When asked by Vicki Davis, Martin County's Supervisor of Elections, if I would be willing take part in a training video for our poll workers – it was a resounding yes!

As American citizens we have the privilege and significant responsibility of voting. As we vote, we collectively voice our opinion about how we want our country to be run. The decisions that our elected officials make impact every facet of our lives.

Many adults with intellectual disabilities are able make informed choices. They just need a little support to ensure that they can appropriately take part in the voting process. One of those individuals, the major star in the video, is Trish Overton.

I was proud to be asked by Vicki to be a part of this very important message. I am equally as proud of Trish. She did a fantastic job. Just click on the link below to meet her and learn her story.

A Message From Our CEO

When asked by Vicki Davis, Martin County's Supervisor of Elections if I would be willing to take part in a training video for our poll workers – it was a resounding yes!

As American citizens we have the privilege and significant responsibility of voting. As we vote, we collectively voice our opinion about how we want our country to be run. The decisions that our elected officials make an impact on every facet of our lives.

Adults with intellectual and other disabilities have the same responsibility of voting. They are capable of making informed choices with the support of their families, co-workers and friends – just like the rest of us. One individual who always votes is the major star in the video – Trish Overton.

I was proud to be asked by Vicki to be a part of this very important message, I am equally as proud of Trish. She did a fantastic job. Just click on the link below to meet her and

Hi Vicki—

As I shared with you today, I sent the video we did with your office for "sensitivity" training to Jack Levine who had just written an article about the responsibility all of us have to vote. I responded to him and copied our video. He then shared it with a number of people including Alan Abramowitz, CEO, ARC Florida, Healthy Families Florida and others. Alan indicated that he would be sharing the video to his constituency and others. Health Families Florida has asked that I participate in a statewide Speaker Series.

The video has hit home with many! I cannot thank you enough for asking us to be a part of your poll workers training program! You have always understood the value and worth of all people including those with disabilities. You are pretty special.

Thanks again and I'll keep you informed as this progresses.
