposeful.

Yet there are also many instances of purposeful abuse of poll monitoring. While there were indeed problems during the 2002 Johnson election, it was small compared to the Janklow special election. Thompson says Republican workers shunned cultural understanding outreach, and had an extensive pamphlet of what to say at polls and were very aggressive about it. In one tactic, every time a voter

011876

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

would come up with no ID, poll monitors would repeat "You can't vote" over and over again, causing many voters to leave. This same tactic appeared across reservations, and eventually they looked to the Secretary of State to intervene. In another example, the head of poll watchers drove from poll to poll and told voters without IDs to go home, to the point where the chief of police was going to evict him from the reservation. In Minnesota, on the Red Lake reservation, police actually did evict an aggressive poll watcher—the fact that the same strategies are employed several hundred miles apart points to standardized instructions.

None of these incidents ever went to court. Thompson argues this is due to few avenues for legal recourse. In addition, it is inherently difficult to settle these things, as they are he said-she said incidents and take place amidst the confusion of Election Day. Furthermore, poll watchers know what the outline of the law is, and they are careful to work within those parameters, leaving little room for legal action.

Other seeming instances of intimidation may be purely inadvertent, such as when, in 2002, the U.S. Attorney chose Election Day to give out subpoenas, and native voters stayed in their homes. In all fairness, she believes this was a misunderstanding.

The effect of intimidation on small communities is especially strong and is impossible to ultimately measure, as the ripple effect of rumors in insular communities can't be traced. In some communities, they try to combat this by using the Native radio to encourage people to vote and dispel myths.

She has suggestions for people who can describe incidents at a greater level of detail if interested.

Vote Buying and Fraud

They haven't found a great deal of evidence on vote-buying and fraud. When cash is offered to register voters, individuals may abuse this, although Thompson believes this is not necessarily unique to the Native community, but a reflection of high rates of poverty. This doesn't amount to a concerted effort at conspiracy, but instead represents isolated incidents of people not observing the rules. While Thompson believes looking into such incidents is a completely fair inquiry, she also believes it has been exploited for political purposes and to intimidate. For example, large law enforcement contingents were sent to investigate these incidents. As Native voters tend not to draw distinctions between law enforcement and other officials, this made them unlikely to help with elections.

Remedies

- As far as voter suppression is concerned, Native Vote has been asking the Department of Justice to look into what might be done, and to place more emphasis on law enforcement and combating intimidation. They have been urging the Department to focus on this at least much as it is focusing on enforcement of Section 203. Native groups have complained to DOJ repeatedly and DOJ has the entire log of handwritten incident reports they have collected. Therefore, Thompson recommends more DOJ enforcement of voting rights laws with respect to intimidation. People who would seek to abuse the process need to believe a penalty will be paid for doing so. Right now, there is no recourse and DOJ does not care, so both parties do it because they can.
- Certain states should rescind bars on nonpartisan poll watchers on Election Day; Thompson believes this is contrary to the nonpartisan, pro-Indian presence which would best facilitate voting in Native communities.
- As discussed above, Thompson believes ID requirements are a huge impediment to native voters. At a minimum, Thompson believes all states should be explicit about accepting tribal ID on Election Day.
- Liberalized absentee ballot rules would also be helpful to Native communities. As many Indian voters are disabled and elderly, live far away from their precinct, and don't have transportation, tribes encourage members to vote by absentee ballot. Yet obstacles remain. Some voters are denied a chance to vote if they have requested a ballot and then show up at the polls. Thompson believes South Dakota's practice of tossing absentee ballots if a voter shows up at the ED would serve as an effective built-in protection. In addition, she believes there should be greater scrutiny of GOTV groups requesting absentee ballots without permission. Precinct location is a longstanding issue, but Thompson recognizes that states have limited resources. In the absence of those resources, better absentee ballot procedures are needed.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

- Basic voter registration issues and access are also important in native communities and need to be addressed.
- Thompson is mixed on what restrictions should be placed on poll watcher behavior, as she believes open elections and third party helpers are both important. However, she would be willing to explore some sort of stronger recourse and set of rules concerning poll watchers' behavior. Currently, the parties are aware that no recourse exists, and try to get away with what they will. This is not unique to a single party—both try to stay within law while shaking people up. The existing VRA provision is 'fluffy'—unless you have a consent decree, you have very little power. Thompson thinks a general voter intimidation law that is left a bit broad but that nonetheless makes people aware of some sort of kickback could be helpful.

