QUESTION:
Is there a method to verify a voter saw all candidates in a contest?

SOLUTION:
In some instances, especially primaries, more candidates may run in a contest than can be displayed on a single screen. The ExpressVote displays the additional candidates on a following screen. To ensure voters have the opportunity to view all candidates in a contest, the voting system provides two options:

i. An alert informs the voter that they have not viewed all candidates. This alert displays if a voter makes a selection before moving to the last screen of candidates in a contest.

ii. Voters can be required to scroll through all candidates in a contest, regardless of their selection, before moving to the next contest on a ballot. This is referred to as the ‘force’ option and is the recommended method for ensuring that voters view all candidate names in a contest.

ELECTIONWARE CONFIGURATION:
The two options mentioned above are available in the Configure module found in the Deliver section of Electionware.

1. In Electionware, navigate to the Configure module.

2. From the Equipment List panel, expand the Accessible Equipment tree to view the ExpressVote.
3. From the menu bar click the ExpressVote Settings icon or right-click the ExpressVote entry and from the pop-open menu click ExpressVote Settings…

4. On the ExpressVote Settings… tab, locate the Vote Session Properties box.

5. In the Vote Session Properties box, click to select either:
   - Alert voter if all Contest choices have not been displayed
   - Force voter to view all Contest choices.

6. When your selections are complete, at the bottom of the ExpressVote Settings tab, click the Save button.