Jason Torchinsky, Assistant General Counsel, American Center for Voting Rights

Regarding the August 2005 Report

ACVR has not followed up on any of the cases it cited in the 2005 report to see if the allegations had been resolved in some manner. Mr. Torchinsky stated that there are problems with allegations of fraud in the report and prosecution---just because there was no prosecution, does not mean there was no vote fraud. He believes that it is very hard to come up with a measure of voter fraud short of prosecution. Mr. Torchinsky does not have a good answer to resolve this problem.

P. 35 of the Report indicates that there were coordinated efforts by groups to coordinate fraudulent voter registrations. P. 12 of the Ohio Report references a RICO suit filed against organizations regarding fraudulent voter registrations. Mr. Torchinsky does not know what happened in that case. He stated that there was a drive to increase voter registration numbers regardless of whether there was an actual person to register. He stated that when you have an organization like ACORN involved all over the place, there is reason to believe it is national in scope. When it is the same groups in multiple states, this leads to the belief that it is a concerted effort.

Voting Problems

Mr. Torchinsky stated there were incidents of double voting---ex. a double voter in Kansas City, MO. If the statewide voter registration database requirement of HAVA is properly implemented, he believes it will stop multiple voting in the same state. He supports the HAVA requirement, if implemented correctly. Since Washington State implemented its statewide database, the Secretary of State has initiated investigations into felons who voted. In Philadelphia the major problem is permitting polling places in private homes and bars – even the homes of party chairs.

Mr. Torchinsky believes that voter ID would help, especially in cities in places like Ohio and Philadelphia, PA. The ACVR legislative fund supports the Real ID requirements suggested by the Carter-Baker Commission. Since federal real ID requirements will be in place in 2010, any objection to a voter ID requirement should be moot.

Mr. Torchinsky stated that there are two major poll and absentee voting problems---(1) fraudulent votes-ex. dead people voting in St. Louis and (2) people voting who are not legally eligible-ex. felons in most places. He also believes that problems could arise in places that still transport paper ballots from the voting location to a counting room. However, he does not believe this is as widespread a problem now as it once was.

Suggestions

Implement the Carter-Baker Commission recommendations because they represent a reasonable compromise between the political parties.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Robin DeJarnette, Executive Director, American Center for Voting Rights

[NO SUMMARY FOUND]

Joseph Rich, former Director of the Voting Section, Civil Rights Division, U.S. Department of Justice

Data Collection and Monitoring

- The (Voting) section developed a new database before the 2004 election to log complaint calls and what was done to follow up on them. They opened many investigations as a result of these complaints, including one on the long lines in Ohio (see DOJ letter on website, as well as critical commentary on the DOJ letter's analysis). DOJ found no Section 2 violation in Ohio. John Tanner should be able to give us this data. However, the database does not include complaints that were received by monitors and observers in the field.
- All attorney observers in the field are required to submit reports after Election Day to the Department. These reports would give us a very good sense of the scope and type of problems that arose on that day and whether they were resolved on the spot or required further action.
- The monitoring in 2004 was the biggest operation ever. Prior to 2000, only certain jurisdictions could be observed – a VRA covered jurisdiction that was certified or a jurisdiction that had been certified by a court, e.g. through a consent decree. Since that time, and especially in 2004, the Department has engaged in more informal "monitoring." In those cases, monitors assigned to certain jurisdictions, as opposed to observers, can only watch in the polling place with permission from the jurisdiction. The Department picked locations based on whether they had been monitored in the past, there had been problems before, or there had been allegations in the past. Many problems that arose were resolved by monitors on the spot.

Processes for Cases not Resolved at the Polling Site

- If the monitor or observer believes that a criminal act has taken place, he refers it to the Public Integrity Section (PIN). If it is an instance of racial intimidation, it is referred to the Civil Rights Criminal Division. However, very few such cases are prosecuted because they are very hard to prove. The statutes covering such crimes require actual violence or the threat of violence in order to make a case. As a result, most matters are referred to PIN because they operate under statutes that make these cases easier to prove. In general, there are not a high number of prosecutions for intimidation and suppression.
- If the act is not criminal, it may be brought as a civil matter, but only if it violated the Voting Rights Act – in other words, only if there is a racial aspect to the case. Otherwise the only recourse is to refer it to PIN.
- However, PIN tends not to focus on intimidation and suppression cases, but rather cases such as alleged noncitizen voting, etc. Public Integrity used to only go after systematic efforts to corrupt the system. Now they focus on scattered individuals, which is a questionable resource choice. Criminal prosecutors over the past 5 years have been given more resources and more leeway because of a shift in focus and policy toward noncitizens and double voting, etc.
- There have been very few cases brought involving African American voters. There have been 7 Section 2 cases brought since 2001 – only one was brought on behalf of African American voters. That case was initiated under the Clinton administration. The others have included Latinos and discrimination against whites.

Types of Fraud and Intimidation Occurring

- There is no evidence that polling place fraud is a problem. There is also no evidence that the NVRA has increased the opportunity for fraud. Moreover, regardless of NVRA's provisions, an election official can always look into a voter's registration if he or she believes that person should no longer be on the list. The Department is now suing Missouri because of its poor registration list.

011879

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

- The biggest problem is with absentee ballots. The photo ID movement is a vote suppression strategy. This type of suppression is a bigger problem than intimidation. There has been an increase in vote suppression over the last five years, but it has been indirect, often in the way that laws are interpreted and implemented. Unequal implementation of ID requirements at the polls based on race would be a VRA violation.
- The most common type of intimidation occurring is open hostility by poll workers toward minorities. It is a judgment call whether this is a crime or not – Craig Donsanto of PIN decides if it rises to a criminal matter.
- Election Day challenges at the polls could be a VRA violation but such a case has never been formally pursued. Such cases are often resolved on the spot. Development of a pre-election challenge list targeted at minorities would be a VRA violation but this also has never been pursued. These are choices of current enforcement policy.
- Long lines due to unequal distribution of voting machines based on race, list purges based on race and refusal to offer a provisional ballot on the basis of race would also be VRA violations.

Recommendations

- Congress should pass a new law that allows the Department to bring civil actions for suppression that is NOT race based, for example, deceptive practices or wholesale challenges to voters in jurisdictions that tend to vote heavily for one party.
- Given the additional resources and latitude given to the enforcement of acts such as double voting and noncitizen voting, there should be an equal commitment to enforcement of acts of intimidation and suppression cases.
- There should also be increased resources dedicated to expanded monitoring efforts. This might be the best use of resources since monitors and observers act as a deterrent to fraud and intimidation.

Joseph Sandler, Counsel to the Democratic National Committee

2004-Administrative Incompetence v. Fraud

Sandler believes the 2004 election was a combination of administrative incompetence and fraud. Sandler stated there was a deliberate effort by the Republicans to disenfranchise voters across the country. This was accomplished by mailing out cards to registered voters and then moving to purge from the voters list those whose cards were returned. Sandler indicated that in New Mexico there was a deliberate attempt by Republicans to purge people registered by third parties. He stated that there were intentional efforts to disenfranchise voters by election officials like Ken Blackwell in Ohio.

The problems with machine distribution in 2004 were not deliberate. However, Sandler believes that a large problem exists in the states because there are no laws that spell out a formula to allocate so many voting machines per voter.

Sandler was asked how often names were intentionally purged from the voter lists. He responded that there will be a lot of names purged as a result of the creation of the voter lists under HAVA. However, Sandler stated most wrongful purging results from incompetence.

Sandler also said there was not much intimidation at the polls because most such efforts are deterred and that the last systematic effort was in Philadelphia in 2003 where Republicans had official looking cars and people with badges and uniforms, etc.

Sandler stated that deliberate dissemination of misinformation was more incidental, with individuals misinforming and not a political party. Disinformation did occur in small Spanish speaking communities.

Republicans point to instances of voter registration fraud but Sandler believes it did not occur, except for once in a blue moon. Sandler did not believe non-citizen voting was a problem. He also does not believe that there is voter impersonation at the polls and that Republicans allege this as a way of disenfranchising voters through restrictive voter identification rules.

011880

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

Fraud and Intimidation Trends

- Sandler stated that over the years there has been a shift from organized efforts to intimidate minority voters through voter identification requirements, improper purging, failure to properly register voters, not allocating enough voting machines, failure to properly use the provisional ballot, etc., by voter officials as well as systematic efforts by Republicans to deregister voters.
- At the federal level, Sandler said, the voting division has become so politicized that it is basically useless now on intimidation claims. At the local level, Sandler does not believe politics prevents or hinders prosecution for vote fraud.

Sandler's Recommendations:

- Moving the voter lists to the state level is a good idea where carefully done
- Provisional ballots rules should follow the law and not be over-used
- No voter ID
- Partisanship should be taken out of election administration, perhaps by giving that responsibility by someone other than the Secretary of State. There should at least be conflict of interest rules
- Enact laws that allow private citizens to bring suit under state law

All suggestions from the DNC Ohio Report:

1. The Democratic Party must continue its efforts to monitor election law reform in all fifty states, the District of Columbia and territories.
2. States should be encouraged to codify into law all required election practices, including requirements for the adequate training of official poll workers.
3. States should adopt uniform and clear published standards for the distribution of voting equipment and the assignment of official pollworkers among precincts, to ensure adequate and nondiscriminatory access. These standards should be based on set ratios of numbers of machines and pollworkers per number of voters expected to turn out, and should be made available for public comment before being adopting.
4. States should adopt legislation to make clear and uniform the rules on voter registration.
5. The Democratic Party should monitor the processing of voter registrations by local election authorities on an ongoing basis to ensure the timely processing of registrations and changes, including both newly registered voters and voters who move within a jurisdiction or the state, and the Party should ask state Attorneys General to take action where necessary to force the timely updating of voter lists.
6. States should be urged to implement statewide voter lists in accordance with the Help America Vote Act ("HAVA"), the election reform law enacted by Congress in 2002 following the Florida debacle.
7. State and local jurisdictions should adopt clear and uniform rules on the use of, and the counting of, provisional ballots, and distribute them for public comment well in advance of each election day.
8. The Democratic Party should monitor the purging and updating of registered voter lists by local officials, and the Party should challenge, and ask state Attorneys General to challenge, unlawful purges and other improper list maintenance practices.
9. States should not adopt requirements that voters show identification at the polls, beyond those already required by federal law (requiring that identification be shown only by first time voters who did not show identification when registering.)
10. State Attorneys General and local authorities should vigorously enforce, to the full extent permitted by state law, a voter's right to vote without showing identification.
11. Jurisdictions should be encouraged to use precinct-tabulated optical scan systems with a computer assisted device at each precinct, in preference to touchscreen ("direct recording equipment" or "DRE") machines.

011881

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

12. Touchscreen (DRE) machines should not be used until a reliable voter verifiable audit feature can be uniformly incorporated into these systems. In the event of a recount, the paper or other auditable record should be considered the official record.
13. Remaining punchcard systems should be discontinued.
14. States should ask state Attorneys General to challenge unfair or discriminatory distribution of equipment and resources where necessary, and the Democratic Party should bring litigation as necessary.
15. Voting equipment vendors should be required to disclose their source code so that it can be examined by third parties. No voting machine should have wireless connections or be able to connect to the Internet.
16. Any equipment used by voters to vote or by officials to tabulate the votes should be used exclusively for that purpose. That is particularly important for tabulating/aggregating computers.
17. States should adopt "no excuse required" standards for absentee voting.

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011883

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011884

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011885

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011886

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011837

EAC SUMMARY OF EXPERT INTERVIEWS FOR
VOTING FRAUD-VOTER INTIMIDATION RESEARCH

011888